THE ARMS INVESTIGATION. — The House arms investigating committee substantially completed its labors Tuesday, March 26th, with the examination of Mr. Foucker of the house of H. Baker & Co., arms dealers, of New York. He testified that the sales of October, 1870, to Remington, were postponed at his own request, and that Baron Geroll subsequently informed him that Germany had no reason to object to the action of this government. Mr. Williams, chairman of the committee, makes no secret of what his report will contain. It will be brief and take the ground that no violation of domestic or international law has been proved except a technical error in the delivery, November 30, 1870, of the sales of the 13th of October to the Remingtons, after they had been disclosed as French agents; and concerning that transaction, it will hold that the government did no more than it was bound by the contract to do, and that equally good faith was demanded of it as from the private parties with whom it dealt.

NEW YORKERS are going through the farce of investigating charges of bribery against Judge Barnard. A. M. Stickney, counsel for the bar association, while examining Mr. Walter S. Church asked questions which Mr. Church objected to, on the ground that they were discourteous and impugned his veracity. Mr. Stickney replied that he was always courteous to persons whom he believed to be speaking the truth. Thereupon Mr. Church called Mr. Stickney a scoundrel. The latter retorted, and then Mr. Church directed a vigorous blow at Mr. Stickney, but Mr. Rufus Andrews at the moment interfering in behalf of peace, received the full force just below the chest. He fell back into his chair, and recovered slowly. Then Mr. Stickney apologized to Mr. Church, Mr. Church to Mr. Andrews, and the investigation went on.

THE ROBESON INVESTIGATION goes ahead like a pig on ice. The Secretary is all ready to be investigated, and won't be bothered with counsel, being certain that investigation will only show the falsity of the charges brought against him; but Dana of the New York Sun, who has howled so loudly, don't seem to do much in the way of producing evidence to support his assertions, and the investigating committee cannot proceed, Voorhees not yet having formally declined serving so that a successor can be appointed by Speaker Blaine. Not one of the much talked of investigations which were to overthrow the administration but has ludicrously failed of its object; and all the bluster of Democratic newspapers and anti-administration Republican Senators did not effect the New Hampshire election worth a cent. The animus which prompted the assaults on the administration and the objects sought to be gained were too plain to the thinking masses of the people.

JUDGE BARNARD'S CASE.—More testimony damaging to Judge Barnard has been heard by the legislative investigating committee of New York. Several reputable persons testified concerning his undignified behavior while on the bench, and slanderous statements made therefrom. A furniture maker told of some elegant and valuable chairs he had made at the order of Fisk and Gould, with the monogram "G. G. B," and a former counsel of the Union Pacific Railroad Company related the story of his alleged unjust and illegal proceedings against that organization, which are now a part of history. Barnard was unusually restless during the proceedings, and when the furniture man came on the stand and announced the name of the house with which he was connected, he abruptly left the room. His counsel refused to grant a request of the counsel for the bar association that the chairmaker be allowed to go to Barnard's new den and see if he could find the elegant chairs with the elegant monogram "G. G. B." there. A prominent member of the committee states that they have already secured evidence under which both Barnard and Cardozo can be impeached, and it is the belief that their impeachment will follow the investigation.

State News.

A Deerfield correspondent says: "March has been more wintry than any other month of the year; the thermometer has ranged from forty degrees above zero to fourteen degrees below; but the 25th gave some indications of approaching Spring. Forty miles north of us the snow is more than three feet deep, and they have had no thaw since last October. If there had not been heavy rains in the Fall there would have been much suffering for want of water."

Political.

The opponents of a Mormon State government are to appoint two delegates to Washington to represent their situation—namely, one gentile and one apostate Mormon.

The statement attributed to Senator Sumner, that ex-President Woolsey of Yale College will attend the Cincinnati convention, is untrue. Dr. Woolsey has never given Mr. Sumner nor any one else warrant for such a statement nor has he ever entertained the idea of attending that convention.

It is claimed in reliable quarters that Ex-Minister Curtin will unite with anti-administration Republicans in Pennsylvania.

THE PROVISIONS of the pact of the Central American Union, composed of the States of Costa Rica, Honduras, Guatamala and Salvador are published. The Central American territory is to remain intact, a republican form of government is to be preserved, rebellion in one country will be treason against all, no citizen can own slaves in his own or any other country, and the right of asylum is recognized for emigrants and political exiles. A national highway, telegraphs, mail steamers and inter-oceanic canal through Nicaragua are provided for. Nicaragua is expected to join the union.

ADVICES FROM MEXICO represent the recent defeat of the revolutionists as even more disastrous than first reported. The insurgents have been again defeated in Tobasco. Diaz is reported to have gone to New York.

MORE ABOUT DOGS.—A ranchman in Colorado has a sagacious dog which the owner firmly believes can count. He has seven yoke, or fourteen working oxen, and when not in use these are turned loose with a large herd of cattle. Whenever they are required he speaks to his dog the same as he would to a boy and tells him to go and drive in his oxen. The dog immediately starts off and does the job as well as anybody. On one occasion during the last season when the dog had the cattle nearly in he was noticed to suddenly leave them and run back to the herd as fast as he could go, which was three quarters of a mile away. This excited some surprise, but it was soon discovered he had driven in but thirteen and had gone back to correct his carelessness by bringing in the fourteenth.

An instance of rare honesty and showing how a dog may desire to pay his board bill recently occurred in Fitchburg, Mass. A lady saw a dog frequently about her house picking up odd bits which had been thrown out, and one day she called him in and fed him. The next day he came back, and as she opened the door he walked in and laid an egg on the floor, when he was again fed. The following day he brought his egg to pay for his dinner, and on the fourth day, he brought the old hen herself, who, it seems had failed to furnish the required egg!

SOMETHING TO BE LEARNED.—Will not our farmers learn, from the present winter's experience in feeding so large an amount of meal, that while the cattle are actually in better condition in consequence of it, the same money that has paid for food has also paid for manure that will give more satisfactory results than the best Peruvian guano or the best bran of Super-phosphate—or in other words, that the manure has actually cost nothing, and is in fact worth more than double that made from ordinary cattle food. And will they not learn from this that it will pay to feed well right along, to buy corn, and meal, and shorts, and highly nitrogenous feed, year by year, for the purpose, not simply of securing fat and therefore well paying cattle, but of obtaining a superior quality of farm dressing. If this is not learned now it will be learned when the results of the spring's manuring are seen.—Maine Farmer.

A GUARDED ANSWER.—In a court a man who was called upon to appear as a witness could not be found. On the judge asking where he was, an elderly gentleman rose up, and with much emphasis said, "Your Honor, he's gone." "Gone! gone!" said the judge: "where is he gone?" "That I cannot inform you," replied the communicative gentleman; "but he's dead." This is considered the most guarded answer on record.

—Two log huts, eighteen feet high and twenty feet square, were discovered in digging for the foundation of a new building in the rear of 82 Sullivan street, New York. One was evidently a residence of primitive times, and the other a cattle shed.

—Five thousand dollars' worth of silk goods and jewelry, packed for removal and which had been collected by burglars, were found in an upper story of a warehouse on Broome street in New York by the police, but the burglars were not found.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best bills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

DEAD MEN TELL NO TALES; if they did, anathemas against the depleting lancet, the drastic purge, and the terrible salivants of the materia medica, would arise from every graveyard. The motto of modern medical science is "Preserve and Regulate, not destroy," and no remedy of our day is so entirely in harmony with this philanthropic logic as DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. In this powerful, yet harmless restorative, dyspepsia, bilious complaints, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and nerves, encounter an irresistible antidote. m5 4w

DURING OUR INTERVIEW, the American Consul at Bankok, presented the King an elegant assortment of his medicines from Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass., for the use of the Court. He explained to his majesty their origin from the great chemist and their uses. The Cherry Pectoral for coughs—the Sarsaparilla for eruptive diseases, and the Ague Cure for the fevers that are so fatal in this hot country. The dangerous condition of a favorite wife in the palace with one of the disorders these medicines cure, gave him special interest in these products of medical skill; indeed, the medical marvels interested him more in our country than all the other attentions we had shown him.—Letters from a Lady in Siam.

SCROFULOUS HUMORS.—The VEGETINE has cured many cases of Scrofula of five, ten, and twenty years' standing, where the patient has had many physicians, tried many of the known remedies; and, after trying the VEGETINE, the common remark is, "It acts differently, works differently, from any medicine I have ever taken." VEGETINE will cleanse scrofula from the system. Try it.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENTS.—Scrofula or morbid deposits in the lungs, joints and tissues. These medicines have rendered this disease a less formidable scourge than formerly. It has been incontestably proved that in Scrofulous affections they have effected thousands of cures. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

What Spring Brings With It.

Regarded from a medical standpoint, Spring is not the delectable season described by vernal poets. On the contrary, its yield of intermittent fevers, bilious attacks, rheumatic pains, disorders of the stomach, nervous complaints, and pulmonary diseases, is almost as large as its crop of violets, snowdrops and cherry blossoms. The invisible seeds of innumerable maladies rise with the morning mists, and are scattered broadcast by the vapors of night. Who can resist their deleterious influence? Certainly not the weak by nature, or those whose nervous energies have been overtasked by mental or physical labor, unless they tone and invigorate their systems and thus enable them to cope with the unhealthy influences by which they are surrounded.

The only medicinal agent by which this object can be rapidly and safely accomplished, is the great vegetable renovant and invigorant, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. The operation of this celebrated specific is four-fold. It strengthens the digestive organs, regulates the secretions, improves the condition of the blood, superinduces a regular habit of body, and thereby imparts such vigor and elasticity to the whole physical structure, as to render it capable of resisting the action of the poisonous miasma, with which the spring atmosphere is always to some extent impregnated. Here, then, is a ready and certain means of escaping the disorders prevalent at this season, or (if they have already fastened upon the system) of conquering them speedily and thoroughly. The flavor of a medicine is not of much consequence, provided it does its work properly, but of Hostetter's Bitters it may be fairly said, that they effect a cure without outraging the patient's sense of taste.

FIRST MORTGAGE, SINKING FUND,

Land Grant Bonds,

DUE 1891 IN GOLD.

Interest 7 Per Cent. Gold, Free of Tax.

THE CAIRO AND FULTON ROAD is the main artery for travel across the State of Arkansas. It is the continuation of the St. Louis and Iron Mountain Railroad and under the same management. It will connect the St. Louis roads and the Illinois Central Railroad, with the International Railroad, the Southern Pacific Railroad and the Texas system of roads. Its length is 301 miles, and it deviates from a straight line but six miles. It has no grades over 15 feet to the mile. It passes through the most thriving counties and the Capital, Little Rock. The Land Grant of 1,926,400 acres, "is one of the most extensive and valuable ever made to any road by Congress." The whole road is under contract for building. About 60 miles are built and track-laying will go on at the rate of about half a mile a day, until the connection of Little Rock with St. Louis is completed. The First Mortgage Bonds, $8,000,000, $5,000,000 of which have already been sold, are the first lien upon the road, rolling-stock and lands. The officers are:

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them dispose it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. HIS HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

Laconics.

The Eastern Railroad has petitioned the Massachusetts legislature for permission to take land in Boston for the purpose of enlarging depot accommodations.

John S. Roberts, the man who was held by the police of this city on suspicion of being connected with a recent robbery in Swampscott, was on Wednesday morning taken to Salem by State Constables Bolton and Bowler, of Massachusetts, being recognized as the man whom they want.

The beef of the largest pair of oxen from the farm of Hon. Frank Jones can be seen at the store of J. Stokell & Co., that firm having purchased the entire lot of beef oxen from that farm. The weight of this pair is as follows: beef, 3180 lbs; hides, 318 lbs; tallow, 358 lbs; making a total weight of 3856 lbs. We believe this is the heaviest pair of cattle ever killed in this vicinity.

Villa & Miner's Comic Opera and Comedy Troupe will appear at the Temple on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week, April 1, 2 and 3. The Fire Department are to share in the benefits of the entertainments, and the several companies will assist in the disposal of tickets. The Villa & Miner Troupe have given good and amusing performances in this city in times past, and will doubtless do so on this visit. See advertisement.

Schooner Amelia, before reported as having gone ashore on the rocks near Pumpkin Island in this harbor, Tuesday, was loaded with lime, and having bilged took fire from the slacking of the lime. She was stripped of her rigging and her masts cut away, on Wednesday. She blazed up brightly in the evening, and except what was taken from her during the day will be a total loss. She was uninsured, was owned in Rockland, Me., and commanded by Capt. Cobb.

Prof. Stone's electro-biological experiments at the Temple attract good audiences nightly, and the interest in them seems to increase rather than to diminish. Three more exhibitions only will take place, and those who intend to pay him a visit should stand not on the order of their going, but go at once. There is a great deal of fun in the performances and also a great deal more mystery than we can clear up; and 35 cents will furnish any one with a good evening's amusement and plenty to puzzle over afterward. On Monday evening the $20 gift was awarded to Miss Ida Varrell, and the gold watch on Wednesday evening to Mrs. Peirce. This (Thursday) evening the leading gift will be a beautiful chamber set. See advertisement.

The Band Concert.

The concert on Tuesday evening, given by Harlow's Marine Band assisted by Miss Persis Bell of Boston and other artists, was a great success in itself, though the attendance was not what it should have been; for though the audience was of the best class of our amusement lovers, and would have been considered very good as to numbers at any common entertainment, yet the number was less than we had anticipated, and much less than the Band had a reasonable right to expect would be present, for (aside from the unusual attractions of the programme) their liberality in volunteering in aid of charitable objects and in giving open-air concerts, and their persevering and successful efforts to please, we consider have entitled them to a much more liberal recognition from the public than they received at the Temple on Tuesday evening; there should not have been an unoccupied seat in the house.

The Band presented a gentlemanly appearance and bearing, and played finely and with much taste and judgment throughout the evening. We would indulge in no invidious criticism or commendation of individual performers where all did so well,—but must express the satisfaction we experienced from one (to us unknown) musician's baritone and from the judgment displayed by another in putting in exactly the right amount of piccolo, the tones of the former instrument being exceptionally pure and true and the latter adding to the pleasing effect of the band, instead of being an ear-splitting nuisance as piccolos too often are when played under cover and within walls. Mr. Burnham's cornet playing needs no remark; Mr. John F. Shillaber carried through a long and trying passage for the clarinet with brilliancy and precision; and the playing of the Band in every piece performed showed careful and skillful leadership, and ability and attentive practice on the part of the members. The Band was a good one when first organized, and has since improved in a very marked degree.

The violin duet by Mr. Harlow and his pupil, Master Willis Nowell, was good—so good as to honestly merit the encore it received. Mr. Harlow's execution has improved greatly since we first heard him play, and the manner in which Master Nowell carried his part of the duet (after only about three quarters' tuition) gives unusual promise of superior excellence in the not distant future. We rather imagine that Mr. Nowell senior will give his talented son the thorough musical education which he will so evidently profit by, even should he by-and-bye be obliged to send him to a distant city to obtain instruction, as the domestic hearth will not be left entirely destitute of boys to make things cheerful on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, even then.

Miss Persis Bell of Boston, the young lady violinist of whom the musical critic of the Boston Globe says "with exception of Camilla Urso, we know of no lady violinist who rivals Miss Bell in the best qualities of her art," fully justified the high commendation and won enthusiastic applause, the audience positively insisting on a repetition of a portion of the last piece she performed. The quiet, lady-like bearing of the youthful artist (she is but fifteen years of age) on the stage, was of itself sufficient to impress the spectators in her favor, and was as far removed from timid awkwardness as from unmaidenly boldness—in a word, her manner was self-possessed, unaffected and natural. As a performer on the violin we consider her fully as pleasing as Camilla Urso and more pleasing than Ole Bull, the latter of whom always gave us quite as much astonishment as pleasure. Possibly this opinion of the relative merits of the three artists is unorthodox, and musical critics may say we know nothing at all on the subject,—which they are perfectly welcome to say, if they want to, though it will not shake our belief that we know what pleases us better than the whole lot of them, all put together.

Mr. L. V. Newell sang a patriotic medley very nicely, in costume; and Prof. Martyn gave a paraphrase on airs from Faust with his accustomed brilliancy,—but on a piano which greatly marred the effect of his fine playing. We would be happy could we compliment that piano; we may be able to speak well of it after it is dead and gone, and its voice forever hushed, but not now; and we do not believe Mr. Martyn ever will.

The enjoyment of the audience was very evident throughout the evening, and what they lacked in numbers was made up in a generous appreciation of the excellent entertainment offered; and though the concert was perhaps a half-hour too long, very few seats were vacated until the finale of the closing piece. The concert was one of the best ever given here, and the only drawbacks to our enjoyment of it were the mournful piano and the number of empty seats—both which we trust will be obviated when the Band give their next concert.

THE EASTERN RAILROAD.—The new manager of the Eastern Railroad soon takes his position, and according to the reports, there is to be a new departure on this road. Larger and better depots and depot accommodations on the route; track laid with steel rails; double track from Ipswich to Portsmouth; speed increased, and in fact, the Eastern is to be made a first class road in every respect. The future prospects of the road are better than they ever were before. Since 1865, the Eastern has increased in gross income, 46 1-2 per cent.; in freight, 80 per cent., and in the number of passengers carried, 109 per cent., showing a greater increase than any road terminating in Boston. On the net earnings they show an increase of 23 per cent. They are adding new rolling stock, to meet the demands of travel, and their future never looked more promising than at the present time.—Newburyport Herald.

MARRIAGES.

In this city, March 27, by Rev. Wm. H. Alden, Mr. HORACE E. FRYE and Miss LOTTIE E. JONES, daughter of Mr. James Jones, formerly of Eliot, Me.

We were pleased to find that our esteemed friends, Mr. and Mrs. Frye, could even on their bridal day spare a kindly thought for the printer, who is so much more accustomed to being railed at for not providing plenty of news when there is none and for not being all things to all men, than to being commended when he does his best or to being thought of when all goes well with the rest of the world, that such a token of remembrance is grateful as an oasis in the desert. Possibly our friends remembered us through pity for our forlorn condition as an old bachelor; but if so our gratitude is all the same, and while there's life there's hope—this is leap year, too, though our faith in that institution is being rudely tried by wearisome waiting. Our wishes for the continued happiness of the newly-wedded pair are as sincere as our belief that neither will ever regret the union with the other. P.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal congestions are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

A Case of Blindness Cured.

MRS. MANCHESTER: This is to certify that I called upon you last October with a son of mine who had been Blind over a year; totally blind with one Eye and very nearly so with the other. I had had him treated by three Eminent Physicians, and also had taken him to the Eye Infirmary in Boston, but neither did him any good, and he still grew worse. MRS. MANCHESTER assured me she could cure him. I commenced with her treatment, and at this time one Eye is perfectly well, and the other is gaining. I had given up all hope of his ever seeing again, but, by the help of God and Mrs. Manchester's skill, he is now able to work, which I am sure he never would if it had not been for her. Let all give her a trial, and by calling on me the boy can be seen by any one.

This is a true statement of the case.

JOHN MCCORMICK,
JOHN MCCORMICK, JR., Portsmouth.

This is to certify that Mrs. Manchester has doctored in my family for six years with marked success. She has cured my wife of dropsy in its worst form; my daughter of spinal disease of five years' standing; a sister of deafness and catarrh; my father of blindness. And I would recommend her to the public as a skillful physician, and every way worthy of patronage.

JOHN ROBSON, Portland, Me.

BANGOR, Sept. 26, 1870.

This is to certify that I have been sick for twenty-five years with liver complaint, as the physicians have all told me. I have been treated in New York and Bangor by a large number of Physicians, and found no relief until I called on MRS. MANCHESTER a short time ago. She told me very readily what the trouble was—that I had abscesses and tumors. I have taken her medicines, and have had proof that what she told me was correctly correct. If any one doubts this, let them call on me personally, and I will give them correct information in regard to my case. I want the sick and suffering to go and consult MRS. MANCHESTER, and not be discouraged by ignorant and faithless people, but have a mind of your own, and you will get relief.

Morning Chronicle.

FRAGMENTARY CONVERSATIONS.—Maria Ann went to the front door, last evening, to see if the paper had come. She had been delivering a short address to me concerning what she is pleased to term my "cold molasses style" of moving around. As she had opened the door she remarked, "I like to see a body move quickly, prompt, emphatic."—that was all; but I heard some one bumping down the steps in a most prompt and emphatic manner, and I reached the door just in time to see my better half sliding across the sidewalk, in a sitting posture. I suggested, as she limped back to the door, that there might be such a thing as too much celerity; but she did not seem inclined to carry on the conversation, and I started for my office.

Right in front of me, on the slippery sidewalk strode two independent knights of St. Crispin. They were talking over their plans for the future, and as I overtook them, I heard one of them say: "I have only my two hands to depend on; but that is fortune enough for any man who is not afraid to work. I intend to paddle my own canoe. I believe I can make my own way through the world"—his feet slipped out from under him, and he came down in the shape of a big V. I told him he could never make his way through the world in that direction, unless he came down harder, and that if he did he would come through among the "heathen Chinee" and he was really grateful for the interest I manifested. He invited me to a place where ice never forms on the sidewalk.

Then I slid along behind a loving couple on their way to hear Madame Anna Bishop. Their hands were frozen together. Their hearts beat as one. Said he, "My own, I shall think nothing of hard work if I can make you happy. It shall be my only aim to surround you with comfort. My sympathy shall lighten every sorrow, and through the path of life I will be your stay and support: your —" he stopped. His speech was too flowery for this climate; and as I passed by she was trying to lift him up.

Two lawyers coming from the Court House next attracted my attention. "Ah," said one, "Judge Foster would rule that out. We must concede the first two points. We can afford to do it if evidence sustains us in the third, but on this position we must make our firm stand, and"—his time was up. I left him moving for a new trial.

I mused. What a lesson the ice teaches us. How easily is humanity controlled by circumstances—and the attraction of gravitation. What a sermon might be based—I got up and took the middle of the street to prevent further accident.

A WONDER OF PATIENCE.—The Titusville Herald gives a long description of an automatic wonder, the work of a German named Joseph Burgman, who expended 17 years in its construction. It is a working model, on an extensive scale, of various kinds of machinery, comprising a grist-mill, with an elevator and blacksmith shop attached. The structure stands on an ornamental and romantic base, representing a hill-side or ledge of rocks, with underground archways, supposed to be cut out of the solid stone, and communicating with the buildings above. The automatical figures represented as performing labor in the mills and about the villa receive independent motion from a weight and spring concealed in the rear of the model. The water for running the machinery is elevated to a reservoir in the upper part of the house by means of a force-pump, or it may be otherwise supplied from any hydrant. The building is surrounded by trees and shrubbery, drives and walks, a playing fountain and a miniature lake. To the right is a tunnelled road, along which pass at intervals men on their way from the oil-mill, farmers on wagons loaded for market, and a woman with a pitcher who goes to the spring for water, and then retires through a winding path to the villa. A little further to the right is the lake, partially concealed behind rocks and dense foliage. A ferryman in his boat carries passengers back and forth. He has just landed a sailor on the opposite bank, who removes his hat, strikes an attitude, and then takes a view of the surrounding scenery. On the extreme right is a road leading to the blacksmith's shop, situated in a vault beneath the rear of the building. Here the bellows are in motion, the fire is burning in the forge, and two blacksmiths are busily engaged in alternately heating a bar of iron, and hammering it on the anvil, the strokes of the hammering being distinctly audible. There are seven figures besides all the necessary attendents of the various machines, and all move in the same natural manner. One of the most remarkable is that of the proprietor of the works in a little office back of the grist-mill. He sits reading his morning paper, his eyes follow the lines, and apparently he is deeply interested. After turning the paper over and over and scanning the contents, he drops it on his knee, and his spectacles being removed he gazes around, and takes a peep into various departments.

—It is now stated that the murdered Herald correspondent has escaped from the outlaws of North Carolina. He reports the deaths of Henry Berry Lowry and Boss Strong. All three—the two outlaws and the correspondent—have been killed several times.

—The story of pending negotiations for the evacuation of French soil by the German troops is reasserted. Should they be successful, the dissolution of the national assembly is predicted.

—The first spike of the Utah North-ern Railroad was driven on Monday and a half-mile of rail laid.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

OUR FIRST WAR STEAMER.—At the beginning of the present century, the navy of the young nation just rising on this content was possessed of some of the best vessels in the world. Among them was the famous Constitution, still in the service, having been stationed at the Naval Academy as a school-ship for the last ten years.

About this date the steam-engine was used to propel vessels by means of paddle-wheels. To whom really belongs the honor of apply steam as a motor for ships is a disputed point, into the discussion of which it is not desirable to enter; it is, however, pretty well settled that Fulton was the first builder of a steamboat intended for traffic. The success of this vessel was followed by great improvements in that line, and rendered possible the grand system of internal commerce for which this country is so well adapted.

In 1814 the same Fulton proposed to build a floating battery for the defense of New York Harbor, the vessel to be propelled by steam, with a central paddle-wheel. This is the first known proposition to use the new motive power for war purposes. This vessel was to carry twenty guns on her gundeck, and to make a speed of four miles per hour. In addition to her argument on deck, it was intended that she should carry two submarine guns on each bow, so as to strike an enemy below the water-line; besides this, provision was made for throwing a large body of water upon an enemy at close quarters.

The ship was launched in November, 1824, in a little more than four months from the laying of the keel; by June, 1815, her machinery was in place, and a trial trip took place in New York Bay, which was a great success. At a later period she made a trip to sea, twenty-six miles from New York, with all her coal and armament on board, attaining a speed of nearly six notes. This formidable craft was named by her proprietor the Demologos, but after his death she was called the Fulton; she was used as a Receiving-ship at the New York Navy-yard after her completion until 1829, when she was accidentally blown up by the explosion of the powder in her magazine. Such was the first venture of our government toward war steamers.—Harpers' Magazine.

PAPER.—The term foolscap, to designate a certain kind of paper, no doubt has puzzled many an inquirer. The origin is not only amusing but historical. Charles I. of England granted numerous monopolies for the support of the government. Among others was the manufacture of paper. The watermark of the finest sort was the royal arms of England. The consumption of this article was great and large fortunes were made by those who had purchased the exclusive right to vend it. This, among other monopolies, was set aside by the Parliament that brought Charles I. to the scaffold; and by way of showing their contempt for the King they ordered the royal arms to be taken from the paper, and a fool with his cap and bells to be substituted. It is now ever two hundred years since the foolscap was taken from the paper, but still the paper of the size which the Rump Parliament ordered for their journals bears the name of the watermark placed there as an indignity to Charles.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Impurities Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SLATE COATING,

Patented August, 1871.

In offering this article to the public, we supply a need which has long been felt. It is especially adapted to

Shingle and Tin Roofs, (Old or New.)

IT IS FIRE & WATER-PROOF AND PREVENTS DECAY.

Not affected by Heat or Cold; is durable and beautiful, with colors permanently set, varying from a dark blue slate color to purple, and even higher shades, as fancy dictates. It will not wash or scale, and is Extremely Cheap.

Will stop and prevent Leaks; superior to any cement now in use. New Shingles covered with this article wanted to last fifty years, and for a Slate Coating over Shingles (Old or New) it has been found unequalled. It is also an excellent coating for School Black-Boards.

FRIDAY, MARCH 29, 1872.

The State Canvass.

The following is an exact copy of the canvass made by the Republican State Committee. Copies of the footings of the canvass were delivered by Mr. Rollins, to Gov. Jewell, of Connecticut, and Hon. Ezekiel A. Straw, more than three weeks before election:

COUNTIES.	Straw.	Weston.	Blackmer.	Cooper.	Doubtful.
Rockingham	5610	5133	87	98	64
Strafford	3397	2953	104	76	44
Belknap	1997	2280	33	73	24
Carroll	1990	2143	26	9	195
Merrimack	4971	5162	14	71	422
Hillsborough	7936	6339	41	45	479
Cheshire	3012	2781	6	10	23
Sullivan	2260	2069	2	99	165
Grafton	4700	5199	30	1	202
Coos	1414	1866	4	1	113
	38,141	36,137	391	487	3,066

Leaving the doubtful voters out of the question, it appears by the canvass that the Republican majority was 1176, viz.:

Straw had	38,141
Weston, Blackmer, and Cooper had	36,965
Straw's majority,	1,176

Compare this with the following table of the actual vote cast, and it will be found to be surprisingly near correct:

COUNTIES.	Straw.	Weston.	Blackmer.	Cooper, Cousins and Scat.
Rockingham	6198	5567	99	79
Strafford	3645	3446	123	40
Belknap	1860	2315	27	42
Carroll	1970	2378	34	3
Merrimack	5139	5571	32	82
Hillsborough	7980	6970	101	94
Cheshire	3296	2958	21	4
Sullivan	2265	2247	18	108
Grafton	4646	5226	41	85
Coos	1453	1869	23	14
	38,614	36,982	479	516

Straw had	38,614
Weston, Blackmer, Cooper and scattering	37,979
Straw's majority,	1,225

It is proper to note here—not as news but as history, for it is already pretty well known and acknowledged throughout the State—that the canvass was conducted by the Republican State Committee with remarkable energy and skill, and to their harmonious counsels and tireless exertions is mainly due the great victory which has gladdened the country. The chairman of that committee, Hon. E. H. Rollins, was almost literally sleepless in his vigilance, and never acquitted himself more creditably in any of his previous campaigns. Hon. Daniel Hall, of Dover, and Col. David A. Warde, of this city, have also been singularly efficient, and have nobly earned the praise which is generously accorded them. And the onerous duties of the Secretaryship could hardly have been borne more cheerfully or discharged more satisfactorily than they have been by Mr. B. F. Prescott.—Monitor.

Political.

The Concord Patriot unwittingly pays a high compliment to Hon. E. H. Rollins, saying—"When the Radicals of this State conclude that Rollins' active services are no longer needed, we shall be pleased to hear it."

Specials concerning the Ohio State convention to select delegates to Philadelphia, held in Columbus, report that not a man attending the convention was opposed to Grant's nomination.

At the Iowa Republican State Convention delegates to the national convention were chosen and resolutions adopted favoring General Grant for President, and James F. Wilson of Iowa for Vice-President.

The Ohio Republican State convention adopted resolutions advocating legislation to secure prosperity in labor, remunerative investment, and favoring General Grant for President and William Dennison for Vice-President.

The report that Gen. Grant is delaying the spring weather in order to damage the interests of Democratic farmers is sharply denied by the Pittsburg Gazette. We are prepared to support this denial by positive proofs that the President is not in collusion with the Meteorological Department at Washington.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

It is a singular coincidence that those quasi Republicans, who are finding most fault with the Administration for selling arms to the French, are themselves most industrious in furnishing ammunition to the Democracy.

THE RETURNS COMPLETE.—In addition to the election returns heretofore published, we have obtained the following:

	Straw.	Weston.
Ellsworth,	6	40
Dixville,		3
Hart's Location,	5
Wentworth's Location,		9

This makes the returns complete, with the exception of Cambridge; and as that town held no election last year, and has not been heard from this year, the figures may now be considered absolutely complete. Mr. Straw's exact majority is 1,225.

—The Milwaukee Banner strongly advocates the introduction of gymnastic practise into the public schools, and the editor pertinently asks, "What have I gained in a son who at twenty years of age is an example of scholarship, but at twenty-one dies of consumption?"

THE ARMS INVESTIGATION.—The Senate Arms Committee at Washington examined Senator Patterson, who stated the conversations he had had with the Marquis of Chambrun. The latter informed him a year ago that the French Consul at New York was some way mixed up with personal interests in the sale of arms to the French, but as he was a French subject he could not have access to the books of the War and Treasury Departments to ascertain the facts. Mr. Patterson accordingly saw the Secretary of the Treasury and related the conversation with Chambrun. The Secretary thought there had been no fraud in the sales and no violation of international law or treaty stipulations; this was at the close of the session, when the subject was dropped; Chambrun said that three or four millions of dollars had dropped between the American and French governments, and his object was to get the facts to be used in connection with the charges against the French Consul at New York. In his further examination Senator Patterson said Chambrun told him that he suspected that C. K. Garrison and John Hoey were in collusion for the sale of arms; witness had no information as to how Mr. Sumner obtained a copy, of the letter from Remington to Decesne, nor did he know how Chambrun obtained a copy, nor had he knowledge that any American citizen or government official were directly or indirectly interested in the sale of arms, except what he heard from Chambrun.

A Washington correspondent says: Senator Patterson's frank testimony revealed the whole story. Chambrun wanted evidence to aid his friend Place, since convicted in the French court of dishonest transactions in the sale of arms, and he tried to use his American friends to pull his chestnuts out of the fire. When the matter was first industriously circulated, it was intimated that American officials named had pocketed over a million dollars by the sales of arms. Nothing of this kind has been developed thus far, and Mr. Schurz takes refuge behind musty precepts of European international law, while Mr. Sumner quotes from British proceedings in the reign of Queen Elizabeth. Mr. Sumner's attitude before the Sale of Arms Investigation Committee is somewhat discussed, and the general opinion is that having made the charges he should sustain them.

Senator Sumner does not choose to tell what he knows about the French arms sale. He asked for an investigation, which every Senator desired. He prefaced his order of inquiry with a preamble which he himself voted against. In his speeches he made charges, some of which have been proved untrue and abandoned, while others rest mainly on his statement. He himself declined to serve on the Committee of Inquiry. Now that committee asks of him the source of his information, but he declines to give it, first standing on his right as a Senator, and secondly objecting to the committee itself, though it is composed of members who voted for the investigation, and chosen under the rules of the American Senate of to-day, rather than those of a British Parliament in the days of Queen Bess, more than two and a half centuries ago, and before the daylight of common sense had been let in by Oliver Cromwell.

The committee have issued a summons for him to appear as a witness, but it may be deemed inexpedient to press the case against him. It is true that there are precedents warranting their action, but he is amenable to no ordinary rules. What matters it that men have been charged by him with serious offences against the laws of the country and of international laws, and that his testimony may clear them or condemn them, shall not his opinion be taken as law? Other men, when they make accusations, are required to show the evidence on which they rest, but shall not his accusation be taken as an evidence of guilt? Other men, who refuse to give the authority on which their accusations rest, are called slanderers, but who shall dare to wag his tongue in condemnation of our Senator? Let the committee cease their investigation, and report the charges they are investigating, "Proven by the accusation of Sumner." This will save them from further labor, and be to him the most gratifying recognition of his superiority over other men.

SENATOR SUMNER, in response to a summons, appeared before the Senate French arms committee, on the 27th, was sworn and testified, under protest. After the examination, which brought out nothing of interest, Senator Carpenter moved that his protests, which were, he said, in the highest degree disrespectful—Mr. Hamlin adding, "Yes, and insulting"—to the committee, be returned to him and not permitted to appear upon the Records. Governor Stevenson suggested that decision be postponed until the committee was full, which was assented to. There is little doubt, however that Mr. Carpenter's motion will prevail, the votes of Messrs. Hamlin, Harlan, Ames and Sawyer being almost certain to be in its favor.

New Publications.

Good Health for April contains an article on "The Influence of Marriage on Health," one on the plague in Buenos Ayres in 1871, and several others which have a specific interest. Published by Alexander Moore.

In the Phrenological Journal for April, we find sketches and portraits of W. H. Aspinwall, the eminent merchant; the Engineers of the Mt. Cenis Tunnel; articles on Right and Wrong Views of Life; Respiration and its Apparatus; Inebriate Asylums; Photography in America; Rocky Mountain Scenery; "Stitch in Time," or the Alabama Question. $3 a year. S. R. Wells, N. Y.

The April number of American Homes marks the close of the first volume. This magazine has stories, sketches of travel, songs set to music, fashion notes, articles for boys and girls, farmers and mechanics. $1 per annum. Charles H. Taylor & Co., Boston, publishers.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

DEAD MEN TELL NO TALES; if they did, anathemas against the depleting lancet, the drastic purge, and the terrible salivants of the materia medica, would arise from every graveyard. The motto of modern medical science is "Preserve and Regulate, not destroy," and no remedy of our day is so entirely in harmony with this philanthropic logic as DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. In this powerful, yet harmless restorative, dyspepsia, bilious complaints, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and nerves, encounter an irresistible antidote. m5 4w

DURING OUR INTERVIEW, the American Consul at Bankok, presented the King an elegant assortment of his medicines from Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass., for the use of the Court. He explained to his majesty their origin from the great chemist and their uses. The Cherry Pectoral for coughs—the Sarsaparilla for eruptive diseases, and the Ague Cure for the fevers that are so fatal in this hot country. The dangerous condition of a favorite wife in the palace with one of the disorders these medicines cure, gave him special interest in these products of medical skill; indeed, the medical marvels interested him more in our country than all the other attentions we had shown him.—Letters from a Lady in Siam.

SCROFULOUS HUMORS.—The VEGETINE has cured many cases of Scrofula of five, ten, and twenty years' standing, where the patient has had many physicians, tried many of the known remedies; and, after trying the VEGETINE, the common remark is, "It acts differently, works differently, from any medicine I have ever taken." VEGETINE will cleanse scrofula from the system. Try it.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENTS.—Scrofula or morbid deposits in the lungs, joints and tissues. These medicines have rendered this disease a less formidable scourge than formerly. It has been incontestably proved that in Scrofulous affections they have effected thousands of cures. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

What Spring Brings With It.

Regarded from a medical standpoint, Spring is not the delectable season described by vernal poets. On the contrary, its yield of intermittent fevers, bilious attacks, rheumatic pains, disorders of the stomach, nervous complaints, and pulmonary diseases, is almost as large as its crop of violets, snowdrops and cherry blossoms. The invisible seeds of innumerable maladies rise with the morning mists, and are scattered broadcast by the vapors of night. Who can resist their mephitic influence? Certainly not the weak by nature, or those whose nervous energies have been overtasked by mental or physical labor, unless they tone and invigorate their systems and thus enable them to cope with the unhealthy influences by which they are surrounded.

The only medicinal agent by which this object can be rapidly and safely accomplished, is the great vegetable renovant and invigorant, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. The operation of this celebrated specific is forbold, it strengthens the digestive organs, regulates the secretions, improves the condition of the blood, superinduces a regular habit of body, and thereby imparts such vigor and elasticity to the whole physical structure, as to render it capable of resisting the action of the poisonous miasms, with which the spring atmosphere is always to some extent impregnated. Here, then, is a ready and certain means of escaping the disorders prevalent at this season, or (if they have already fastened upon the system) of conquering them speedily and thoroughly. The flavor of a medicine is not of much consequence, provided it does its work properly, but of Hostetter's Bitters it may be fairly said, that they effect a cure without outraging the patient's sense of taste.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from millitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

CAIRO AND FULTON

RAILROAD COMPANY

FIRST MORTGAGE, SINKING FUND,

Land Grant Bonds,

DUE 1891 IN GOLD.

Interest 7 Per Cent. Gold, Free of Tax.

THE CAIRO AND FULTON ROAD is the main artery for travel across the State of Arkansas. It is the continuation of the St. Louis and Iron Mountain Railroad and under the same management. It will connect the St. Louis roads and the Illinois Central Railroad, with the International Railroad, the Southern Pacific Railroad and the Texas system of roads. Its length is 301 miles, and it deviates from a straight line but six miles. It has no grades over 15 feet to the mile. It passes through the most thriving counties and the Capital, Little Rock. The Land Grant of 1,926,400 acres, "is one of the most extensive and valuable ever made to any road by Congress." The whole road is under contract for building. About 60 miles are built and track-laying will go on at the rate of about half a mile a day, until the connection of Little Rock with St. Louis is completed. The First Mortgage Bonds, $8,000,000, $5,000,000 of which have already been sold, are the first lien upon the road, rolling-stock and lands. The officers are:

The society is enjoying unusual prosperity, religiously and financially.

Barnabee Troupe.

"A little nonsense now and then
Is relished by the best of men."

Yes, and by the best of women and children also, judging from the crowd of good people attending the concert Feb. 27th, in Manchester, by Mrs. Smith, and Messrs. Fessenden, Arbuckle, Barnabee, and Dow. The day and evening were as uncomfortable as one could desire to be out in, and if the individuals giving this entertainment had been any persons other than the "favorite artists" announced on the bills, they would have been out some dollars, or their employers would; but these favorites drew a very crowded house, and a paying one, even that severely cold night.

Mr. Barnabee has been here before, and knows what kind of a programme to distribute among us. He knows that though many of our people discountenance the opera and comic concerts as immoral and unworthy of their attendance, yet there are no people who like these things better than a Manchester audience.

The Barnabee Troupe, as a whole, please here better than any concert company which has visited us. They are better singers, actors, and story tellers than others, and even when recalled fully sustain their reputation, as did Mr. Fessenden after, "You must guess;" Mrs. Smith "While riding upon a load of hay;" Mr. Arbuckle, by his classical variations; Mr. Barnabee by his introduction of planchette and his cork leg. The beautiful trio, by Campana, was an excellent introduction and the Laughing Trio, really well performed, was a satisfactory conclusion of this popular concert.

We need the comic in life. The majority of men have a relish for it, and he who is not touched or influenced by it, must indeed spend a doleful sort of a life. We may suffer as much, mentally, from an overstudy of the sublime and the profound, as we will be the losers, morally, by descending to the vulgar and low. As many have gone to insane asylums by too much study of religious or philosophics truths, and as many would make religion and life doleful and uninviting by banishing all pleasures from this world, so many artists fall into the error of becoming over serious, loving exclusively the sombre, the dark, the serious, banishing everything as unworthy from their sight which borders on the comic.—N. H. Journal of Music.

JAPANESE SELF-IDENTIFICATION.—Of the Japanese at Washington, the Capital says:

They have a promiscuous way of mixing up their rooms, and the only place where they can positively be found is in the elevator. Whenever a Jap is missed at the Arlington or Wormley's he is sure to be found in the elevator. And then the registering of their names makes Mills fairly yell with rage and anguish when he comes to make out their bills. One has to remember that these names are translated, or rather the sound is caught and transferred to our letters, so that every ear gives a different name. After the Jap is registered he takes a copy of the name and puts it in his pocket; when, therefore, his bill was presented he gets out a search-warrant on himself to find that written name, because the pockets of the ancient civilization differ entirely from those of the more modern, so that the poor Jap has first to find his pocket, and generally begins down about his heels, feeling his way up, and exploring all sorts of openings until he hits the recess, which he examines and then goes on in search of another. When, at last, the slip of paper is found, he falls into a brown study—that looks very much like jaundice — to know whether he really did get the articles charged against him. The clerks, however, have simplified the matter. When any one of the embassy at an hotel takes a drink it is charged to each one of them; sometimes all of them pay for that one drink, sometimes only half, but generally the drink is paid for.

THE MEXICAN CATTLE STEALERS.—The presentment of the Texas Grand Jury states that the depredatory war on that frontier is proven to have existed since 1865, and waged by an organized band in Mexico, acting under a Mexican General, and commanded by officers of the Mexican army. Mexican officials, civil and military, have acted in a hostile manner by acts, legalizing murder and robbery, and a reign of terror exists between the Nueces and Rio Grande rivers. The penalty of death is denounced against any informer, so that no names of witnesses are made public. The Mexican markets are open for the sale of stolen cattle, and a tax on them is regularly levied by the authorities. The presentment refers to the appointment of Cortina as the officer on the line, who levied on the United States, murdered her citizens and soldiers and robbed the mails.

Juarez has been petitioned to remove him, but refused. His command is always mounted on stolen horses. Evidence shows that since the close of the civil war an average of 5000 cattle has been stolen monthly, valued at $6,300,000, not including the depredation of Kickapoos, who are Mexican citizens. Revenue Inspectors Dupont, Hammond, Phelps and McLaughlin were killed by Mexican bandits, and others assaulted and detained in positions of great peril. The presentment states that the inhabitants for years have suffered all the horrors of war without the security of its usages, and suggests an efficient cavalry force as the only remedy. Judge Morral and General McCook fully endorse the statements of the presentments. The former has addressed the Texan Senators, reiterating the facts, asking relief, and the latter has reported to his official superior.

HOLDING THE MIRROR UP. — The Springfield Republican is one of the few papers that oppose Gen. Grant. That there is nothing new, exceptional, or surprising in its present disagreement with patriotic sentiment of the country is shown by the following pungent extract from the New York Tribune of August 25, 1866—a time when the perfidy of Andrew Johnson was calculated to throw the government into the hands of Democratic rebels, as the perfidy of other Republicans is now, and when the Springfield paper sustained him. The Tribune said:

"The Springfield Republican has for some time make itself convenience of the pro-rebel party. Its 'being's end and aim' would seem to be to furnish apt and telling quotations for the Copperhead journals, and they almost live on it. It is not a Copperhead sheet; but it serves the Copperhead, more effectually than if it were. We wish it would either go over to them or cease to serve them."

A righteous and scorching rebuke, and just as true and deserved, every line of it, in 1872 as in 1866! The Tribune spoke manfully and well. It knew what it was to serve the devil in the livery of heaven, and it denounced such treachery and double-dealing in stinging words. And now substitute "New York Tribune" for "Springfield Republican" in the above paragraph, and we have a literal description from the Tribune's own mouth of what the Tribune itself is doing at the present time. The Republican has not changed, and the Tribune is now yoked with it. If its "being's end and aim" is not to "furnish apt and telling quotations for the Copperhead journals," and if they do not "live on it," then its columns and their columns are a wonderful illusion. No one could hold the mirror up to it more effectually than it has itself done. —Albany Evening Journal.

MRS. MANCHESTER, the celebrated clairvoyant physician, will positively be in Portsmouth on Thursday, March 28, and may be found for ten days at the Franklin House. See her card in another column. 3dtiw

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

A Case of Blindness Cured.

MRS. MANCHESTER: This is to certify that I called upon you last October with a son of mine who had been Blind over a year; totally blind with one Eye and very nearly so with the other. I had had him treated by three Eminent Physicians, and also had taken him to the Eye Infirmary in Boston, but neither did him any good, and he still grew worse. MRS. MANCHESTER assured me she could cure him. I commenced with her treatment, and at this time one Eye is perfectly well, and the other is gaining! I had given up all hope of his ever seeing again, but, by the help of God and Mrs. Manchester's skill, he is now able to work, which I am sure he never would if it had not been for her. Let all give her a trial, and by calling on me the boy can be seen by any one.

This is a true statement of the case.

JOHN MOORMICK,
JOHN MOORMICK, JR., Portsmouth.

This is to certify that Mrs. Manchester has doctored in my family for six years with marked success. She has cured my wife of dropsy in its worst form; my daughter of spinal disease of five years' standing; a sister of deafness and catarrh; my father of blindness. And I would recommend her to the public as a skillful physician, and every way worthy of patronage.

JOHN HOBSON, Portland, Me.

One of the Greatest Cures on Record.

BANGOR, Sept. 28, 1870.

This is to certify that I have been sick for twenty-five years with liver complaint, as the physicians have all told me. I have been treated in New York and Bangor by a large number of Physicians, and found no relief until I called on MRS. MANCHESTER a short time ago. She told me very readily what the trouble was—that I had abscesses and tumors. I have taken her medicines, and have had proof that what she told me was perfectly correct. If any one doubts this, let them call on me personally, and I will give them correct information in regard to my case. I want the sick and suffering to go and consult MRS. MANCHESTER, and not be discouraged by ignorant and fashionable people, but have a mind of your own, and you will get relief.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned,
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6-7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. GRAND JURY STORIES.—Not many days after we were convened, a case that touched the heart of every man in the room was brought before us. A young girl had been accused of theft; a few dollars in money had been stolen; it was found in her possession and she had made partial confession. The complainant was a woman, and the accused had been in her employ. When the case was called the woman entered the jury-room and was sworn by the foreman. She took the chair assigned to witnesses, and the foreman questioned her.

"Did you lose some money?"

"Yes, sir."

"When did you lose it?"

"On the first day of December."

"Who took it?"

"The girl named in the complaint."

"How do you know she took it?"

"I found it in her possession, and she confessed taking it.

"That will do; you can go."

But the woman kept her seat, and moved her hands uneasily. "You can go," said the foreman again, but she did not start. A juror sitting near the door rose to show her out, and as he did so the woman said:—

"I do not wish to press the complaint. I want to withdraw it, and have the girl released."

"Why so?" asked the foreman.

"Because," and her voice began to choke, "Because, the girl is young, and I do not wish to ruin her. Somebody else urged her to steal the money, and I think she will do better in future. If I send her to prison she may become a professional thief, but if I give her a chance she will be a good girl. She is an orphan and has no friends, and I want to be her friend. I know she is guilty, but I want to be merciful, and I beg you to be merciful, gentlemen."

Half her utterance was drowned with tears, which flowed rapidly down her face. The foreman told her to step outside and he would call her again in a few moments, and inform her of the result of her eloquent appeal. "Be merciful, gentlemen," were her last words as she closed the door.

It was voted to dismiss the complaint, and when the foreman called her to the room, told her of the result of the vote, and commended her kindness of heart, her tears flowed afresh, and she thanked us through broken sobs. I know that in that room more eyes than hers were wet—eyes not accustomed to tears.

But soon a discussion arose to the propriety of our action. When the Grand Jury was impanelled, the following oath was administered to the foreman:—

"You, Lucius S. Comstock, as Foreman of this Grand Inquest, shall diligently inquire and true presentment make, of all such matters as shall be given you in charge; the counsel for the People of this State, your fellows and your own, you shall keep secret; you shall present no one from envy, hatred, or malice: nor shall you leave any one upresented through fear, favor, affection, or hope of reward; but you shall present all things truly as they come to your knowledge, according to your understanding: So help you God?"

And to the other members the following oath was administered:—

"The same oath which your Foreman has taken on his part, you, and each of you, shall well and truly observe and keep on your part: So help you God?"

Some of our jurors thought we had no right, under our oath, to show favor, no matter how strong might be the appeal to our sympathies. Every man in the room wished to be lenient, but at the same time, above all other things, wished to do his duty. The discussion resulted in our sending for the District Attorney and asking his advice.

After hearing the case, he said there was a difference of opinion as to the power of a Grand Jury. "You can undoubtedly," he continued, "exercise your discretion in certain cases, and act as you think is for the best interests of society. It is both right and proper that the Grand Jury, and also the District Attorney should be clothed with a discretionary power, as it frequently happens that they can do more good by exercising it than by following the strict letter of the law. I will give you an illustration: Some years ago, the case of a young man charged with embezzlement was placed in my hands to prosecute. His employer was determined to push the case; he was rather ugly about it, and there seemed no other course than to prosecute. The young man was let out on bail, and came to me to beg to be let off. He said he was guilty, and should so plead; that he had an invalid sister, and with the utmost economy on his small salary he was unable to support himself. He knew that this was no excuse for his theft, but he took the money under great temptation, and did not realize the enormity of his offense until after he had committed it. "You can send me to the penitentiary, and nobody can blame you; but you will ruin me for life, and bring disgrace upon my parents and sister, who do not know I am charged with crime. If I can be released and the matter hushed up, I will faithfully promise to do better in the future, and I think this will be a life-long lesson to me." He pleaded so earnestly that I promised to do what I could for him. I sent for his accuser, and urged him to withdraw the charge. At first he refused, but I laid the case before him in such a light that he at last consented. And then I urged him to take the young man back and give him a new trial, and after much talk I succeeded. The complaint was withdrawn, the young man was restored to his position; in a little time his salary was increased; by and by the firm dissolved in consequence of the death of one of the members; the young man went to another house, proved himself worthy of confidence, and to-day he is a member of that house, and as honorable and upright as any business man in New York. He has never forgotten, and never will forget that lesson. If he had gone to the penitentiary his worst fears would have been realized. When an offender is young, the offence is a first one, and the offender appears penitent, it is entirely proper for you to exercise leniency by dismissing the complaint; and in the case now before you, gentlemen, you have been entirely right in your action."

As the District Attorney ended his remarks there was a round of applause, in which I am very certain every member of the jury participated. Those who had been most doubtful of the propriety of our action were heartily glad that their doubts were not were well founded.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or fashion or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds of the sewing done in this country, and presents its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AGRICULTURAL.—On a recent Saturday evening Mr. Gardiner Gilman read an essay on "Fruit Culture," before the Exeter Agricultural and Horticultural Society. He recommended, for the destruction of canker and apple worms, keeping the trunks of the trees well scraped, and frequent application of soapsuds to the whole tree; also mulching, and early girdling with tar. In speaking of the pear, he said the slug worm ravages in July, for which a strong mixture of soapsuds and whale oil is a good remedy. The application to pear trees, late in the fall, of ammoniated fertilizers, and, for many varieties, the "cutting back" of one-third or half the growth of every season, are productive of good results. A vigorous late growth is apt to cause frozen-sap blight. The sap vessels are crowded, the descending sap becomes thick and clammy, and the limbs lose their vitality, becoming dark and discolored. The prompt cutting off of the parts affected is alone efficacious. The great enemy of the peach, he said, is the borer, for which wood ashes is a good remedy, and also an excellent fertilizer.

SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful solicitors with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SLATE COATING,
Patented August, 1871.
In offering this article to the public, we supply a need which has long been felt. It is especially adapted to
Shingle and Tin Roofs, (Old or New.)
IT IS FIRE & WATER-PROOF AND PREVENTS DECAY.
Not affected by Heat or Cold; is durable and beautiful, with colors permanently set, varying from a dark blue slate color to purple, and even lighter shades, as fancy dictates. It will not wash or scale, and is Extremely Cheap.
Will stop and prevent Leaks; superior to any cement now in use. New Shingles covered with this preparation will last fifty years, and for a State Coating over Shingles (Old or New) it has been found unequalled. It is also an excellent coating for School Desk-Boards.

OH, WOULD I WERE A CHILD AGAIN!
sighs the weary and exhausted one, as the languor and lassitude of spring comes upon him. Come and receive vigor and strength from the wonderful South American TONIC
JURUBEBA,
Long and successfully used in its native country, as a Powerful Tonic, and Potent Purifier of the Blood, it is found even to exceed the anticipations founded on its great reputation. According to the medical and scientific periodicals of London and Paris, it possesses the MOST POWERFUL Tonic properties known to MATERIA MEDICA.
DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA
is a perfect remedy for all diseases of the BLOOD, ORGANIC WEAKNESS, GLANDULOUS TUMORS, DROPSY, SCROFULA, INTERNAL ABSCESSES, and will remove all obstructions of the LIVER, SPLEEN, INTESTINES, UTERINE and URINARY ORGANS.
It is strengthening and nourishing. Like nutritious food taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation, giving vigor and health.
It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and by its powerful Tonic and resolving effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system.

SATURDAY, MARCH 30, 1872.

CONNECTICUT REPUBLICANS do not appreciate Horace any better than their N. H. brethren do. Copying one of his articles, the Norwich Bulletin says:

"And this is the sort of bugle blast that Dr. Greeley blows now-a-days, with a possible nomination for the Presidency by the Cincinnati Convention looming up before him. Alas, it sounds like a tune from a Chappaqua pumpkin trumpet!"

UTAH.—The official count of the votes in the recent election shows 25,160 in favor of the constitution of the New State of Deseret and 360 against.

SUMNER.—The Boston Traveller's Washington correspondent telegraphs that some of the friends of Hon. Charles Sumner are anxious in regard to his mental condition.

THE PEACE JUBILEE has been attacked in its most vital part—Eugene Thayer and Carl Zerrahn have been drawn as jurors, to serve from the second week in April until July.

A GENTLEMAN of Ellsworth, Me., made a bet with his wife that he could undress, go to bed, get up, dress and then undress and go to bed again while she was preparing to go to bed. He won his bet.

BOSTONIANS are constantly improving that thriving city. They are now considering the most magnificent scheme of street improvements yet proposed. It requires an expenditure of millions of dollars, the demolition of the Tremont House, two houses on Park street and the Howard Athenæum.

THE TARIFF BILL passed the U. S. Senate by a vote of 35 to 4 on Thursday. All internal taxes of every kind, including the unpaid income tax for 1871, except those on whiskey, malt liquors and tobacco, are repealed from the 1st of July next; tea and coffee are placed on the free list, and the scale of duties reported by the Senate is agreed to. The House will take no action on the bill at present.

DANIEL DREW has contracted with the bankers of the Bischoffsheim-Mc-Henry party in London, to deliver 50,000 shares of Erie within ten months, at 55, at seller's option, free of interest. Drew gives particulars. Each side deposits a million dollars, earnest-money. The London party is credited with having sold at home a corresponding amount of their cash stock at a difference of $250,000 or $300,000 in their favor. Mr. Drew has already received an offer of $200,000 for his interest.

BARQUE NIMROD was burned at Bermuda, March 19th, and of 17 persons on board only ten were saved. The vessel was loaded with naphtha and kerosene, and an explosion from some unknown cause took place in the portion of the hold behind the main hatch and running aft beneath the cabin as far as the stern. It is believed that the captain's wife and daughter—a young girl—were in the cabin at the time of explosion. When the fire was seen from the harbor of Bermuda it was too late to render assistance.

GEN. BUTLER is just now taking a keen revenge upon his unscrupulous assailant, Brick Pomeroy, by appearing in the New York courts as the counsel of Sadie Wilkinson, in her suit for $20,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage on the part of Pomeroy. A short time ago Gen. Butler compelled the same Pomeroy to support his divorced wife and assign to her a portion of his property. This, indeed, is carrying the war into Africa. The plaintiff, Sadie Wilkinson, was formerly the wife of Charlie Wilkinson, now a member of the Bidwell & Wilkinson theatrical company.

NOT A BAD IDEA.—For several years East Kingston has been, politically, an evenly balanced town. In February, 1868, a Union party was formed, for four years, from both political parties, of about equal numbers from each, and embracing more than one half of the voters in town. The first year the Democrats were given the Moderator, one Selectman and the Representative: the Republicans having the Town Clerk and two Selectmen; the offices being changed between the parties every alternate year, each party nominating in caucuses its candidates for the offices to which it was entitled, and the Union party supporting the successful nominees at the polls. For the four years the candidates thus nominated have been triumphantly elected. Previous to this arrangement, the price of votes had reached $50 each, at contested elections.

State News.

Northwood Academy has a new bell.

Deacon Richard Roberts of Newmarket has a pullet which manages to lay eggs without any yolks.

An enterprising gentleman intends putting a car on the Boston and Maine Railroad, to run daily between Exeter and Boston.

Northwood proposes to celebrate its centennial next year.

Mrs. Caroline Lovering of Northwood left her home March 15th, and an unsuccessful search was made for her; on the 22d, her body was found in an unfrequented pasture, a mile from her dwelling, by Simon A. Smith of Northwood. A coroner's jury brought in a verdict that "Caroline Lovering came to her death by voluntary exposure to the cold."

The church in Sandown, which was organized in 1759 with fifty-seven members, has had no pastor or stated supply since 1800, and has become reduced to one member—a woman.

The whole number of votes cast in Danville, at the late election, for Moderator, on the first ballot, was 150. Jairus Towle, Dem., had 75; Alden E Colby, Repub., 75; on the second ballot Towle had 74 votes and Colby 75 votes. Whole number of votes cast for Town Clerk, on first ballot, 152; George M. Anderson, Repub., had 76; Woodbury D. Collins, Labor Reform, 76. On the second ballot Collins was chosen by a small majority. Whole number of ballots for Representative, 147. Almon Dimond, L. R. and Dem., had 72; Oliver Hunt, Repub., 75.

A Greenfield man, having a wife and four smiling babes, is reported to have gone to foreign parts with a Peterborough damsel of fifteen. In order to swell his funds he forged a deed to real estate not owned by him and sold it, with a horse to which he had no claim, to the father of his beloved.

On Wednesday morning William H. Drew, of Concord, was holding in his hands a Smith & Wesson seven-shooter, which he supposed contained no cartridge, and with its muzzle up was trying to work the trigger, which did not operate readily. While thus employed, and with the pistol within two inches of his breast, it discharged and the ball passed through his vest and struck his pocket-book, penetrating more than seventy-five thicknesses of money, papers, photographs, and folds of the pocket-book, and stopping at the last thickness of the wallet, so that not even his skin was grazed. A quantity of bills and scrip undoubtedly checked the force of the ball and saved it from entering his heart. It was a very narrow escape, and if it had resulted fatally, the chances are nine in ten that it would have been called a case of suicide.

The President has nominated Henry B. Atherton, Esq., as Postmaster of Nashua.

MEXICAN DEPREDATIONS.—A delegation from Texas, headed by Senator Hamilton, has waited upon the President in relation to Mexican depredations on the frontier. The delegation represent that on a recent date a party of forty regular Mexican troops in uniform crossed the Rio Grande at a point above Brownsville, arrested the United States custom inspector and a number of citizens, and held them until they had crossed into Mexico a drove of five or six hundred stolen cattle. It was further represented that the depredations on stock alone by raiders from Mexico to Texas, in the last six years, will reach six to ten millions of dollars in value, and the system of brands prevailing in Texas will enable the sufferers to establish a legitimate claim against Mexico from the various county records. The President replied that he was familiar with that section, as he served in the Mexican war as a lieutenant. He exhibited a thorough acquaintance with the condition of the Mexican frontier, and stated that it had been subject of frequent communication to the Mexican government, which would, no doubt, be willing to afford relief, but seemed powerless while internal revolutions continued in the northern States of Mexico.

MEMORY AND REVENGE.—A good maxim for worldly men, is to be very chary of offending those persons whom they observe to have good memories. Revenge is chiefly a function of good memory. You cannot expect those persons who remember well to be as forgiving as other men. Memory is a faculty which has, comparatively speaking, but little choice in the exercise of its functions. It would surprise men of feeble memories, if they could know with what clearness and intensity a long past injury or insult comes back to the mind and soul of a man of potent memory. He flushes up with anger at the remembrance, as he did at the first reception of the insult, or the injury. He must be a man of extraordinary sweetness of disposition if he can always continue to forgive. In short, with the majority of mankind, forgiveness is but a form of forgetfulness.—Good Words.

—There is a village in Hopkins County, Kentucky, called Ty-Whoppity.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

DEAD MEN TELL NO TALES; if they did, anathemas against the depleting lancet, the drastic purge, and the terrible salivants of the materia medica, would arise from every graveyard. The motto of modern medical science is "Preserve and Regulate, not destroy," and no remedy of our day is so entirely in harmony with this philanthropic logic as DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. In this powerful, yet harmless restorative, dyspepsia, bilious complaints, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and nerves, encounter an irresistible antidote. m5 4w

DURING OUR INTERVIEW, the American Consul at Bankok, presented the King an elegant assortment of his medicines from Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass., for the use of the Court. He explained to his majesty their origin from the great chemist and their uses. The Cherry Pectoral for coughs—the Sarsaparilla for eruptive diseases, and the Ague Cure for the fevers that are so fatal in this hot country. The dangerous condition of a favorite wife in the palace with one of the disorders these medicines cure, gave him special interest in these products of medical skill; indeed, the medical marvels interested him more in our country than all the other attentions we had shown him.—Letters from a Lady in Siam.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENTS.—Scrofula or morbid deposits in the lungs, joints and tissues. These medicines have rendered this disease a less formidable scourge than formerly. It has been incontestably proved that in Scrofulous affections they have effected thousands of cures. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

What Spring Brings With It.

Regarded from a medical standpoint, Spring is not the delectable season described by vernal poets. On the contrary, its yield of intermittent fevers, bilious attacks, rheumatic pains, disorders of the stomach, nervous complaints, and pulmonary diseases, is almost as large as its crop of violets, snowdrops and cherry blossoms. The invisible seeds of innumerable maladies rise with the morning mists, and are scattered broadcast by the vapors of night. Who can resist their mephitic influence? Certainly not the weak by nature, or those whose nervous energies have been overtasked by mental or physical labor, unless they tone and invigorate their systems and thus enable them to cope with the unhealthy influences by which they are surrounded.

The only medicinal agent by which this object can be rapidly and safely accomplished, is the great vegetable renovant and invigorant, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. The operation of this celebrated specific is four-fold. It strengthens the digestive organs, regulates the secretions, improves the condition of the blood, superinduces a regular habit of body, and thereby imparts such vigor and elasticity to the whole physical structure, as to render it capable of resisting the action of the poisonous miasma, with which the spring atmosphere is always to some extent impregnated. Here, then, is a ready and certain means of escaping the disorders prevalent at this season, or (if they have already fastened upon the system) of conquering them speedily and thoroughly. The flavor of a medicine is not of much consequence, provided it does its work properly, but of Hostetter's Bitters it may be fairly said, that they effect a cure without outraging the patient's sense of taste.

DIALOGUE.

Stranger. Where is the best place in this city to buy Confectionery or Fruit?

Citizen. At GILBERT'S, 27 Daniel Street, corner Penhallow Street.

St. Does he keep a bar in back?

Cit. He sells neither rum, ale, cider, tobacco or cigars.

St. Does he buy old bankrupt stock of Confectionery and damaged fruit, and sell it 15 per cent. cheaper than the regular trade sell pure articles?

Cit. No sir. He makes his candies of pure refined sugar, and his purchases are made from the purest, freshest and best goods in the market, and he sells at a fair profit.

St. Will he sell at wholesale, or less than half a pound?

Cit. Any amount from one ounce to a ton. Call and see him. m13

RAILROAD COMPANY

FIRST MORTGAGE, SINKING FUND,

Land Grant Bonds,

DUE 1891 IN GOLD.

Interest 7 Per Cent. Gold, Free of Tax.

THE CAIRO AND FULTON ROAD is the main artery for travel across the State of Arkansas. It is the continuation of the St. Louis and Iron Mountain Railroad and under the same management. It will connect the St. Louis roads and the Illinois Central Railroad, with the International Railroad, the Southern Pacific Railroad and the Texas system of roads. Its length is 301 miles, and it deviates from a straight line but six miles. It has no grades over 15 feet to the mile. It passes through the most thriving counties and the Capital, Little Rock. The Land Grant of 1,926,400 acres, "is one of the most extensive and valuable ever made to any road by Congress." The whole road is under contract for building. About 60 miles are built and track-laying will go on at the rate of about half a mile a day, until the connection of Little Rock with St. Louis is completed. The First Mortgage Bonds, $8,000,000, $5,000,000 of which have already been sold, are the first lien upon the road, rolling-stock and lands. The officers are:

THOMAS ALLEN, St. Louis,.....President.
H. G. MARQUAND, New York,..Vice President
D.W.McWILLIAMS, New York,.....Treasurer.
W. R. DONALDSON, St. Louis,.....Secretary.

New York Directors:

H. M. ALEXANDER, H. G. MARQUAND,
WM. T. BLODGETT, JOHN H. SWIFT,
WM. H. SWIFT, ALANSON TRASK.

The Union Trust Company, Trustee of the Bonds. Price 90 and accrued interest in currency.

The Company reserves the right to advance the price at any time. Marketable securities received in exchange at full market rates, and express charges paid.

Maps and pamphlets may be obtained upon application to the selling agents.

Easter at St. John's.

To-morrow being Easter-Day, and the Bishop of the Diocese being present, three services will be held in St. John's Church, viz: Morning Services with Confirmation at 10 1-4 A. M.; Children's Easter Service at 2 3-4 P. M.; appropriate Evening Service at 7 P. M. The floral decorations, (for which extended preparations have been made,) are under the care and at the expense of the ladies of the Naval Officers.

City Councils.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, a petition of Frank Jones and others for a plank walk on the westerly side of North Road from Prospect Street to John Ellison's land, was referred to Committee on Streets.

Petition of D. H. Peirce and others that John H. Grant may be allowed to retain the use and possession of the Jefferson Market for his present business, was received and laid on the table.

Petition of G. B. & S. W. Came for leave to obstruct High, Hanover and Ladd Streets, on Wednesday next, for their carriage sale, was granted.

The Committee on Finance, to whom were referred certain bills relating to the Firemen's Muster, recommended that said bills be referred back to the Committee on the Muster, except the bill of the Portsmouth Gas Light Co., which they recommended should be paid. The recommendation was adopted.

The petition of police officers was taken from the table and it was voted that the petitioners have leave to withdraw.

The following items are from the Journal of March 29:—

— Workmen on the streets find the earth frozen to the depth of four to five feet.

— Dr. A. P. Stevens has purchased the residence of Mr. Elisha Tripp on middle Street.

—Tickets for the Barnabee concert will be for sale early the coming week. Let those who would be sure of seats secure them early.

— While the appearance of the Temple is much improved by the new shades on the gas fixtures, the relief to the eyes of the audience is quite as agreeable.

— We learn that Thomas Bailey Aldrich has a volume of prose sketches in the press of James R. Osgood & Co. of Boston. Portsmouth friends will anticipate it with interestr.

—At a town meeting at South Berwick on Monday it was voted that the Selectmen be instructed to use means to compel the Boston and Maine Railroad to construct the extension of their road through the town of South Berwick according to their charter.

— Hon. Thomas L. Tullock has accepted a position at the head of a new great western railroad enterprise and will soon remove to that part of the country, in the interest of the same, having his headquarters at a station one hundred and fifty miles beyond St. Paul, Minnesota.

—Madame Ada Heine, one of the artists engaged by Mr. H. C. Barnabee for the concert on Fast night, has won great renown by her magnificent performances on the piano, having had the honor of playing before the King and Queen of England, the King of Prussia, Emperor of Brazil, etc.

—Purchasers and those interested in superior work will not forget to attend G. B. & S. W. Came's extensive carriage sale at their Repository next Wednesday. One hundred and fifty carriages of varied design, style and finish, of their own manufacture, will be disposed of, offering inducements which none should fail to accept.

—The world-renowned Blind Violinist, Joseph Heine is engaged for H. C. Barnabee's entertainment next Thursday night, of whom the London Times says he cannot fail to inspire the reflective mind with wonder and admiration. His one string performances were encored by the Emperor, says the Journal de Commercio, of Rio de Janeiro.

— Prof. E. T. Quimby of Hanover, has sent circulars to the authorities of this city and other places, asking them to "erect a station on prominent places, by means of which the Coast Survey may determine geodetical points." It is proposed to get out a new map which shall be more correct in locating various points, than any yet issued by the U. S. Coast Survey. The Professor commences operations in July.

— It is probable that barbette batteries will be thrown up at Fort McClary and at Jerry's Point, where their guns can sweep all the approaches to this harbor, and prevent a hostile fleet from taking up unopposed, a position to shell the city, the Engineer Department having decided to abandon the idea of massive stone fronts with casements for coast defence, and to confine the new constructions to barbette batteries of earth, sodded, with iron depressing carriages for the heavy guns mounted.

WELCOME HOME.—In answer to the communication published last week from "An Old Portsmouth Boy," resident in New York, we are requested to state that "the Sons" are to be welcomed home again on the 20th anniversary, which occurs July 4, 1873; at which time it is also intended to celebrate the 250th anniversary of our settlement here. Further particulars will be duly announced.

—The Los Angeles anti-Chinese rioters have all been convicted of manslaughter.

Seabrook.

At a regular meeting of Seaside Division, No. 12, Sons of Temperance, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing term: Horace D. Moreland, W. P.; Reese Owen, R. S.; Wm. G. Souther, Asst. R. S.; Thomas F. Eaton, F. S.; Betsey B. Eaton, Treas.; Wm. A. Rand, Chaplain; Belle Eaton, Con.; Helen M. Eaton, A. C.; Isaiah P. Eaton, I. S.; John S. Bagley, O. S.

ELIOT.—A correspondent informs us that Eliot, Me., "has been excited for the past few days over a case of real small-pox,—Mr. James Kimball, living at Sturgeon Creek, was taken ill on Sunday, March 24th, and died on the morning of Thursday, the 28th. The disease was brought into town by a man from Boston."

EASTERN RAILROAD.—On the Eastern some changes in the mode of administration will be made, which will simplify the duties of various officers, and have the effect to place this road in the front rank in respect to judicious and efficient management. Through the additions now making, the road will have a larger exhibit in the way of equipment than any other in the United States, in proportion to the number of miles of track.

Forty new passenger cars, provided with the Miller platform and Westinghaus brake, besides six or seven Pullman cars completely furnished, and twelve locomotives, will be added to the present rolling stock. Twelve extra miles of double track have recently been laid, and the Great Falls and Conway road will soon be completed to North Conway. Two new and handsome station houses are now building at Lynn, and a passenger station will be established at East Boston, from which residents of that part of the city can take cars to all points eastwardly. The latter improvement can hardly fail to be appreciated by the citizens of the Island Ward, who are now compelled to cross the ferry and the city to take the cars, which, thereupon, proceed to make a circuit almost half way round the city, bringing them nearly back to the starting-point ere they get upon their journey onward.—Boston Globe.

MRS. MANCHESTER, the highly popular Clairvoyant Physician, whose remarkable cures in this vicinity have been attested to by a large number of reliable persons, is now at the Franklin House, and for the accommodations of her numerous patients she will remain ten days from the 28th, but will positively leave April 8th.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

A Case of Blindness Cured.

MRS. MANCHESTER: This is to certify that I called upon you last October with a son of mine who had been Blind over a year; totally blind with one Eye and very nearly so with the other. I had had him treated by three Eminent Physicians, and also had taken him to the Eye Infirmary in Boston, but neither did him any good, and he still grew worse. MRS. MANCHESTER assured me she could cure him. I commenced with her treatment, and at this time one Eye is perfectly well, and the other is gaining. I had given up all hope of his ever seeing again, but, by the help of God and Mrs. Manchester's skill, he is now able to work, which I am sure he never would if it had not been for her. Let all give her a trial, and by calling on me the boy can be seen by any one.

This is a true statement of the case.

JOHN MCCORMICK,
JOHN MCCORMICK, JR., Portsmouth.

This is to certify that Mrs. Manchester has doctored in my family for six years with marked success. She has cured my wife of dropsy in its worst form; my daughter of spinal disease of five years' standing; a sister of deafness and catarrh, my father of blindness. And I would recommend her to the public as a skillful physician, and every way worthy of patronage.

JOHN HOBSON, Portland, Me.

One of the Greatest Cures on Record.

BANGOR, Sept. 28, 1870.

This is to certify that I have been sick for twenty-five years with liver complaint, as the physicians have all told me. I have been treated in New York and Bangor by a large number of Physicians, and found no relief until I called on Mrs. MANCHESTER a short time ago. She told me very readily what the trouble was—that I had abscesses and tumors. I have taken her medicines, and have had proof that what she told me was perfectly correct. If any one doubts this, let them call on me personally, and I will give them correct information in regard to my case. I want the sick and suffering to go and consult MRS. MANCHESTER, and not be discouraged by ignorant and faithless people, but have a mind of your own, and you will get relief.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.

Morning Chronicle.

Communicated.

Typhoid.

Pray, good Mr. Chronicle, give an early insertion to this horrible article, which I enclose. Perhaps you may put a stop to the work now daily going on, and which may be baleful in its results. Would it not be well at the same time, to suggest to the public, the question, why the filling of the vaults with earth, before cleansing, should not have the same deodorizing effect as in the earth closet.

Hall's Journal of Health for March has a valuable article on this subject. The doctor sums at the substance of the matter without circumlocution. It is, he says, accurate enough for all practical purposes for the people, to say that typhoid is an exaggerated form of typhus; that both should be called by the same name of Excremental Fever, for then the common people would at once know the nature of the disease, and would at once seek out its cause, remove it, and thus promptly abate the malady, not only in the individual, but in the neighborhood where prevalent. Typhoid fever, typhus fever, ship fever, jail fever, camp fever, are one and the same disease; for the cause of them all is one and the same—breathing into the lungs, swallowing into the stomach, human excrement; that is, what has been thrown from the body, or out of the body: from the body includes the perspiration odors, fumes, coming from the skin and lungs; out of the body means the urine, and more particularly that which passes in a solid form from the bowels. The things which are breathed into the lungs and swallowed into the stomach find their way into the blood, poison it, make it thicker, arrest its flow, cause it to clog up in the small blood vessels, derange the circulation, and finally arrest the working of the whole machinery of the body, and the man is dead.

Typhoid fever can be caused in an hour, and death may ensue in the next twenty-four, according to the concentration of the matters in the atmosphere and the time of exposure to them.

The civilized world has very recently had its attention absorbingly directed to the illness of the present Prince of Wales, son of Prince Albert. Typhoid fever carried him to the verge of the grave, from which however he slowly recovered. The interests of science as well as humanity demanded an investigation of the causes of the malady in this instance. The Prince lived about a hundred and twenty miles from London, in a retired part of the country, amid the hills, not far from the sea-coast. In coming to his house day after day, from visits and hunting excursions he had to pass some yards where manure was prepared from human offal. He was generally attended by two other persons, one a young nobleman, a direct descendant of Lord Chesterfield, and the Prince's body-servant. The latter died, as also the nobleman, during the illness of the Prince.

Another nobleman having had occasion to pass these yards but twice, was within twenty-four hours attacked with a serious illness, the symptoms being like those which present themselves in the forming stages of typhoid fever. The party were liable to attacks of sickness from so casual an exposure from two distinct cases, which are here mentioned in consequence of their every-day practical bearings.

First, their modes of life were not such as to give a strong constitution and that vigor of circulation which is able to repel disease. Second, returning home late in the evening or night in a state of fatigue, from the hunts of the day or other recreations, and very likely hungry also, their debilitated systems were unusually open to the baneful influence of bad air and poisonous emanations. In addition, later investigations show that the Prince was subjected to identically the same causes which resulted in his noble and lamented father's death—breathing the atmosphere of privy drains. The tide closing the mouths of these drains first, and then running up into them, drove the gases into the houses in some cases with violence sufficient to blow out a candle. The house of the Prince was one of them.

The National Hotel disease is within the easy memory of the reader. Very many of the inmates were taken suddenly ill; indeed, from its suddenness and prevalence, men did not hesitate to say that it was the result of a conspiracy to poison the incoming President of the United States, who had taken rooms at that establishment. Some died in a short time; others lingered for weeks, and slowly recovered; some went abroad for their health, and died in foreign lands; some were attacked who had taken but a single meal there, and had not slept in the building at all. An extended official investigation took place, witnesses being examined on oath. In the evidence it appeared that the drains of the city had been dammed up by a freshet, in such a way that all the sewers of the hotel were full, as also those connected with the privies, with the result that on entering those on the lower floor the filthy matter from beneath spirted up between the joints of the flooring at the first foot-fall upon it.

From the statements made it appears that

1st. If a case of typhoid fever occurs in any family, the cause should at once be sought for in the air breathed, or in the water used for drinking and cooking.

2. It is safest to use water which comes from a spring, or well, or fountain which is higher, in a more elevated locality, than any house habitation, at least within a mile or two; and safer still, if above all barn-yards, chicken-roosts, pig-pens, and privies.

3. Human excrement should be carried away from the dwellings without one moment's unnecessary delay.

4th. In cities, water-closets should be kept most scrupulously clean, and should be so constructed and located that a window should open from them immediately out of doors, and any architect who makes a different arrangement should be considered a disgrace to his profession.

5th. No gentleman's country-seat should have more than one water-closet in the building, and that to be used only in case of sickness, and after bed-time.

6th. Privies in the country should be at least fifty yards from the dwelling, and far below the spring or water supply.

7th. Every drain of every house which receives what is deposited in water-closets and "kitchen-sinks," should be self-ventilating outside of the walls of the house for every second of the twenty-four hours.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or texture of finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

New Publications.

"Father Merrill," by Mary Dwinell Chellis, is the title of the book to which was awarded the $500 premium offered by Rev. J. P. Warner, D. D., for "the best manuscript for a Sunday School Book." The characters in this book are well drawn, that of Father Merrill particularly so, exhibiting religion in the practical form of every day life. This is an excellent book for the Sunday School Library, as it is not only very instructive, but interesting enough to win the younger readers. Published by Warren, Broughton & Wyman, 13 Bible House New York, and 33 Washington Street, Boston. For sale in this city by J. H. Foster. Price $1 50.

The April number of The Radical contains an essay on "The Religion of Humanity," by O. B. Frothingham; "A Study of Voltaire," by John W. Chadwick; "Sordello: A History and a Poem," by Caroline H. Dall; A Metrical Translation, by Charles T. Brooks; a continuation of Frances Gerry Fairfield's story, and the usual Miscellany.

AMONG THE ARTICLES sent to Capt. Hall to cheer his journey in the Polar regions was a tin can carefully sealed, and labelled "not to be opened until the Polaris has reached the Arctic seas." But on its passage to the Navy Yard it met with an accident, and the secret leaked out. It was a can of patent axle grease, with which Capt. Hall or his survivors were affectionately requested by letter to lubricate the axle of this venerable planet.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioner with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SLATE COATING,
Patented August, 1871.
In offering this article to the public, we supply a need which has long been felt. It is especially adapted to
Shingle and Tin Roofs. (Old or New.)
IT IS FIRE & WATER-PROOF AND PREVENTS DECAY.
Not affected by Heat or Cold; is durable and beautiful, with colors permanently set, varying from a dark blue slate color to purple, and even lighter shades, as fancy dictates. It will not wash or scale, and is Extremely Cheap.
Will stop and prevent leaks; superior to any cement now in use. New Shingles covered with this article warranted to last fifty years, and for a Slate Coating over Shingles (Old or New) it has found unequalled. It is also an excellent coating for School Black-Boards.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, APRIL 1, 1872.

Free Homes for Soldiers.

The soldiers serving in the late war are generally aware that, under an act of Congress, they are entitled to take up land along the great railway lines, and thus secure farms free of cost. The difficulty of reaching the spot, and the lack of information relative to the method to be taken and the expense to be incurred to locate, has, however, been generally felt, and thus far but few of the boys in blue have taken advantage of Uncle Sam's generous offer. While New Hampshire would retain the stout arms that fought so well for the country, still, if her sons elect to take up new homes, we desire that they do so understandingly and with every advantage.

To systematize this matter of taking lands, reduce expenses, found communication and give employment, not only to farmers but to mechanics, tradesmen and others, "The New England Military and Naval Bureau of Migration" has been established, with headquarters in Boston, No. 11 Pemberton Square. Col. Geo. H Johnson is President, James M. Johnson, Secretary, with a Vice-President in each New England State. The Bureau is establishing a colony at Detroit Lake, Becker county, Minnesota, on the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad and is prepared to secure desirable lands anywhere in that magnificent section. A party will leave Boston April 1, and other parties at convenient intervals.

Col. Henry O. Kent, of Lancaster, is Vice-President of the Association for New Hampshire, and any enquiries addressed to him will meet prompt attention. The full list of Vice-Presidents and references is as follows:

Vice-Presidents—Gen. Harris M. Plaisted, Bangor, Me.; Col. E. M. Brown, Montpelier, Vt.; Col. Henry O. Kent, Lancaster, N. H.; Gen. C. R. Brayton, Providence, R. I.; Maj. George B. Dudley, New Haven, Conn.

Political.

John Lynch, speaker of the Mississippi house of representatives, is only 23 years old. When Natchez was captured by the Federals he was a slave and could not read.

Maine claims to be ahead of Massachusetts on the woman suffrage question, and the claim is a correct one. Her Senate recently voted two to one in favor of a suffrage amendment to the constitution, while a change of seven votes would have secured its passage in the House.

State News.

Rev. J. N. Chase has accepted a call to the Baptist Church in Exeter; and Rev. Jacob Chapman of Deerfield has been called to Kingston.

The following patents were granted to residents of this State during the week ending March 26, and each bearing that date: to Curtis Gates of Littleton, for washing machine; to J. Morrill Rix of Warner, for game; to John G. Foster of Nashua, for electro-magnetic apparatus for steering torpedo boats, &c.

Waldo E. Tyrell of Hancock lost both arms by being caught by a shaft in the box factory of Howard & Chandler at Winchester, Saturday forenoon.

OFFICIAL INFORMATION has been received of the recovery by the United States authorities of the two steamers belonging in the Venezuelan Steam Navigation Company, a New York concern, seized some time since by the insurgent forces of that nation, and of their restoration to their rightful owners. The work was done by United States Consul Dalton and Captain Potter of the United States steamer Shawmut, who on the 15th of February took possession of the vessels, hoisted the American flag on both, and two days latter turned them over to the secretary of the company, Mr. Harriman, on the spot. This prompt action disposes of a case which at one time threatened to lead to serious difficulty.

—The Louisville Journal thus answers an inquiring correspondent:—"No. Nilsson was never at Trafalgar. A gentleman by the name of Nelson, however, was present, which is just the same. You should secure a position on the river department of one of the Indianapolis papers if you would inform yourself about naval affairs."

FAST DAY in Maine, April 18.

THE ABBE LISZT, acknowledged by the leading musicians of the world as the Grand Master of instrumentation on the piano forte, has been so chary of his commendation of pianos of any particular make, that the following testimonial written by him bears additional weight, aside from the high source from which it emanates. This voluntary testimony from the distinguished Maestro, is a triumph for America, a triumph for Boston, and an enduring triumph for Messrs. Hallet, Davis & Co., whose patent orchestral grand and square pianos are all made with the same fidelity as to recent improvements, purity of tone, and superiority of workmanship.

WEIMAR, May, 1871.
[Translation.]

MR. FLORENCE ZIEGFELD, Director of the Chicago Academy of Music:

My Dear Director: The reputation of the American pianos was established everywhere by the extraordinary sensation they created at the Paris Exhibition of 1867. Since that time several of the leading piano manufacturers in Europe have found it expedient to construct pianos of the American kind. The distinguishing advantages of the latter—peculiar richness of tone and extreme solidity of construction — were evident to eye and ear in the most admirable instrument manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co., of Boston, which was tested here yesterday.

It is highly desirable that the use and enjoyment of these instruments should be attainable for European pianists. With distinguished regards,

I am, yours truly,
F. LISZT.

THE INDIAN FRAUDS.—All the papers and documents in the Wright Indian fraud case have been transmitted by Secretary Delano to the department of justice, with the request that whatever action is necessary either for the recovery of the stolen money or the punishment of Wright be taken. Wright, in his capacity as agent to receive and pay over the bounties of the Indians, received $420,254, for not one-half of which has he ever filed vouchers of any description.

GENERAL HUMPHREY MARSHALL of Kentucky died March 28th, of pneumonia. He was born in 1812, was educated at West Point, led a Kentucky regiment in the Mexican war with much credit, but joined the rebels when the slave-holders attempted to destroy the Union and held the position of general in the rebel army. In private life he was estimable and upright.

CONNECTICUT ELECTION, TO-DAY.

SALE OF THE BED OF A LAKE.—The excitement of last year in Beaver Lake, Indiana, has not been forgotten. Beaver Lake was a lake in primeval days; then a marsh; then the borders became dry land, and people squatted thereon. A question of ownership at once arose. Private parties owning the ground along one shore claimed ownership to the centre of the water, under riparian law. The State of Indiana, to which the United States had ceded the surrounding territory as school-lands, claimed the new farms—some 18,000 acres in all—on like principle. Other parties in interest, suspecting, for obvious reasons, that the United States did not convey the lake to the State of Indiana for school-lands, proceeded to purchase of the United States under the homestead law. These parties resold to Scandinavian colonists from Chicago and Wisconsin, and when they and their households arrived to take possession they found their respective 160 acres already occupied. A "war" ensued, which was only suppressed by United States marshals.

In course of time the entire lake bed has become perfectly dry, and, as was to be expected, has become agricultural land of the greatest richness. It is probably the most fertile section in the entire State. Its productive qualities augmented the conflict for its possession and fierce suits were carried at once into the federal and State courts. The Indiana officials ruled one way. The federal marshals drove their rulings out. The United States land commissioner took the question under advisement and intimated that the idea of riparian rights was an obsolete, common-law tradition which the United States declined to accept. Yesterday the 18,000 acres reached the House committee on public lands. The committee agreed with the commissioner that the United States had not given the lake to the State of Indiana for school lands, and are of opinion that Indiana does not need the 18,000 acres. They recommend that the rights of settlers in possession be respected and the lands sold at $1.25 an acre—cheap enough. This is the correct thing to do, although there are people who will lose some money by it.—Chicago Journal.

—An Irishman a short time since, while leading a pig through the streets of Lewiston, wished to fill his pipe, and tied piggy to the wheel of a hack while he charged his "dudeen." In the meantime the hack driver wholly unaware of the weight attached to the carriage wheel, took his seat and drove off, dragging the pig after him. Pat was last seen picking up stray pieces of pork.

—The Cincinnati and Newport bridge commenced its career romantically, the first to cross it being an eloping couple.

—The spectacle of a steamer running to a fire actually frightened a Milwaukee cow to death.

THE WRONG TICKET.—A New York correspondent tells the following story: A well known decter of divinity was riding the other day in a street car, in company with a friend. He is a positive man and resents an insult quite vehemently. Earnestly engaged in conversation, he handed the conducter a ticket as he came to collect the fare. The conductor did not move on. As he remained studying the ticket, the doctor's attention was attracted toward the official, who seemed to be highly interested in the car ticket. He read it, smiled, shook his head, and finally said to the doctor: "This may be all very well, but the ticket is not good on this line." "What's the reason it's not good, I should like to know?" said the testy doctor; "It's one of your own tickets; I bought it this morning." "I guess not," said the conducter. The altercation drew the attention of the passengers. "This is very good advice, but it will not pass you over this line;" and the conductor read: "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain." An explosion followed, amid which the doctor paid his fare and left the car. He has concluded to keep his religious cards in one pocket and his car tickets in another.

—A Dr. Stearns of Baltimore has prepared a complete concordance to the Constitution of the United States, by which any passage may be found at once, if any word in it is remembered.

—It cost two New Albany gentlemen $25 to engage in a friendly scuffle in a grocery store. They tipped over a box containing twenty dozen eggs, broke a $15 scale, and did other damage.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgatives or Anti-Bilious Pills.

DEAD MEN TELL NO TALES; if they did, anathemas against the depleting lancet, the drastic purge, and the terrible salivants of the materia medica, would arise from every graveyard. The motto of modern medical science is "Preserve and Regulate, not destroy," and in this everyday war there is so entirely in harmony with this philanthropic logic as DR WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. In this powerful, yet harmless restorative, dyspepsia, bilious complaints, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and nerves, encounter an irresistible antidote. m5 4w

DURING OUR INTERVIEW, the American Consul at Bankok, presented the King an elegant assortment of his medicines from Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass, for the use of the Court. He explained to his majesty their origin from the general chemist and their uses. The Cherry Pectoral for coughs—the Sarsaparilla for eruptive diseases, and the Ague Cure for the fevers that are so fatal in this hot country. The dangerous condition of a favorite wife in the palace with one of the dishonorers these medicines cure, gave him special interest in these products of medical skill; indeed, the medical marvels interested him more in our country than all the other attentions we had shown him.—Letters from a Lady in Siam.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENTS.—Scrofula or morbid deposits in the lungs, joints and tissues. These medicines have rendered this disease a less formidable scourge than formerly. It has been incontestably proved that in Scrofulous affections they have effected thousands of cures. Sold everywhere. 25 cents per box or pot.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefited by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

What Spring Brings With It.

Regarded from a medical standpoint, Spring is not the delectable season described by vernal poets. On the contrary, its yield of intermittent fevers, bilious attacks, rheumatic pains, disorders of the stomach, nervous complaints, and pulmonary diseases, is almost as large as its crop of violets, snowdrops and cherry blossoms. The invisible seeds of innumerable maladies rise with the morning mists, and are scattered broadcast by the vapors of night. Who can resist their empathic influence? Certainly not the invalid by nature, or those whose nervous energies have been overtasked by mental or physical labor, unless they tone and invigorate their systems and thus enable them to cope with the unhealthy influences by which they are surrounded.

The only medicinal agent by which this object can be rapidly and safely accomplished, is the great vegetable nerve and blood invigorant, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. The operation of this celebrated specific is four-fold. It strengthens the digestive organs, regulates the secretions, improves the condition of the blood, superinduces a regular habit of body, and thereby imparts such vigor and elasticity to the whole physical structure, as to render it capable of resisting the action of the poisonous miasma, with which the spring atmosphere is always to some extent impregnated. Here, then, is a ready and certain means of escaping the disorders prevalent at this season, or (if they have already fastened upon the system) of conquering them speedily and thoroughly. The flavor of a medicine is not of much consequence, provided it does its work properly, but of Hostetter's Bitters it may be fairly said, that they effect a cure without outraging the patient's sense of taste.

Board of Trade.

In consequence of a misunderstanding in regard to the time the previous meeting adjourned to, the meeting of the Board of Trade was not so fully attended on Friday evening last as it is wont to be. Even the President supposed the meeting adjourned at the call of the Secretary and eagerly scanned the daily papers for the accustomed notice, when he had put a motion to adjourn until Friday evening, March 29, and declared a vote! But this fact only seems to confirm the truth of the adage in regard to "mistakes occurring in the best," &c. After waiting altogether too long for the arrival of the President, it was ascertained that he was in Boston. The meeting then appointed Frank W. Miller to the Chair and the small amount of business to be transacted was soon finished.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

A Case of Blindness Cured.

MRS. MANCHESTER: This is to certify that I called upon you last October with a son of mine who had been blind over a year; totally blind with one Eye and very nearly so with the other. I had had him treated by three Eminent Physicians, and also had taken him to the Eye Infirmary in Boston, but neither did him any good, and he still grew worse. MRS. MANCHESTER assured me she could cure him. I commenced with her treatment, and at this time one Eye is perfectly well, and the other is gaining! I had given up all hope of his ever seeing again, but, by the help of God and Mrs. Manchester's skill, he is now able to work, which I am sure he never would if it had not been for her. Let all give her a trial, and by calling on me the boy can be seen by any one.

This is a true statement of the case.

JOHN MCCORMICK,
JOHN MCCORMICK, JR., Portsmouth.

This is to certify that MRS. Manchester has doctored in my family for six years with marked success. She has cured my wife of dropsy in its worst form; my daughter of spinal disease of five years' standing; a sister of deafness and catarrh; my father of blindness. And I would recommend her to the public as a skillful physician, and every way worthy of patronage.

JOHN HOBSON, Portland, Me.

One of the Greatest Cures on Record.

BANGOR, Sept. 28, 1870.

This is to certify that I have been sick for twenty-five years with liver complaint, as the physicians have all told me. I have been treated in New York and Bangor by a large number of Physicians, and found no relief until I called on MRS. MANCHESTER a short time ago. She told me very readily what the trouble was—that I had abscesses and tumors. I have taken her medicines, and have had proof that what she told me was perfectly correct. If any one doubts this, let them call on me personally, and I will give them correct information in regard to my case. I want the sick and suffering to go and consult MRS. MANCHESTER, and not be discouraged by ignorant and faithless people, but have a mind of your own, and you will get relief.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6-7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

Morning Chronicle.

THE IMPROVED WEATHER SYSTEM.—I intend, ultimately to reform the whole government of the United States. I shall tear it out, reconstruct it, shake up some kind of an original and surprising policy, and begin all over again. I think I will run it upon a contract somehow, and relieve the people of all their present duties, excepting the duty of supplying cash.

But at present I am considering the case of the Probability man who meddles with our great American weather. I think he means well, and tries conscientiously to do his best, but his system is radically defective, and the consequence is that conjectures are despicably incorrect quite half the time. The inconvenience caused by these mistakes, not only to the people generally, but to me personally, is inconceivably great, and it is not to be endured any longer.

For instance, if I read in the morning that this Probability person entertains a conviction that we shall have a clear day in my neighborhood, I place confidence in his assurance. I remove the roof from my house in order to dry the garret thoroughly, and I walk down town with a new umbrella under my arm. Now it is plainly evident that if, after all, it does begin to rain, and I am obliged to unfurl that umbrella and run it with the wet, and I am compelled, when I arrive at home to witness my family floating around in the dining-room upon a raft constructed out of the old clothes-horse and a few bed-slats and pie-boards, the government for which Washington died is a failure.

Or, suppose that your friend at the weather office says a thunder storm is certain to strike my section of the country upon a given day. I rush out my lightning rods and buckle them to the chimneys and set them around on the roof and plant them out in the yard, and I fret them upon my hired girl; and I place my family safely in feather beds in the middle of the room and drink all the milk in the neighborhood, and prevail upon the tax collector to go and stand an hour or two under a tree where he will be almost certain to be struck by lightning.

And when all these arrangements are completed, so that I feel equal to the promised emergency, suppose that thunder storm does not come? When I watch that tax collector sally out from under that umbrageous tree and begin to assess my property, counting in all those lightning rods at double their cost, is there any reason to wonder that I sit down and sigh for some responsible despot who will give us a Probability man who grasps the subject of the weather, as it were, in a more comprehensive manner?

But I know him now. He shall never betray me again as he did with that last conjecture concerning the cyclone. He said it would sweep over my district on the morning of the 5th, and so I arose before daybreak and proceeded to a ten acre lot, where I fastened myself to a sheet anchor, filled my pockets with pig lead, fettered myself to the fence and placed my family in a burglar-proof safe, which I tied to my leg and fixed the preserving-kettle tightly over my head with a dog chain, in order to preserve my hair. I said there until five o'clock in the afternoon, waiting for the simoom to swoop down upon me. But it was a failure—a disgraceful failure. The only thing of interest that occurred was the mass meeting held by the people of the neighborhood. When I looked out from under the preserving kettle early in the afternoon, I was surprised to observe that the fence upon the four sides of the lot was filled with men and boys roosting around and watching me. The boys whistled upon their fingers and made unpleasant remarks. When I made a threatening gesture several of the men got off of the fence suddenly, and contented themselves with looking at me between the rails. After a while four policemen came up, in company with a physician; they untied me, knocked me down with a club, applied a blister plaster to my neck, and would have taken me to an asylum but for the timely interference of some of my friends.

And the tornado has not come yet. So you will perceive that the entire system is a humbug; it is fraudulent; it needs to be burst, I may say, into immortal smash, and smashed, in a certain sense, into diminutive smithereens; and then I am going to arrange a plan by which this business of thunder gusts and hurricanes can be reduced, as it were, for instance, to a condition of positive certainty.

The basis of my system is corns. The marvelous accuracy with which changes in the weather can be foretold by a man whose feet are decorated with those excrescences is so well known that it is hardly worth while to consider at length, at this particular crisis, the human corn in its meteorological characteristics. It is quite certain, however, that it will be impossible to expect the Probability being to walk around the country once or twice every day, for the purpose of submitting his corns to the diverse atmospheric influences which exist between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. It would wear out any man to be compelled to visit each one of the States and Territories every twenty-four hours; and, at any rate, the weather in Massachusetts might change suddenly after his departure from there, and while he was fooling around in Kansas.

It will be better, therefore, to have him kept stationary. I propose, in that event, that he should buy any available corn that is in the market in any given State, and have it transplanted and grafted upon his own toe. Doubtless there are patriotic citizens in every portion of the land who would be willing to lay upon the altar of their beloved country their most cherished corns. I have one that I can warrant to be tried and true in meteorological service, and I am ready to give it up instantly for the benefit of my fellow countrymen if Congress will appropriate a few thousand acres of public land as a compensation.

The Probability official then might obtain, let us assume, one corn from each State and a reliable bunion to represent each territory. When these were congrafted upon his feet in a healthful condition, each one, would as a matter of course, be peculiarly susceptible to the atmospheric influences which prevail in its native clime. All we have to do then, is to compel the weather man to wear exceptionally tight boots while he is not attending to business, so that his barometers, I may say, will acquire the requisite amount of sensibility. Then I should have pipes laid from each State to the office in Washington for the purpose of conveying the different varieties of atmosphere to the foot of the Probability person. Suppose then he desired to make a guess in regard to the weather in Louisiana. I would have a man stationed at the end of the pipe in New Orleans with a fan, and he could waft zephyrs, as it were, upon the Louisiana corn, which would respond instantly, and we should have the facts about the weather in that State with poetical precision and mathematical accuracy. When we admitted a new State our friend could weld on a new corn, or, if the Mormons succeeded in procuring the admission of their Territory as a State, we could plow up the Utah bunion and plant a corn, so as to preserve the proprieties.

—An earthquake rattled Paducah, Kentucky, on Tuesday.

AYER'S

CHERRYPECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Cough, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one never secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

SMALL-POX AND VACCINATION.—The committee of the New York Academy of Medicine, appointed to report on the questions relating to small-pox vaccination, which concern the medical profession and the public, have performed their duty, and the report having been adopted by the academy is published. The extent of small pox ravages in many parts of the country gives to the report at this time special importance. The report says that thorough vaccination is thorough protection against small-pox, and as effective now as in the time of Jenner. While it is true that small-pox occasionally occurs in persons who have been once vaccinated, its occurrence is very rare in those recently vaccinated, or revaccinated once or oftener, or in those in whom the first vaccination was thoroughly good.

The protection afforded by vaccination is not only equal to that afforded by a previous attack of small-pox, but secondary small-pox is usually more severe, malignant and fatal than that which occurs after vaccination, which very rarely destroys life or disfigures the person. The committee say it is believed that revaccination will destroy any susceptibility to small-pox infection which may remain from incompleteness or imperfection of the primary vaccination. Every child should be vaccinated early in life. Perhaps the best age, all things considered, is when about three months old, and every one should be revaccinated at least once after coming to the age of puberty.

The committee are very decided in contradiction of the opinion, which has somehow become common in the popular fancy, that vaccine virus carries other disease. Some persons suppose that other contagious diseases may be communicated through vaccination. The committee say "It is believed never to have been seen in practice of the most experienced vaccinators or surgeons especially conversant with that disease, nor has a single case been met with in the systematic inspections of vaccination in England, which have already extended to millions of persons." Sometimes cutaneous eruptions, rashes, erysipelas and scrofulous symptoms have been known to follow vaccination. They are mostly the result of a pre-existing tendency.

No new disease has been known to follow vaccination; all had pre-existed, and they occur not only after it but after small-pox itself, natural or inoculated measles, scarletina, etc., or without these and when no vaccination has been performed. Scrofula has never been developed by vaccination, except when latent in the system, its appearance depending on a peculiar state of the blood and the constitution. This portion of the report concludes with the remark: "To a neglect of reasonable precautions and carelessness in the performance of the first vaccination are due the unmerited discredit into which this greatest boon of a merciful Creator has occasionally fallen, and the fatal objection of certain classes to its employment." While small-pox tends to develop and promote scrofula and consumption, vaccination by preventing small-pox represses them. The death rate of most constitutional diseases, to say nothing of small-pox itself, has materially decreased as the practice of vaccination has increased.

It is to be hoped this report, which carries not only the authority of the respectable body of physicians who authorize its publication, but also that of many distinguished physicians whose opinions are quoted, will do something to remove the prejudices against vaccination which operate to keep alive in the community a terrible pestilence.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. EDDY as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SLATE COATING,

Patented August, 1871.

In offering this article to the public, we supply a need which has long been felt. It is especially adapted to

Shingle and Tin Roofs. (Old or New.)

IT IS FIRE & WATER-PROOF AND PREVENTS DECAY.

Not affected by Heat or Cold; is durable and beautiful, with ordinarily set, varying from a dark blue slate color to purple, and even higher shades, as fancy dictates. It will not wash or scale, and is Extremely Cheap.

Will stop and prevent Leaks; superior to any cement now in us. New Shingles covered with this article warranted at least fifty years, and for a Slate Coating over Shingles (Old or New) it has been found unequalled. It is also an excellent coating for School Black-Boards.

THE NATIONAL DEBT was reduced $15,000,000 in March.

Lynn is a Boston "suburb" according to the Boston Globe.

THE GETTER-UP of the "daily gossip" for the Boston Globe is considerable of a "getter-up."

THE BLOCKADE RUNNER Virginius has escaped from Aspinwall, eluding the vigilance of the Pizarro, which has been guarding her, and is now on her way to Key West.

THE IOWA LOAN AND TRUST COMPANY, of Des Moines, Iowa, invests money at ten per cent., and guarantees its loans. The Corporators are among the first men in that State. The Company refers, by permission, to the Chemical Bank, and to Gilman, Son & Co., of New York City. See advertisement.

THE TRACK of the European and North American Railroad is open from Bangor through to St. John once more, and no more interruptions of travel are anticipated this season. The melting of the immense mass of snow along the line, however, will be likely to injure the road-bed a good deal, and require unusual care in running of trains for the present.

FLOODED. — On Sunday afternoon the whole of Thomas street in front of the city water works reservoir at New Orleans gave way suddenly, releasing a bulk of water covering half a square twelve feet deep, doing much damage. The loss is estimated at $50,000. The lower floors of many houses in the vicinity were almost instantly flooded, causing great alarm among the occupants. The center wall of the reservoir remained firm, so that only half of the supply of water escaped.

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday afternoon, while three men were unloading a boiler from a platform car, at Union wharf, Portland, one of them, named Thomas Skofield, was instantly killed. He was standing between the skids on which the boiler was to be lowered, when his companions, finding that the immense weight was too heavy for them to hold, called out to him to fall down between the skids; instead of doing so, he started to run, and the boiler, which weighed about ten tons, fell upon his head, crushing it into a shapeless mass.

REVENUE FRAUDS IN 1867 AND 1868. The United States Grand Jury, at New York, has been investigating the charges of frauds upon the Government by the Internal Revenue Commission, which was in existence in 1868. These frauds entailed an immense loss to the Government, the collusion between the distillers and the officials during 1867 and 1868 being made to enure heavily to the emolument of said officials. The figures show that during 1867 and three months of 1768, the amount of tax paid by one distillery was only $26,000, which should have paid $1,227,940 more. The President has ordered that indictments found shall be pushed to the end. Some seven hundred persons are implicated, and on Saturday the Grand Jury presented 107 indictments.

—The first mosquito of the season made his appearance in a New Orleans printing office. He had a taste of blood, then flew into the gas jet and miserably perished.

—An exchange, speaking of a certain writer, asserts that he is "something of a botanist; a physical and intellectual autochton, but not exulete by over use." Isn't that good? So clear!

—An exchange says that, at "twenty years of age, Leland Stanford arrived in California with only one shirt on his back. Since then, by close attention to business, he has accumulated over ten millions!"

—An unfortunate editor is left desolate, deserted, and undone. He says: "The woman who has smoothed our ruffled bosom for years, called to say she could not do it hereafter under nine shillings a week."

—A South Pittsburg man, ninety-eight years of age, was vaccinated the other day, fearing that his life would be spent ere half his days by small-pox; he thinks now that he shall live to a good old age if not killed young by smoking.

—A few days since, in the north part of Hartford, a burglar was frightened out of his scheme of robbery by the sweet simplicity of a solitary spinster, who, putting her night-capped head out of the window, exclaimed: "Go away! ain't you 'shamed?"

—So we are not to be thrown off into space and become little asteroids nor be crushed into eternal smash after all. M. Plantamour, having become alarmed lest he should happen to be on the side of the earth where the thing was to hit, has revoked his appointment for a collision with a comet next August.

EARTHQUAKE IN CALIFORNIA.—Advices from Volcanic county, north of Mojave River, show that the earthquake on Tuesday was felt with terrific force there. At Lone Pine twenty-three people were killed and thirty wounded. Shocks were felt at intervals for thirty hours. Fifty houses were demolished and the town is in ruins. Shocks still continue, though with decreased violence. It is remarkable that only a slight shock was felt in central and northern California. Cerro Gordo was badly damaged, having several buildings thrown down and one man killed Lone Pine appears to have been directly over the centre of disturbance. The first shock is described as resembling a park of artillery fired directly beneath the town. Colonel Whipple, who was in the second story of the Adalee House, states that he was just in time to jump from the bed and get to the doorway, when the house appeared to crumble to pieces beneath him. He was buried among the ruins, but succeeded in extricating himself from the debris, having received several severe but not dangerous wounds. The scene beggars description. Nearly the whole populace was buried beneath the ruins. Cries for help and screams of pain from the wounded beneath the ruins filled the air, while those who escaped were calling for aid to rescue fathers and mothers, wives and children. The first shock was followed in quick succession by three others. Over three hundred distinct shocks were felt between half-past two and sunrise. In fact the earth was in a constant tremble over three hours. A chasm was opened extending 35 miles down the valley, varying from three inches to forty feet in width.

A despatch from Visalia says that several shocks were felt in that city and were still coming from the southeast. Persons anticipate finding immense chasms in the mountains east as soon as the snow disappears enough to permit an investigation. There are rumors of a volcano in active operation seen from the summit of Green Hood Mountain, 60 miles south of Visalia. The rumor is considered at least dubious. The Indians in that vicinity have all left, fearing a recurrence of the general convulsive of nature, which, according to traditions, occurred in that region some hundreds of years ago and created what is known as Owen's River Valley, but which was before a chain of mountains. The section affected by the earthquake was sparsely inhabited, mainly by people engaged in working silver-bearing lead mines.

Additional advices from Dirigo county place the number of killed by the earthquake on Tuesday at thirty, besides 100 wounded. In the desert country, stretching from Owen's Lake to the Mexican line, are innumerable craters not long extinct, besides several mud volcanoes, and it is supposed that some of the old volcanoes may be in eruption again. A gentleman from Independence asserts that smoke and ashes from the volcano were distinctly seen southward from that place, and word had been brought there that lava was seen flowing down the mountain, but the report was not authenticated. The shocks continued, decreasing in force, up to Thursday morning, when over a thousand had been counted. At Tibbetts' Ranche, fifteen miles above Independence, forty acres of ground sank seven feet below the surface of the surrounding country.

Kern and Owens rivers turned and ran up stream several minutes, leaving their beds dry, and finally returned with largely increased volume. There has been no parallel to this earthquake since 1812, when the missions of San Juan, Capistrono and La Purissima, in southern California, were destroyed. The earthquake is a matter of common conversation throughout California but creates no apprehension outside of the district affected.

TORNADO.—During a severe thunder storm at St. Louis, Mo., Saturday night, a terrific tornado from the southwest struck the large brick market-house on Seventh Street and levelled the northerly half of it in the twinkling of an eye. Most of the roof and several heavy timbers were carried across Seventh Street, and striking the building opposite, knocked two great holes in it, exposing the rooms. The following persons were injured; Henry Wild, a butcher, seriously, perhaps mortally. A woman, name unknown, had her leg badly crushed, and a man, name unknown, had both arms broken. John Heck, back severely hurt, causing paralysis in the lower part of the body; will probably die. It is likely that the tornado struck the ground only at this point, rose again and passed on in a northerly direction.

The body of Charles W. Dyer of Toledo was found under a portion of the roof which was blown from the market-house.

—One who assumes to know, says that woman's despair for the loss of a lover endures three months in winter, and two in the summer; the second month, a lady becomes interested in a new style of hair dressing; the third, she burns her love letters; twelve months afterward, she hears of her former lover's marriage, and wonders "how she could have loved a man with a red moustache."

—Two old men in Bridgeport, Connecticut, can't look an old dog in the face because they tied a tin can to his tail when he was a pup, and because, furthermore, he hasn't forgotten the trick and still manifests a desire to retaliate.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

DEAD MEN TELL NO TALES; if they did, anathemas against the depleting lancet, the drastic purge, and the terrible salivants of the materia medica, would arise from every graveyard. The motto of modern medical science is "Preserve and Regulate, not destroy," and no remedy of our day is so entirely in harmony with this philanthropic logic as DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. In this powerful, yet harmless restorative, dyspepsia, bilious complaints, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and nerves, encounter an irresistible antidote. m5 4w

THE WILD GEESE do not regard Dr. Ayer's wisdom in migrating north—such immense numbers of them as are flying over us now, while his almanac says: "Bleak and blustering about this time, with heavy snow." Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Times, March 3.

We were too fast last week in our item on the conflict between Dr. Ayer and the wild geese. The Doctor's science beat their instinct this time. Not for years have we had such a snow-storm as that of last Sunday. The snow lies three feet deep on a level in Minnesota, and two feet in Wisconsin, while the storm has swept from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains. Snow fell to various depths as far south as Denver, Fort Union and Santa Fe. Learned as we believed Dr. Ayer in the arcana of nature, and wonderful as we know his medicines to be, we were not prepared for so signal an instance of his superiority, not only over the wise men, but the wisest of animals whose instinct is considered unfailing. We drive up the peg, more firmly than ever, over our hearth for Ayer's American Almanac.—Cedar Rapids Times, March 10.

A SAD FALLING OUT.—It is indeed a sad falling out when, after years of the closest intimacy, the hair parts company with the head. Fortunately the lamentable separation may be easily prevented and the twain more closely united than ever by a timely and systematic use of LYON'S KATHAIRON, the most potent invigorant of the hair and promoter of its growth and beauty known to modern pharmacy. It completely obviates the dry and parched condition of the roots of the hair, which is preliminary to its coming out, by supplying the precise degree of moisture requisite to its preservation in a healthy state. It is the only true dissolvent and evaporant of dandruff and other impurities of the scalp, whose presence is injurious to the hair. As a beautifier of the head the Kathairon has no equal. It not only increases the quantity of the hair, but improves its quality immediately, imparting a lustrous appearance and silky texture which are exceedingly attractive.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—In all crowded cities, malaria and fogs are breathed over and over again, till the strongest lungs are incapable of producing pure blood, hence the sluggishness of mind and body, the weariness and irritability of many persons during this season of the year. These medicines neutralize these impurities, and give vigor to the head, heart and stomach. 25 cents per box or pot.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Plain Words for the People.

When broken down in health, strength and spirits it is not necessary that we should ask a medical man whether an invigorant is necessary. Common sense tells us that it is. The only question to be decided is, what the invigorant shall be. A standard tonic and restorative, which has been many years before the public, and in which millions of the intelligent classes repose the fullest faith, is in a case like this, by general and strongest claims to the confidence of the prudent invalid. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be truly said to possess these high recommendations. Its triumphant progress during a period of twenty years, its present popularity, and the uniform success which attends its use in indigestion, nervous debility, biliary complaints, fever and ague, and all ailments which depress the physical system and enervate the mind, entitle it to the rank of a standard national specific. It is regarded in that light by the community at large, and hundreds of thousands of both sexes resort to it at this season as a preventive of that numerous and harass-ing class of diseases which take their rise from the miasmatic winds and vapors of spring. It is a stimulant, a tonic, an alterative and a mild aperient—four essential restorative and protective elements of the materia medica—united in a single agreeable preparation. Every ingredient is vegetable, of the finest quality, and absolutely pure. Hostetter's Bitters is better known, held in greater esteem, and commands a larger sale, than any other proprietary medicine manufactured in this country or imported from abroad.

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 8 BOND STREET, N.Y.

THE INVALID.—A PAIN PICTURE.—See her pallid countenance, but a short time ago the picture of ruddy health, the envy of the school and the pride of the household. She was always welcomed by her schoolmates, for her lithe form and pleasing disposition carried cheerfulness into their ranks. Diligent, punctual and exemplary, obedient and graceful at home, she won the hearts of all. But alas, we are sorrowed. Those rosy cheeks and ruddy lips are blanched by consumption. The voice once so enchanting in laugh and song is feeble, husky and supplanted by a hollow cough. Let us approach her couch gently and take her hand. Do not shudder because of the feeble and passionless grasp. The hand once so hearty and plump is emaciated and shows bony outlines, while the cords and tortuous veins are plainly mapped upon the surface. The pulse that bounded with repletion, carrying vigor to the whole system and imparting life, beauty, vivacity, health and strength, is delicate to the touch. The feeble heart can not propel the thin, scanty blood with force. Must we lose her while yet in her teens? Companions and friends gather around with words of cheer and consolation and depart with moistened eyes and silent steps. Must we lose her? No! there is relief! We can stay this destroyer of our happiness and not suffer the loss of so bright a gem. Something more is required now than dietary and hygienic observance, for nature calls for aid and she shall have it. Take this pleasant medicine. It is invigorating. How it allays the irritable cough, improves the appetite and digestion and sends a healthy tinge through the frame. The blood is enriched, nervous force increased, and the heart bounds with a new impulse. See her face brighten by degrees; the color is returning, her voice is getting clearer, and pleasant words are spoken. The strength falters yet but is gaining. Let us take her out in the warm sunshine. In a short time she will be able to go without our aid, a cheerful girl. This delightful medicine must be God-blessed. It is restoring health to our loved one. She is emerging from her sickness sweeter and nobler than before, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery must have the credit. It has raised her. Sold by all first-class Druggists everywhere.

Laconics.

Best sleighing of the season, April 1.

Easter decorations at St. John's church were fine.

Erysipelas and scarlet fever are prevalent in Portsmouth.

See Prof. Stone's advertisement in another column, of his farewell benefit Friday night.

That nice new revenue flag which flies from the Custom House flag staff attracts general attention.

Rev. O. F. Van Cise of Auburn, Me., has accepted the call to the pastorship of the Universalist church in this city.

The Villa & Miner company appear this evening at the Temple with a change of programme. Miss Agnes Wallace and Mr. C. H. Clarke are with the company. Sam Villa is an old favorite.

It is expected that an extra express will be run during the summer on the Eastern Railroad specially for the White Mountain travel. This train will run twice a day between Boston and Conway as a fast express, stopping only at the principal stations.

At the regular meeting of Garibaldi Hook & Ladder Co., No. 1, Monday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:—Samuel H. Kingsbury, Foreman; James R. Morrison, 2d Foreman; Edward J. Moulton, Clerk; Daniel R. Wendell, Steward; Samuel S. Fletcher, Trustee Firemen's Relief Association Fund.

Dr. E. B. Goodall has recently been appointed chorister at the North Church, and Mrs. Goodall organist. Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Butler have positions in the choir. Dr. Goodall has done much service for music in Portsmouth, and Mrs. G. has been long known as a skillful player. Mr. Pearson, who had filled the position of organist at this church creditably for several years, numbers among his pupils at least three of the leading organists in the city.

The San Francisco Bulletin has the following; "M. Heine's performances are peculiarly interesting, in consequence of his being deprived of the sense of sight. In his case, as in that of many others, the sense of touch is remarkably developed, and the delicacy with which he 'feels' the strings of his instrument is wonderful. M. Heine was a pupil of Sainton, one of the greatest violinists of the present century, and on leaving his tutor, Sainton confessed that 'he could teach him nothing more.' Paul Julien was a master of the violin; his forte lay in the brilliancy of his execution, which could be appreciated by musical connoisseurs. The music which Heine produces appeals to the souls of his hearers. To appreciate his playing it is not necessary to know a note of music, and at the same time the most exigeant of musical critics cannot fail to be satisfied. Madame Heine is decidedly the best pianiste who ever visited our shores, and may be placed only second to Arabella Goddard, who is acknowledged to be the best pianiste in the world. The young ladies of San Francisco will probably derive as much advantage from hearing Madame Heine perform Mendelssohn's Grand Rondo in B minor on Monday, as they could from many lessons." The Heines will appear at the Barnabee Concert, Fast night.

State News.

Capt. Peter E. Hadley of Goffstown, died the 29th ult. He was captain of a company in the war of 1812, and was stationed at Portsmouth.

James Roby, aged 70, of Warner, committed suicide by hanging on Saturday last. A long life of intemperance and dissipation had sickened him of life.

One of the largest drives of logs ever seen in the river has been put in the Pemigewasset, and is now on its way down. It is estimated at not less than 13,000,000 feet.

The dwelling-house of Samuel Morse, on Smith's Hill, Franklin, with nearly all its contents, was destroyed by fire Thursday noon. Loss, $1600; insured for $800 in the Boscawen Mutual.

Capt. Stelman Fellow, formerly a prominent citizen of Manchester, died at Springfield, Mass., March 27th, aged 72. He was one of the principal witnesses for the State in the celebrated Parson murder case in 1850.

The city laundry in Concord, a three-story brick building on Capital Street, was badly damaged by fire Sunday, the two upper stories being entirely destroyed. The loss on the building is about $10,000, which is covered by insurance. The upper story was used for tenements, from which scarcely anything was saved. Some of the female occupants barely escaped with their lives, being carried out in their nightclothes almost suffocated with smoke. The occupants were Dr. A. A. Moulton, loss about $2000, no insurance; Mrs. Mary L. Shute, loss $1000, no insurance; Mrs. Laura Baker, loss $500, insured for $300; Mrs. Crockett, a sufferer by the Chicago fire, lost clothes and jewelry; Mrs. Benjamin Osgood, effects partially saved; Mrs. Heath, tailoress, loss $800, no insurance; Mrs. Fisch, loss $300, no insurance; Albert A. Durgin, loss $1000, no insurance. The second floor was occupied by Henry P. Moore, who is insured for $1300, which will probably cover his loss; Mrs. Emily Rolfe, part of goods moved, no insurance; Charles Eastman, loss unknown; Mrs. S. A. McShane, dress maker, loss $300, no insurance. There were several other occupants, but most of the property was saved, and the loss will be amply covered by insurance.

New Publications.

"The Thief in the Night," by Mrs. Harriet Prescott Spofford, author of The Amber God, &c. This story is in Mrs. Spofford's peculiarly brilliant style, and although the characters are unnatural and the story very improbable, yet for those who are fond of the sensational "The Thief in the Night" will be found to possess a fascination that will retain their attention to the last page. Published by Roberts Brothers, Boston. For sale by J. H. Foster.

MRS. MANCHESTER, the popular physician at the Franklin House, is said to be having great success in curing diseases. Invalids intending to consult her should lose no time in doing so, as she remains only this week.

—The mother's heart give 4th joy at the baby's 1st 2th.

—According to the Chicago Post Tweed will go to Saturn when he dies, so that he can join one of the rings.

—Converted Indians sing "Now I Lay Me" with warhoop accompaniment. The effect is said to be very soothing.

—The President has taken measures to have a stop put to raids made on the Texas border by bands of outlaw Mexicans.

—London claims 700,000 cats, which the Norristown Herald says is not a single cat too many to have in case England refuses to settle the Alabama claims.

—The Superintendent of the Long Island life-saving stations reports to the Treasury Department the saving of twenty-five lives during the recent gale off that coast.

—Ellen Breslin, of twenty-one summers, started from a second story window in Boston, Sunday night, stopping on the pavement soon afterwards with a broken ankle.

—The jury in the case of Dutch Hienrichs, who was on trial in New York for robbery, on Saturday brought in a verdict of guilty. He was sentenced to ten years in the State's prison.

—Charles Sumner took his seat in the United States Senate, as successor to Daniel Webster, December 1, 1851, the same day on which Henry Clay appeared in the National Senate for the last time.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

A Case of Blindness Cured.

MRS. MANCHESTER: This is to certify that I called upon you last October with a son of mine who had been Blind over a year; totally blind with one Eye and very nearly so with the other. I had had him treated by three Eminent Physicians, and also had taken him to the Eye Infirmary in Boston, but neither did him any good, and he still grew worse. MRS. MANCHESTER assured me she could cure him. I commenced with her treatment, and at this time one Eye is perfectly well, and the other is gaining! I had given up all hope of his ever seeing again, but, by the help of God and Mrs. Manchester's skill, he is now able to work, which I am sure he never would if it had not been for her. Let all give her a trial, and by calling on me the boy can be seen by any one.

This is a true statement of the case.

JOHN MCCORMICK
JOHN MCCORMICK, JR., Portsmouth.

This is to certify that MRS. Manchester has doctored in my family for six years with marked success. She has cured my wife of dropsy in its worst form; my daughter of spinal disease of five years' standing; a sister of deafness and catarrh; my father of blindness. And I would recommend her to the public as a skillick physician, and every way worthy of patronage.

JOHN HOBSON, Portland, Me.

One of the Greatest Cures on Record.

BANGOR, Sept. 28, 1870.

This is to certify that I have been sick for twenty-five years with liver complaint, as the physicians have all told me. I have been treated in New York and Bangor by a large number of Physicians, and found no relief until I called on MRS. MANCHESTER a short time ago. She told me very readily what the trouble was—that I had abscesses and tumors. I have taken her medicines, and have had proof that what she told me was perfectly correct. If any one doubts this, let them call on me personally, and I will give them correct information in regard to my case. I want the sick and suffering to go and consult MRS. MANCHESTER, and not be discouraged by ignorance and stubborn people, but have a mind of your own, and you will get relief.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS in a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - 6.7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

ETON LIFE.—Jickling was not only one of those boys who are bent upon going wrong themselves, but he dearly loved to drag others into scrapes with him. I was warned of this fatal propensity on his part both by Greegleby and Blazepile; Stumpes minor also conveyed a friendly admonition to me on the subject, and Asheton one morning sent for me on purpose to say that I must be careful what I did when Jickling was to advise me. But these counsels, though they keptme from falling into any of Jickling's more dangerous snares, did not remove him from my company. He was always with me. He acknowledged with a candor that did him honor, that he liked "fellows whom you could humbug till all was blue."

"Well," said Asheton to him, after an exploit at Windsor fair, "you and River there have become heroes, as it were; and it's been said that a fellow who has the stuff in him that you showed on that Windsor fair day is worth better things than to be continually in hot water, and at sixes and sevens with everybody."

Jickling changed color slightly, went to the fire, poked it violently without its having any need of such operation, and said, "You're always badgering me, Asheton."

"I want to see you a good fellow, and on the highway to becoming a man," answered Asheton, with almost a woman's patience.

"What is, is," said Jickling, doggedly. "You can't unmake yourself, and you can't do what's impossible.

"And what's impossible?" asked Asheton.

"Why," cried Jickling, breaking out, and throwing down the poker with a clatter, "it's impossible to be this and that simply because you are told to be it; and it's impossible to do this or that, when you've not strength enough. What should you say if I told you to win the football match against the collegers this year? It seems you're in the eleven—and they're stronger than you. You know it. So let me alone."

There was a moment's silence; then Asheton walked straight up to Jickling. He had become very pale, but lobked at his unhappy fag with a steady and earnest expression in his eyes.

"I know the collegers are stronger than we," he said, "but will you promise me"—(he paused)—"will you promise me, Jickling, that if I win the match for our side—you'll change?"

Jickling looked growlingly surprised, and glanced at him with sullen suspicion. "It's not much to promise," he said at last, "for you won't."

"But will you promise?" asked Asheton.

"Well then, yes," said Jickling with a dry laugh and a shrug.

"Very well," answered Asheton, and he left the room.

The match, Collegers vs. Oppidans, played every year on St. Andrew's eve, 30th November, was the great event of the football season. At the time of which I am writing it was not usual for the Oppidans to win every year, as has later been the case. The match was played "at the wall," a peculiar sort of football, which the Foundation boys practiced more than the Oppidans, or town boys, and as result the College team (although the Collegers had only seventy boys to chose from as against nearly six hundred on the other side) was extremely powerful and difficult to beat. On the day of the match, Jickling and I, who had not yet been out of doors since our accident, obtained leave to go out for two hours, just to see the match and return.

Play began at half-past twelve, and there was always an enormous crowd,—every boy in the school, every master and master's family, and some hundred or more of old Etonians, being generally present. Jickling and I took up our position at that part of the ropes where the lower boys congregated, making a frightful hullabaloo in response to the gown-boys, who, at every advance of their side, shouted like fanatics, as if the safety of the three kingdoms were staked. For those who have never seen "wall" foot-ball played, a description of the game would scarcely be intelligible; and for those who have seen it, it would be useless. Let me only say, therefore, that the points to be scored are "goals" and "shies," a single goal outnumbering any quantity of shies. By the end of three-quarters of an hour's play, three shies had been scored by the Collegers' eleven. The game was going dead against the Oppidans, who opposed to a formidable trio of Collegers, named Bullockson, Hulkey, and Drayman, were over weighted, borne down, and forced back into their own ground, or cote, every moment, notwithstanding all their gallantry.

Asheton had been performing prodigies of valor in the Oppidan cause, but to no purpose. Five minutes yet remained before the game finished; and the conclusion seemed foregone. Jickling, who had been watching the game with a curious, silent interest, said with a short laugh (but rather softly as I thought), "Asheton's played well, but he won't win."

Did Asheton hear him? Did some secret voice, I mean, whisper to him that some such words as these were passing Jickling's lips? Anyhow, he glanced toward us, or at least toward the mass of yelling lower boys (for he did not know where we personally were), and with a determined gesture took off his cap and threw it on the ground. It was the action of a man who was preparing to fight.

Then this is what we saw.—The ball was then within the Oppidan cote, but a sudden movement brought it before Asheton's foot. He stuck to it, and from that moment it did not leave him. Crowding, stumbling, running over it, playing with feet, elbows and head altogether, he "bullied" it right down the whole length of the ground, unheeding kicks, pushes, mobbings, or anything else. Hulkey, the college "post," shinned him savagely; Drayman bore down upon him with his shoulder, like a battering-ram; and just as Asheton was within a few yards of the calx, Bullockson, the captain, made a rush as of thunder, and both rolled over together, heads first, in the mud. There was a moment's breathless lull in the whirlwind of shouts, to see who would rise first with the ball. It was Asheton. Limping and bleeding, for the blood was flowing in torrents from his nose, he still crouched over the ball, and, with something like superhuman energy, shot it over the calx-line, followed it, raised it with his foot against the wall, and touched it with his hand, whilst the umpire, in a loud voice, and amid delirious excitement, shouted "Shy."

A "shy" means the right to take a shot at the goal with the football, the whole rival eleven standing in your way to obstruct you. Not a boy or man spoke, as Asheton, white as a sheet, poised the ball, raised it, and with another look towards us, threw it straight forward. There was a thud, a dismayed shout, and then the Oppidan umpire, throwing his hat in the air, cried "Goal!"

At that moment the college clock clanged out half-past one—the time for play to stop. The Oppidans had won the match.

With a roaring—loud, deep and continuous as the waves of the sea—the Oppidans burst the ropes, and rushed on to the ground, scampering towards Asheton to carry him in triumph. Jickling and I were borne along with the rest, adding our own voices to the tumult mechanically. Asheton seemed to expect us. Just as the mighty Bullockson was moving to lift him on his shoulders, he made a step forward, and holding out his hand (the first and last time he had ever done such a thing to a lower boy in public), said: "You see, young map, it was possible."

Jickling said nothing, and walked along by my side back to our tutor's house without opening his lips. He was pale and moody, and I remember he kicked a particular pebble before him, as he went, with a strange and absent expression. At dinner time he said he was not hungry, and went and shut himself up in his room. He had not reappeared by tea-time; and as it so happened that I desired to see him that evening about something or other, I went to his room, and opened the door. The hinges did not creak, so that he did not hear me nor look up. He was seated at the table, with his head buried in his arms, and he was sobbing as if his heart would break.

If you ask nowadays of any old Etonian who Jickling was, he will probably answer you: "Jickling? Do you mean the fellow who was Newcastle Scholar and in the Eleven? He went to Oxford—didn't he? and took double honors."

"I think so."

"And, stay, didn't he marry somebody? I think it was the sister of Sir Frederick Asheton."—Cornhill Mag.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have to extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence due to virtues never equaled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

SCARLET FEVER.—At this season of the year scarlet fever is apt to assume an epidemic form, and already the weekly reports of the New York Sanitary Inspector show a very great increase in the number of deaths from this cause. If, as it is said, the usual percentage of mortality in scarlet fever is as one to twelve, it would seem probable that even more cases occur than are reported to the Board of Health. As a means of lessening the spread of the highly contagious disease, the Medical Gazette publishes the subjoined precautions, which have been satisfactorily tested in England in a very large number of instances:

Directions.—1. On the first appearance of the disease, the patient should be placed in a separate apartment, as near the top of the house as possible, from which all curtains, carpets, bedhangings, and other needless articles of furniture should be removed, and no person except the medical attendant, and the nurse or mother permitted to enter the room.

2. A basin containing a solution of chloride of lime or of carbolic acid should be placed near the bed for the patient to spit in.

3. A large vessel containing water, into which has been poured either Condy's fluid or the solution of chloride of soda or lime, should be kept in the room and into this all the bed and body linen, as soon as it is removed from the patient, and all soiled towels, &c., should be placed; having been kept there for some time, the things may be removed and sent to the laundress.

4. Pocket-handkerchiefs should not be used, but pieces of rag employed instead, for wiping the nose and mouth of the patient; each piece after being used, should be immediately burned.

5. A plentiful supply of water and towels should be kept for the use of the nurse, whose hand of necessity will become soiled by the secretions of the patient; in one hand-basin the water should be impregnated with Condy's fluid or chlorides, by which the taint on the hands may be at once removed.

6. All glasses, cups, plates, or other vessels used in the sick room, should be scrupulously cleansed in boiling water before being used by other persons.

7. Outside of the sick chamber a sheet should be suspended so as to cover the entire doorway; this should be kept constantly wet with a solution of carbolic acid or chloride of lime. The effect of this will be to keep every other part of the house free from infection.

8. The discharges from the bowels and kidneys of the patient should be received into vessels charged with disinfectants, such as the solution of carbolic acid or chloride of lime, and immediately removed. By these means, the poison thrown off from internal surfaces may be rendered inert, and deprived of the power of propagating the disease.

9. The thin skin or cuticle which peals off from the hands, face, and other parts of the body in convalescent patients, is highly contagious. The plan recommended for preventing the poison from the skin being disseminated through the air is to rub oil or lard oil over the skins. This practice is to commence on the fourth day after the appearance of the eruption and to be continued every day until the patient is well enough to take a warm bath. These baths should be administered every other day for four times, when the disinfection of the skin is regarded complete. This, however, should not be done without first consulting the medical attendant. The foregoing directions will apply to all kinds of fever, small-pox, and other contagious diseases.

Mode of Disinfecting a Sick Room.—The patient having been removed, all linen articles, such as sheets, towels, pillowcases, and body linen, are to be disinfected as by direction No. 3. This done, the blankets, counterpanes, and woolen articles of clothing are to be suspended on lines, and the mattresses and beds placed over the backs of chairs; the furniture also is to be removed from the walls, the windows closed, and paper pasted over the crevice; the opening of the fire-place is also to be effectually closed up. An old sauce-pan lid or other open iron vessel is next to be placed in the middle of the room, into which a quarter of a pound of stone brimstone, broken into pieces, is to be put; the brimstone is then to be ignited, and the person who does it must immediately leave the apartment, close the door, and paste paper over the crevices. At the expiration of twenty-four hours the room may be entered, and the doors and windows thrown open to allow the fumes of sulphur to escape. By this process the room and everything in it may be considered to have been thoroughly disinfected.

The British Medical Journal, under the heading "How Scarlet Fever is Spread," has the following:—

The enormous mortality from scarlet fever which appears in the mortality bills is now a constant and increasing quantity. It is assuming proportions which are alarming; not the less so, because they are largely increased by

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent issued, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great skill and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3, 1872.

Connecticut Election.

The election in Connecticut, Monday, resulted in a Republican victory, Gov. Jewell being re-elected by a small majority and the entire State ticket of the Republicans being chosen. The Temperance vote is reported as having been larger than was anticipated, and the Labor Reform vote smaller. The election appears to have passed off quietly in nearly all quarters.

Henry Robinson, Republican, is elected Mayor of Hartford by a majority of 456. Ten Republicans gained largely in New Haven,—over 700.

Chas. M. Pond, Democrat, is elected Senator in the 1st District by 3 majority.

The latest received footings present the following result: Jewell, Repub., 44,736; Hubbard, Dem., 42,662; Gillette, Prohib., 1390; Harrison, Labor Reform, 395. This leaves Governor Jewell 289 over all, which may possibly be reduced somewhat when later returns are received.

The Senate will probably stand 14 Republicans to 7 Democrats. The House is about the same as last year, when the Republican majority was 21.

TWO NARROW ESCAPES.—On Friday the Shore Line train from New York had just passed New Haven, and was moving at the rate of thirty miles an hour, when passengers in the last two cars found it very rough riding, and the brakeman noticed a little flame and considerable smoke on the rear truck of the last car but one. He at once signalled the engineer, and the train came to a stop, when it was found that one of the forward wheels of the car had been running on the sleepers for nearly three-quarters of a mile. The axle was broken off in the box and also inside the wheel, thus twisting the opposite wheel from the track. The trains were signalled in both directions, and after a delay of an hour or two the disabled car was switched on to a side track and the train proceeded.

Monday morning a very similar accident happened on the Boston & Albany Railroad to the 5 A. M. Albany train. The engineer suspected by the motion of the train that something was wrong, and instantly whistled "down brakes." As soon as the train came to a stand-still it was discovered that the two forward wheels of the tender attached to the engine had jumped from the track. A better place might have been chosen for the cars to run off the track, as there was a steep embankment on both sides. After some little delay the train proceeded.

A SAD CASE.—Some years ago a young lady of Newport, the daughter of wealthy and aristocratic family, became acquainted with Mr. Thos. Williams, a mechanic by trade, who, although possessed of no great wealth, was a very agreeable companion and favored with hosts of friends. Out of all the favorities who claimed her hand, the lady chose Mr. Williams as one whom she most loved, and in a short time they were married, though at the cost of her parents' displeasure, who could not understand her motives for such action. They went to Boston and took up a quiet residence there, living in all the enjoyment of quiet, domestic life. Years rolled on, and misfortune assailed them. The husband's health failed, and about two months ago he was confined to his bed with a growing tumor. Then Mrs. Williams, to keep want from the door, applied herself to dressmaking, until it became apparent that her protector must die, when she was obliged to attend him. The work was too much for her, and she sought relief in opiates. On Friday a lady living in the room adjoining heard a strange noise, and on entering, found Mrs. Williams upon the floor the subject of violent convulsions, indicating an over-dose of laudanum. A physician was called, but the lady died in a few hours, after intense suffering. Mr. Williams lived only till Saturday morning, when he died at half-past seven o'clock. While both were dying a conciliatory despatch was received from her relatives, which at one time would have added new joys to their happy lives, but it came too late. On Saturday, both the bodies were taken to Newport for interment.

AN ACCIDENT occurred at a Scranton, Penn., coal mine, April 1, by which two men and a boy were fatally hurt. The coal breaker took fire and it is feared several boys were burned to death.

—Not one of the hundred girls belonging to the St. Louis Normal School wears anything in the shape of chignons or waterfalls, or dresses made of any other material than calico.

Professor Morse.

Professor Morse, inventor of the electric telegraph, is dying, in New York. The following interesting sketch of the life and achievements of this great benefactor of the human race, we take from the Boston Globe:—

Few names in the catalogue of those who have benefitted mankind, either as discoverers or inventors, stand higher or shine brighter than that of Samuel Finley Breese Morse, the originater of the present system of telegraphy.

Prof. Morse was born on the 27th day of April, 1791, at Charlestown, Mass. He was the eldest son of Rev. Jedediah Morse, D. D., an eminent clergyman of that time, and one of the founders of Andover Theological Seminary. In 1806, he entered Yale College, and four years later, graduated with honors. Having exhibited a decided leaning towards art, with the approval of his friends, he went to England in 1811, accompanying Washington Allston, then in the height of his fame, with whom and Benjamin West he intended pursuing his art studies. Under the tuition of these eminent men he developed rapidly, and produced some pictures which were not unworthy of his instructors. He also tried his hand at sculpture, and so successfully that, in 1813, he won the gold medal from the Adelphi Society for the model of a "Dying Hercules."

In 1815 he returned to the United States and opened a studio in New York, where he soon formed the acquaintance of the principal artists of the city. Having witnessed the beneficial effect of art schools and academies in Europe, he believed that the same influence might be set at work in America with the same advantageous results. His suggestions were received with favor, and a drawing association was formed, which, eleven years afterward, in 1826, took the name and form of the National Academy of Design. Prof. Morse was unanimously elected the first President, and served uninterruptedly in that capacity for sixteen years.

While a student at Yale, young Morse was enthusiastically devoted to the studies of chemistry and natural philosophy, having for his teacher in the first Prof. Silliman, and in the latter Prof. Day, gentlemen whose fame in their respective walks of science has never been eclipsed by any of their successors. During his sojourn in Europe the young artist lost none of his zeal in the studies he pursued so successfully while pursuing his art studies, but continued to alternate painting and sculpture with experiments with the magnet and blowpipe.

In 1832 Prof. Morse, having spent some time in Paris, embarked at Havre for New York. At that time experiments had been making in France with the magnetic battery, and the peculiar powers of electricity had been largely developed. In the course of conversation on the subject while on the voyage, Prof. Morse conceived the idea of a magnetic recording telegraph, the same in effect as the present system, and immediately upon reaching home commenced a series of experiments, the result of which confirmed him in the correctness of his theory. His first instrument was rude and imperfect, but in 1837 he constructed one little inferior to those now in use, and gave public exhibitions of its merits in New York to large audiences. In December of the same year he laid his discovery before Congress, and asked for an appropriation to enable him to build a line from Washington to Baltimore, so that a perfect test might be made of his invention. A hearing was given, but so strong was the prejudice of the members, most of whom believed him to be insane, that the petition was tabled. Despairing of reaping any benefit in his own country from the invention, and inwardly convinced of its value, Prof. Morse sailed for France, where he made the same proposition, but with the same result, the French nation, however, acknowledging its recognition of the merits of the discovery by conferring upon Prof. Morse the brevet d'invention, a barren honor, though still an honor.

From Paris, Prof. Morse went to London, where he applied for letters patent from the English government. These were refused, and, wearied and discouraged, he returned home. By the advice of friends, he again visited Washington, and tried to interest the leaders in both branches in his behalf. Four years passed without result, but on the closing night of the session of 1842-43, an appropriation of $30,000 was granted for the purpose of testing the vexed question and setting it forever at rest. It was the turning point in the life of the inventor. Work was immediately begun, and, in 1844, completed. Never was success more complete. Those who had supported the petition were delighted, and those who had again and again declared the thing impossible were confounded. There was no longer any room for doubt. New lines sprang up as if by magic. Telegraph poles bristled all over the land, and the click of the magic key was new heard in every part of the continent. The system was at once seized and utilized in Europe. The name of Professor Morse became in one day a household word, and all the world did it honor. From the King of Prussia, the King of Wurtemberg and the Emperor of Austria, came gold medals; Napoleon III made him a chevalier of the Legion of Honor; the King of Denmark conferred the Cross of the Knight of Dannebrog upon him, and from the Queen of Spain came the cross of the Order of Isabella. The Sultan of Turkey created him a member of the Order of Iltichar, the decoration of which was composed of diamonds set in solid gold. A Congress of European States convened at Paris by the Emperor Napoleon, voted him an honorary reward of 400,000 francs. Hardly a year has passed since that in which the first pole was raised but some valuable testimonial has been presented or awarded by the ruling powers of the different nations of Europe, by scientific bodies, colleges, or private individuals. It might truly be said that honors were heaped upon him, and as truly added that they were deserved.

For several months previous to this date Prof. Morse has suffered from feebleness and disease. An injury received a year ago rendered it impossible for him to take the exercise he had been accustomed to, and which was necessary to strengthen a system worn out with excessive physical and mental labor. He dies full of years, honored in death as in life, and mourned in every quarter of the globe where his invention has already carried the sad tidings.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

DEAD MEN TELL NO TALES; if they did, anathemas against the depleting lancet, the drastic purge, and the terrible salivants of the materia medica, would arise from every graveyard. The motto of modern medical science is "Preserve and Regulate, not destroy," and no remedy of our day is so entirely in harmony with this philanthropic logic as Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. In this powerful, yet harmless restorative, dyspepsia, bilious complaints, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and nerves, encounter an irresistible antidote. m5 4w

THE WILD GEESE do not regard Dr. Ayer's wisdom in migrating north—such immense numbers of them as are flying over us now, while his almanac says: "Bleak and blustering about this time, with heavy snow." Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Times, March 3.

We were too fast last week in our item on the conflict between Dr. Ayer and the wild geese. The Doctor's science beat their instinct this time. Not for years have we had such a snow-storm as that of last Sunday. The snow lies three feet deep on a level in Minnesota, and two feet in Wisconsin, while the storm has swept from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains. Snow fell to various depths as far south as Denver, Fort Union and Santa Fe. Learned as we believed Dr. Ayer in the arcana of nature, and wonderful as we knew his medicines to be, we were not prepared for so signal an instance of his superiority, not only over the wise men, but the wisest of animals whose instinct is considered unfailing. We drive up the peg, more firmly than ever, over our hearth for Ayer's American Almanac.—Cedar Rapids Times, March 10.

A SAD FALLING OUT.—It is indeed a sad falling out when, after years of the closest intimacy, the hair parts company with the head. Fortunately the lamentable separation may be easily prevented and the parts reunited to stay by a timely and systematic use of LYON'S KATHAIRON, the most potent invigorant of the hair and promoter of its growth and beauty known to modern pharmacy. It completely obviates the dry and parched condition of the roots of the hair, which is preliminary to its coming out, by supplying the precise degree of moisture requisite to its preservation in a healthy state. It is the only true dissolvent and evaporant of dandruff and other impurities of the scalp, whose presence is injurious to the hair. As a beautifier of the head the Kathairon has no equal. It not only increases the quantity of the hair, but improves its quality immediately, imparting a lustrous appearance and silky texture which are exceedingly attractive.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—In all crowded cities, malaria and fogs are breathed over and over again, till the strongest lungs are incapable of producing pure blood, hence the sluggishness of mind and body, the weariness and irritability of many persons during this season of the year. These medicines neutralize these impurities, and give vigor to the head, heart and stomach. 25 cents per box or pot.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Plain Words for the People.

When broken down in health, strength and spirits it is not necessary that we should ask a medical man whether an invigorant is necessary. Common sense tells us that it is. The only question to be decided is, what the invigorant shall be. A standard tonic and restorative, which has been many years before the public, and in which millions of the intelligent classes repose the fullest faith, seems, in a case like this, to present the strongest claims to the confidence of the prudent invalid. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be truly said to possess these high recommendations. Its triumphant progress during a period of twenty years, its present popularity, and the uniform success which attends its use in indigestion, nervous debility, biliary complaints, fever and ague, and all ailments which depress the physical system and enervate the mind, entitle it to the rank of a standard national specific. It is regarded in that light by the community at large, and hundreds of thousands of both sexes resort to it at this season as a preventive of that numerous and harass-ing class of diseases which take their rise from the miasmatic winds and vapors of spring. It is a stimulant, a tonic, an alterative and a mild aperient—four essential restorative and protective elements of the materia medica—united in a single agreeable preparation. Every ingredient is vegetable, of the finest quality, and absolutely pure. Hostetter's Bitters is better known, held in greater esteem, and commands a larger sale, than any other proprietary medicine manufactured in this country or imported from abroad.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills.

NERVOUSNESS, and all derangements of the nervous system, are usually connected with a diseased condition of the blood. Debility is a frequent accompaniment. The first thing to be done is to improve the condition of the blood. This is accomplished by taking VEGETINE. It is a nerve-medicine, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.

Laconics.

Two hundred men were discharged from Charlestown Navy Yard, Saturday, the small balance of the unexpeaded appropriation not permitting their employment through April.

Work will be commenced on the double track extension on the Eastern Railroad as soon as the weather will permit. The gang of men who have worked on the track between Ipswich and Wenham will be sent to operate on the ledges in the cuts at Hayes' and Emery's, which will be found the most formidable part of the work. There are hard ledges at these points, and it will take several weeks' blasting to cut through them. Mr. Hatch, the new manager, appeared on Monday to enter upon his duties.

Prof. Sam'l F. B. Morse resided in this city during the winter of 1816-17, and was engaged in the occupation of portrait painting. Some of the portraits painted by him are still in existence.

Sergeant Charles T. Young, whose death is recorded in another place, will be remembered by all who have been accustomed to visit the Navy Yard as a courteous and obliging Orderly at the door of the Commandant's office. He was by trade a printer, but at the age of thirty-eight entered the U. S. service and died almost literally "with the harness on," as he was sick but about thirty-six hours.

Auction sale of a large lot of Household Goods at Wendell's Auction Store, No. 70 State Street, this day, Wednesday. See advertisement.

On Monday evening the Villa and Miner Comic Opera and Comedy Troupe gave a lively and amusing entertainment to a rather small audience; on Tuesday evening the attendance was much larger, and the plays as good and performed with as much spirit. This (Wednesday) evening the company make their last appearance here for the present, in an entirely new programme, and will give a first-class entertainment to (we hope) a crowded house. The Villa and Miner Troupe is one of the best in the comedy line now travelling, and the Fire Department of this city shares in the proceeds of the performances here. Harlow's Band will be present and the Firemen will appear in uniform. See advertisement.

The second semi-annual auction sale of carriages by Came Brothers takes place this day, Wednesday, at the Carriage Repository on High Street, commencing at 10 A. M. This enterprising firm have become as noted for the neatness and beauty of their patterns as for the thoroughness of the work and the durability of the stock which they put into their manufactures; and the sale to-day offers an excellent opportunity for procuring serviceable carriages of new and approved patterns at reasonable prices. Maj. Hackett will officiate as Auctioneer. See advertisement.

Prof. Stone, whose experiments in electro biology attracted such large audiences to the Temple last week, gives a grand farewell entertainment at the same place on Friday evening of this week, on which occasion a barrel of flour, a silver watch and a gold one, a purse of greenbacks and many other articles, will be distributed among those in attendance, in addition to which every person in the house will receive a gift on retiring. Harlow's Naval Band will add to the interest of the occasion. See advertisement.

Madame Heine, the pianist, will not only exhibit skillful playing at Barnabee's concert, Thursday evening, but will have a first-class piano to play on, brought from Boston expressly for this occasion. Mr. Joseph Heine, who will also appear at the same concert, is enthusiastically spoken of by the press as a violinist. The Boston Commonwealth says "he is a superb artist. His intonation is perfect, and his execution thorough. His tone is full and round, and his expression exquisite. The most complicated passages come from under his hand with a purity that leaves nothing to be desired."

THE ROBESON INVESTIGATION.—The attempt to impeach Secretary Robeson's management of the Navy department has made but little headway. So far the investigation has been a very tame affair. It has failed even to put the department on the defensive, and has fully vindicated the judgment of the Secretary in declining to be represented by counsel. His assailants are now making an effort to prove an informality in the advertising of contracts merely, and they seem likely to fail even in that. The charges against him, like those against Grant, were intended to influence the elections in this State and Connecticut unfavorably for the Republicans, but the results all around show that they utterly and ludicrously failed in their object.

LARGE SEIZURE.—In the United States district court in Boston, Monday, Samuel A. Way consented to a default in the custom case against a large quantity of tobacco in which he appeared as claimant, and a judgement of condemnation followed, by which he is held liable on his bond of $100,000. The tobacco was imported into Boston from Cuba in September last, by the brig Star, and the charge in the information is that it was fraudulently entered at the custom-house. Mr. Way disclaims any personal participation in the fraud, but consents to judgment against him, because, as he says, the acts of others are such as to render the property liable to forfeiture.

MRS. MANCHESTER, the popular physician at the Franklin House, is said to be having great success in curing diseases. Invalids intending to consult her should lose no time in doing so, as she remains only this week.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

A Case of Blindness Cured.

MRS. MANCHESTER: This is to certify that I called upon you last October with a son of mine who had been Blind over a year; totally blind with one Eye and very nearly so with the other. I had had him treated by three Eminent Physicians, and also had taken him to the Eye Infirmary in Boston, but neither did him any good, and he still grew worse. MRS. MANCHESTER assured me she could cure him. I commenced with her treatment, and at this time one Eye is perfectly well, and the other is gaining! I had given up all hope of his ever seeing again, but, by the help of God and Mrs. Manchester's skill, he is now able to work, which I am sure he never would if it had not been for her. Let all give her a trial, and by calling on me the boy can be seen by any one.

This is a true statement of the case.

JOHN MCCORMICK,
JOHN MCCORMICK, JR., Portsmouth.

This is to certify that Mrs. Manchester has doctored in my family for six years with marked success. She has cured my wife of dropsy in its worst form; my daughter of spinal disease of five years' standing; a sister of deafness and catarrh; my father of blindness. And I would recommend her to the public as a skillful physician, and every way worthy of patronage.

JOHN HOBSON, Portland, Me.

One of the Greatest Cures on Record.

BANGOR, Sept. 28, 1870.

This is to certify that I have been sick for twenty-five years with liver complaint, as the physicians have all told me. I have been treated in New York and Bangor by a large number of Physicians, and found no relief until I called on MRS. MANCHESTER a short time ago. She told me very readily what the trouble was—that I had abscesses and tumors. I have taken her medicines, and have had proof that what she told me was perfectly correct. If any one doubts this, let them call on me personally, and I will give them correct information in regard to my case. I want the sick and suffering to go and consult MRS. MANCHESTER, and not be discouraged by ignorant and faithless people, but have a mind of your own, and you will get relief.

m25 MRS. HENRIETTA PEABODY, Veazie.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income - - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6,740.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

individual carelessness. It has always been a source of great mortality; and, in the absence of any means of checking its progress, such as we possess in vaccination for small pox, and by attention to the water-supply and drainage for cholera and some forms of pythogenic fever, it becomes the more necessary accurately to investigate the means by which it spread. These may be summed up chiefly in a few words. It is spread by personal carelessness, by neglect, and by recklessness of individuals as to the public safety. Scarlet fever is propagative from person to person by culpable ignorance and criminal neglect. Cleanliness and general sanitary regulations are of use in mitigating the severity of the disease, but are bar to its propagation.

Let us take the experience of one London physician during the last week, and it will easily explain how scarlet fever is now being spread. He tells us that he has become cognizant of the following cases during that time. Travelling by rail, he was requested not to put down the window, as a little boy in the carriage was not very well. The boy was on his way home from a school where the scarlet fever had broken out; and, on examining him, the eruption was fully evident. A clergyman took into his room a lad, —not to consult him about the lad, but inadvertently. He was about to take him into the country. This lad had just recovered from scarlet fever, and was in the desquamative stage of convalescence, shedding about those scales which are highly infectious and are enough to poison the whole population. His washer-woman had scarlet fever; her family; she ascertained that it was conveyed by the clothing of a scarlet fever patient, sent to the wash by the friends without any caution. These are all acts of the most culpable and dangerous negligence.

Scarlet fever is one of the most intensely and continuously contagious diseases. From the outset of the disease till the completion of the subsequent process of peeling of the skin, the patient, his clothing and discharges, and the light scales which are diffused in the atmosphere from his peeling surface skin, are pregnant with poison. Not only should he be carefully isolated; not only should his clothing and all that comes in contact with him be carefully and thoroughly disinfected; not only should his body be anointed, as Dr. Budd has recommended, with oil to limit the aerial diffusion of the epidermal scales; but the utmost care should be exercised by the persons attending him not to become carriers of this virulent and subtle poison. To send to the laundress garments fatal as those of Dejocerie, to expose in the public carriage or a crowded waiting room the fertile sources of a deadly and volatile poison, are terrible offences against the public safety. They are constantly and carelessly committed; and it is thus that scarlatina is spread.

Brighton Cattle Market

FOR THE WEEK ENDING WEDNESDAY, MAR. 24.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 2144; Sheep and Lambs 7474; Swine 11 800; number of Western Cattle 1671; Eastern Cattle 123; Northern Cattle and Milch Cows 250. Cattle left over from last week ...

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $7 50 @ $ 8 00; first quality $6 50@ $7 25; second quality $5 50 @ $6 25; third quality $4 75 @ $5 25; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $3 75 @ $4 50 ⅌ cwt, (Dressed weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Sheepskins Lamb Skins $3 25 @ 4 00 each; Calf Skins 16 @ 20c ⅌ lb.

There has been brought into market for the past week from the West, Cattle nearly every day. Prices during the latter part of the week were higher, and a few Beeves sold as high as 9c ⅌ lb. Live weight Cattle cost higher at the West, but, on account of the large supply for the week the trade has not been so lively as it was one week ago. From Maine there were a few very nice Beef Cattle, better than has been brought from that section for a long time.

Working Oxen—The supply at market for the week has been lighter than for several weeks past. We quote sales of 1 pair, 4th T ... $265; 1 do., 7 ft., $300; 1 do., 6 ft., $285; 1 do., 6 ft. 10 in., $185; 1 do., 6 ft. 10 in., $169; 1 do., 6 ft. 6 in., $160; 1 do., 6 ft. 6 in., $125; 1 do., 6ft. 8 in., $195. On account of the Fall weather, trade for Working Oxen has been dull.

Store Cattle—None in market except Working Oxen and Milch Cows. Nearly all the small Cattle that are in fair condition are bought up for Beef.

Milch Cows—Extra $55 @ $60; ordinary $25 @ $30; Store Cows $16 @ 35 ⅌ head. Nearly all of the Cows offered in market for sale are of a common grade.

Sheep and Lambs—We quote extra and select lots $7 50 @ $12 00; ordinary $4 50 @ $6 25 ⅌ head, or from 4 @ 10½c ⅌ lb.

Store Pigs—Wholesale 5 @ 6c ⅌ lb; retail 6 @ 6½c ⅌ lb. Fat Hogs 5½ @ 6½c; Columbia County Pigs 60 @ 65c ⅌ lb.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but the many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured to itself so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still stands the most effectual cure of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent; and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

The Chronicle.

DEMOCRACY DILUTED seems to have less strength than Democracy straight. The New York World says: It is always cheap and easy to be wise after the event; and we suppose that everybody will now concede that the Democratic canvass in Connecticut proceeded on a miscalculation. It was shaped with reference to the Liberal Republican vote, and the event shows that it leaned upon a broken reed. The Republican party of Connecticut was never more thoroughly united than in the contest which has just ended. The Democratic party counted on outside support which it did not receive. Its platform was a word-for-word copy of the Missouri platform on which Governor Brown was elected in 1870, and was readopted in the hope of winning the Liberal Republicans to support Mr. Hubbard. But, in point of fact, the unanimous Republican vote was given to Jewell. Some Democratic voters were alienated and stayed at home, and there was no compensating advantage in drawing liberal votes from the other side. It is evident now that the Democratic party would have made a better show if it had offered no concessions.

The Mobile Register doesn't want the Cincinnati Republicans to play the Delilah to the Democratic Sampson (bald-headed long ago), and talks thus loftily: "We have no advice to give to that convention. It is no affair of ours. We can only say: Make your nominee, gentlemen! The Unterrified Democracy has yet to speak! It must stand firm and hold its fire."

DECIDEDLY TEMPERATE.—The Wisconsin Legislature distinguished its closing hours by the passage of an entirely unique liquor law. Section four provides, that "it shall be unlawful within this State for any person to become intoxicated." For the offence the punishment is to be imprisonment from one day to two months certain, with a further contingent imprisonment at the discretion of the court until the costs of conviction are defrayed.

THE DESTRUCTION OF CATTLE by the drouth in western Texas seems to have demoralized the farm laborers of that section. They refuse to work on the farms, but are found roaming over the country in squads, searching for carcases to skin. It is said that the stench is so great in the vicinity of watering-places that but few can stand it, and fear exists that sickness will follow.

SENSIBLE.—When a woman in Poland, Me., had triplets recently, the neighbors passed around the hat, and bought a cow to assist in the sustenance of the family.

HOW HYDROPHOBIA WAS CURED.—A correspondent of the Detroit Tribune describes at some length a fearful case of hydrophobia, where the man was in convulsions, "barking like a dog," frothing at the mouth, and making strenuous efforts to bite everything that came near. During these convulsions the patient would seize the pillows from his bed with his teeth, and shake and rend them with all the seeming ferocity of an angry dog. An intense dread of water also exhibited itself. The doctors decided to place the patient upon the same treatment which had been successful in a former case, which, for the aid it may be to to others who suffer from this complaint, we here give as follows: The injection of large doses of morphine under the skin, and the administration of large doses of castor, which is a powerful anti-spasmodic. About one grain of the sulphate of morphine was injected under the skin once in four hours, and a half drachm of the powdered castor, mixed with syrup, given internally. The effect was to produce sleep in about half an hour, which lasted about an hour and a half, when the convulsions returned at intervals of an hour to an hour and a half until Sunday morning, when the last convulsion occurred, after which he suffered severely from obstinate vomiting until Monday at ten o'clock, when that also ceased, leaving the patient comparatively easy, but very much prostrated. Since that time he has gradually improved, and now is to all appearances quite well. In addition to the above treatment small quantities of chloroform were inhaled at times, and on Sunday morning the patient was wrapped in a woolen blanket wrung out of a warm solution of muriate of ammonia, eighteen to twenty grains to an ounce. This was the treatment which checked this fearful malady, and which the doctors, for the sake of humanity, are anxious should be published to the world and thoroughly tested.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed in reasonable terms with despatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
At necessity of a journey to Washington to receive a Patent is the usual great delay there, are saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their application in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great skill and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of receiving the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SLATE COATING,
Patented August, 1871.
In offering this article to the public, we supply a need which has long been felt. It is especially adapted to
Shingle and Tin Roofs. (Old or New.)
IT IS FIRE & WATER-PROOF AND PREVENTS DECAY.
Not affected by Heat or Cold; is durable and beautiful, with a smooth surface, not varying from a dark blue slate color to purple, and even higher shades, as fancy dictates. It will not wash or scale, and is Extremely Cheap.
Will stop and prevent leaks, superior to any cement now in use. New Shingles covered with this article warranted to last fifty years and for a State Contract we will take 1000 rolls of New Slate found unequalled; it is also an excellent coating for School Black-Boards.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.
Long considered incurable, it now proves to the aged that science still has power to restore to their locks the youthful color and gloss of early life. Its vigor is such that it may be relied on to arrest the falling of the hair and to stimulate the growth of new hair on many bald heads. Its effect upon the roots of the hair is to impart to them the vitality and energy of youth. Thus it cures all diseases of the hair, such as dandruff, scurf, and all humors that cause baldness and premature decay. Its use is followed by a healthy growth of hair, and the scalp becomes free from eruptions and pimples, and healthy in appearance. Its perfume is delicate and lasting, and it is a dressing which, for its purity and elegance, is preferred by all who value a good article for the toilet. Its effects are permanent, and the hair, once restored to its natural color, will not change again, nor will it soil the most delicate fabric. Its power to stop the hair from falling is wonderful, and it never fails to do so when the roots are not entirely decayed or the glands of the skin destroyed. Nothing can restore the hair where it has been destroyed by disease or by the application of other preparations, but there is still enough in most cases of apparently hopeless baldness to feed the germs of life, and to insure the growth of a new and healthy hair. Its effects are not temporary, but its use for a few months so invigorates the system that the hair will continue to grow luxuriantly for years. Its ingredients are all contained in a transparent fluid, and it will not soil the most delicate fabric. Its effects are those of a gentle stimulant, and it may be used by the most sensitive persons without fear of injury to the skin or any other part of the person. Its effects upon the hair are those of a nutritive, and it will produce whiskers and mustaches on the smooth face of a boy as easily as it will restore the hair on the head of a man.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, APRIL 4, 1872.

State News.

The water in the Merrimac River has risen quite recently.

Rev. Dr. Day of Dover, editor of the Morning Star, is recovering from an attack of small-pox.

The house of Mr. John Purington in Goshen was burned March 31st. Loss about $1500; no insurance.

The Strafford County Teachers' Institute will begin its session at Rochester on the 15th instant, and continue through the week.

Richard Davis and John B. Carter of East Kingston cut out seventy mill logs and cut and corded four and a half cords of wood in a day.

The coroner's jury on the case of Mrs. Rose Burke of Manchester find that she died from blows on the head inflicted by her husband, John Burke, who is in jail.

Miss Frances E. White of Franklin, recently graduated at the Woman's Medical College, Philadelphia, where the State has two representatives left. Miss White has been appointed a demonstrator of anatomy in the institution.

Three of the sub-contractors of the Nashua, Acton & Boston Railroad have failed to the tune of $900, thereby victimizing some of the good people of Westford out of their honest dues from $25 to $100 for board, etc., besides one month's pay to their help.

The water in the Merrimack River at Manchester is extremely low at the present time, and manufacturing operations are impeded in consequence. The ice above Amoskeag Falls is said to be two and a half feet thick. It is many years since the ice remained in the river so late in the season.

Measures are proposed for the Portland & Ogdensburg Railroad to give up its White Mountain route to Connecticut River and Vermont, and build from Cornish to the New Hampshire line, about ten miles, and thence join the New Hampshire Central Railroad to Meredith or Plymouth, 43 miles, connecting thereby with Wells River, Montpelier, Burlington, St. Johnsbury, Swanton and Ogdensburg.

Nashua excursionists who went to Boston to see the "Creek" had varied experience. One man interviewed a policeman at the Park Street Church, got the lay of the land, struck out boldly and after wandering about for half an hour found himself at the place from whence he started. Another party did the wharves. Go which way they would, turn about, travel north or south, it was all the same—wharves! A third party brought up at Boston Highlands and a fourth has not been heard from.

LYNN was astounded on the 2d by the action of Herman F. Jones, a shoemaker about 25 years of age, who walked into the "all sorts" of Mr. S. T. Downes, on the corner of Washington and Monroe streets, and asked to see pistols. The proprietor of the store produced several, which were all carefully inspected by the stranger. Among the pistols shown him was a six-barrelled Smith & Wesson's revolver, three chambers of which were loaded by Mr. Downes. Without any indication of what he was about to do, the young man took the weapon in his hand, raise it to the right-hand side of his head, said "Good bye," pulled the trigger and fell dead.

CONNECTICUT.—Returns from every town in the State give Jewell, Republican, 46,386, Hubbard, Democrat, 44,446, Gillette, Temperance, 1526, Harrison, Labor Reform, 384. Jewell's plurality, 1940; majority over all, 30. The Senate stands 15 Republicans to 6 Democrats. The house stands 131 Republicans to 110 Democrats. Republican majority on joint ballot 20. Last year it was 24. The Republicans elect sheriffs in six counties, and the Democrats in two—Fairfield and Litchfield.

THE PORTLAND PRESS is fairly started under the new management. Mr. Gilford, late editor-in-chief, will retire for a season at least from editorial duties, his health having become somewhat impaired by overwork. Colonel Smith, Mr. Merrill and Mr. Lincoln will remain under the new management in the same positions they have heretofore occupied.

THE MAINE LAW.—Under the new law developing the execution of the liquor law upon sheriffs instead of municipal officers the Portland sheriff has been notifying all liquor shops and hotels to close their bars, and on the 2nd all were closed. There are indications of a disposition to slyly reopen some of them.

Political.

The Democrats elected their candidates for municipal honors at St. Louis.

James L. Hill, Republican, is elected mayor of Madison, Wis., by 214 majority.

The charter election in Dubuque resulted in the election of the Democratic ticket.

The Haverhill Bulletin is responsible for the statement that Charles Sumner is "as honest as men will average."

The active men among the German Republicans of New York are repudiating the Cincinnati Convention in advance.

The St. Louis Democrat thinks Grant has a good deal to endure—the praise of the New York Times and the abuse of the Tribune.

The new apportionment in Michigan gives eight Republican districts and one Democratic—Wayne. The Democratic majority there, however, was only 650.

The movement for an organized popular resistance to the new and stringent State law of South Carolina, exacting license fees from corporations, professions and business occupations, has failed.

The New York Times says that the deficiency in the canal funds is $3,000,000, beside over $4,000,000 in the general fund, making $7,000,000 left as the legacy of the expelled democracy. The ways and means committee will recommend the payment of the deficiency by direct tax this year, or the creation of a debt to run five years.

The following from the Washington Capital, an independent paper, is the most precise statement that we have yet seen of the programme of the Cincinnati Convention: "The coming month of May is to witness the collection a Cincinnati of a body of gentlemen, on political and party thoughts intent, whose mission will be to do or not to do, decide or not to decide, upon something."

The charter elections in Ohio resulted in favor of the Republicans. Out of thirty-one of the larger towns heard from, the Republicans carried 16, the Democrats 11 and the Independents 4. In Cincinnati the whole of the Democratic ticket was elected by an average majority of 2000. The new council will stand 26 Democrats and 22 Republicans. Tue aldermen will stand 15 Republicans and 9 Democrats. Cleveland gave 2000 Republican majority. The Republicans carried Toledo, by an increased majority.

There was a little sharp practice in getting the names to the New York indorsement of the Cincinnati convention,—separate and carefully-expurgated copies having been made for those who were tender on the subject of protection. Dr. Earnest Krackowizer authorizes the statement that the copy which he signed contained no such words as "taxation for revenue," but provided simply for taxation "making the burdens as light as possible on the industry of the country." But that is not what the convention is called for, and it is not at all the paper which bears Dr. K's indorsement.

The New Haven Journal inserted in its displayed head lines the morning after election a cut of a defunct possum as a symbol of the result of the "passive policy," with this doggerel:—

Tom Walker's possum has drawn his last breath,
He's kicked on his back in the struggle of death;
For his poor old carcass there's no resurrection—
He breathed his last breath at Jewell's election!

The new apportionment bill, which has passed both branches of the New Jersey legislature, would seem to have been prepared by Democrats, instead of Republicans, since the chances for carrying a majority of these districts are in favor of the former. Only two of the seven new districts are surely Republican, while three are surely Democratic, and two are debatable ground.

THE ALABAMA ARBITRATION.—The second note of Earl Granville to Secretary Fish, without making any threat of withdrawal makes a long argument against the claims for consequential damages, amplifying the points which were briefly expressed in his first note. It is, in fact, a formal protest against these claims—so couched as to allow our government either to reply immediately, or to postpone further discussion until the meeting of the board of arbitration. The tone of this second note restores confidence in the treaty at Washington.

MANUFACTURERS are about to introduce a new patent wax wire thread, having a delicate wire in its centre, to be used in sewing boots and shoes and other manufactures of leather, canvass, etc.

SMALL POX.—A New York physician expresses his brief that this disease is propagated by the circulation of bank-bills.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—In all crowded cities, malaria and fogs are breathed over and over again, till the strongest lungs are incapable of producing pure blood, hence the sluggishness of mind and body, the weariness and irritability of many persons during this season of the year. These medicines neutralize these impurities, and give vigor to the head, heart and stomach. 25 cents per box or pot.

DEAD MEN TELL NO TALES; if they did, sanhedrins against the depleting lancet, the drastic purge, and the terrible salivants of the materia medica, would arise from every graveyard. The motto of modern medical science is "Preserve and Regulate, not destroy," and no remedy of our day is so entirely in harmony with this philanthropic logic as DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. In this powerful, yet harmless restorative, dyspepsia, bilious complaints, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and nerves, encounter an irresistible antidote. m5 4w

THE WILD GEESE do not regard Dr. Ayer's wisdom in migrating north—such immense numbers of them as are flying over us now, while his almanac says: "Bleak and blustering about this time, with heavy snow." Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Times, March 3.

We were too fast last week in our item on the conflict between Dr. Ayer and the wild geese. The Doctor's science beat their instinct this time. Not for years have we had such a snowstorm as that of last Sunday. The snow lies three feet deep on a level in Minnesota, and two feet in Wisconsin, while the storm has swept from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains. Snow fell to various depths as far south as Denver, Fort Union and Santa Fe. Learned as we believed Dr. Ayer in the arcana of nature, and wonderful as we knew his medicines to be, we were not prepared for so signal an instance of his superiority, not only over the wise men, but the wisest of animals whose instinct is considered unfailing. We drive up the peg, more firmly than ever, over our hearth for Ayer's American Almanac.—Cedar Rapids Times, March 10.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills.

A SAD FALLING OUT.—It is indeed a sad falling out when, after years of the closest intimacy, the hair parts company with the head. Fortunately the lamentable separation may be easily prevented and the twain more closely united than ever by a timely and systematic use of LYON'S KATHAIRON, the most potent invigorant of the hair and promoter of its growth and beauty known to modern pharmacy. It completely obviates the dry and parched condition of the roots of the hair which is preliminary to its coming out, by supplying the precise degree of moisture requisite to its preservation in a healthy state. It is the only true dissolvent and evaporant of dandruff and other impurities of the scalp, whose presence is injurious to the hair. As a beautifier of the head the Kathairon has no equal. It not only increases the quantity of the hair, but improves its quality immediately, imparting a lustrous appearance and silky texture which are exceedingly attractive.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Plain Words for the People.

When broken down in health, strength and spirits it is not necessary that we should ask a medical man whether an invigorant is necessary. Common sense tells us that it is. The only question to be decided is, what the invigorant shall be. A standard tonic and restorative, which has been many years before the public, and in which millions of the intelligent classes repose the fullest faith, seems, in a case like this, to present the strongest claims to the confidence of the prudent invalid. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be truly said to possess these high recommendations. Its triumphant progress during a period of twenty years, its present popularity, and the uniform success which attends its use in indigestion, nervous debility, biliary complaints, fever and ague, and all ailments which depress the physical system and enervate the mind, entitle it to the rank of a standard national specific. It is regarded in that light by the community at large, and hundreds of thousands of testimonials from all parts of this season as a preventive of that numerous and harassing class of diseases which take their rise from the miasmatic winds and vapors of spring. It is a stimulant, a tonic, an alterative and a mild aperient—four essential restorative and protective elements of the materia medica—united in a single agreeable preparation. Every ingredient is vegetable, of the finest quality, and absolutely pure. Hostetter's Bitters is better known, safer in its operation, and commands a larger sale, than any other proprietary medicine manufactured in this country or imported from abroad.

The Concert.

We trust that everybody and everybody's relations, as well as everybody's relative's friends are intending to open wide their pocket books and their mouths this evening—the pocket books for scrip, and their mouths for cachinatory exercise. Given the fact that this is the annual Fast Day, when people want amusement much, and that Barnabee has allotted to all lovers of fun an evening with himand additional attractions sufficient to satisfy the most critical ly disposed—given these facts, say we, there is just reason sufficient to look for an old fashioned gathering at the Temple. Our jolly friend Barnabee was wont of old to be an annual sunbeam, visiting his old friends as surely as the earth on its axis rolled. But other people learned to long for his coming elsewhere and thundering welcomes greeted him in staid New England and in the far west, where 'er he chose to appear. Barnabee has in fact become almost a national necessity, and we are heartily glad to hear of his great success.

For to-night he announces a programme filled with nice things. Mr. Howard M. Dow, who seems inseparable from H. C. B., will preside at the piano-forte; M. Heine, the blind violinist, whose exquisite touch has made him famous, and Madame Heine whose wonderful piano-forte performances have won equal fame with M. Heine, will offer choice selections.

Mr. Barnabee has new songs and recitations and will tell all about "Arabella," not to mention "The Cork Leg,' "The Raven" and "King Canute." Well, about the best thing for our readers to do, will be to invest a half dollar or less each and spend this evening with Barnabee.

Meeting of Board of Trade Friday evening. See advertisement.

The rooms of the Y. M. C. A. will be open this afternoon and evening.

Hon. William C. Patten was in town on Wednesday. Mr. Patten's prospects for the Speakership are A 1.

The enforcement of the liquor law in Maine, it is said, will tend to increase the profits of barkeepers in Portsmouth.

The friends of Mr. M.Curtis, who lost a leg last year on the Old Colony Railroad, give him a benefit ball at Irving Hall, to night.

Willie, brave youth, wants to wager a box of gloves with some lady—knowing there is safety in the offer, as no lady will "take him up."

Rev. Carlos Martyn will preach this (Thursday) evening in the North Church, at 10 1-4 o'clock, on "National Issues." All are cordially invited.

The yearners after the game of ball and bat wait impatiently for the ungrounding of the frost and the driethness up of sundry mud-puddles and poodlets.

A coach will be run from this city to the Marshall House, York Beach, the coming season, leaving here at ten o'clock, A. M., and arriving at York Beach, eight miles, at eleven.

The large sale of carriages by the Came Bros. brought a large crowd of lookers-on and bidders. Wednesday, High Street was blockaded with 196 carriages of these celebrated maker's construction. About 50 were disposed of by auction and many others at private sale at good prices.

The inimitable Barnabee, himself, in addition to giving numerous other pieces, will appear for the first time on any stage in Mrs. Howard Paul's sketch, "The Unprotected Female." Barnabee always offers a first-class entertainment when he offers any at all, and never introduces inferior performers to his native city—or elsewhere.

Just the best cider we wot of on sale is retailing at the N. E. P. Union Store, Market Street, at 50 cts. per gallon. During the severe illness of Mr. John H Slater, the charge of matters there has fallen to our old and young friend, Mr. Meshach H. Bell, and Meshach hasn't forgotten that virtue has its own reward when such cider as that goeth down the throat of mankind.

This being Fast Day according to State authority and festival day according to priestly supposition, we do not anticipate the pleasure of giving to the public any news, good, bad or indifferent, to-morrow morning, and no greater mistake can be made by any individual than to wait for the carrier's ring to arouse him from slumber. 'Twere absurd for us to think of issuing the CHRONICLE under circumstances that would still make us doubt whether 'twere best to be laughing or sighing.

People who think the season is late, are reminded that on the 2d day of April, 1861, there was a fall of nearly two feet of snow. The 1st day of April that year the mercury went to 24 degrees below zero and on the night of the 2d the snow was so deep that the evening Portland train for Boston was stuck between Ipswich and Wenham all night and the first train from Portsmouth overtook it just this side of Ipswich on the morning of the 3d,when the track was cleared of snow and the train arrived in Boston about fourteen hours behind time.

CHANCE FOR A TIDAL WAVE. — We would respectfully suggest to our brethren of the press that it is about time to make Professor Agassiz issue his regular annual prediction of a gigantic tidal wave. There will never be a better chance—Agassiz is catching minnows and straddlebugs in South America,and a very moderate amount of enterprise will suffice to make him construct a tidal wave which shall sweep from the Atlantic to the Mississippi and wash the White Mountains into the St. Lawrence, before he can hear of it at all. This tidal wave has become an absolute necessity since the great Swiss astronomer, Prof. Plantamour, has positively refused to produce a comet which will bump against the world and knock everything into eternal smash next August. If we cannot have the comet, we can at least compel Agassiz to give us our regular tidal wave.

THE RESCUE OF ERIE. — Mr. Bischoffsheim, the "legal engineer" of the movement to get control of the Erie Railroad, on the part of the English stockholders, has written a letter to the London Times to explain why he left the "protection committee," of which he was a member, and acted independently. Finding that the object was not likely to be accomplished during his lifetime, he says: "I made myself free from the committee, went to Paris with Mr. McHenry and Mr. Sharp to meet General Sickles, and to try to settle a programme for the defeat of Gould and his accomplices. This programme has been successfully carried out, chiefly by the loyalty, ability and energy of General Sickles, with what result to the shareholders may be judged from the price of the shares in London and New York. To have confided my plans to a committee of three members beside myself, the secretary, and a firm of solicitors, and their representatives in New York, as Messrs. Raphael, Heath and Satterthwaite would have wished,would have been like placarding it over the town, and tantamount to serving a notice to Mr. Gould. Our plans were matured with the strictest secrecy,and thus we secured the object we sought. The ridiculous presumption that any one but General Sickles secured the repeal of the classification act, and the passage of the other necessary and far more important measures,is too childish to need refutation. None but so consummate a tactician as General Sickles could have succeeded, and the greatest honor is due to him for having, in rescuing the Erie, also rescued the credit of his country.

THE GROWTH OF TIMBER is attracting the attention of economists, who see in the rapid disappearance of our forests a coming wood famine. A bill has been introduced in the U. S. Senate to encourage the growth of timber on western prairies.

MRS. MANCHESTER, the popular physician at the Franklin House, is said to be having great success in curing diseases. Invalids intending to consult her should lose no time in doing so, as she remains only this week.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

A Case of Blindness Cured.

MRS. MANCHESTER: This is to certify that I called upon you last October with a son of mine who had been blind over a year; totally blind with one Eye and very nearly so with the other. I had had him treated by three Eminent Physicians, and also had taken him to the Eye Infirmary in Boston, but neither did him any good, and he still grew worse. MRS. MANCHESTER assured me she could cure him. I consented with her treatment, and at this time one Eye is perfectly well, and the other is gaining! I had given up all hope of his ever seeing again, but by the help of God and Mrs. Manchester's skill he is now able to work, which I am sure he never would if it had not been for her. Let all give her a trial, and by calling on me the boy can be seen by any one.

This is a true statement of the case.

JOHN MCCORMICK,
JOHN MCCORMICK, Jr., Portsmouth.

This is to certify that Mrs. Manchester has doctored in my family for about twenty years, and I know she has cured my wife of dropsy in the worst form; my daughter of spinal disease of five years' standing; a sister of Mrs. Brown and catarrh by taking away of blindness. And I would recommend her to the public as a skillful physician, and every way worthy of patronage.

JOHN HOBSON, Portland, Me.

One of the Greatest Cures on Record.

BANGOR, Sept 28, 1870.

This is to certify that I have been sick for twenty-five years with liver complaint as the physicians have all told me. I have been treated in New York and Bangor by a large number of Physicians, and found no relief until I called on Mrs MANCHESTER a short time ago. She told me very readily what the trouble was—that I had abscesses and tumors. I have taken her medicines, and have had proof that what she told me was perfectly correct. If any one doubts this, let them call on me personally, and I will give them correct information in regard to my case. I want the sick and suffering to go and consult MRS. MANCHESTER, and not be discouraged by ignorant and fatal-ness people, but have faith in your own and you will get relief.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income, of - - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - $247.90.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

A WORD FOR THE BABIES.—The season that tries children's souls—and bodies—is at hand. The cold damp season of early spring, with its penetrating breezes that chill the entire system and generate incipient croup, is already here, and it behooves every anxious parent to be on the alert it danger, and perhaps death, would be averted. Too many parents find their children's lives cut off by the want of a little care. Croup always originates in a cold, and in most cases the cold is caused from exposure to dampness, either of the clothing or of the atmosphere. In many cases the primary cause is insufficient or improper clothing. Especially is this so with little girls. On this point a great responsibility lies with the mothers, and when a cold loosens its claw from the willful ignorance of a parent or the willful following of a fashion that leads to that result, what is it but murdering death? Let mothers become strong in common sense and resolve to raise children not to bury them. Let them remember, also, that though sickness may sometimes be called "sent from God" in the true sense, that which is forced upon a helpless child is nothing less than a crime.

—A Harvard student defines flirtation to be "attention without intention."

—A man out west offering bail for a friend was asked by the judge if he had any incumbrance on his farm. "Only one, my good woman."

—Methuselah, who was the grand father of Noah, came very near being drowned in his old age. In less than one year more the flood would have swept him away.

—There is a great "revival" of religion in Lawrence, Kansas. The prayers, speeches, confessions and name of the converts are regularly reported for the daily newspapers.

—A pretty white chip, trimmed with seafoam green, is now proposed to young blondes, to be worn on the spot once appropriated by remote female ancestors to the bald and bonnet.

—They take religion easy northward there in Vermont. In Barlington last Sunday a worshiper sat with his feet poised on the railing in front of his seat, and read a dime novel during the service.

—The dwelling house of John Giverin in Rockaway, Morris county, New York, was burned on Sunday morning, and his wife and three children were burned, but he escaped by jumping from a second story window. The fire was accidental.

—"Let me see," said a Chicago boss mason reflectively to a burnt out merchant, "I have got to put up a block for Brown, this morning, and a dwelling house this afternoon, for Smith. Yes, I guess we can jerk up your store this noon by takin' only half an hour's noonin'."

—A good and well-authenticated story is told of a worthy sexton of Chelsea who recently purchased a new and very elegant hearse, and also employed a new driver. At the first funeral at which it was used the hearse returned badly scratched and covered with mud. "Why," he asked the driver, "what have you been doing? My new hearse is almost ruined!" "I don't care" replied the driver, "I'll be blowed if I ever allow mourners to get ahead of my hearse coming home from a funeral!"

—The following dialogue lately occurred in Charleston, S. C., between an ex-slave owner and his former slave, now a legislator, just arrived from the country to the city, on his way to the capital: Legislator — Gorry mighty, Massa John, is dat you? I is berry glad to see you. How all de family do? Gentleman—Quite well; but, Joe, what has brought you to the city? Legislator —Why, I is elected—for what—to the Legislature. Gentleman—Why, Joe, what are you going to do there? Legislator—Why, to tell you de God's truth, I gwine arter dat six dollars a day.

—A reporter [illegible] of the Bangor Whig was [illegible] to produce the following poem: A lovely young lady in gorgeous array, promenaded up Main Street about noon yesterday; the walk was quite slippery, but she heeded it not, when her feet both flew out and down the gal sat! What a scene it was followed! Silks, velvets and plush were bedabbed and bedraggled all over with slush. The little boys snickered, the older folks smiled, the young ladies frowned and thee sobbed like a child; to church she was going, but alas, she could not; towards the house of her papa she got up and got.

—A San Francisco lawyer sued a paper of that city for damages to the amount of $50,000 for calling him a blister. The plaintiff conducted his own case, and was thus served by one of the witnesses for the defence:

Q.—What do you call a blister?

A.—Well, such men as you. [Laughter.]

Q.—Do you know of any agreement between certain attorneys and the police officers, about getting business.

A.—Yes, you came to me once and offered to divide if I would get you cases. [Laughter.]

The jury returned a verdict without leaving their seats, and the sum recovered by the plaintiff is expressed by the figures given above, with the 5 left out.

CHEESE.—The Green Mountain cheese factory at Peru worked up 126,230 pounds of milk in 94 days last year, making 56,541 pounds of green and 50,124 pounds of cured cheese. This was at the rate of 8.68 pounds of milk to one pound of green cheese, and 9.9 to one pound of cured.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Cough, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence we wished for, have to the honest words among not only one but many nations, it has exceptionally virtues. Perhaps no medicine secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equaled by any other medicine. It still makes the most astonishing cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and gives a feeling of security from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely application. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

EFFECT OF LIGHT ON SMALL POX.—Among the many investigations now being made of the chemical action of light, there are none more interesting or more important than those which are directed to the observation of its effects on the health. It has been observed by Dr. Weber, that the sensibility of the skin is much increased in those parts of the body which are always exposed to the light, and this difference has even been measured by many eminent physicians. This remarkable fact is especially observable on persons suffering from small-pox, the severity of the skin disease being visibly augmented if the patient be not confined in a dark room. Dr. Waters has recently published a paper on this subject, in which he states that if the room be darkened so that not a single ray can enter it, the effect is to arrest the disease at the papular or vesicular stage; it never becomes purulent, and the skin between the vesicles is never inflamed or swollen; the liquor sanguinis is not changed into pus, nearly all the pain and the smell is, if not entirely removed, greatly diminished. Another advantage, important in a therapeutical point of view, is the resistance given to medicines, the absence of light increasing the excretory of the skin. —Jour. of Telegraphy.

SMART.—The late Isaac O. Barnes once attended the funeral of a particular friend and crony. The service was conducted by two clergymen, friends of the family, who, with their long prayers and extended "remarks," consumed fully two hours, during which Mr Barnes suffered untold agony of suspense and impatience. Hardly had the second minister pronounced the "amen," when Barnes, in his squeaky voice, turning to the person sitting nearest him, said:

"Did you know Kid?"

"Yes, sir," said the man addressed, in a low voice.

"Good fellow, wasn't he?" continued Barnes.

"Yes, sir," still in suppressed tone.

"And he was a mighty smart one, too," squeaked Barnes.

"Very smart," also whispered the other, as the company present began to look in that direction.

"Yes, he was," piped Barnes, still louder, with one of his expletives, "and if he had the running of this funeral, he'd have been under the ground an hour and a half ago."

ARTICLES of the most brilliant green colors often have arsenic in them, such as wrappers and ornaments of candy, images, paper boxes, room papers, and stuffs for dresses, and ornaments for bonnets. If arsenic is contained in any green color a drop of aqua ammonia put upon the green color will make a blue spot. Many cases of obscure sickness are produced by arsenical coloring matter.—Mass. State Board of Health Report, 1872.

—The Prohibition Herald is a sly dog, and knows all the abstruse methods of promoting the cause of temperance. If you look at its advertising columns, you will find the merits of four different kinds of "bitters" there set forth, and you might think at first it was a rummy paper. But you see its plan is, to draw as much money as possible from the pockets of the whiskey venders, as pay for these advertisements, and then by exhorting people to temperance, through its editorial columns, to render the advertisements harmless and use the money for pushing on the good work. The device is ingenious, and the Herald only needs one caution—not to break down the whiskey trade altogether before the "bitter manufacturers" have settled their bills.—Monitor.

—We were surprised the other day at receiving a call from W. R. Alger, on his return from Nassau. He looked perfectly well, and was in excellent spirits. His account of his illness, which was chiefly caused by taking a douche bath of cold water at a gymnasium in Paris, after a fatiguing exercise, and the treatment he received at the hands of the French physicians, is full of interest; and it would seem that the reports have greatly exaggerated the seriousness of his case. Fears have been substituted for facts, and temporary symptoms have been taken for a chronic condition of body and mind. He will keep scrupulously and industriously idle until autumn, at the least, and then adopt the course which seems most judicious.—Golden Age.

—Rev. Mr. Cadworth's female suffrage prayer suggests the reminiscence to some one that the colored chaplain of a recent Louisiana legislature used to address the chair instead of the throne of grace; and the way the House received it brings up another Texas legislator, pronouncing a funeral oration upon a deceased colleague and happening to dilate upon the comforts which surrounded his sick bed, who was interrupted by another legislator, who rose to a point of order, and being requested to state his point desired to know "if it was in order for the gentleman in a speech unto a dead man to wring in a puff of a boarding-house kept by his aunt and furnished by himself."

—Hudson, Mass., has just heard of the Swiss comet, and the people there are buying tin roofed umbrellas.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of invention, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SLATE COATING,

Patented August, 1871.

In offering this article to the public, we supply a need which has long been felt. It is especially adapted to

IT IS FIRE & WATER-PROOF AND PREVENTS DECAY.

Not affected by Heat or Cold; is durable and beautiful with colors permanently set, varying from a dark blue slate color to purple, and even higher shades, as fancy dictates. It will not wash or scale, and is Extremely Cheap.

Will stop and prevent Leaks; superior to any cement now in use. Shingles covered with this article warranted to last fifty years, and for a Slate Coating over Shingles (Old or New) it has been found unequaled; it is also an excellent coating for School Black-Boards.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and thus effect its unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these calamities, which has been established for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those in which have not yet recovered the vitalities of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the result of this hair. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

SATURDAY, APRIL 6, 1872.

RHODE ISLAND.—The State election occurred on the 3d. Padelford, Republican, received 9385, Arnold, Democrat, 8228. The Republican ticket with the exception of lieutenant-governor was elected, Mr. Stevens being defeated on account of his alleged connection with trap-fishing. Governor Padelford's majority is 1157. The Senate will stand 26 Republicans and 11 Democrats and the House of Representatives 53 Republicans and 17 Democrats, and 3 who are classified as "no choice."

SECRETARY BOUTWELL has prepared two bills, which he thinks, if Congress can be induced to take favorable action thereon, will enable him to considerably mend the financial condition of the country. One of these bills authorizes him to place the balance of the loan contemplated by the funding bill on the European market, with the privilege of registering said bonds abroad, and also of paying interest upon them there. The second bill provides that national banks be compelled to surrender up the six per cents held by them at the option of the Secretary, and that he also be empowered in such cases to substitute the four per cents therefor. In cases of refusal the penalty shall be that the banks shall lose their charters, and their privilege shall be transferred to such other banks as the Secretary may designate.

EXCUSED.—Walter T. Miller of New York asked to be exempted from jury duty because he is a member of the Reformed Presbyterian church, the tenimony of which church maintains that it is wrong for its members to incorporate with the government of the United States under the present Constitution, inasmuch as it does not acknowledge God as the author of national existence and the source of all power and authority in civil government, and Jesus Christ as the ruler of nations, and the Bible as the foundation of law and the supreme will for the conduct of nations. Judge Blatchford holding that a man who could write such a letter was incapacitated from acting as a juror, promptly ordered that Miller's name be stricken from the panel.

THE NATIONAL HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES resolved, 153 to 9, on the 2d, that the substitution by the Senate, under the form of an amendment to the bill of the House for repealing the duties on tea and coffee, of a bill to reduce the existing taxes, —containing a general revision, reduction and repeal of the laws imposing import duties and internal taxation,—is in conflict with the true intent and purpose of that clause of the Constitution which requires that all bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives, and that therefore said substitute for the House bill be laid on the table.

HEAT IN AUSTRALIA. — During the month of January the heat was intense at Adelaide, in South Australia, for the space of twelve days. With the exception of two or three hours in the seventh night, the mercury never fell below 82 degrees, and ranged in the day up to 108 degrees in the shade.

GOING.—And now Miss Nellie Grant is to make a European tour—another outrage to Democracy. What right has any member of the President's family to enjoyment, we ask.

THE STREET COMMISSIONER of New York city draws his salary but does not perform his duties. The streets are in a filthy condition and the spotted fever is raging in consequence.

Political.

At the charter election in St. Paul, the Republicans elected a mayor by 1600 majority, and have a majority in the common council. At Minneapolis a Democratic mayor was elected. The other officers are Republicans.

At the city election in Leavenworth, Kansas, the entire Republican ticket was elected by 150 majority.

The Keene Sentinel favors the re-election of Senator Patterson.

Democratic Congressmen say publicly that there was a bargain between the Democrats and the temperance men in Connecticut, under which, had the latter managed to obtain the balance of power, a coalition would have been formed in the Legislature. Hubbard would have been chosen Governor, and Gillette would have been elected to the Senate, where he served out an unexpired term of Truman Smith in 1854 and 1855, while the other State officers would have been given to the Democrats.

PROFESSOR MORSE was buried in Greenwood Cemetery, on Friday.

VOTES AND POPULATION.

A comparison of the votes cast in different States with the population of those States, shows that New Hampshire in her closely contested elections generally casts a larger vote in proportion to her population than any other State. While other Northern States bring out on an average one vote for every six or seven of their population, this State at the recent election, and at others where the full vote of the State has been thrown, is able to muster about one vote for every four of the population. The State which comes nearest to New Hampshire in the proportion of votes to population is Connecticut, where it is one to 5 1-2. Maine shows one in 6; Massachusetts one in 10 1-2; Vermont one in 7 1-2; New York one in 6 3-4.

The N. H. Patriot, referring to these facts, says it "cannot account for this on any ground consistent with an honest and fair exercise of the right of suffrage and the proper enforcement of the laws made for its protection." And it asks for an explanation.

There is no great mystery in the matter. The earnestness with which the elections in this State have been contested for the last fifteen or twenty years, with the evenly balanced condition of the two parties, have had the effect of bringing nearly every voter to the polls. The adjoining States, with their large Republican majorities, have never been so thoroughly canvassed. Connecticut, which is as closely balanced, comes nearer to our proportion, and New York, always an uncertain State, and where both parties usually do their best, is but little behind Connecticut in its proportion. Neither of these States, even with full votes, is probably able to show the proportion of New Hampshire, because larger numbers of their voters are generally out of the State at the time of the elections. The same is true of Maine, which adjoins New Hampshire and where the proportion of votes to population ought to be about the same. Large numbers of the voting population of that State are usually absent on the ocean at all seasons of the year. Vermont, which adjoins us on the other side, could doubtless come up to our mark, if there was any Democratic party there to fight. "It is rather wrenching business to kick at nothing," said the shrewd Yankee to a contemptible opponent; and in this opinion nearly one-half of the voters of the Green Mountain State seem to concur.

There is perhaps one other reason why New Hampshire is the "Banner State" in the business of voting. The Democratic party here, in their desperate attempts to regain the State, have been most unscrupulous in stretching the qualifications of voters. They have not only manufactured them out of the raw material as their constant resort to the naturalization business at every election has shown, but they have sometimes not escaped the suspicion of making voters out of nothing. Putting names upon the checklists which had no existence or no business there, and counting finally more votes than had been legally cast, have not, it is believed, always been the unfounded charges of their political opponents.

Whether this is true or otherwise, the record will show that the Democratic towns in the State as a general thing, cast a larger vote in propotion to their population than the Republican towns. Taking a dozen towns in the County of Rockingham, six of them always Democratic and the other six as uniformly Republican—towns homogeneous in population and pursuits—farming towns chiefly, where there is little change from year to year, and where the proportion of votes to the population ought to be about the same—and we have this result:

DEMOCRATIC TOWNS.	Pop'n	R. Vote	D. Vote	Total	Proportion
Rye,	894	98	175	273	1 in 3 3-4
Greenland,	605	74	104	178	1 in 3 3-4
Raymond,	1121	118	206	324	1 in 3 1-2
Epping,	1273	141	190	331	1 in 3 3-4
N. Hamp'n	721	89	116	205	1 in 3 1-2
S. Hamp'n	448	66	68	136	1 in 3 1-2
REPUBLICAN TOWNS.
Hamp Falls	679	95	45	140	1 in 4 1-2
Brentwood	895	116	63	184	1 in 4 3-4
Derry	1899	250	134	384	1 in 4 3-4
Londderry	1405	261	142	343	1 in 4 1-2
Chester	1153	189	89	278	1 in 4 1-2
Windham	753	110	60	170	1 in 4 1-2

From these figures it will be seen that while the Democratic towns cast one vote for every three and a fraction of about one half of their population, the Republican towns average only about four and a half.

The facts will probably enable the N. H. Patriot to see where the "tall voting" comes in, when the Democracy are desperate, and why New Hampshire is able to take the lead of all other States in turning out voters.—Journal.

The British Iron Steamer Clotilde, which went ashore last season on Wells Beach, owing to derangement of her compass by local attraction, where she remained many weeks before she could be moved, was launched last week from the Atlantic Works, Boston, at which place she is now receiving her machinery. Owing to the great force which sent her ashore at Wells, it was found necessary to replace about 100 feet of her keel, by new iron, to reshape all her ribs from below the line of the lower deck, replate her bottom, and replace her sternpost. Her hull made as good as when she was built. Several parties in New York are negotiating for her purchase to carry freight.

BASE BALL.—The first game of the season was played in Boston on Thursday, April 4, between the Bostons and a Picked Nine, the former winning by a score of 32 to 0.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—In all crowded cities, malaria and fogs are breathed over and over again, till the strongest lungs are incapable of producing pure blood, hence the sluggishness of mind and body, the weariness and irritability of many persons during this season of the year. These medicines neutralize these impurities, and give vigor to the head, heart and stomach. 25 cents per box or pot.

DEAD MEN TELL NO TALES; if they did, anathemas against the depleting lancet, the drastic purge, and the terrible salivants of the materia medica, would arise from every graveyard. The motto of modern medical science is "Preserve and Restore, not destroy," and no remedy of our day is so entirely in harmony with this philanthropic logic as DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. In this powerful, yet harmless restorative, dyspepsia, bilious complaints, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and nerves, encounter an irresistible antidote. m5 4w

THE WILD GEESE do not regard Dr. Ayer's wisdom in migrating north—such immense numbers of them as are flying over us now, while his almanac says: "Bleak and blustering about this time, with heavy snow." Cedar Rapids Iowa Times, March 3. m5 4w

We were too fast last week in our item on the contest between Dr. Ayer and the wild geese. The Doctor's science beat their instinct this time. Not for years have we had such a snow-storm as that of last Sunday. The snow lies three feet deep on a level in Minnesota, and two feet in Wisconsin, while the storm has swept from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains. Snow fell to various depths as far south as Denver, Fort Union and Santa Fe. Learned as we believed Dr. Ayer in the arcana of nature, and wonderful as we knew his medicines to be, we were not prepared for so signal an instance of his supremacy, not only over the wise men, but the wisest of animals whose instinct is considered unfailing. We drive up the peg, more firmly than ever, over our hearth for Ayer's American Almanac.—Cedar Rapids Times, March 10.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

A SAD FALLING OUT.—It is indeed a sad falling out when, after years of the closest intimacy, the hair parts company with the head. Fortunately the lamentable separation may be easily prevented and the twain more closely united than ever by a timely and systematic use of LYON'S KATHAIRON, the most potent invigorant of the hair and promoter of its growth and beauty known to modern pharmacy. It completely obviates the dry and parched condition of the roots of the hair which is preliminary to its coming out, by supplying the precise degree of moisture requisite to its preservation in a healthy state. It is the only true dissolvent and evaporant of dandruff and other impurities of the scalp, whose presence is injurious to the hair. As a beautifier of the head the Kathairon has no equal. It not only increases the quantity of the hair, but improves its quality immediately, imparting a lustrous appearance and silky texture which are exceedingly attractive.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Plain Words for the People.

When broken down in health, strength and spirits it is not necessary that we should ask a medical man whether an invigorant is necessary. Common sense tells us that it is. The only question to be decided is, what the invigorant shall be. A standard tonic and restorative, which has been many years before the public, and in which millions of the intelligent classes repose the fullest faith, seems, in a case like this, to present the strongest claims to the confidence of the prudent invalid. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be truly said to possess these high recommendations. Its triumphant progress during a period of twenty years, its present popularity, and the uniform success with which it meets the ever-recurring nervous debility, biliary complaints, fever and ague, and all ailments which deprive the physical system and enervate the mind, entitle it to the rank of a standard national specific. It is regarded in that light by the community at large, and hundreds of thousands of both sexes resort to it at this season as a preventive of that numerous and harassing class of diseases which take their rise from the miasmatic winds and vapors of spring. It is also, at this period, an alterative and a mild aperient—four essential restorative and protective elements of the materia medica—united in a single agreeable preparation. Every ingredient is vegetable, of the finest quality, and absolutely pure. Hostetter's Bitters is better known, held in greater esteem, and commands a larger sale, than any other proprietary medicine manufactured in this country or imported from abroad.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Barnabee Concert.

Mr. Henry C. Barnabee may well feel complimented at his reception, Fast evening. The largest audience he has ever met here greeted him and enjoyed one of the first entertainments that Mr B. has favored his friends with. The piano forte playing of Madame Heine was very fine—the best we have heard of late. Mr. Dow's accompainment were as usual played with ease and sufficient regard to the singing—an accomplishment which some artists have yet to learn. Of Mr. Heine's violin performances we can hardly find words to express our delight. Deprived of the sense of sight, he is possessed of such acute sense of touch that the music he draws forth from his favorite instrument is exquisite, soul stirring. His selections consisted of many popular gems and his rendition of the "Carnival of Venice" was listened to with hushed expectancy. Its closing strains we consider unsurpassed by Ole Bull or Camilla Urso and the audience burst forth into rapturous applause as the music ceased. Then Mr. Heine appeared with a common tin whistle, such as boys are wont to practice on about the streets, and from it produced wonderfully sweet music, surpassing any piccolo performance we have listened to. How it was done is more than we can explain.

Mr. Barnabee's rhythmical comicalities are always eagerly looked forward to among his old associates and the production of new selections added to the enjoyment. He was in fine voice and rendered the opening song vigorously and clearly. His recitation of Poe's "Raven" was a most creditable performance, showing great versatility of genius. The name of Barnabee is associated in every mind with comedy; yet he regards the creditable production of serious selections as more satisfactory. As he progressed in the recitation, the audience seemed wrapt in attention, the state of quietude in o which they lapsed being an unconscious tribute to the power which none but a true artist possesess. The "Cork Leg," the "Ballad of Arabella," and the "Unprotected Female," were produced in Barnabee's inimitable style, his "make-up" in the latter selection being a great hit. We think every one in attendance was more than well satisfied with the evening with Barnabee.

SMALL POX.—A German physician propounds the theory that small-pox originates from an excess of albuminous matter in the blood, and that this is to be prevented by the administration of common salt. The habits of children indulging over-freely in sweet-meats he considers one great cause of this undue development of albumen, and coffee and tea, if highly sugared, tend also to excite it in adults. An organic acid, such as lemon juice, he considers the best means of freeing the blood, when clogged up with too much albumen, and he alleges that by taking these simple remedies in the way of precaution he has, for upwards of twelve years past, frequented or taken up his abode in the most pestilential small-pox hospitals of Europe and South America with entire impunity.

ST. CLOUD HOTEL, NEW YORK

By RAND BROTHERS

Broadway, Cor. of 42nd Street.

The Eye, Ear, Catarrh and Throat.

MRS. MANCHESTER,

The Independent

CLAIRVOYANT,

—AND—

ELECTRIC PHYSICIAN,

Formerly from New York, but late of Portland, will arrive in Portsmouth MARCH 30th, and can be found at the FRANKLIN HOUSE for ten days.

Where she will treat all disease for which she is heir to.

Price for Examination, $1.00.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

A Case of Blindness Cured.

MRS. MANCHESTER: This is to certify that I called upon you last October with a son of mine who had been blind over a year, totally blind with one Eye and very nearly so with the other. I had had him treated by three Eminent Physicians, and also had taken him to the Eye Infirmary in Boston, but neither did him any good, and he still grew worse. MRS. MANCHESTER assured me she could cure him. I commenced with her treatment, and at this time one Eye is perfectly well, and the other is gaining! I had given up all hope of his ever seeing again, but, by the help of God and Mrs. Manchester's skill he is now able to work, which I am sure he never would if it had not been for her. Let all give her a trial, and by calling on me the boy can be seen by any one.

This is a true statement of the case.

JOHN MCCORMICK,

JOHN MCCORMICK, Jr., Portsmouth.

This is to certify that Mrs. Manchester has doctored in my family for six years and has had success. She has cured my wife of dropsy in its worst form; my daughter of spinal disease of five years' standing; a sister of deafness and catarrh; my father of blindness. And I would recommend her to the public as a skillful physician, and every way worthy of patronage.

JOHN HOBSON, Portland, Me.

One of the Greatest Cures on Record.

BANGOR, Sept. 28, 1870.

This is to certify that I have been sick for twenty-five years with liver complaint as the physicians have all told me. I have been treated in New York and Bangor by a large number of Physicians, and found no relief until I called on Mrs. MANCHESTER a short time ago. She told me very readily what the trouble was—that I had abscesses and tumors. I have taken her medicines, and have had proof that what she told me was perfectly correct. If any one doubts this, let them call on me personally, and I will give them a correct account in regard to my case. I want the sick and suffering to go and consult MRS. MANCHESTER, and not be discouraged by ignorant and fool-hardy people, but have a mind of your own, and you will find relief.

m23 MRS. HENRIETTA PEABODY, Vassie.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.

At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.

At the end of 21 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.

At the end of 15 years, - - - - 14,000.

At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30

Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 627.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country, and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

State News.

Extensive preparations are making for hotel building about the mountains this season. A company has been formed for the erection of a large hotel on the old Fabyan place, and work will be begun at once. It will be the largest hotel in the mountain region. Messrs. Lyon & Aiken are about to erect a new house on the summit of Mt. Washington, 150 feet long, 40 feet wide, and two stories high, with a French roof.

Pembroke voted to exempt for ten years any enterprise that should utilize the power on the Buck street privilege. A gentleman has bought it who will probably put up a mill.

On the 1st, the house and barn, formerly part of the old Axtell estate, in Grafton, and just transferred by Louis Whitney to Mr. Sullivan Clark, were destroyed by fire. The high wind and scarcity of water prevented the fire company from saving the property. A cow owned by Mr. Clark perished in the flames.

Mr. Charles H. Saunders, foreman at Cummings & Co.'s marble works, Concord, was taken sick with headache after rising for work Tuesday morning. He sent for a doctor at 10 A. M., grew rapidly worse, and died just before midnight. The physicians cannot determine the nature of his disease, but think the symptoms were like those of spotted fever. He leaves a widow and one child.

The residence of Samuel I. Hanson, at Mount Pleasant, about a mile and a half from Dover, was burned Wednesday noon. The greater part of the furniture was saved. The barn and outbuildings, through the exertions of the neighbors and firemen from the city, were saved. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defect in the chimney. The loss is estimated at $3500; insured in the North American Insurance Company for $1500.

A special town meeting at Keene on Monday, voted, 447 against 282, to exempt from taxation the property of the Beaver mills to the extent of $125,000, for a period of ten years. The Asbuelot Boot and Shoe Company and the Keene Glue Company were started at the same time and claim a like exemption, which will probably be granted at the adjourned meeting, on Saturday. There is also a large tannery in prospect, to be located a mile and a half out of the village, and as the capital for the enterprise comes from out of town, this will be another candidate for exemption.

—The Elmwood (Illinois) Chronicle thus sums up the net results of the winter's revival at the Bateman schoolhouse: Five supposed "converts," sixty-three bad colds, nineteen ladies refuse any longer to obey their mothers, the morals of fourteen boys more or less corrupted, and one hundred and thirty-three flirtations.

—A Worcester genius has invented an apparatus for the aid and comfort of housekeepers, farmers, &c. It consist of a boiler which may be attached to a common cooking stove by the agency of which steam is produced, and conducted, like water, whenever desired, for heating stoves, cooking food at the barn for cattle, etc. By means of flexible tubes potatoes or other vegetables can be promptly cooked while the kettle stands in the sink or out of doors, water heated for washing while it stands in the tubs, and many other wonders performed.

—The August Journal has seen a bill of lading of the date of 1721, and is surprised at the terror with which blessings were called down on the cargo:—"Shipped by the grace of God, in good order and well conditioned, by Jons. Belcher, in and upon the good sloop called the John Almary, and now lying at anchor in the harbour of Boston, and by God's grace bound for Kittery. To say—One chest, one Tierce of rum, Being marked and numbered as in the Margent, and are to be delivered in the like good order and well conditioned, at the aforesaid Kittery. (the danger of the seas only excepted,) unto Mr. Elias Gunnison, or to his assign, he or they paying freight for said goods, as customary, with primage and average accustomed. In witness whereof, the master or purifier of the same hath affirmed to bills of lading, all of this tenor and date. One of which bills being accomplished, the other to stand void. And so God send the good sloops to her desired port in safety—amen. JOHN A. CABOT."

—In view of the milk crisis in Boston the poet of the Traveller sings the following

HILEMAN'S NURSERY RHYME:

Sing a song of nine cents,
A can full of milk;
Hands in our pockets,
Feeling fine as silk.
When the can is opened,
See the water run;
Customers don't like it,
But we think it's fun.

—The ingenuity of the human mind in evading law is something wonderful. A genuine Chicago man has illustrated this by building a new house inside an old frame shell which the fire ordinance won'd not allow to be repaired, and then tearing down the shell.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words during not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in the closet or the way and ready relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

The Chronicle.

—The most useful thing in the long run—Breath

—The unsuspecting widow of a Michigander applied recently for a divorce, as her husband had been dead four years and she wanted to marry again.

—An industrious old lady in Eastern Connecticut, whose early education was neglected, has put out a sign, announcing "Gloia' out white-washing done here."

—The man who said that the fashionable railroad lunch this season was depot pie is to be handed over to the tender mercies of Ricnard Grant White and Dr. Holmes.

—Satisfactory dialogue—"Dining at Lady Lilburnum's tomorrow?" "Yaas." "So am I "So Glad!" "So Glad you're Glad!" "So Glad you're Glad I'm Glad!!"—Punch.

—The local editor of an Illinois paper says that he does not depend upon journalism for his daily bread, but raises hens; which moves an envious rival to ask whose hens he raises.

—An English physician has been vaccinated 478 times to prove to objecting parents that there was no harm in it—says London Medical Times and Gazette for March 17, 1872, p. 317.

—The Portland revenue-cuttter Hugh McCulloch, Captainin Henriques, has finished her winter's cruising. During the winter months she has sailed sailed over 4000 miles, and assisted several vessels in distress.

—That loose ox has been goring people in Providence again. The papers demand that droves of stock be driven around instead of through the city, even if it involves trespassing upon the territory of other States.

—A kind-hearted but illiterate livery stable keeper, who could not bear to see a horse ill-treated, used to say, with perfect sincerity, and, as he believed, with accuracy, "My hostibility to them as abuses horses was born unto me, and comes as ntural as breathin'."

—There are three hundred religious periodicals in the United States, with a circulation of ten and a half millions. Enough salt to save the literature of the country if the salt had not lost its savor. Much of it has not; it never had any saving property to lose.—Golden Age

—All the flags for the navy, war and treasury departments are now made seamless, the fabric being woven in white bunting, and red stripes and blue field dyed in pattern. They are much brighter than those sewed in stripes, and by test have been found to outwear the old-fashioned make.

—It has cost the Tichborne estate $600,000 to defeat the butcher who tried to pass himself off as the rightful heir. But the interest at stake is ten times this amount and considering what a plausible show the claimant made the present possessors may congratulate themselves upon getting off so cheaply.

—The women of Damascus, Illinois, take part in the discussions of the Farmer Club meeting. A recent conundrum was, "Shall we dress for comfort or for show?" It was of course decided to dress for comfort, and then they all went away, and at the next meeting each appeared with a "three-decker" head dress and a "Dolly-Varden" suit.

—Nineteen persons were recently batized in a pond near Concord, N H., the ice being eighteen inches thick. One woman fainted, and the whole party were hurried to a house in the vicinity to save their lives. Winter is evidently a bad time to get religion in New Hampshire, but revivalists usually find their occupation gone when the hap begins to run and spring work begins.—Golden Age.

— The Teutonic tailor of a Pennsylvania village, having married a second wife indecently soon after the funeral of the first, the young men of the place gave token of their disapproval by a tin-horn serenade during the progress of the wedding feast. The vulgar traction of a man expostulated in the following style: "I say, poys, you ought to be ashamed of yourself, to be making alt dis noise, ven dere vas a funeral here so soon!"

— Suicide is rapidly increasing in Paris, where the Morgue is too small to contain all the bodies found in the Seine. Statistics of the lunatic asylums show them to be overcrowded, and that their inmates have doubled in the course of the last year. An inquiry into this lamentable state of affairs has been established, and most of the mad doctors and savans attribute it to the strain of the political misfortunes which have afflicted France.

—Warrington has been interviewed, and some of his answers display an unexpected amount of worldly wisdom for such a sweet saint as the Apostle Timothy describes. For instance, when asked what he thought of the New Hampshire election, he replied that the meanest time of year for an election is the month of March. When roads are blocked with snow our men cannot vote in more than two towns before sundown.—Golden Age.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unanimous testimony of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

SLATE COATING.

Patented August, 1871.

In offering this article to the public, we supply a need which has long been felt. It is especially adapted to

Shingle and Tin Roofs, (Old or New.)

IT IS FIRE & WATER-PROOF AND PREVENTS DECAY.

Not affected by Heat or Cold; is durable and beautiful with colors permanently set, varying from a dark blue slate color to purple, and even higher shades, as fancy dictates. It will not wash or scale, and is Extremely Cheap.

Will stop and prevent Leaks; superior to any cement now in us. New Shingles covered with this article warranted for ten years, and for a Slate Coating over Shingles (Old or New) it has been found unequalled. It is also an excellent coating for School Black-Boards.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for those deformities, which has been received by him from multitudes of men and women. HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glose and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of this art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

MONDAY, APRIL 8, 1872.

Political.

The new legislature will probably redistrict the State for Senators. The districts have not been changed for seventeen years. The Constitution provides that the State shall be divided into twelve Senatorial districts as nearly equal as may be, without dividing towns, and in making this division the legislature must govern itself by the proportion of direct taxes paid by the districts.

There seems to be a general impression among the Republicans that Mr. Josiah H. Benton, Jr., is to be re-elected Clerk of the House next June, being entitled to it by faithful service for one term and by his valuable party services since.

The Deseret legislature met Friday for the election of United States Senators. The house elected William H. Hooper and Thomas Fitch. The senate elected Mr. Hooper, but did not succeed in making choice of a second Senator.

Full returns of the Rhode Island State election show a majority of 1176 for Padelford, republican candidate for governor, and 140 majority for Cutler, democratic and scup candidate for lieutenant-governor. Some scattering votes may possibly throw the election of lieutenant-governor into the Republican legislature. The remainder of the Republican State ticket has about 2100 majority.

THE PUBLIC DEBT STATEMENT from March 1, 1869, to March 1, 1872, shows that the principal of the debt has been reduced by the net amount of $289,807,695.11. In addition to this, the interest account has been reduced $630,855.74, and the cash in the Treasury has been increased $9,273,956 09, showing the decrease in the principal and interest of the debt and the increase in the cash to have been $299,712,506.94 The only actual increase of the debt is in the item of $678,000 4 per cent. certificates issued under an act of Congress in payment of a debt due Massachusetts on account of the war of 1812. Besides the above there are other items, regarding interest and the redemption of mutilated notes, the increase of cash in the Treasury, etc., which swell the foll amount of reduction to $306,199,415.58.

THE ROBESON INVESTIGATION has resulted in the discomfiture of Charles A. Dana, of the New York Sun, who has made the weakest case ever known in Congress. Even the few broken-down politicians who gave reluctant evidence to the wonderful stories told by Mr. Dana, are compelled to acknowledge the complete failure of the investigation.

The New Hampshire Conference elected Revs. J. Pike, C. J. Harrington, C. M. Dinsmore, and R. S. Stubbs, delegates to the General Conference Lay delegates elected Ex-Gov. N. C. Berry and H. W. Gilman.

BASE BALL.—The opening game of the Bostons on Fast Day seems to have been played under difficulties. The Advertiser says a liberal application of gravel and sawdust enabled the players to keep their heads above the surface, and by constantly shifting their positions they avoided sinking so deep as to require assistance in getting out. Whenever a safe hit was made or a fly muffed, the ball penetrated the mud so far that it was found necessary to station clam-diggers at convenient points in the field to extract it. Considering these little drawbacks the playing was remarkably good, while the navigation of the Reds excited the highest admiration. The attendance was very large, at least three thousand people being so anxious to see the game as to run the risk of catching their death-colds on those bare, hard boards. The game was began half an hour late, the only bridge for the passage of the players from the club-house to the layers of gravel being too fragile to hold more than one at a time; hence the delay. Some difficulty was experienced in getting an umpire, but finally "Moses" Chandler, who was discovered by Harry Wright sitting behind an extensive blue neck-tie in the crowd, consented to serve on condition that he should have a seaworthy raft to stand on.

Frank Rogers, one of the Bostons, opens the campaign cheerfully, with a broken finger.

PLEASANT NAVIGATION.—The following account of the loss of the American steamship Suwonada in the Haitan Straits on the 29th of January, conveys a vivid idea of the pleasures of navigating the Chinese seas: It seems that the ship struck upon a rock which appears upon no chart, and the existence even of the obstruction was not previously known, although the Suwonada was, at the time of the wreck, making her 206th trip between Hong Kong and Shanghai. Immediately after striking the rock the captain, Arthur H. Clark, set at work to run the ship on the spit to the south of Flag Island. It was early in the morning and the tide was coming in rapidly. Hardly had the Suwonada struck the spit when there appeared all around it boats to the number of fifty or sixty, with ten or twelve men in each After a consultation among them a deputation was sent alongside the steamship and the officers were informed that the men were pirates, who intended to board the ship for plunder.

Captain Clark suspected that it was desired that the wreck should be abandoned, so that those who took to the boats might be the more easily overcome. He took his precautions against this with admirable skill. The boats were lowered, provisioned and secured and the Chinese passengers and mails were put on board. A pivot gun was loaded, small arms and ammunition were distributed and everything was made ready for the conflict. Soon after the Chinese began to approach, shouting and branishing knives and spears. After a council of war it was determined to fire upon them. The large and small arms were managed so skillfully that in a short time the pirates were beaten off.

Soon after this the Ashuelot, of the United States navy, came in sight and rescued the officers, crew and passengers. It was then but four hours since the two vessels had passed each other in the Straits, and the Ashuelot had been providentially compelled to put back by reason of an injury to her jury-rudder. She was none too soon, for the Suwonada sank rapidly, and Captain Clark, who was the last to leave the ship, stepped into the boat from the port cat-head, which was then almost under water.

The Suwonada was built in 1863 and was used as a despatch boat by our government during the war. Since then until she was lost she had been in Chinese waters—one year on the route between Hong Kong and Singapore, and the last six years plying between Hong Kong and Shanghai. The property saved was disposed of in Foochow; and the ship's hull, engines, boilers and two hundred tons of coal, lying in twelve fathoms of water in Haitan straits, were sold for one dollar.

THE LOUDON FRAUD. — We learn from London that the Democratic Board of Selectmen have been obliged to admit the fraudulent election of second Representative from that town, inasmuch as they have on the face of their check-list the names of only 426 persons as legal voters, and upon its back the names of only 21 ratable polls, making only 447 in all. But the fact that only 337 votes were cast for Governor—little more than three fourths of the names on the check-list — shows that a gross fraud was intended, and we trust our friends there will not let the matter rest until it has been thoroughly investigated. The idea that in a little town like Loudon, 89 voters kept away from the polls, in as closely contested an election as our last one was, is preposterous; and we venture to say that of the 89 voters on the check-list who did not vote, at least 50, and probably more, are not residents of that town, and have not been for many years Had the Republicans failed to carry the State triumphantly, we have no doubt that enough names of ratable polls would have been placed on the back of the list to have given Doddridge Wheeler a show of right, and he would have claimed and held his seat in the House, in violation of the Constitution and the laws.—Concord Monitor.

THE TEMPERANCE PARTY.—The Laconia Democrat thus gives its opinion of the temperance party of this State:

The temperance party is a great and growing—lies party. This year it cast the immense number of 400 votes. A truly wonderful result when we consider the lies they made about it, the conventions held, the general flourish that was made. The truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, is, that those who have managed the party are dishonest and are in it for dishonest purposes. They are wolves in sheeps' clothing and their ears stick out through the stolen skin.

—The Harvard Advocate has received from an unknown writer a humorous poem of some two hundred lines, beginning—

> An elephant sat in a swallow's nest,
> Drinking a cup of tea;
> And watching a delicate hen, that sang
> Fr m the top of a neighboring tree.

He requests if it be too long for insertion to inform him whether or no we think the Atlantic would accept it. It is too long for us; and, as for the Atlantic, we have our doubts, but strongly advise him to tie it securely to half a brick, go down to the end of Long Wharf, and try.

SOUND AS A NUT.—The Travellers, of Hartford, in its January statement, shows cash assets of $1,919,891 48, with total liabilities of $1,242,961 11—bearing a net surplus over and above re-insurance fund and all outstanding claims, as regards policy-holders, of $675,931.37. The Travellers is doing a large and successful business in both its Life and Accident departments.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills.

BRONCHITIS —This is an irritation or inflammation of the bronchial tubes which carry the air we breathe into the lungs It arises from a cold settled in the throat, from Catarrh extending to these parts, from scrofulous affections, and from severe use of the voice. The irritation from this latter cause commences in the larynx and glotis, which are the organs of the voice, and, extending downwards, produces hoarseness, coughing, and spitting mucous matter, sometimes mixed with blood. It is chiefly dangerous from its tendency to spread into the lungs, and terminate in consumption. It is in the cure of severe cases of this distressing disease that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has achieved unparallelled success, and won the loudest praise from all who have used it. It is sold by all respectable Druggists. 584

THE HORSE AND HIS RIDER—I was a happy day for the Horse and his rider when the MUSTANG LINIMENT was introduced as a cure for the external diseases and injuries of both. In the stable, the barn and the household this wonderful emollient is equally useful If a horse is sprained or foundered, or harness-galled, or afflicted with any one of the many superficial ills that equine flesh is heir to, the Liniment effects a speedy cure, and it is equally efficacious when applied to draught oxen or cows suffering from outward swellings, strains, or hurts of any description. As an application for bruises, cuts, burns, rheumatism, stiff joints, sprains, neuralgia, ear ache and toothache, it takes precedence from all other topical remedies, and is therefore an article of prime necessity in families.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Plain Words for the People.

When broken down in health, strength and spirits it is not necessary that we should ask a medical man whether an invigorant is necessary. Common sense tells us that it is. The only question to be decided is, what the invigorant shall be. A standard tonic and restorative, which has been many years before the public, and in which millions of intelligent classes repose the fullest faith, can in a case like this, to present the strongest claim to the confidence of the prudent invalid. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be truly said to possess the only high recommendations. Its triumphant progress during a period of twenty years, its present popularity, and its unfailing success which attends its use in indigestion, nervous debility, biliary complaints, fever and ague, and all ailments which deprive the physical system and enervate the mind, entitle it to the rank of a standard national specific. It is regarded in that light by the community at large, and hundreds of thousands of both sexes resort to it at this season as a preventive of that numerous and harass-ing class of diseases which take their rise from the miasmatic winds and vapors of spring. It is a stimulant, a tonic, an alterative and a mild aperient—four essential restoratives and protective elements of the materia medica—united in a single agreeable preparation. Every ingredient is vegetable, of the finest quality, and absolutely pure. Hostetter's Bitters is better known, held in greater esteem, and commands a larger sale, than any other proprietary medicine manufactured in this country or imported from abroad.

Attention is invited to the advertisement of Moses H. Hussey of North Berwick, of some of the best and earliest varieties of seed potatoes and corn to be found in the market. He offers a new and very choice variety of sweet corn, "Moore's early," said to be the very earliest of the large varieties, and a rich succulent article. Friend Hussey is too well known to need an introduction.

THE WILD GEESE do not regard Dr. Ayer's wisdom in migrating north—such immense numbers of them as are flying over us now, while his almanac says: "Bleak and blustering about this time, with heavy snow." Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Times, March 3.

We were too fast last week in our item on the conflict between Dr. Ayer and the wild geese The Doctor's science beat their instinct this time. Not for years have we had such a snowstorm as that of last Sunday. The snow lies three feet deep on a level in Minnesota, and two feet in Wisconsin, while the storm has swept from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains. Snow fell to various depths as far south as Denver, Fort Union and Santa Fe. Learned as we believed Dr. Ayer in the arcana of nature, and wonderful as we knew his medicines to be, we were not prepared for so signal an instance of his superiority, not only over the wise men, but the wisest of animals whose instinct is considered unfailing. We drive up the peg, more firmly than ever, over our hearth for Ayer's American Almanac.—Cedar Rapids Times, March 10.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT -- Sore Legs Wounds, Ulcers, &c., can be cured The rational treatment as indicated by nature, is to reduce the local inflammation, soothe the neighboring nerves, cool the heated blood, and render the watery ichorous discharge consistent and healthy. Happily, Holloway's Ointment accomplishes these ends with unfailing certainty. 25 cents per box or pot.

Laconics.

The bill appropriating $190,000 prize money to pay the officers and crew of the Kearsarge for the destruction of the Alabama, has become a law.

Mr. Samuel Lamprey announces in our advertising columns the commencement of the Spring and Summer term of Dancing, April 17th. Mr. Lamprey is a painstaking teacher, very successful in imparting instruction in the graceful exercise.

One of our cotemporaries celebrated All Fools' Day by neatly pasting upon a March number of the DAILY CHRONICLE a conundrum which—though a success in its way,—we should hardly dare publish. The demand for copies of this paper for March 25th has been brisk since, and we judge that George successfully sold friend and foe.

The Zoe theatrical company performed "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," to a fair audience on Saturday evening, and gave a good entertainment. This evening they play "Nita, or Woman's Constancy."

The Knights Templar of Lawrence, Mass., are to visit this city early in June, as the guests of De Witt Clinton Commandery, and will be quartered at the Rockingham House.

The Harvard Boat Club are to visit this city and have a pull on the river on the 4th of July. This famous club will doubtless attract a great deal of attention.

The remains of the late Charles Woods, fifer at the Marine Barracks, were escorted from the Navy Yard on Saturday morning by a detachment of twenty-two marines, under command of Sergeant Walsh, as a guard of honor in depositing the deceased in the Proprietors' Tomb in the Cemetery at the South End. This is the second death at this Marine Station within the past week.

The Supt. School Committee of Rye, in his report for the past year, refers to the class of people who throw cold water on every project of improvement as "fossilized milestones upon the railway of intelligence, vainly endeavoring to stop the engine of progress, as it thunders along and knocks them right and left;" and he further says "the East District enjoys the unenviable distinction of having the meanest school-room in this or any other locality. A new school-house, or a grave-yard, will have to be provided immediately. No child can occupy the wall benches in a cold day, except at the imminent risk of life and health. In such a hovel, everything is cheerless and gloomy, and wears the aspect of degradation and decay. I do earnestly hope the citizens of the District will build a house worthy of the name, for the accommodation of their well-behaved and intelligent children."

A Travelled Coin.

The Vallejo, California, Independent says:—"About Sept., 1864, an American half dollar was lost in Portsmouth, N. H. One side of the coin was smooth and bore the following inscription: 'Presented to E. C. Fernald, A. L. D., by E. C. Gleason, Company K., 2d New Hampshire Regiment.' Mr. J. W. Jackson, our esteemed townsman, now with A. J. Murphy, about five years ago was cashier for a large lumber firm in Oregon, and among the pieces of coin there received was the identical half dollar above described. Since that time Mr. Jackson has been temporarily located in different portions of this State, Utah, Nevada and Montana and Washington Territory. Mr. Jackson parted with the half dollar at each place he visited, but somehow it was invariably returned to him in the way of business at the next place he arrived. Upon coming to Vallejo he brought the half dollar with him, but the grand finale proves that 'truth is stranger than fiction,' as, on last Sunday morning, at Mr. Rogers' saloon on the corner of Georgia and Santa Clara Streets, Messrs. Jackson and Fernald met accidentally — both are now residents of Vallejo — and the subject was mentioned by Mr. Jackson as being very singular—but, to his great astonishment, he found Mr. Fernald to be the owner of the interesting coin, and returned to him the identical half dollar he lost seven and a half years ago in Portsmouth, N. H. Mr. Fernald would not part with it for any consideration."

Capt. John Mason.

At a regular monthly meeting of the N. E. Historic-Genealogical Society Mr. Charles Wesley Tuttle read a paper on Captain John Mason, founder of the colony of New Hampshire. The history of Captain Mason had never been written, he said. The cause of this was not difficult to find; Mason was an Episcopal and a royalist, two things held in abhorrence in New England history. He would endeavor to give what he by research had been able to learn of Captain Mason's life. He was born in King's Lynn, or Lynn Regis, England, and was the only son of John and Isabella Mason. In his early life he was conspicuous in the navy and had command of a fleet to subdue a rebellion in the Hebrides.

In 1610 King James granted a patent to a company of merchants, and a colony was formed which settled along the shores of Conception Bay, Newfoundland, over which Mason was governor for six years. While there he made a survey of the island, which gave the first map which described the topographical features of an English possession in America with any degree of accuracy. He also wrote a fine description of the island, which was reprinted in Edinburgh a few years ago.

On March 9, 1622, the territory between the Naumkeag and Merrimac rivers was granted to Mason, and on the 10th of August, in the same year, the territory between the Merrimac and Kennebec rivers was granted to Captain Mason and Sir Ferdinand Gorges, to be called the province of Maine. This is what has always until the present time incorrectly been known as the Laconia grant. In the spring of 1623 a little colony was former at the mouth of the Piscataquis River. War shortly after broke out between England and Spain, and their attention was diverted from the colony until November 7, 1629, the territory between the Merrimack and Piscataquis River was granted to them under the name of New Hampshire, and on the 17th of the same month the lake region back to Lake Champlain was granted under the name of Laconia.

In June, 1612, Mason became a famous New England council, and in the following November he was elected vice-president. In 1635 the council decided to surrender its charter and divide its territory among its members. Mason received as his share the land lying between the Naumkeag and Piscataquis rivers, and also a piece of territory to the east of Kennebec, which he called Masonia. Mason was preparing to leave for New England, when, in the fall of 1635, he died and was buried in Westminster Abbey.

His will was dated November 20, 1635, and proved December 22. In it he remembers the poor of his birthplace, King's Lynn, and he left a thousand acres of land for the maintainance of a "preacher of God's Word" in New Hampshire, and also a thousand acres for the establishment of a free grammar school. Captain Mason was married, and his wife survived him twenty years, dying in 1655. He left but one child, Annie, who married Joseph Tufton. To one of her children, Robert Tufton, who afterwards took the name of Mason at the request of his grandfather, and who came to New Hampshire in 1680, New Hampshire is indebted for her independent existence for two hundred years. Robert Mason died in Kingston, New York, in 1688.

Seabrook.

Seabrook village was quite excited, Friday morning, over a reported breaking and entering case of the night before. It appears that some of the young men of the village "got on a lark," (the materials for making that ornithological experiment being at hand in any quantity, in the way of open bars, and after breathing out their spirituality in sundry and hideous hootings and howlings, at about 11 o'clock P. M. they felt the need of a fresh supply of the stimulus and in pursuit thereof sought entrance to the hotel. The inmates of the hotel told them they could not enter, but they did, though they had to burst the door in to do it. Two of the roysterers were promptly arrested, which closed the proceedings for that night, the arrested parties being allowed to retire on their promise to appear if called on to answer before the courts.

The Atlantic Cornet Band of South Seabrook gave a concert at Amesbury, Mass., on the evening of April 2, and the Villager says they "proved themselves to be good musicians." Our people think the Band a very creditable one.

At the District School meeting in South Seabrook, March 27, Mr. Chas. S. Dow was chosen Prudential Committee, and the Summer term was lengthened to five months instead of three as heretofore, the Winter term being cut down from four months to two. The school house is to be painted which will be a decided improvement. The meeting was quite orderly, owing to the presence of the police, although one man seemed pretty well overcome with the "ardent" and several times interrupted the meeting by his profanity and bad conduct. The meeting has been in past years very disorderly,—to so great an extent that some of the heaviest tax payers of the district have generally absented themselves from the meeting on account of the lawlessness of those attending; and the reign of good order is hailed by them with gladness. According to the School Register there were sixty children of the age required by law in the district, who did not attend school. *

BY REQUEST, Mrs. Manchester, the successful Clairvoyant Physician, will prolong her stay in Portsmouth until April 12th, and will positively leave then to fulfill an engagement in Great Falls, where she will remain ten days.

The Eye, Ear, Catarrh and Throat.

MRS. MANCHESTER

The Independent

CLAIRVOYANT,

—AND—

ELECTRIC PHYSICIAN,

Formerly from New York, but late of Portland, will arrive in Portsmouth, MARCH 28th, and can be found at the FRANKLIN HOUSE for ten days, Where she will treat all diseases flesh is heir to.

Price for Examination, $1.00.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

A Case of Blindness Cured.

MRS. MANCHESTER: This is to certify that I called upon you last October with a son of mine who had been Blind over a year; totally blind with one Eye and very nearly so with the other. I had had him treated by three Eminent Physicians, and also had taken him to the Eye Infirmary in Boston, but neither did him any good, and he still grew worse. MRS. MANCHESTER assured me she could cure him. I consented with her treatment, and at this time one Eye is perfectly well, and the other is gaining! I had given up all hope of his ever seeing again, but, by the help of God and Mrs. Manchester's skill, he is now able to work, which I am sure he never would if it had not been for her. Let all give her a trial, and by calling on me the boy can be seen by any one.

This is a true statement of the case.

JOHN MCCORMICK,
JOHN MCCORMICK, JR., Portsmouth.

This is to certify that Mrs. Manchester has doctored with my family for six years with more success. She has cured my wife of dropsy in its worst form; my daughter of spinal disease of five years' standing; a sister of deafness and catarrh; my father of blindness. And I would recommend her to the public as a skillful physician, and every way worthy of patronage.

JOHN HOBSON, Portland, Me.

One of the Greatest Cures on Record.

BANGOR, Sept. 28, 1870.

This is to certify that I have been sick for twenty-five years with liver complaint, as the physicians have all told me. I have been treated in New York and Bangor by a large number of Physicians, and found no relief until I called on Mrs. MANCHESTER a short time ago. She told me very readily what the trouble was—that I had abscesses and tumors. I have taken her medicines, and have had proof that what she told me was perfectly correct. If any one doubts this, let them call on me personally, and I will give them correct information in regard to my case. I want the sick and suffering to go and consult MRS. MANCHESTER, and not be discouraged by ignorant and faithless people, but have a mind of your own, and you will get relief.

m23 MRS. HENRIETTA PEABODY, Veazie.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

MARRIED IN THE CARS.—The Friday evening passenger train was two hours behind time, awaiting the arrival of the Sioux City train, which had been blocked in by the snow-drifts. When it did push out from Fort Dodge steam was put on for a quick trip to Dubuque. At Raymond, the first station this side of Waterloo, three persons got aboard the train—a young man and woman, and a tall, ministerial-looking gentleman, whose appearance did not belie his profession. He was a minister, and the train was not long on the way again before it was noticed by the passenger that the three were talking together. "Yes, yes," chimed out the young couple together above the rattle of car wheels, "we'll be married here." Then they stood up in the aisle of the passenger-coach, joined hands and were married. It appears that some parental gnome had obstructed their passage to matrimonial bliss at their home in the country, and they had arrived in Raymond but a short time previous to the arrival of the night train. When they hunted for a minister to tie them together they found the only gentleman of the profession in the village about to leave on the train. They did not find him at the depot in time to be married before the train started, and they got aboard with him to be married as we have related.—Dubuque (Iowa) Herald.

TU QUOQUE.—It is a favorite system with some to return abuse for abuse, and it they are charged with some peccadillo or other to retort upon their accuser with similar charges. For example: If the New York Times calls the Tribune a thief, the Tribune replies that the Times is a liar, and if the World pronounces the Sun a mercenary, the Sun rejoins that the World is a perjurer. If what the New York papers say of each other in this connection be true, the press of the metropolis is in a very unenviable condition. The Times accuses the Tribune of almost every crime in the calendar, and the latter retorts by proving the former mendacious, partisan and purchaseable. The World steps in and attacks both, whereupon the Herald stamps on all three. The Star flings mud at the whole party, and the Sun overwhelms the Star and every other paper with accusations of robbery, perjury, bribery, bigamy, arson and lying. Each brings reliable evidence to bolster up its charges, and all fill their sheets with it day after day, until nothing is left the bewildered public but to believe them all to be in a wofully bad condition and greatly in need of purification. We think if Mr. Dana of the Sun could be taken in hand by the sage of Chappaqua and softened down into a peaceful, conscientious and God fearing missionary, he might be turned loose among the savages in Printing House Square with a fair hope of converting them to a proper respect for the decencies of social life, and a praiseworthy regard for the proprieties of language. It is worth the trial.—Boston Globe.

A PERSEVERING DOVE.—The Boston Herald tells the following touching story: About a week ago a pair of doves, man and wife, after due deliberation, selected as a proper place for the hatching of a family a song corner under the eaves of a house at the West End. During pleasant days the husband was busily engaged in bringing sticks and straws with which to furnish an apartment in a manner suitable for the object they had in view. The lady dove remained at home during these days, and did not seem to agree with her lord in regard to the necessity of the expense of furnishing. She also busied herself otherwise, as was proved after the lapse of several days, when her interested watchers discovered that she was the mother of two eggs, which she contemplated with proud satisfaction.

On Sunday morning came the fierce northeasterly storm of snow, sleet and wind. It drove directly into the house of the doves, and surrounded the unfortunate female parent with ice. The gutter became filled with it, and still the fond mother stuck to her eggs. Occasionally during the forenoon the father would come around, apparently to examine the situation, and to advise his helpmeet whether to stick by the eggs or to leave them to the cold embrace of the ice. The mother set herself bravely to the task of protecting her eggs, and defied the storm. By noon the sleet had got even with her back, and was gradually burying her whole body beneath it. She stook her head every few minutes, thus preventing any permanent formation of the ice over her eyes. But at length it came too thick and fast, and nothing but the top of her head and bill could be seen above the snow. She was obliged to fly. Escaping from her ice-bound bed, she cast one look back upon her fond hopes and disappeared in the storm. Who knows what fond hopes were wrecked in those few hours, while the dove was bravely defying the pitiless storm?

—Generals Sheridan and Auger have been instructed to make extraordinary efforts to capture the Mexican raiders on the Texas frontier.

—Young Caplin, who is in the law school, gave his little sister an orange, but took the poor child's appetite entirely away by remarking as he did so—"I give you all and singular my estate and interest, right, title and claim, and advantage of and in that orange, with all its rind, skin, juice, pulp and pips, and all rights and advantages therein, with full power to bite, cut, suck or otherwise eat the said orange, or give the same away, with or without its rind, skin, juice, pulp and pips, anything hereinbefore, or in any other deed or deeds, or instruments of sweet meat or native sweet, to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding."

—An old lady hailed a passing omnibus, which pulled up at her call. "Good-bye, then, my dear," said she to a female friend who had accompanied her. "I'll write and tell you how I got on, directly I've got there. You've got my address, haven't you? No; why I thought I gave it to you. It's in this bag, I suppose, under my pocket handkerchief, and my keys, and my packet of sandwiches. Oh! I'll come to it directly. I'd better give it to you now, else, when I write, I may forget to send it. That's not it, is it? No, that's the prescription. There—there you are! And you won't forget to write? If you see Mrs. Brown, you must remember me kindly. She's a sweet woman, isn't she? And to think she should be married to such a brute! But that's the way of the world, all over. TESTIMONIALS. "I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents." "I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents." "Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. SLATE COATING, Patented August, 1871. In offering this article to the public, we supply a want which has long been felt. It is especially adapted to Shingle and Tin Roofs. (Old or New.) IT IS FIRE & WATER-PROOF AND PREVENTS DECAY. Not affected by Heat or Cold; is durable and beautiful, with colors permanently set, varying from a deep blue slate color to purple, and even lighter shades, as fancy dictates. It will not wash or scale, and is Extremely Cheap. Will stop and prevent Leaks; superior to any cement now in use. New Shingles covered with this article warranted to last fifty years and for a Slate Coating over Shingles (Old or New) it has been found unequalled. It is also an excellent coating for School Black-Boards. STATE, COUNTY & TOWN RIGHTS FOR SALE BY LANGLEY, CONANT & CO., PATENTEES AND PROPRIETORS, Office, 173 Washington Street, BOSTON. dag tf

Political.

Arkansas is likely to have two Republican State conventions, owing to a difficulty in the State committee.

The Deseret legislature has elected Thomas Fitch for the second United States Senator.

The Mississippi legislature has adjourned sine die. The appropriations were cut down to about $600,000 in the aggregate. The civil rights bill was passed, providing for the funding of the floating debt, and a tax levy sufficient to pay all current expenses and the railroad subsidy to the Mobile and Northwestern Railroad.

State News.

A company at Lynn, Mass., propose erecting a shoe-factory at Dover.

The stable of Mr. John T. Gibbs in Dover, was burned on Saturday morning. The L of his house was also damaged. Loss about $1000; insured $500.

The house of Mr. J. C. Holmes in Littleton was burned a few nights since. Loss about $500.

A post-mortem examination of the body of Charles H. Saunders of Concord, who was supposed to have died of spotted fever, proves that his disease was congestion of the brain.

THE MEXICAN REVOLUTION has completely broken down, but frightful anarchy prevails throughout the country. From Washington it is reported that the President will make the Mexican outrages on the Texan frontier the subject of a special message to Congress, and that a formal demand upon the Mexican government to promptly check and punish these outrages will soon be made, and if the demand is not complied with that our government will order troops across the Rio Grande to pursue and capture the bandits. The Texans, in presentments made by grand juries in the border counties, charge that the Mexican authorities are in full sympathy with the robbers, and the recent appointment of Cortinas as commander-in-chief of the Mexican troops on the Rio Grande is cited as justifying this charge, Cortinas having himself committed numerous murders and robberies in Texas, for which he now stands indicted.

MAINE ITEMS.—Bernard Little was sentenced to State Prison for life at Rockland on Saturday, for the murder of Charles A. White.

In the superior court at Portland on Saturday, C. Mahone recovered $2500 from the Grand Trunk Railroad Company for damages on account of ejectment from the cars by a conductor.

Biddeford is to have a new paper, called the Daily Evening Times.

Sheriff Perry of Portland has closed 254 liquor shops. There is intense feeling on the subject.

Judge Walton having refused the petition for a temporary injunction in the case of Inhabitants of South Berwick vs. Boston and Maine Railroad Company, it is understood that the several complainants will bring writs of entry against the corporation, and also a new bill of equity, thus beginning proceedings anew on a new basis.

SHIPPING AT BOSTON.—The list of arrivals at Boston on Saturday and Sunday is almost unprecedentedly long. On Saturday the arrivals numbered thirty-nine, on Sunday sixty six—total one hundred and five. These vessels were divided as follows:—steamships 9, ships 4, barques 8, brigs 15, schooners 69. Of the whole number 29 were arrivals from foreign ports, namely:—steamship 1, ships 3, barques 6, brigs 13, schooners 6. The Cunard steamer Palmyra, three ships and one barque are from Liverpool; two barques and three brigs are from South America; one barque is from Java; one brig from Africa; one barque from Messina; one barque, nine brigs and three schooners from the West Indies; and three schooners from the provinces.

FLASHED IN THE PAN.—At the Navy Department investigation on Saturday evening, Secretary Robeson produced several witnesses who testified in his behalf. Neither Dana nor his counsel were present, both having returned to New York, and it is understood that they have abandoned the prosecution of the charges. It is admitted on all hands that the investigation has broken down, and has accomplished nothing in the way of sustaining the charges of corruption made by Dana against the Secretary.

—General Barlow, adjutant-general of the State of Ohio during the war, died Sunday.

CONNECTICUT.—William Warner, keeper of the New Haven alms-house, was fatally assaulted on Wednesday last by a negro vagrant, and died on Sunday. The murderer escaped.

Mr. W. E. Boynton of Meriden has invented a lightning press which he claims is more practical and also cheaper than any other ever invented. The press will print 12,000 impressions an hour easily. An effort is being made to establish a company in Meriden for their manufacture.

TERRIBLE EARTHQUAKE.—Antioch, Syria, had an earthquake recently. One-half the city was destroyed and 1500 persons were killed. The river Orocontes rose and inundated the lower portion of the city.

GREELEY ON DOUGHNUTS.—The following is Mr. Greeley's celebrated letter on doughnuts, which was presented in the Pennsylvania Legislature a few days ago by the Committee on Agriculture, and is now attracting much attention among the farmers:

My Dear Sir:—Your favor of the 21st inst. is just received in reference to the admission of colored children into the public schools of your city, and containing a copy of your remarks at a meeting held by your colored citizens. I will forward your remarks to Washington, as requested, and think you need have no fears of removal. I am forming no opinion just now on the question, but think Mr. Sumner's bill will settle the whole matter. A great deal of my time the past season has been occupied in preparing a new and enlarged edition of "What I Know About Farming," a most excellent and serviceable book, which I think you ought to have. (I will send you a copy, postage prepaid, on receipt of price, $1 50.) As the season is advanced, and has kept me in the house a great deal, I have been trying to better the condition of our people by endeavoring to make improvements in cooking.

For some years I found that doughnuts lie too heavy on the stomach, which my physicians attribute to the fat in which they are fried. They tell me that a doughnut contains about eight times as much fat as is consistent with the dough-nut. To overcome this difficulty I have gone to considerable philosophical research. By using only one-eighth of the usual amount of fat for frying them, Mrs. Greeley assured me the doughnuts would burn. By using eight times as much flour, I would have eight times as many doughnuts as I wanted. I therefore determined to use eight times the usual quantity of sots. Mrs. G. mixed up the batter in the bread bowl; having made most exact proportions, I put in one pint of sots. The next morning, on entering the kitchen, we found that the batch of doughnuts had risen about ninety degrees above our highest expectations, and the tide was still rising. Mrs. G. heated the lard, while I tried to stir down the batter, but all to no use. I poured in some fat, but it spirted and crackled, and I was mortified to find my experiment a failure, as the doughnuts would not stick together. Too much sots in doughnuts is worse than Carl Schurz in a caucus.

But I was not dismayed. Education has done much for the human mind, and there is no reason in philosophy why it should not do as much for doughnuts. To preserve the tone of the doughnut without fat, I substituted alcohol for lard, but the consequence was that Mrs. G. and myself narrowly escaped with our lives. We only saved three doughnuts out of the batch, two of which we ate, and sent the third to Mr. Beecher. They were truly delicious, but they are too high priced, and the manufacture is attended with too much risk for this brand ever to become a popular diet. Those we made cost about seventy-five cents apiece.

Let me hear what your colored citizens are going to do with the School Board.

I hear that in your vicinity you raise a small fruit called pretzels, which are said to be very good when cooked. Please send me a few seed, and I will set them out in the Spring.

Yours, truly, HORACE GREELEY.

P. S.—When passing through Allentown lately, a boy came through the cars with cakes and a peculiar fruit called suits. I bought a few and set them out, but fear our climate is too severe for them. If you will send me a few healthy vines I would give them another trial in my green house.

—Mrs. Laura Fair's second trial takes place in San Francisco June 24.

—Seven members of the Japanese embassy sailed for Europe on Saturday.

—In New York, on Saturday, the Atlantics defeated the Concords at base ball, 38 to 4.

—The New York assembly has killed the bill prohibiting State aid to sectarian institutions.

—Rochefort and other French communist prisoners have been sent to the penal colony at New Caledonia.

—The number of ministerialists elected to the Spanish Cortes is 229; of coalitionists, 137, and doubtful, 18.

—There were three new cases of spotted fever in Newark, N. J., on Saturday, and several other cases in neighboring villages.

—The voluntary subscriptions of the French residents in Mexico towards the payment of the French war indemnity to Germany amount to $11,000,000.

—The spring begins of French from Canada has begun. Friday morning, there were fifteen cars from St. Albans to Essex Junction filled with them, bound for different places in the States.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. It possesses, in any direction, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Sore Legs, Wounds, Ulcers, &c., can be cured. The rational treatment as indicated by nature, is to reduce the local inflammation, soothe the heightened nerves, cool the heated blood, and render the water in the tortuous discharge consistent and healthy. Happily, Holloway's Ointment accomplishes these ends with unfailing certainty. 25 cents per box or pot.

THE WILD GEESE do not regard Dr Ayer's wisdom in migrating north—such immense numbers of them as are flying over us now, while his almanac says: "Bleak and blustering about this time, with heavy snow." Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Times, March 3.

We were too fast last week in our item on the conflict between Dr. Ayer and the wild geese. The Doctor's science beat their instinct this time. Not for years have we had such a snow-storm as that of last Sunday. The snow lies three feet deep on a level in Minnesota, and two feet in Wisconsin, while the storm has swept from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains. Snow fell to various depths as far south as Denver, Fort Union and Santa Fe. Learned as we believed Dr. Ayer in the arcana of nature, and wonderful as we knew his medicines to be, we were not prepared for so signal an instance of his superiority, not only over the wise men, but the wisest of animals whose instinct is considered unfailing. We drive up the peg, more firmly than ever, over our hearth for Ayer's American Almanac.—Cedar Rapids Times, March 10.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Price of Health,

Like that of liberty, is eternal vigilance. The vapor-laden air of spring exercises a depressing influence on the vital powers. The strongest feel this devitalizing effect; the weak are prostrated by it. Everybody is more or less debilitated at this season, and the feeble instinctively seek the help of medicine. Unfortunately, the "remedy" resorted to sometimes aggravates the mischief. Raw stimulants are eminently pernicious in such cases, and drastic cathartics about as bad. The vital principle needs succor and support, and a reinforcing preparation that will tone and renew, while it regulates and purifies the system, is the medicine that nature demands. All the medicinal elements required for such emergencies are combined in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. The purest and most efficacious vegetable elixir that the world has ever known. It is a mild stimulant, a powerful tonic, an unequalled appetizer, an absolute specific for diseased digestion, a wonderful nervine, a moderate cathartic, a remedy for liver complaints and periodic fevers, a cure for constipation, a specific for rheumatism, of essential use in all ailments to which the feeble sex are subject, and as a general household medicine unequalled and unapproached. These are the properties which have made Hostetter's Bitters famous everywhere. See to it, however, that you have the true article, for the land is infested with swarms of local bitters, made from condemned liquors and worthless drugs, which greedy wretches who speculate on human life recommend as panaceas for every ill that flesh is heir to. Beware of the charlatans and their poisons.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Capsicine, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, etc. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and much has been written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just such success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Corn Salve is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest Instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. TRACHER, WM. R PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. PREPSHER, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 705 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

A Fine Beach Hotel.

We are informed by men whose interest and business it is to know, that the beach travel this year promises to be larger than ever before, and that letters enquiring about terms or engaging accommodations for the season are being received by the managers of beach hotels and boarding houses in unusual numbers for so early a date. As the plans of many of the watering-place habitues are now being laid for the coming summer, we thus early call attention to what we consider the best beach hotel we know of for those who are willing to pay a fair price for superior accommodations, and who desire to enjoy all the incidental pleasures to be found at the beaches and islands with all the comforts and conveniences of a first-class city hotel. We allude to the Rockingham House in this city.

Hypercritics may object to our calling the Rockingham a beach hotel, on the absurd ground that there is no beach within several miles, in any direction; such we shall treat with the scorn they deserve,—and proceed to show, if we can, the advantages the Rockingham possesses over other beach hotels. In the first place, its finishing and furnishings are surpassed in beauty, richness and for comfort, by very few hotels in the country; a gentleman who has visited many of the most famous houses in the large cities of the Atlantic coast, (the editor of one of the brightest and most ably conducted papers in Maine, —copperhead, though, worst kind, more's the pity,) recently said in our hearing that in everything but size he considered the Rockingham superior to the famous Continental Hotel of Philadelphia or the Grand Central of New York city. Whether his opinion in this particular case is right or wrong—and that his opinion is wrong sometimes is shown by the frightful obliquity of his political faith—it is certain that no other beach hotel can compare with the Rockingham in point of commodiousness and the possession of all desired conveniences.

Lofty and spacious parlors and sleeping rooms, added to the elevated position of the house and the materials of which it is built, render it cool and comfortable during the hottest weather; the thousands who in years past dined at the Sagamore House at Frost's Point will need no other endorsement of the excellence of the Rockingham cuisine under the same management; and the views from the upper windows are extended and varied, taking in the city, the river, the Isles of Shoals and a wide extent of country inland. Within five minutes' walk of the depots of the Eastern and Concord & Portsmouth Railroads and not half so distant from two telegraph offices, patrons of the house are abundantly able to keep open their communications with the busy world or to reach it in a short time if so minded; while the location of the Rockingham, in the quiet centre of our ancient and beautiful city, enables its inmates to fancy themselves in a place which Yankee enterprise never invaded or from which it was long since expelled—no great stretch of fancy that, either.

If the Rockingham House does not stand on a beach or an island, or at a river's mouth, either one can be easily reached in an hour or two; a safe and commodious steamer runs to the Isles of Shoals during the season, in connection with the Appledore House of Laighton Brothers; York Beach, or the Marshall House at the mouth of York river, are within an easy afternoon's drive; a dozen or fourteen miles behind a fast horse over a good road will not pall the appetite for the scenery of Boar's Head or for a dinner at Dumas', nor will the aristocratic "hops" at the Ocean House at Rye Beach be less enjoyed from the consciousness that comfortable quarters await the hoppers, only nine miles away; and if the guest cares for none of these places, a boating party up the river will find scenery superior to that of many more widely known and more loudly praised localities; down the river, among the islands (when the tide serves right) are views equal to any on Lake George, the lively canner and the confiding sculpin await capture, and seasickness awaits excursionists who venture too far outside the smooth harbor; and a drive through Greenland and the Bay Side will show rustic views which for quiet beauty cannot easily be surpassed.

If any other "beach hotel" in this vicinity possesses all these advantages, we do not know of it. Rye and York beaches, York river and the Shoals all have and are fully entitled to the devotion of many pleasure-seekers; but for comfort-loving souls who dread the discomforts and narrow quarters of beach or island houses, yet who wish to "go somewhere to spend the season," the Rockingham House in this city is the place. In conclusion, we will state that we write this notice unsolicited and entirely on our own hook, looking neither for pecuniary nor political advantage therefrom, personally; but we are somewhat proud of the splendid hotel, and know that Messrs. Peirce and their efficient and courteous clerk, Mr. Morrill, spare no pains to secure the comfort and promote the pleasure of guests; and if we can be instrumental in soothing the harassed feelings of even one unhappy man who has been dreading "the season," by telling him how it can be "done" in the easiest way, we shall feel that we are on the road towards the happiness we so abundantly merit.

Naval Order.

The following order has been received at this Naval Station:—

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, March 21, 1872.

Hereafter the "full-dress uniform for occasions of special ceremony," "the full-dress uniform for general duty," and the "service dress and undress uniform" for Naval Constructors and Assistant Naval Constructors shall be the same respectively, with the same arrangement of lace and ornaments, as for the Officers of the Line with whom they hold rank, with the following exceptions, viz:

Sleeve Ornaments.—The stars shall be omitted, and dark violet cloth shall be worn around the sleeves between the strips of gold lace.

Shoulder Straps.—A sprig of two live-oak leaves and anacorn, embroidered in gold, (as per pattern in the Uniform Regulations of December 1, 1866,) shall be substitute for the anchor in the shoulder straps.

GEO. M. ROBESON,
Secretary of the Navy.

Old and New.

Dear Old Gazette:—I have been looking over your earliest files, of late, considerably, and find in your issue for March 3d, 1758, the following advertisement, which shows once again how history repeats itself:—

To be sold, John Leatch's Island, at Little Harbour, with a Dwelling House, Barn and Orchard which makes some years thirty odd barrels of cyder, and will winter and summer seven cows and ten sheep. There is also a good well and pond to water cattle, together with a large Thatch Bed. Enquire of Mrs. Damaris Wheelwright, of Portsmouth, and know further.

These same premises are now advertised in the same GAZETTE, for sale by auction, one hundred and fourteen years later than the above.

Yours ever and forever, F.

Complimentary Benefit.

Prof. G. W. Stone:—The undersigned, being satisfied that a repetition of the entertainment given by you last Friday evening would gratify hundreds of our citizens, and that your experiments are not only honorably and fairly conducted but valuable and interesting to all curious and scientific minds, hereby request that you give us one more entertainment on such evening as may suit your convenience. We also request that it be considered a complimentary benefit to yourself.

To Hon. Horton D. Walker, Hon. Frank Jones, Captain James S. Thornton, U. S. N., and others:—

Gentlemen:—In reply to the requisition with which you have honored me, I shall only be too happy to accept the compliment of a benefit under your patronage and repeat my experiments upon one more occasion before leaving your city, and will, if it is your pleasure, name Thursday evening next, April 11th, for the occasion. I beg Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen to express my sincere thanks for the compliment you have thus paid me; also the gratification afforded by having excited your interest in the science which I profess. I am, Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen,

Yours obediently, G. W. STONE.

Rockingham House, April 8th.

Writing in Schools.

Messrs. Editors:—I was much surprised as well as pained while reading the report of the action of the School Committee, to find that the services of the writing master had been dispensed with. Visiting the schools often and seeing the great improvement that has been made since this perfect system of penmanship was introduced, so much so, that the children are superior to the men of to-day with the pen, I really am astonished, that a course of study so beneficial should be thus summarily dealt with.

Not knowing why this has been done, I ask for information, which I know you will give if you can; and if that is impossible I trust some one who does know will post you up, as per request in Saturday's issue.

Several reasons suggest themselves for this unfortunate act, but the one which for charity's sake I am most willing to accept, is, that the Committee in their ignorance of school affairs, (many of whom visit the schools only at the examinations, I am informed,) voted on a subject of which they knew little and seemingly care less. Please excuse my style of hieroglyphics for I never had the advantage of the system of writing called SPENCERIAN.

Laconics.

Receiving ship Vandalia was towed from this Station to the Charlestown Navy Yard on Saturday.

Mrs. Livermore preached in the Universalist church on Sunday, forenoon and evening, as per previous announcement. In the evening the congregation was very large, the aisles being filled and a number of persons standing in the entry; and many of the later arrivals retired. The sermon was earnest and impressive.

James Treat, a young man about 17 years of age, was kicked in the face by a horse on Saturday afternoon, which loosened four of his lower front teeth and all the upper teeth back of the eye tooth on the left side, as well as part of the alveolar process. He was attended by Dr. Goodall, who removed the teeth and pieces of bone from the jaw and succeeded in replacing the front teeth. The great pain was pluckily borne by young Treat.

Prof. G. W. Stone has made many friends during his brief stay here, and they have tendered him another benefit night for a last exhibition of his wonderful powers. The evening selected is Thursday of this week, and we doubt not a large audience will be present. Several distinguished citizens have promised to become subjects for the Professor's manipulations, and the experiments will lose nothing in interest from that fact. Presents will be distributed to the audience in the usual manner.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING.—We have made great additions to our jobbing facilities—a mammoth Hand Press (the largest in Portsmouth,) new Display Type, Borders of various styles, &c. —and are prepared to execute with neatness and dispatch, all orders for FULL SHEET POSTERS, DATE SLIPS, PAMPHLETS, SERMONS, ADDRESSES, AUCTION BILLS, CONSTITUTIONS, BY LAWS, PROGRAMMES, CANOBILLS, CIRCULARS, ORDERS DANCES, BLANKS, BILL HEADS, RECEIPTS, TICKETS, BUSINESS, MARRIAGE, ADDRESS AND VISITING CARDS, LABELS, TAGS, and in fact PRINTING OF ANY DESCRIPTION, at SATISFACTORY PRICES. J. E. HAM & CO.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - $247.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of them are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

A PERSONAL CONTROVERSY. — Dr. Holland upon "Warrington." — Those who have commented on Mr. Hepworth's conversion to the evangelical view of Christ have praised or blamed according to their own views of the nature and needs of men. "Warrington," the well-known correspondent of the Springfield Republican, has spoken with his usual fulness upon the matter, though, of course, with that gentle forbearance which is his distinguishing characteristic. He only calls Mr. Hepworth "a humbug," when it would have been so easy to have called him a villain, or a scallawag, or an incendiary, and to have done it with no greater sacrifice of truth. But "Warrington" is unfitted by his nature and his needs to comprehend Mr. Hepworth's position. A man who does not need to be saved has no right to criticise one whose need is overwhelming. If Mr. Hepworth possessed "Warrington's" religious—nay, his angelic — temperament, his sweet and tender ways, his broad charity, his white innocence of soul, his exquisite delicacy of sensibility, his transcendent character; if his brow and his form had been impressed at birth with the insignia of saintliness and kingliness which enable "Warrington" to pre-eat so grand and gracious a front to mankind; if his life had been, like "Warrington's," an unbroken sacrifice for the public good; if he had labored single-handed like him for the delight, the comfort, the consolation, the purification and the spiritual up-building of his race; if, in short, he had, like "Warrington," "been sanctified in the womb" (to use the impressive phrase of our Puritan great-grandmothers) then he would have felt no need to be saved, either from the devil at whom good people throw inkstands, or the devil who throws his inkstand at good people.—Scribner's Monthly.

"Warrington" upon Dr. Holland.—It is just above ten years since I had my first collision with the doctor. He was then in the lofty annihilating way,—the political radicals who did believe in McClellan being his special abhorrence. I shall not soon forget the impressiveness with which he brought to my attention a note from Rev. F. D. Huntington (now a bishop), protesting against my calling McClellan a humbug, and the energy with which he called me to order on his own account. He was then in the daily habit of annihilating Charles Sumner. Dear me! those old McClellan and anti-Sumner days seem so far off, but the doctor has not forgotten them. Ten to one he thinks now, as in 1862, that McClellan would have saved the country if he had been allowed to have his own way without interference; that emancipation and the arming of negroes was a sad mistake, and that Sumner is a self-conceited egotist, who would be all the better and abler if he would leave the study of Burke and Grotius and take a course of the doctor's own writings. However, I have had no personal difficulty with Holland since those days. * * * * Holland's special quarrel with me seems to be my all opinion of Hepworth. He represents Hepworth as saying to himself that he can and be "saved" by any man, however living; whoever saves him must be more than man. I dare say. But why should he be "saved" at all? This is the most offensive thing about men of the Hepworth and Holland type, that they think themselves of sufficient consequence to be "saved." Men who think all they need is to be "led and taught," are the objects of their wonder. They must be "saved." Holland says he and his Orthodox friends believe their nature to be "depraved;" they understand that they are "lost" and must be saved by "A Jesus Christ armed with divine power." This is mere conceit—the pride that apes humility. I have heard of a bank cashier who, when a clerk (in charge of the bank) was shot; he felt that the Lord had come very near to him, sparing him by special interposition, and telling a youngster who was probably worth a dozen of him. So the devoutness of a great many of these men of the Holland and Hepworth style is mere conceit. When I to say Holland is a "depraved" man, he would be angry; he uses the word only because it is traditional and because it gives him an excuse for believing that the Almighty, even before Abraham was, devised a scheme of salvation for him and the like of him. This gratifies his vanity, but that is no argument for the truth of Orthodoxy.

The idea that the Almighty, maker of this world and ten million worlds as big as this, had a scheme by which Jesus was crucified for the salvation of such men as Holland and Hepworth is not ridiculous but monstrous. If I were to venture to advise Holland, I should say to him that he had better not only free his mind of cant, but his head of conceit, and if then he feels the less need of being saved he will be much more worth saving than he is now.—Springfield Republican.

—A resident of a Georgia town attended a camp-meeting recently. The first day he "got religious;" the second the officiating clergyman preached powerfully from the text, "if thy right hand offend thee cut it off and cast it from thee." The new convert was only too ready to make a sacrifice for his faith. On his right foot were three immense corns, which ached day and night. It was a clear case, and a deftly applied razor relieved him of the offending member at once. He was found half dead from the loss of blood, and if he recovers, will be a cripple for life.

—The New York yachts Sappho and Dauntless are ready for their once in trip to Cowes, and will sail on the 15th inst. It is reported that five other yachts will join them in June, and the whole fleet will make a trip to St. Petersburg.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and so pleasant to be hold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you were disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most sublime disciples, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures per omnad and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The April number, besides the usual amount of reading matter of especial interest to musical people, contains "Watchwords," "The Hammer Son.," "Look, My Birdie, Look" and "Savior Breathe," all by Geo. F. Root; "One Little Lock of Hair," by Miller; and the "Venetian Boatmen's Song" by Bach.

—Dr. Joseph Woodhull, the husband of Victoria Woodhull, died suddenly on Sunday night.

—A New Haven parrot barks so near like a dog that every cat in the neighborhood has grown prematurely gray.

—A Connecticut man is engaged in working up a saw-log thirty feet long into a fife for Gilmore's jubilee. It will be blowed by nitro-glycerine, says the Norwich Bulletin, and that paper is authority on all such subjects.

—One evening, in company, during conversation, a gentleman quoted the expression that "Man proposes and God disposes." "Yes," said a maid-n present, "a man proposed to me once, I said no, and have never seen him since, so I thought somebody had disposed of him."

Too Good To Keep.—The Yreka Union of March 23d, relates this incident. We heard a bon mot of a little six-year-old in this city yesterday that will bear putting in type. Her mother sent her and her little sister along with their grand parents to Mrs Carroll's concert on Tuesday, and gave them a half dollar apiece to pay for their admission. On arriving at the door Charley Barcelaux, who acted as cashier, took pay from the grand parents of the children and passed the youngsters in free. After they had arrived home Nelly laid her four bits on the table and said: "Mamma, there's your half dollar back; nobody passed around the plate."

"John" Goes from St. Louis to Chicago.—When I left St. Louis I left an ice place—a good place for slippers. It is pleasanter walking on streets paved with banana skins than on walks when the ice is on 'em.

I rode a ride in a car in St. Louis. The driver was exercising himself beating two lovely subjects to start an anatomical museum with, and I observed to him, "What makes you whip those animals so much? It sounds like beating carpets?" With a sicksmile he gazed into the mirrors of my soul and exclaimed, "They are car-peti."

This Westward Ho country is getting hoed all over. It is the most prolific country I ever saw. Early in the season as it is, the tables all have butter cups on 'em. The Mississippi river has been plowed by steamboats, and it is full of currents. It is dangerous in St. Louis to name a boy Edward, because the eddies get into the Mississippi river.

They raise vast, incomprehensible, and impregnable quantities of barley corn in this section, and 13-12ths of the citizens get barley corned every Saturday night, and Sunday morning fetches the rest of 'em.

On the cars after leaving St. Louis, I conversed with a female Westward ho! I addressed her as Miss Ho. Says she, in accents sweet as the dying notes of a sea-sick bull-frog, "Call me Miss Nancy." Nancy is a lovely name, so romantic, so touchingly suggestive. I love that name, and if I had thirty-one children, I don't care a cent if they were all boys, I'd name 'em all Nancy. Like Kings, I'd call 'em Nancy one eye, Nancy two eyes, Nancy IX, and Nancy XI, and if they didn't come when I called 'em, I'd whale 'em.

Miss Nancy informed me she had the statistics. "Goodness gracious," I exclaimed, "are they catching?" She said they were not; but she had the figures to show the quantity of grain raised in Illinois; and before we stopped chatting I found out that there was enough raised to make all the people in that section well-bred, and to make all the girls grow-grain silks.

From St. Louis to Chicago the road runs through the worst country for docks eye ever saw. It is one per cent. flatter than a flat pan-cake, with great big fields called prairies. These fields are so large that sunrise is used for a red fence on one side, and sunset is used for a red fence on the other side. The farmers drive their cows home with locomotives, and for this purpose every locomotive in the West has a cowcatcher ahead of it.

I got acquainted on the train with a relative of Mary Blain. It was chilblains, and I still keep up the acquaintance. We are now getting to some place; the engineer has stuck his spurs into his steam horse, and he is yelling like thunder, when up steps the conductor to an old lady, and says "Chicago, madam." "Do tell!" says she; and after asking her if do tell was any relation of Wm. Tell, I stepped ashore and was in Chicago.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10, 1872.

Political.

Mr. Belmont, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, has called a meeting of that body at his house in New York on the 8th of May, to appoint a day for the meeting of the National Democratic Convention.

Governor Reed of Fl rida has issued a proclamation claiming that the action of the senate in adjourning without giving him a trial operated as his discharge and acquittal from the charges preferred against him. He further claims his authority and power and commands full obedience from the people.

It is understood that the national Democratic committee will meet in Washington about the 25th instant, in order to adopt measures to secure the immediate thorough organization of the Democratic party for the presidential campaign.

The editor of the Sun again declares for Greeley for the Presidency. The editor of the Sun is getting arrested frequently of late. He remembers Mr. Greeley's weakness. He bailed Jeff Davis. He may bail a greater scalawag. The editor of the Sun is therefore in favor of Greeley for President.—Chicago Post.

THE KU-KLUX. — Parties from the South have given singular information to the New York Times concerning the hopes and plans of the Ku-Klux, which they declare is the simple truth. They say that the order is yet thoroughly organized and determined to secure the electoral votes of the late slave States for the Democratic candidate for President, confident that with the supremacy of the Democracy the situation of the Constitution and the Union as before the war will come. They propose to practice intimidation and those frauds on the ballot-box which they have learned from their Tammany allies in the North to secure this, and their hopes have been strengthened with the past few weeks by the reports from the North that the Cincinnati movement has so weakened the Republican party that the repeal of the Ku-Klux law can be ultimately secured. The Times' informants state that they heard in the dens of the orders some of the bolder spirits demonstrating how easy it would be for the Ku-Klux to seize the government by force. "We are all sworo," say they, "to obey all orders of the grand cyclops without a question or hesitation. Now, suppose 50,000 of us should get orders to go singly to Washington, each armed with a pistol and knives; being all there, suppose we should be ordered to do certain things at a certain signal, who would prevent us seizing the whole thing?" The absurdity of these dreams is not apparent to the Klan. These informants assert that the repeal of the Ku-Klux law would be instantly followed by an outbreak of that savagery in the South which is for the present suppressed by that law alone. The men of the Ku-Klux themselves say as much.

REV. GEO. H. HEPWORTH of New York preached in the Park Street church in Boston, Sunday, to a full house. His text was, "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world;" and his discourse was doctrinal.

THE FRENCH ARMS FIASCO.—At the Senate French arms investigation, Monday, a letter was received denying, upon the authority of M. de Remusat, that the French assembly had adopted a resolution inquiring in regard to the conduct of the United States officers, or that it had addressed a request for an investigation by our government.

PROTECTION OF SHIPPING.—The bill to protect the shipping on the Atlantic coast, introduced into the House, provides for an appropriation of two hundred thousand dollars for a submarine telegraph cable from the coast three hundred miles to the east of Nantucket, to a storm and relief ship connected at its end; through which notice of all easterly gales may be signalled to the seaports and capes several hours or a whole day in advance of the arrival of the storm. The ship is to be a steamer of suitable size, with life-boats, lights, etc.

SENSATIONAL.—A despatch from London states that there is a report current there that Queen Victoria, at the interview with the Prince Imperial of Prussia at Baden last week, arranged for her abdication of the throne of England in favor of the Prince of Wales.

HEAVY STORMS at the South and West have caused floods, which have carried away numerous bridges and done much other damage.

State News.

On the evening of the 4th, in Keene, a party of four young roughs attempted to garrote Mr. A. H. Freeman, a merchant, on his way home. Mr. F. fought vigorously, and help arrived in time to save him.

The ladies of Whitefield have bought four acres of land for cemetery purposes, and paid $800 for it.

The Belknap Mills at Laconia have made in the past year 2,600,000 yards of flannel, &c., and in that time $144,000 has been paid the employes.

Wolfeboro' had an earthquake shock Sunday morning and another on Monday. Neither was heavy enough to shake the bottom out.

THE RESULT OF A SHAKE.—The Boston Globe's San Francisco correspondent tells the following incident of the recent earthquake in one of the cities of California:—

One of the most amusing and dramatic tableaux was enacted at one of our principal hotels. Scene—the hotel elevator. Characters—a young lady and gentleman, both in a costume approaching that so popular in the garden of Eden. Both parties had been awakened by the shock and, being old settlers, immediately divined the cause. They had both sprung from bed and both by a strange fatality had taken refuge in the elevator. As soon as the excitement consequent upon such an unlooked-for event had cooled down, our inhabitants of the elevator began to realize their awkward situation. Each sat looking at the other, fearful of speech and still more fearful of discovery by a group of young fellows who had gathered in the hall way near the door of the elevator and were engaged in a humorous discussion of the incidents of the "shake." March nights are not over sultry in California, and their sharpness becomes doubly apparent when on one is en dishabille in an inhospitable hotel elevator. While the young men joked, the pair in the elevator chattered and mentally deplored their fates. All things have an end, and so did the misery of our innocents. The group in the hall dispersed, and when all became quiet out rushed our youth and following him our maid. Both started for their separate rooms and both met "boots," who was on his morning round. They passed on and in the morning he circulated the report so extensively that the young lady's pa was forced to accede to her request to go "to the springs for the season."

— One sighs to be a pig when reading the following description of the Bergh Hog Palace Car: When the swine wish to slumber they blow a whistle made from the tail of a brother who has gone before, the conductors enter and conduct them to a hot Russian bath in the rear end of the car, after which they are rubbed down with rough towels, a lunch of old boots and ice-cream is furnished. Not a squeal is ever heard on these cars, nothing but grunts of satisfaction, and a skilled musician puts to from eighteen to twenty-four hours a day, playing on a cottage organ, and singing such ballads as the "Ham Fat Man," "The Watch on the Rhine," "When the Pigs Come Home," etc. In fact, life is one perpetual holiday on the hog trains until they arrive within a few miles of Jersey City, when the train is stopped, a steam fire engine throws a stream of chloroform into each car, and the inmates sink into a slumber from which they do not awaken in this world of trichinæ, butcher-knives, smoked ham, head cheese and death.

—Now that "safety oils" have begun to blow up their vendors, as a can of "non-explosive gasoline" did in Indiana the other day, there is room to hope for some little attention to common safety in their preparation. At present most of the safety oils have only one advantage over gunpowder as destructive agents, which is that gunpowder is so clumsily contrived as to require contact with fire before it will do its work, while any reasonable proximity to flames serves the purpose of these oils; but if the manufacturers are unmolested they will doubtless bring their preparations in due time to a degree of dangerous perfection which shall so far surpass the "villainous saltpeter" as to leave no room for comparison.

—A man at Hamilton, O., recently hoaxed his jealous wife by cutting out of paper an ingenious arrangement of a man and woman whose lips approached a proximity not ordinarily recognized outside of the family circle. This article was placed before the gas-light, and the shadow fell clear and distinct on the curtain of a window as the green-eyed wife returned home from calling on a neighbor. Fancy her feelings as she rushed into that room with uplifted broom and found her husband alone with thumb upon his nose in an expressive manner.

— The Danbury News, with little reverence, says that a baggage master in that town is recovering from an injury lately received, and adds: "He was so much better this morning as to be able to put his feet through several bandboxes, and the doctor thinks that in a few days he can try a few light valises, and perhaps one or two dressing cases that have been started a little with an axe. But it will be some time before he can hope to face a full grown trunk."

—A High-Church ritualist near Boston ordered a richly embroidered clerical dress to be made in another city, as an Easter present to his rector, the work to be marked "C O D," and forwarded when completed. The vestment was delivered as directed, but judge of the horror of the donor at finding the business rabdalistics elegantly worked into the ecclesiastical vestment.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are now in the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine, Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. — Sore Legs, Wounds, Ulcers, &c., can be cured. The rational treatment as indicated by nature, is to reduce the local inflammation, soothe the neighboring nerves, cool the heated blood, and render the watery ichorous discharge consistent and healthy. Happily, Holloway's Ointment accomplishes these ends with unfailing certainty. 25 cents per box or pot.

THE WILD GEESE do not regard Dr Ayer's wisdom in migrating north—such immense numbers of them are flying over us now, while his almanac says: "Bleak and blustering about this time, with heavy snow." Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Times, March 3.

We were too fast last week in our item on the conflict between Dr. Ayer and the wild geese. The Doctor's science beat their instinct this time. Not for years have we had such a snow-storm as that of last Sunday. The snow lies three feet deep on a level in Minnesota, and two feet in Wisconsin, while the storm has swept from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains. Snow fell to various depths as far south as Denver, Fort Union and Santa Fe. Learned as we believed Dr. Ayer in the arcana of nature, and wonderful as we know his medicines to be, we were not prepared for so signal an instance of his superiority, not only over the wise men, but the wisest of animals whose instinct is considered unfailing. We drive up the peg, more firmly than ever, our heart for Ayer's American Almanac.—Cedar Rapids Times, March 10.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Price of Health,

Like that of liberty, is eternal vigilance. The vapor-laden air of spring exercises a depressing influence on the vital powers. The strongest feel this devitalizing effect; the weak are prostrated by it. Everybody is more or less debilitated at this season, and the feeble instinctively seek the help of medicine. Unfortunately, the "remedy" resorted to sometimes aggravates the mischief. Raw stimulants are eminently pernicious in such cases, and drastic cathartics about as bad. The vital principle needs nurse and support, and a reinforcing preparation that will tone and rouse, while it regulates and purifies the system, is the medicine that nature demands. All the medicinal elements required for such emergencies are combined in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the purest and most efficacious vegetable elixir that the world has ever known. It is a mild stimulant, a powerful tonic, an unequalled appetizer, an absolute specific for disordered digestion, a tonic for nervous, a moderate cathartic, a remedy for liver complaints and periodic fevers, a cure for constipation, a specific for rheumatism, of essential use in all ailments to which the feeble sex are subject, and as a general household medicine unequalled and unapproached. These are the properties which have made Hostetter's Bitters famous everywhere. See to it, however, that you have the true article, as many are deceived with swarms of local bitters, made from condemned liquors and worthless drugs, which greedy wretches who speculate on human life recommend as panaceas for every ill that flesh is heir to. Beware of the charlatans and their poisons.

SKIN DISEASES.

PERRY'S IMPROVED COMEDONE AND PIMPLE REMEDY. The Skin Medicine of the Age. Is warranted to cure FLESH WORMS, PIMPLES eruptions and BLOTCHED disfigurations of the face. Sold by all Druggists. Depot 49 Bond St., New York.

For Moth Patches, Freckles,

AND TAN, USE PERRY'S MOTH AND FRECKLE LOTION. The well known reliable and harmless remedy for Brown Discolorations of the face. Prepared only by Dr. B. C. PERRY Dermatologist, 49 Bond St. New York. 8-3d by Druggists everywhere. 8 W M & Su m23

HATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 8 BOND STREET, N.Y.

THE HORSE AND HIS RIDER.—It was a happy day for the Horse and his rider when the MUSTANG LINIMENT was introduced as a cure for the external diseases and injuries of both. In the stable, the barn and the household this wonderful emollient is equally useful. If a horse is spavined, or foundered, or harness-galled, or afflicted with any other of the many superficial ills that equine flesh is heir to, the Liniment effects a speedy cure, and it is equally efficacious when applied to draught oxen or cows suffering from outward swellings, strains, or hurts of any description. As an application for bruises, cuts, burns, rheumatism, stiff joints, sprains, neuralgia, earache and toothache, it takes precedence from all other topical remedies, and is therefore an article of prime necessity in families.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING.—We have made great additions to our jobbing facilities—a magnificent Hand Press (the largest in Portsmouth,) new Display Type, Borders of various styles, &c.—and are prepared to execute with neatness and dispatch, all orders for FULL SHEET POSTERS, DATESLIPS, PAMPHLETS, SERMONS, ADDRESSES, AUCTION BILLS, CONSTITUTIONS, BY LAWS, PROGRAMMES, HANDBILLS, CIRCULARS, ORDERS, DANCES, CLASSES, BILL HEADS, RECEIPTS, TICKETS, BUSINESS, MARRIAGE, ADDRESS AND VISITING CARDS, LABELS, TAGS, and in fact PRINTING OF ANY DESCRIPTION, at SATISFACTORY PRICES. Orders received by mail, express, or at the CHRONICLE OFFICE will be promptly filled.

Writing in Schools.

Messrs. Editors:—In the Chronicle of Tuesday "Spencerian" asks you to inform him why the services of the writing master have been dispensed with? and as you may not know all the circumstances which have brought about such a result, I thought it proper to put before the enquirer a few facts which entered into the consideration of that subject. It is shown by the report of the committee that we have several teachers in our primary department who are spending their time and strength for the benefit of our children for the pittance of from $250 to $300 per year, and the committee have thought best to raise these salaries rather than continue the special teaching of writing. This reason alone is more than sufficient, but there are others. If a teacher of penmanship is to be employed, all our schools should receive the benefit of his instruction, but Spencerian will find four that have not been visited at all,—and in those which have had the benefit of his instruction, the lessons of one hour each do not average more than three to the month, which is hardly time enough to devote to so important a branch of study. And finally, it was not supposed that the employment of such teacher was intended to be permanent, but only to introduce the system of writing known as the "Spencerian system," with the idea that our teachers would take up the system and if thought best continue it. Two years have passed, and we think our teachers competent, and have no doubt that in the very frequent visits which we hope "Spencerian" will continue to make to our schools, he will find the "great improvement" maintained and continued. Although he thinks the study of writing has been "summarily dealt with," he will also find among our teachers some whose penmanship fully equals that of our late writing teacher. Hoping that the action of the school committee will prove to be for the best interest of our schools,

I remain, E. PLURIBUS UNUM.

Laconics.

Professor Stone's complimentary benefit at the Temple to-morrow (Thursday) evening, bids fair to call out an even larger audience than any which has yet attended to witness his wonderful and most amusing experiments in electro-biology. The Professor conducts his experiments in a gentlemanly and pleasing manner, and the numerous and valuable gifts distributed are awarded in a way to preclude any suspicion of unfairness. Several of the prominent gentlemen who signed their names to the note tendering Prof. Stone a benefit, will appear on the stage as subjects for experiment, and we anticipate not only a very large but a very select audience. The Naval Band will furnish some of the excellent music for which they are justly famed. A list of the principle gifts to be distributed may be found in another column. Tickets now for sale at Preston's; go and buy a couple.

Miss Vinnie H. Maynard, assisted by the famous Temple Quartette of Boston and other talent, will give a grand vocal concert at the Temple in this city on the evening of April 16. Miss Maynard has won many earnest friends in Portsmouth, and the feast of harmony offered will doubtless be partaken of by a large percentage of our citizens.

It gives us pleasure to learn that Rev. A. J. Patterson, formerly of this city and now pastor of the Universalist Society at Boston Highlands, who, in consequence of ill health, was two months ago given a six months' leave of absence, is much improved in health, and feels confident of a speedy and permanent recovery, although his lungs are yet too weak for use in public speaking. On Tuesday Mr. Patterson, accompained by his wife, started for southern Nebraska, where he proposes to spend three or four months in completing the restoration of his health.

LIBEL AGAINST INFANTS.—Some time since the editors of the Berlin Journal were sued for libel. That paper thus explains how the thing has turned out:—

Our Libel Suit.—Almost every day since the recent adjournment of court, somebody asks us "how the libel suit of Mrs. Allen vs. the Journal 'came out.'" We are getting sick of answering questions, and beg leave to say here that it hasn't "come out." The lying, slandering, reputation-ruining editors of this paper are both infants, which is to say, minors, that is, under age, in other words, never voted—well, in short, the oldest of us was born early (about 4 A. M., we believe) in the year '51, in the present century. The law reposes no confidence in minors, but requires that they shall have a guardian. Expectant, probably, of recovering a large judgment against us, and knowing it would not be collectable against us, the plaintiff's attorney summoned us before one of your city justices and had a guardian appointed. Shortly before court convened this able attorney discovered that the said city justice had no jurisdiction to get up guardians to order for little boys like us, and it was too late to go to work and deal over again, and there wasn't no fun in trying the case without a god-father for us, because we are not responsible parties, being infants. Consequently the thing slid by this term of court.

—We are in despair about Mexico. Not that we think the turbulent republic on our Southern border in any worse way than usual. That would hardly be possible. But we despair of ever making anything out of the news from that country. Sometimes a despatch comes, telling us of the all but complete overthrow of the Juarez government, followed, two or three days later, by another giving all the details of the government's success in stamping out the revolution. At other times two dispatches, flatly contradicting each other, come in the same day, and sometimes the two rival statements form consecutive paragraphs in one and the same dispatch. In whatever order they come, there are always two of these statements, and they always contradict each other hopelessly. Just now we have news from the City of Mexico that the revolution is badly beaten, and that the work of finishing it will occupy the government troops for a brief time, while from Washington comes the news that General McCook, commanding troops in Texas, has informed our War Department that the Mexican revolution is so formidable as to make its success in overthrowing the Juarists almost certain. This arrangement is a convenient one at any rate, as it enables everybody to choose the news best suited to his feelings.—Hearth and Home.

—A Scranton despatch states that Edward Sullivan was fatally and three others seriously burned by the explosion of fire-damp in the Pine Brook coal mine on Friday.

—About 1600 immigrants from Alsace and Lorraine arrived in New York during last week. All are destined for the West, and all are in apparent good circumstances.

—It is reported that an expedition, made up in Honolulu, sailed for the Arctic regions to secure everything valuable left of the American whaling fleet wrecked last year.

—One of the latest sensation stories commences with the casual remark: "Did you ever gentle reader, have a tussle with a full-grown Bengal tiger?" We did, and if the king had turned, as we betted it would, we'd have come out $35 ahead.—Chicago Post.

—A Cleveland man claims to have invented a sheet-iron cat with clock-work inside, which, placed upon a roof-shed utters cat calls that bring to its treacherous arms the female denizens of a whole ward. It mows them away with fearful rapidity and in the morning is completely hidden by a moraine of pulled hair, claws and fiddle-strings.

MRS MANCHESTER, the celebrated Physician, is still at the Franklin House, and will remain until Friday morning, April 12. She will then go to Great Falls, where she will remain for ten days only.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so constantly successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Bunions, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAYFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6.7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

A FATED CITY.—Once more the famous city of Antioch is reported to be destroyed. Of all the great cities of the earth there has, perhaps, never been one that has suffered a greater variety of terrible visitations than this fated city. For two thousand years and more it has been the victim of earthquake, fire, sword, and famine. Antioch was built by Seleucus Nicator three hundred years before Christ, and named in memory of his father, Antiochus. Fifteen other cities, also built by the founder of the Syrian monarchy, received the same name, but this one, on the banks of the Orontes, was the most magnificent and beautiful of them all. It became very populous and wealthy, and its inhabitants were highly intellectual, but also luxurious—studious and frivolous, refined and witty, but licentious and superstitious. Antioch was the Paris of the time. Pliny called it the "Queen of the East," and for several centuries it deserved the name. In the time of Chrysostom, a native of Antioch, in the fourth century, it contained a population of 200,000, one-half of whom were Christians, belonging to the church founded there soon after the martyrdom of Stephen.

But the hard fortune of Antioch had begun long before. The Jews, under Jonathan, one of the Maccabees, made war against Syria about a century and a half before the Christian era, and 100,000 of the people of Antioch perished. In A. D., 115, while the Roman Emperor Trajan was on a visit to this Asiatic city, it was shaken by the first of the terrible series of earthquakes, and almost totally ruined. The Emperor himself was injured, among thousands of others; but he exerted his influence, and himself contributed liberally to its restoration, and it was rebuilt in its ancient splendor. Only forty years afterward it was destroyed by fire, but was a second time rebuilt by Antoninus Pius. Having suffered considerably in the wars between the declining power of the Roman empire and that of Persia, it fell a victim to three successive famines in the fourth century. The first of these happened in the year 331, and was so terrible that a bushel of wheat was sold for four hundred pieces of silver. The second was in the reign of Julian,—but a few years later,—and the third was in the reign of Theodosius, who sat on the throne of the eastern provinces from A. D., 364 to 395. The last named emperor waged war against Antioch, and punished it severely for having resisted his extraordinary demands for tribute. Then came another series of earthquakes. In A. D., 458, again in 526, and in 587, the city was almost shaken to pieces. The second of these earthquakes, that of A. D., 526, was the most disastrous of which history has preserved any record. Thousands upon thousands of strangers had flocked to Antioch to be present at the feast of the Ascension. The whole city was suddenly shaken, the buildings were thrown down, and it is estimated that a quarter of a million of people were killed in the general ruin.

Notwithstanding these terrible calamities Antioch retained its position as an important city until it was taken by the Saracens in 638, having been previously captured by the Persians in 540. The hard fate of Antioch still pursued it after these two sieges. The Eastern Empire recovered it in 996, and lost it again in 1086. The Crusaders took it in 1098, and held it until 1268, when Bibaro, Sultan of Egypt, captured it, and extinguished its last pretension to be regarded as a powerful city. It has steadily declined in importance and in population; the movement being occasionally hastened by shocks of earthquake, like that of 1822, until it had reached the miserable figure of 6000 inhabitants. The buildings have been of late low and mean, and built of slight materials; the industries of the place were unimportant; the ancient churches have all disappeared, and none have taken their places. If there has been no exaggeration of the last great calamity, one quarter of all the people of Antioch have perished, and what there was of the city is a mass of ruins. It will be very strange if this awful catastrophe does not bring to a close the long catalogue of misfortunes, and place Antioch with Babylon and Ninnevah amid the extinct cities of the world.

TAKING COLD.—If a cold settles on the outer covering of the lungs it becomes pneumonia, inflammation of the lungs, or lung fever, which in many cases carries the strongest man to his grave within a week. If a cold falls upon the inner covering of the lungs, it is pleurisy, with its knife-like pains and and its slow, very slow recoveries. If a cold settles in the joints, there is rheumatism in its various forms: inflammatory rheumatism with its agonies of pain, and rheumatism of the head which in an instant sometimes snaps the cords of life with no friendly warning. It is of the utmost practical importance, then, in the wintry weather, to know not so much how to care a cold as how to avoid it. Colds always come from one cause, some part or the whole of the body being colder than natural for a time. If a man will keep his feet warm always and never allow himself to be chilled, he will never take cold in a lifetime, and this can only be accomplished by due care in warm clothing and the avoidance of drafts and undue exposure. While multitudes of colds come from cold feet, perhaps the majority arise from persons cooling off too quickly after becoming a little warmer than is natural from exercise or work, or from confinement to a warm apartment.—Wood's Household Magazine.

State News.

On the 30th March, the town of Carrol chose Hosea Whitcomb, Democrat, to the legislature, by two majority.

Manchester is to have a fire-alarm apparatus immediately.

The extension of the Monadnock Railroad from Peterborough to Manchester is talked of.

A post-mortem examination of the body of Sarah Conway alias Brockway, of Nashua, who died there recently under suspicious circumstances, has revealed the fact that her death was the result of a criminal surgical operation.

Four members of one family at East Hanover recently died very suddenly, and an examination of the oysters which they ate at dinner displayed large numbers of parasitic animals, all alive and manifesting activity, notwithstanding they had been cooked twenty-four hours at the time of the examination. These animals are undoubtedly a species corresponding to the trichinæ found in pork.

At Farmington, two young men, named Albert Wentworth and Frank Ranklins were wrestling together in a stable, when Ranklins fell behind a horse, which kicked him on his head with such force as to fracture his skull and expose the brain. There is little hope of his recovery.

Governor Weston has pardoned out of the State Prison John F. Brown of Ossipee, committed four years ago for firing a gun at a woman while intoxicated. He had two years longer to serve.

The April term of the S. J. Court commenced at Exeter on the 9th, Judge Ladd presiding. There are 239 continued civil cases on the docket.

Portsmouth furnishes for the Grand Jury four cases of breaking and entering, and one each of arson, bigamy, and illegal voting. The case before the court is that of George C. Gordon vs. Manchester & Lawrence Railroad—an action to recover $300 damages, alleged to have been sustained by neglect of the defendant corporation to transport the plaintiff from Salem to Manchester in September, 1870, he holding a season ticket between the two places.

ERASTUS CORNING, who died in Albany, April 8, aged 76 years, was for twenty years a power in the railway interests of central and western New York. He was for a long time president of the Utica and Schenectady Railroad, and in 1853 was placed at the head of the New York Central combination. He served in the lower house of Congress, and as a war democrat he promoted the national cause most efficiently in the ways and means committee at the outset of the struggle against the rebellion. For fifty-two years of his life he was in active business in Albany in the iron trade. He leaves a fortune of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR NAVY YARDS. The House committee on appropriations reduced the items for the expenditures in the various navy-yards by the bureau of yards and docks in the navy department $464,100, leaving the total amount at about $1,000,000. The action of the committee is based upon the theory that the expenditures at the smaller naval stations shall be limited to only the amount necessary to preserve the property from loss and decay. The appropriations for the Portsmouth, Charlestown and Brooklyn yards will be reasonably large.

OFFICIAL ADVICES from Madrid state that the case of Dr. Houard has been presented to the Spanish government. The authorities in Cuba will telegraph a statement. In the meantime Dr. Houard will remain in Cadiz, and orders have been given that he be well treated.

MOUNT VESUVIUS is again in a state of violent eruption. Columns of flame shoot several hundred feet above the water, and stones, ashes and cinders fall in dense showers around the summit. Tourists are hastening to Naples to witness the spectacle.

THREE PERSONS were killed in Jasper County, Illinois, on the 6th, by a tornado.

John Davis, a Taylorsville, Pa., miner, fell 900 feet and was killed.

PILLS AND OINTMENT.
Every Man His Own Physician.
CAUTION.
THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.
In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After six extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved in most cases.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their application in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of prompt talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.
Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.
As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

To Conway.

SENATORIAL.—The Keene Sentinel, an excellent paper, is so enthusiastic in its support of Senator Patterson that it is "fully persuaded that none other than Mr. Patterson can expect to receive more than a complimentary vote in the Republican legislative caucus." Rather uncomplimentary to the other candidates, that seems! But Mr. Patterson's friends will be caught napping if they have too much confidence. We have been surprised of late to learn the extent of the feeling which gains ground in Republican ranks for rotation, and we doubt if even that veteran wire puller, Reuel Durkee, can place his finger with certainty on the gentleman who will receive the Republican nomination for Senator. Without indicating our preference in the matter we sincerely hope the nomination will be given to the most deserving man in the Republican party of this State. Republican Representatives and Senators elect have the welfare of the party in their control and no man or class of men have a right to imperil future success by an unwise choice.

DANA'S SLANDERS. — The charges which that immaculate devotee of virtue, Charles A. Dana of the New York Sun, brought against Secretary Robeson, receive but sorry support from the evidence offered. Of the way in which Dana's veracity is shown up, the testimony given before the investigating committee on the evening of the 9th of April will do as a specimen: D. Nobbett, a cabinet maker of Philadelphia, testified to supplying the Navy with goods, but the Cattells had no interest directly or indirectly with the business; neither had any naval officers.

Ex-Senator Cattell testified that he was not interested with Nobbett or any of his family; never bought bricks to send to California, nor for any other purpose for the navy; had no interest in the iron for torpedo boats; had no interest in John Archer's business, and have known him only two months; none of the Cattells had any interest in Roach's business; never entered into any scheme for building iron ships; the first he knew of it he saw it in the New York Sun; was happy to say that he had been twelve years a friend of Secretary Robeson; made his house his home; had no connection, directly or indirectly, with the Navy Department or any of its branches; never bought coal for the navy. A. Boyd, plate-iron manufacturer, testified: Am connected with the firm of Pinnock, Boyd & Co.; bargained with Hanscom for iron for torpedo boats at 10 cents per pound, all round, for best charcoal iron; would not now duplicate the order; neither of the Cattells or any naval officer were interested in these contracts; never gave money nor valuable things to anybody connected with the navy.

No wonder Dana was in a hurry to get back to New York, that he might endeavor to make his own character shine by flinging mud at the President.

ANOTHER OF TWEED'S TRICKS.—The Brooklyn committee of seventy-five have reported against the great suspension bridge across the East River. They say that Tweed and the other financiers who control the Union Ferry monopoly pushed a charter through the legislature under which New York and Brooklyn are to pay $4,500,000 towards the cost of the bridge, and to have only three directors, while Tweed and the Company are to subscribe but $500,000 and have the privilege of electing fifteen directors. The bridge built, the cities may assume the entire ownership by paying the whole cost and 33 per cent. additional, making quite a handsome speculation for the wily managers. These points are ingeniously hidden in the provisions.

A MELTING SCENE.—The sun's rays being unequal to the task of thawing out the Penobscot, the authorities of Bangor had recourse to the forty barrels of liquor which had accumulated on their hands under the seizure clause of the prohibitory law. The stuff was turned on the ice and set fire to; the effect being startling to the thirsty spectators who gazed on the melting spectacle from the river banks.

MINISTER SCHENCK has had interviews with the United States consul appointed under the Washington treaty and with Earl Granville, the result of which is that neither counsel nor arbitrators will meet in Geneva on the 15th instant, but the English and American agents will meet and exchange counter-cases. The board of arbitration, it is said, will not meet until June 15th.

April is proverbial for uncertain weather. Thus thinking, we selected a day when the rain fell in torrents, for a trip over the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad, minus umbrella, reckoning that the showers might cease by the time we should arrive at Conway. Regardless of the result of our conjecture, we were soon in charge of Conductor West. Abbott, whose geniality made us forget the rain, the clouds and the fog. Speeding over the Road to Union, we left the old track for the new extension, and found that under the efficient management of Superintendent A. A. Perkins, a road bed had been laid and depots built at the new stations, which attract more than usual attention, the former for its firm foundation, and the latter for their beauty of design. The managers of the P., G. F. & C. R. R. cater well for the accommodation of the people along the line of the Road, and are making great preparations for amply accommodating the summer travel during the approaching season.

The ride from Portsmouth to Conway, 78 miles, is delightful, abounding with views of rivers, picturesque villages, tumbling water-falls, lakes, and the finest of mountain scenery. It is the intention to complete the Road to North Conway by June 1st, and a large force is employed in building the remaining four miles of Road. Already the road bed is nearly completed, and the rails are being laid. The formation of the country is such that numerous truss bridges must be constructed to cross the intervales. In Carroll county the snow is still from four to seven feet deep, and the Spring rains are expected to bring on freshets, which of necessity greatly retard the work of completing the road.

The P., G. F. & C. R. R. will be a favorite thoroughfare to the White Mountains, reaching within eighteen miles of them. Ossipee and Conway afford the grandest general views of the whole region.

It was our good fortune to be domiciled by night at the famous hostelry at West Ossipee, kept by Mr. Henry J. Banks. Banks' Hotel is a great resort for summer visitors, being in close proximity to the mountains, whose snowy peaks peering above the clouds cause the spectator to imagine himself in fairy land. Not a great way off, Silver Lake, six miles long, with its adjacent mines of silver, lead and zinc, tempt the tourist to make his headquarters with Mr. Banks. Trout are plenty, and the accommodations for fishing the best to be had.

We found our host one of the most enjoyable of companions, living among these mountains away from city and plain because of his great love for the beautiful and grand. Annually, in August, he, with a chosen companion and two Indian guides, proceeds to the Maine forests, to Mount Katahdin, 300 miles beyond Portland, going over streams of water accessible only by means of birch canoes. Here, among the immense trees of centuries' growth, in a region undisturbed by civilization and inhabited only by beasts and birds of prey, in a solitude unlike anything else in the world, Mr. Banks roams, and feasts his eyes with the wonders of creation, enjoying camp life to its utmost, like the disciple of old, living in the wilderness forty days and forty nights.

The glowing accounts given of this region by our host interest all sojourners at his mansion, and, with cooking that an epicure might enjoy, nothing seems wanting to make every hour enjoyable. Even as he grew eloquent with his theme, with deep appreciation of the grandness of God's creation shown in every word and feature, there came on a thunder storm, with vivid lightning and pouring rain, which sent the whole party out on the piazza, regardless of the dampness and darkness—and great was their reward. The frequent flashes lighted up the whole country, and far away Chocorua was seen as distinct as in the clearest day. The ranges of mountains visible seemed close at hand, and Mount Washington beyond seemed like a watch tower in the dim distance.

Had we bespoken a fair day all this would have been missed—and so we realized that West Ossipee and Conway were full of interest in cloud and storm as in the bright light of sunshine, and wondered not at our friend Banks' enthusiastic love of the beautiful and grand. If anything tends to make a man a child of nature it must be a residence near such surroundings.

—The Belfast Journal says a former Sheriff of Waldo county, Me., had a writ to serve in the back part of the county. After diligent inquiry, he found that the defendant had died suddenly. He tossed the paper over the wall of the cemetery, and made return upon the writ that he had left the summons at his last and usual place of abode.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. — Sore Legs, Wounds, Ulcers, &c., can be cured. The rational treatment as indicated by nature, is to reduce the local inflammation, sooth the neighboring nerves, cool the heated blood, and render the watery ichorous discharge consistent and healthy. Happily, Holloway's Ointment accomplishes these ends with unfailing certainty. 25 cents per box or pot.

THE WILD GEESE do not regard Dr Ayer's wisdom in migrating north—such immense numbers of them as are flying over us now, while his almanac says: "Bleak and blustering about this time, with heavy snow." Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Times, March 3.

We were too fast last week in our item on the conflict between Dr. Ayer and the wild geese. The Doctor's science beat their instinct this time. Not for years have we had such a snow-storm as that of last Sunday. The snow lies three feet deep on a level in Minnesota, and two feet in Wisconsin, while the storm has swept from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains. Snow fell to various depths as far south as Denver, Fort Union and Santa Fe. Learned as we believed Dr. Ayer in the arcana of nature, and wonderful as we knew his medicines to be, we were not prepared for so signal an instance of his superiority, not only over the wise men, but the wisest of animals whose instinct is considered unfailing. We drive up the peg, more firmly than ever, over our hearth for Ayer's American Almanac.—Cedar Rapids Times, March 10.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Price of Health,

Like that of liberty, is eternal vigilance. The vapor-laden air of spring exercises a depressing influence on the vital powers. The strongest feel this devitalizing effect; the weak are prostrated by it. Everybody is more or less debilitated at this season, and the feeble instinctively seek the help of medicine. Unfortunately, the "remedy" resorted to sometimes aggravates the mischief. Raw stimulants are eminently pernicious in such cases, and drastic cathartics about as bad. The vitalizing principle needs succor and support, and a reinforcing preparation that will tone and rouse, while it regulates and purifies the system, is the medicine that nature demands. All the medicinal elements required for such emergencies are combined in HOSTETTERS' STOMACH BITTERS, the purest and most efficacious vegetable elixir that the world has ever known. It is a mild stimulant, a powerful tonic, an unequalled appetizer, an absolute specific for diseased digestion, a wonderful nervine, a moderate cathartic, a remedy for liver complaints and periodic fevers, a cure for constipation, a specific for rheumatism, of essential use in all ailments to which the feeble sex are subject, and as a general household medicine unequalled and unapproached. These are the properties which have made Hostetter's Bitters famous everywhere. See to it, however, that you have the true article, for the land is infested with swarms of local bitters, made from condemned liquors and worthless drugs, which greedy wretches who speculate on human life recommend as panaceas for every ill that flesh is heir to. Beware of the charlatans and their poisons.

L. BLUMAUER,

No. 21 Market Street,

BY SAMUEL HATCH & CO.,

Auctioneers.

Executors' Sale

OF VALUABLE

Sea Shore Property

AT GLOUCESTER, MASS.,

Belonging to the Estate of Geo. H. Rogers, deceased.

240 ACRES OF LAND,

WITH DWELLING HOUSES, BARNS, GRAPERIES and GREEN HOUSE to be sold

IN ONE LOT.

A RARE CHANCE FOR SPECULATION.

BY virtue of a license from the Probate Court, in and for the County of Essex, will be sold at public Auction, on SATURDAY, the twentieth day of April, 1872, at one o'clock, P. M., on the premises, A CERTAIN PARCEL OF LAND with all the BUILDINGS thereon, situated on the sea shore at East Gloucester, near Little Good Harbor Beach, and bounded as shown on a plan made under the direction of S. C. Ellis, C. E., in 1871, being all the land which now belongs to said estate lying Southerly and Easterly of Mount Pleasant Avenue and Southerly of the Town road leading to Little Good Harbor Beach.

Said parcel is well known as the

and consists of 240 acres of PASTURE and TILLAGE well stocked with young Fruit Trees, etc.

The buildings on the premises are

1. A DWELLING HOUSE with HOT and COLD GRAPERIES attached—formerly occupied by Mr. Rogers.
2. A large HOUSE now leased to Mr. E. L. WHITING for a summer boarding house.
3. A GARDENER'S HOUSE with GREEN-HOUSE and PEACH-HOUSE attached.
4. A large BARN.
5. A large BARN.
6. A FARMER'S HOUSE.
7. A two story French roofed DWELLING HOUSE.
8. A two story French roofed DWELLING HOUSE.
9. A BILLIARD HOUSE.

The premises are delightfully located on the Eastern shore of Cape Ann and have a frontage of a mile on the sea. They command an unobstructed view of the ocean from all parts. Little Good Harbor Beach adjoins the property on the North, and affords unequalled advantages for bathing and driving. Boating and fishing facilities are also convenient, and the station of the Eastern Railroad is within ten minutes drive. Good roads are completed on a part of the estate, and many lots are at once available for building.

This is the only large lot of Seashore property in the market on this shore, and a more attractive and desirable place for cannot be found on the coast.

Terms of Sale—$5000 to be paid down at time of sale; Bond to be given for the balance, with interest at one per cent. Deed to be delivered when the last payment is made.

ALSO,

Immediately after the sale of the above will be sold, on or near the premises, a lot of

containing about nine acres, situated on the Northerly side of the road leading to Little Good Harbor Beach, and bounded and described as in a deed from Isaac Patch to Geo. H. Rogers, dated July 24, 1864, and recorded with Essex Deeds, Book 671, Leaf 95.

Plans of the above property can be seen, and further particulars will be furnished at the office of the Executors in Rogers' Stone Block, Gloucester, and at the office of the Auctioneers, No. 3 Merchant Place, rear of 35 Milk St., Boston.

By order of

GEO. J. MARSH and ALFRED MANSFIELD, } Executors.

$1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, both impalpable, pure, scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Bloters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and the utmost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAYWARD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiro-Medical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and thus impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Prof. Stone's benefit to-night.

On and after April 15, the Post-office will be open from 7 o'clock A. M. to 8 o'clock P. M.

The funeral of the late Dr. Lewis N. Allen, formerly of Kittery, was attended at Saco on the 9th by N. H. Lodge, I. O. O. F., No. 17, of this city.

Auction sale this day, Thursday, at house No. 4 High Street, of nice household furniture, nearly new and in good condition. See advertisement.

Mr. Thomas Spinney, a native of Portsmouth, died in Boston at the age of 77 years, on the 10th. He was one of the oldest printers in Boston.

Storer Encampment G. A. R. of this city contemplate having their Memorial address delivered in-doors, this year, instead of in the open air, as heretofore.

Mr. L. Blumauer, as will be seen by his advertisement, has returned from New York with an elegant assortment of Spring and Summer goods which he has for sale at No. 21 Market Street.

Messrs. Mason and Seavey have an advertisement which farmers and gardeners will do well to glance at, in another column of our paper. Seeds and farming utensils of all sorts can be found at their store.

The Board of Assessors, in their usual annual advertisement, call for inventories of property for taxation; failing to receive which, they must tax by guess, — and from their "dooming," there is no easy appeal.

More than the usual amount of constructions and repairs of dwellings is going on in this city at present. Three new houses are going up on the new streets at the West End, and Mr. B. F. Webster is completing his large house on State Street.

Rev. A. J. Patterson, of Boston Highlands, celebrated his 45th birthday on the 3d inst. During his four months' absence at the West in search of health, we understand he will contribute to the valuable Correspondence Department of the Boston Globe.

The following was the address upon a letter received at the post-office in Newburyport, lately, which the postmaster forwarded to Portsmouth: "Patrick Flynn, works in the mill of the same name of the steamer that sunk the Alabama. I forgot the name, United States of America."

The increase of passenger traffic on the Eastern railroad is fourfold this year to what it was in 1861. The road in 1861, transported 1,132,405 people and in 1871 it carried 4,610,277. Between September 1, 1871, and next July, there will have been added 40 new passenger cars at a cost of about $200,000, besides 10 new Pullman cars costing as much more; and 15 new locomotives costing $165,000.

Miss Maynard's Concert, announced for the 16th inst., promises to be one of the most attractive and enjoyable entertainments we have had for a long while, as is shown by the list of talent in the advertisement. Those who can appreciate the perfection of harmony will find something very near it in the vocal performances of the famous Temple Quartette, if we may credit the statements of the leading musical critics and connoisseurs of Boston and other cities.

The following appointments have been made by the Methodist Conference:—Portsmouth, Rev. C. M. Dinsmore; Newmarket, E. R. Wilkins; So. Newmarket, H. A. Mattison; Exeter, Silas E. Quimby; Greenland, F. D. Chandler; Hampton and Rye, Elihu Scott; Epping, F. Ryder; Claremont, H. L. Kelsey; Littleton, George Beebe. Rev. Calvin Holman is transferred to the Kansas Conference. Presiding Elders: Dover district, O. H. Jasper; Concord district, S. G. Kellogg; Claremont district, James Pike.

A telegram from Philadelphia, sent by Capt. Young of schooner "Othello" of this city, was received by that vessel's agent here on Wednesday evening, April 10th, and reports her as having been abandoned on the 23d of March, latitude and longitude not given. The Othello was from Cardenas, Cuba, bound for Philadelphia, over fifty days out, and was last heard from previously as having been spoken by another vessel, being then making for Bermuda. Capt. Young and the officers and crew of the schooner belong in York, Kittery, Newcastle and this city, and their friends have felt much uneasiness on their account; but they are probably all safe, as had any life been lost the captain would doubtless have informed the agent of the fact.

We hope to see the Temple filled to its utmost capacity this evening, on the occasion of Prof. Stone's complimentary Benefit. Several well-known gentlemen have signified their intention to present themselves as subjects for experiment, and every one who attends will receive fifty cents' worth of instruction and amusement. Harlow's U. S. Naval Band will commence to-play at half-past 7 o'clock. For further particulars see advertisement.

Tuesday night, the 9th inst., was one of the darkest nights we have had lately, and showed off the vivid lightning which accompanied the heavy shower, to great advantage. The thunder, we are informed, was very heavy, but we cannot speak from our own knowledge, as a good thunder-storm at night always puts us to sleep and that one was no exception. Several persons (neither one aware of the others' statements) have assured us that an earthquake was plainly felt by them during the storm; but if there really was an earthquake we missed that also, the somniferous thunder having probably lulled us to sleep before the shake took place.

A New Doctor.

Messrs. Editors:—I have tried my hand at almost all occupations, and have made out tolerably well at each; that is, I have always managed to do my work in decent shape, though I have never managed to make any money by it,—or to save any if I ever did happen to get some. Now I propose to turn quack doctor, and shall probably make as much money at that business as at anything else I have tried.

I have no unworthy prejudices against quack doctors or quack medicines; one of my dearest pleasures, when I am well, is to dose myself with all manner of nostrums and infallible specifics until I get sick, when I am forced to give up my pleasures and nostrum devouring, and, of course, immediately get well again. There are many other people just like me in this respect.

I have long enjoyed the catarrh, like everybody else that I know of. I think catarrh is the normal condition of civilized man, in this part of the world at least. But, like other inseparable adjuncts of civilization, such as bills payable, tight boots and the kindling of fires winter mornings, the catarrh is an unpleasant necessity, and every one is satisfied to get along with as little of it as possible. About two years ago I had more of it than I wanted, for, tho' I like to have my fair share of everything that's going, I am not at all greedy; so I went to the druggist's and bought a sample of each "infallible catarrh remedy" I could find. It cost me considerable, but I got my money's worth in literature. Catarrh literature is very entertaining to those who are pleased with it; I easily discovered that the only way to "avoid quacks" was to patronize any one of my new remedies and keep as far as possible from the rest, and that fabulous sums would be paid to any person whose catarrh should not be radically cured by any one of the infallible medicines, if taken according to directions — "internally, externally and eternally."

I first tried "The Great Doctor Good's Infallible Catarrh Cure," — a liquid to be sniffed up the nose. I sniffed about a spoonful, and instantly fancied that I had departed from this world and by some unaccountable mistake had gone to the wrong place. My intellect was disordered for two days, during which time I lent a man fifteen dollars, made a bet that President Grant wouldn't be re-elected, and paid a tailor's bill that had been outstanding for three years. On recovering, I threw the catarrh cure out of the third-story window into the back-yard, where the cat-chorus used to meet for rehearsal, and not a cat has been seen there since.

Several other infallible remedies had fair trials, with no other result than to put a head on me, and for some months I continued to get no better very fast; my stock of infallible specifics was reduced to a single one, but my catarrh did not suffer a corresponding diminution. The only things which appeared likely to fizzle out were my pocket-book and myself; but "the camel's back is broken by the last straw," and my last nostrum smashed the catarrh. It was a powder, to which I added water enough to make a very thin soup; this soup I then poured up one nostril and down the other, using for the purpose an ingenious little contrivance termed a "nasal irrigator," sold in this city by Dr. Proston. The dull pain between my eyes soon vanished, the odors from the Creek became potent to my olfactories, my catarrh was rapidly decreasing; my purse would probably have done the same had it not previously arrived at that condition in which decrease is an impossibility.

My infallible specifics and my money being all used up, I was for a while puzzled what to do for more medicine; but having noticed that the soup tasted very salt, I at length put a handful of salt into a bottle, filled the bottle with water, and used the cheap solution as I had the costly soup. The result was most satisfactory, and I have not "dabbled in medicine" any since, until now; and I do not hesitate to say that for a local application, for "clearing the head" and dissipating the dull, bunged-up sensation so sadly familiar to sufferers with catarrh, and for all the purposes for which any of the nostrums I tried are recommended, a weak solution of common salt is better than the whole lot and cheaper than any one of them.

I charge nothing for medical advice, not being a regularly educated physician; but should any grateful person feel called upon to acknowledge my services by a generous pecuniary reward, it may be forwarded through the Post-office to PHYSIC.

CONCORD RAILROAD.—There seems to be a contest going on for the control of the Concord Railroad, and the movements of parties interested are keenly watched. James R. Hill, Esq., of Concord, has purchased all the Concord Railroad stock owned by Mr. George Clough, amounting to fifteen hundred shares. Mr. Hill also owns a large amount of Manchester and Lawrence stock.

THE POPE has refused to receive the sum of money offered him by the Italian government, declaring that when it becomes necessary for him to accept alms as a means of subsistence, he would only receive them from the Catholic world.

SIMMERING DOWN DICKENS.

The severest of the many severe articles which have followed the publication of the first volume of Mr. Forster's most indiscreet life of his friend (Dickens) appeared the other day in the New York Times. The world, fascinated by the humorist and story-teller, and touched in the weak spot of the age by his sentimentalism, could never have credited the fundamental heartlessness of character implied in the autobiographical story of David Copperfield, but for the more confidential revelations which Mr. Forster has given to the world with unsuspecting obtuseness, since the great novelist's death. It had been before hinted how wantonly, but from Mr. Forster first we learn how relentlessly if not revengefully, this artist of fashionable sentimentalism ground up his own father and mother (in the language of the Times)—for paint! From the same source we learn the profound contempt for honest, humble labor, which was another fundamental quality of the popular reformer, the beneficent Iconoclast of snobbish caste! Probably the most intense feeling and bitter of all personal expressions preserved from Mr. Dickens, is the passage in which he portrays the agony and shame never out-worn or forgiven, which he suffered when a boy, and his father in the debtor's prison, from being set to earn his bread for a few months by labeling blacking bottles, and the worst of all, within eyeshot of a window through which his degradation might be witnessed from the street. But the sentence that makes one's blood run cold, is that in which he confesses undying resentment toward his mother for having reconciled a quarrel with his employer and procured him an invitation to return to the blacking warehouse, from which he had been discharged.

It is no pleasant task to strip the shroud from the dead. Let him rest in undisturbed, in his coffin, we would say. But the author is not in his coffin. He lives a mighty life, and if it is a false life, the truth should be shown. Mr. Forster's overweening partiality, not to say idolatry, is made the judicial instrument to this end. Still another of his indiscretions as champion has widened what was before a chink, to a window that lets in a broad light upon the mystery of Dickens' philanthropy. Nobody, that I am aware of, has explored the revelation thus effected, and it seems timely, therefore, to draw attention, with that view, to the recent statement of George Cruikshank, the celebrated humorous artist who illustrated Dickens' earlier works, in regard to the origin of Oliver Twist—and, in the loins of Oliver Twist, of the whole series of humanitarian pictures that brought their author such enormous gain and fame. Mr. Cruikshank's statement is no sense a voluntary one, and is free from all suspicion of sinister or selfish motive.

An American visitor who was permitted to look over Mr. Cruikshank's portfolios, came upon the original series of designs that had formed the groundwork of the charity boy's career. The conversation that naturally followed drew out from the garrulous old artist, without a thought on either part of its great significance, the story of the genesis of Oliver Twist. How Dickens, who had been referred by his publisher to Cruikshank for consultation on the illustrations of the proposed serial, and who had come with a plot of the charity boy's career, having as little of the humanitary character as the Pickwick Papers, was induced to adopt a series of situations instead, which Mr. Cruikshank had devised and sketched for some other purpose, and which now went into Oliver Twist, sketches and all, just as the visitor beheld them, and gave the work the humanitary direction that proved so successful, and was followed up with such success in nearly all Mr. Dickens' after works. This fruitful experiment on the public sympathies, fortuitous in its occasion, and originating in no disposition elsewhere traceable in the author or the man, naturally determined the whole character of his subsequent writings. It is another instance among many, proving that to behold and to be a given character, are two things, often as wide as the poles asunder.

But this conversation, though published in America, appears to have attracted no great attention until Mr. Forster (judicial instrument) must needs revive it in his book, by hotly pronouncing it "a lie." Again, therefore, the surviving witness is forced upon the stand. Mr. Cruikshank now publicly verifies every word of the history, with circumstantial detail. The future critic who is to do justice to the life and works and times of Charles Dickens, and to reconcile the heartless and snobbish egotism of his character—exhibited in his treatment of his wife, of his parents, of his poor relations, of his American entertainers, of every humble circumstance in his own life, and of every actual instance and kind of Caristian philanthropy that he ever touched, and touched only to cover with venomous contempt—he who is to explain the coincidence of all this with the successful role of an Apostle of Humanity, on the part of the same person, will find a key to the heart of the great actor's mystery, in Mr. Cruikshank's simple story of the origin of Oliver Twist.—Cor. Morning Star.

—Rev. Mr. Hepworth's Sunday sermons in New York are crowded no more, and the regular announcement of "standing room only" has been dispensed with. The sensation is over.

—Thomas Gilroy was murdered in a drunken quarrel in Brooklyn, on Monday night, by Simms and Harkelman, grocery keepers, who were arrested.

BARGAINS

IN GENTS' CALF BOOTS, pegged and sewed, by CHAS. E. SHEDD & CO.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Falling to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model; does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all other combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

By a New Method of Life Assurance, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 23,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will extinguish the annual premium, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30!
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6,7.50.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

QUITE SO.

I.

Of course that was not his name. Even in the State of Maine, where it is still a custom to claim a child for life by christening him Ariosto or Shadrach or Ephraim, nobody would dream of calling a boy "Quite So." It was merely a nickname which we gave him in camp; but it stuck to him with such burr like tenacity, and is so inseparable from my memory of him, that I do not think I could write definitely of John Bladburn if I were to call him anything but "Quite So."

It was one night shortly after the first battle of Bull Run. The Army of the Potomac, shattered, stunned, and forlorn, was back in its old quarters behind the earthworks. The melancholy line of ambulances bearing our wounded to Washington was not done creeping over Long Bridge; the blue smocks and the gray still lay in windrows on the field of Manassas; and the gloom that weighed down our hearts was like the fog that stretched along the bosom of the Potomac and enfolded the valley of the Shenandoah. A drizzling rain had set in at twilight, and, growing bolder with the darkness, was beating a dismal tattoo on our tent—the tent of Mess 6, Company A, —th Regiment N. Y. Volunteers. Our mess, consisting originally of eight men, was reduced to four. Little Billy, as one of the boys grimly remarked, had concluded to remain at Manassas; Corporal Steele we had to leave at Fairfax Court-house, shot thro' the hip; Hunter and Suydam we had said good-bye to that afternoon. "Tell Johnny Reb," said Hunter, lifting up the leather side piece of the ambulance, "that I'll be back again as soon as I get a new leg." But Suydam said nothing; he only unclosed his eyes languidly and smiled farewell to us.

The four of us who were left alive and unhurt that shameful July day sat gloomily smoking our briarwood pipes, thinking our thoughts and listening to the rain pattering against the canvas. That, and the occasional whine of a hungry cur, foraging on the outskirts of the camp for a stray bone, alone broke the silence, save when a vicious drop of rain detached itself meditatively from the ridgepole of the tent and fell upon the wick of our tallow candle, making it "cuss," as Ned Strong described it. The candle was in the midst of one of its profane fits when Blakely, knocking the ashes from his pipe and addressing no one in particular, but giving breath, unconsciously, as it were, to the result of his cogitations, observed that "it was considerable of a fizzle."

"The 'on to Richmond' business?"

"Yes."

"I wonder what they'll do about it over yonder," said Curtis, pointing over his right shoulder. By "over yonder" he meant the North in general and New England especially. Curtis was a Boston boy, and his sense of locality was so strong that, during all his wanderings in Virginia, I do not believe there was a moment, day or night, when he could not have made a bee-line for Faneuil hall.

"Do about it?" cried Strong. "They'll make about two hundred thousand blue flannel trousers and send them along, each pair with a man in it—all the short men in the long trousers, and all the tall men in the short ones," he added, ruefully contemplating his own leg-gear, which scarcely reached his ankles.

"That's so," said Blakely. "Just now when I was tackling the commissary for an extra candle, I saw a crowd of new fellows drawing blankets."

"I say, there, drop that!" cried out Strong. "All right, sir, didn't know it was you," he added hastily, seeing it was Lieutenant Haines who had thrown back the flap of the tent and let in a gust of wind and rain that threatened the most serious bronchial consequences to our discontented tallow dip.

"You're to bunk in here," said the lieutenant, speaking to some one outside. The some one stepped in and Haines vanished in the darkness.

When Strong had succeeded in restoring the candle to consciousness the light fell upon a tall, shy-looking man of about thirty-five, with long, hay colored beard and moustache, upon which the rain-drops stood in clusters, like the night-dew on patches of cobweb in a meadow. It was an honest face, with unworldly sort of blue eyes, that looked out from under the broad visor of the infantry cap. With a deferential glance towards us the new-comer unstrapped his knapsack, spread his blanket over it and sat down unobtrusively.

"Rather damp night out," remarked Blakely, whose strong hand was supposed to be conversation.

"Quite so," replied the stranger, not curtly but pleasantly, and with an air as if he had said all there was need to be said about it.

"Come from the North recently?" inquired Blakely, after a pause.

"Yes."

"From any place in particular?"

"Maine."

"People considerably stirred up down there?" continued Blakely, determined not to give up.

"Quite so."

Blakely threw a puzzled look over

HOLLOWAY'S

PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man His Own Physician.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have the trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency is the United States possesses superior facilities for advising and for ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. Dr. AYER's consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. Its HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

The News.

Newburyport has established an "Old Ladies Home."

The cattle disease has made its appearance in the eastern section of Maine.

Twenty-three freight trains were on the several side-tracks at St. Albans, resting over last Sabbath.

Eight vessels are lying in Portland harbor awaiting cargoes of lumber for South America. Three steamers are awaiting Canada freights for Liverpool, but the Grand Trunk is overtaxed with business.

Alva C. Stone of Montague, Mass., was run over and killed by the cars near Greenfield on the 9th. His head was completely severed from the body and probably rolled into Deerfield river as it has not been found.

Ten Yale students have started on a scientific expedition to Nantucket. The ostensible object of their visit is to dredge in the neighboring waters, but it is believed that the real purpose of the expedition is to secure photographs of the Nantucket girls.

The U. S. Senate has passed the Indian appropriation bill and a bill for the relief of homestead settlers who suffered by the fires in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan last autumn.

The Secretary of the Navy communicates to Congress that the total proceeds of the sales of public property by the department since June 30, 1865, were $12,923,419.82, of which $1,923,222.32 was used for repairs, etc., under the regularly-approved requisitions, leaving $11,000,197.50, which, added to $63,027,567.95, balances of unexpended appropriations, makes $74,027,765.45 paid into the Treasury since 1865.

A. T. Stewart has purchased the Grand Union Hotel at Saratoga for $520,000.

A Great Falls dispatch says that the grocery store of Joshua B. Bickford, on the Berwick side of the river, was entered recently by thieves, and robbed of teas, tobacco, &c., to the amount of $500.

Vanderbilt wants to construct a sunken and tunnel railroad from Broadway across City-hall park, through City-hall place and other streets and Fourth avenue to the Grand Central depot, thence across the city to the Hudson River Railroad, New York.

State News.

The case of poisoning by oysters, which was copied from a Concord paper a day or two ago, was a hoax. There is no such family at East Hanover, and no such physician at Lebanon.

The Merrimack is rapidly rising and a very large freshet is imminent. The river at Concord is rising at the rate of four or five inches an hour, and has already began to flow over the intervals.

Enfield has a tailless calf.

A forty-pound wild-cat has been slain in Somersworth.

Manchester has voted to obtain a supply of water from Lake Massabesic.

The new Phillips Academy building at Exeter will be ready for occupancy in June.

Hon. Alvah Smith, Senator for the 10th district, has been appointed Pension Agent at Concord.

A large starch factory is to be erected at North Haverhill, this season, by a company of farmers living in the vicinity.

Helmond Friedrichs, who lives in Malden, Mass., lost one of his arms at Nashua on the 9th by being run over by the cars.

A Newport dispatch says that the heavy rain of the 9th has caused an immense amount of damage, sweeping away a railroad bridge and two highway bridges across Sugar River, and badly washing roads in many places.

Rev. B. Van Dame died at Nottingham on April 3, of consumption, aged about seventy years. He was well known in that section as a temperance advocate, teacher, and colporteur. He receive 316 votes for Congressman in 1871, running as a Temperance candidate.

Full returns from the Second Councillor District, which has been considered very close, give John J. Morrill, Republican, 7,722; Alphonzo H. Rust, Democrat, 7,575; Scattering, 36; Morrill's majority, 111, he having received most of the Temperance votes, and Rust the Labor Reform votes.

The Amesbury Villager says notice has been served upon John C. Evans, member elect to the legislature, stating that his right to a seat as a member of that body from the town of South Hampton will be contested, for reasons in substance as follows: 1st. Because he did not receive a majority of the votes polled. 2d. Because votes were polled by persons not legal voters. 3d. Because more votes were declared by the moderator as polled, than were polled on that ballot.

The high water and ice in the Contoocook carried off and broke up the covered railroad bridge at West Henniker.

Horace

Has spoken and great is the speak! Being a man of general knowledge, whose information on seed potatoes is equal to his acquaintance with politics, Dr. Greeley ventures to set forth his views of the future as follows—to wit, namely, viz.:

First, If there shall be a Democratic candidate for President and Vice President in the field, we propose to support that Republican ticket which seems most likely to succeed. Second, If the main issue in the canvass shall be protection against free trade, we shall, no matter as to candidates, be found on the side of protection. Third, but if, as we hope and expect, there shall be two Republican tickets and none other presented with any hope of success, we shall favor that one whose election will be in our judgment most likely to promote economy in the public expenditure, purity in legislation and administration, substantial unanimity in upholding for all citizens a complete equality of rights under the law, and hasten the return of fraternal concord and mutual good will between those who were arrayed against each other in sanguinary strife throughout our great civil war. Such is our position, and it will not be effected by the nomination of A. or B., C. or D., at Cincinnati, Philadelphia or elsewhere.

Give ear to the announcement and then reflect! Then "who would fardles bear?" "Rise, or Greece forever falls! Up, or Freedom breathes her last!" 'Tis Horace to the rescue with his words of wisdom. My dear friends, if clams cultivated in a sandy soil prove prolific, I shall recommend like treatment for oysters. If all flesh is grass then are all earthly things mist. If clams become sickly and are confined to their beds during the coming two months, I shall conclude that tin kettles will be better for raising:—First, because they are useful for ball-ing purposes; Twicely, because they can be beat upon and sound be evolved from the collision. Thrice, because they shine when new, as use and abuse have not left their marks and discolorations on them. Give me a new broom, a new tin kettle and a hickory staff cut fresh. Forward my companions! Our equipments will dazzle the enemy. Bear me to the front in this war of words and votes. Valiantly do I brandish my weapon of offense; loudly do I beat the unoffending tin; swiftly do I madly ride on my faithful steed:—my motto, protection to myself and my friends. And by these signs we conquer or—we do not! If not, we can at least play pins.!

Political.

The Republican State Convention of Pennsylvania endorsed President Grant for re-election and nominated Gen. J. F. Hartranft for Governor, on the 10th. Colonel McClure will take the field as an independent candidate for governor, and will be supported by Colonel Forney's Press, without prejudice, however, to the relations of the paper toward the national issue and the re-election of President Grant.

It is rumored that the leaders of the Democratic party in Congress have agreed with the managers of the Cincinnati convention to sustain the nomination of Davis and Curtin, and that that ticket will be placed in the field May 1.

Senator Sumner it is reported, has announced his intention to make no further opposition to the renomination of President Grant, and that if the Philadelphia convention shall select him as the standard-bearer of the Republican party, the Massachusetts Senator will steadily labor to secure his re-election.

ACCIDENT.—The boiler of locomotive "Atlas" of the Boston & Albany R. R. exploded while the engine was drawing a freight train over the road, early Thursday morning. Mr. Stoughton, the fireman, has died from the effects of inhaling the steam, and Charles McManus, a brakeman, cannot live. The engineer escaped with slight injuries. An examination of the engine discloses the cause of the explosion. The plates of the fire-box are of copper as are also the stay-bolts, which were screwed through the plates and riveted on the inside. The action of the heat had worn off the heads of these bolts to such a degree that the pressure of steam forced the plate inward and drew the heads of the bolts through the copper. Had they been of iron, as are the bolts which are now being used, the accident would not probably have occurred. The locomotive is one of Mason's, built at Taunton about six years ago, and was used as an extra.

—A Green Bay man was mean enough to elope with the only school teacher in the town, thus shutting up the school.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of this tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. s8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach ache, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and restless children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Sore Legs, Wounds, Ulcers, &c., can be cured. The rational treatment as indicated by nature, is to reduce the local inflammation, sooth the neighboring nerves, cool the heated blood, and render the watery ichorous discharge consistent and healthy. Happily, Holloway's Ointment accomplishes these ends with unfailing certainty. 25 cents per box or pot.

THE WILD GEESE do not regard Dr Ayer's wisdom in migrating north—such immense numbers of them as are flying over us now, while his almanac says: "Black and blustering about this time, with heavy snow." Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Times, March 3.

We were too fast last week in our item on the conflict between Dr. Ayer and the wild geese. The Doctor's science beat their instinct this time. Not for years have we had such a snow-storm as that of last Sunday. The snow lies three feet deep on a level in Minnesota, and two feet in Wisconsin, while the storm has swept from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains. Snow fell to various depths as far south as Denver, Fort Union and Santa Fe. Learned as we believed Dr. Ayer in the arcana of nature, and wonderful as we knew his medicines to be, we were not prepared for so signal an instance of his superiority, not only over the wise men, but the wisest of animals whose instinct is considered unfailing. We drive up the peg, more firmly than ever, over our hearth for Ayer's American Almanac.—Cedar Rapids Times, March 10.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Price of Health,

Like that of liberty, is eternal vigilance. The vapor-laden air of spring exercises a depressing influence on the vital powers. The strongest feel this devitalizing effect; the weak are prostrated by it. Everywhere is more or less debilitated at this season, and the feeble instinctively seek the help of medicine. Unfortunately, the "remedy" resorted to sometimes aggravates the mischief. Raw stimulants are eminently pernicious in such cases, and drastic cathartics about as bad. The vital principle needs succor and support, and a reinforcing preparation that will tone and rouse, while it regulates and purifies the system, is the medicine that nature demands. All the medicinal elements required for such emergencies are combined in HOSTETTERS' STOMACH BITTERS, the purest and most efficacious vegetable elixir that the world has ever known. It is a mild stimulant, a powerful tonic, an unequalled appetizer, an absolute specific for diseased digestion, a wonderful nervine, a moderate cathartic, a remedy for liver complaints and periodic fevers, a cure for constipation, a specific for rheumatism, of essential use in the malady to which the feeble sex are subject, and as a general family medicine unequalled and unapproached. These are the properties which have made Hostetter's Bitters famous everywhere. See to it, however, that you have the true article, for the land is infested with swarms of local bitters, made from condemned liquors and worthless drugs, which greedy wretches who speculate on human life recommend as panaceas for every ill that flesh is heir to. Beware of the charlatans and their poisons.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE HORSE AND HIS RIDER.—It was a happy day for the Horse and his rider when the MUSTANG LINIMENT was introduced as a cure for the external diseases and injuries of both. In the stable, the barn and the household this wonderful emollient is equally useful. If a horse is spavined, or foundered, or harness-galled, or afflicted with any other of the many superficial ills that equine flesh is heir to, the Liniment effects a speedy cure, and it is equally efficacious when applied to draught oxen or cows suffering from outward swellings, strains, or hurts of any description. As an application for bruises, cuts, burns, rheumatism, stiff joints, sprains, neuralgia, earache and toothache, it takes precedence from all other topical remedies, and is therefore an article of prime necessity in families.

A CHANCE TO WIN $50,000, AND AT THE SAME TIME, AID THE SICK AND DESTITUTE.—The sale of tickets in the Grand Leval Enterprise at Omaha, in aid of Mercy Hospital, under the auspices of the Sisters of Mercy, will continue till May 30th, when the drawing will positively take place, in open public. This charitable enterprise enjoys the confidence of the Governor, and best business men of Nebraska; also, the Mayor and President of the Board of Trade, Omaha. Highest prize, $50,000. Total, $150,000, in cash. The Tickets are $3 each, or two for $5. For full particulars, address Pattee & Gardiner, Business Managers, Omaha, Neb. a12 1t

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Writing in Schools.

Messrs. Editors:—After such a bulk of statements as "E. Pluribus Unum" made in reference to writing, we suppose we ought to be convinced that it was all right to dismiss the writing master from the schools, but owing we suppose to the peculiar construction of our head, we are still unable to see any economy or justice in the thing.

We agree with "E. Pluribus Unum" that the teachers of the primary department should be well paid for their services, and think it a disgrace to our city that they receive such a "pittance" as even the increased pay gives them; but where is the economy to do a just act in the primary schools by cutting off the important study of writing in the other departments?

But "E. Pluribus Unum" thinks that this system will be "maintained and continued" without this teacher. It may be so; but with teachers who know comparatively nothing of the system, because never having expected to be called to teach it they have given little attention to it, and now find themselves required to teach a study, having many scholars who know more about it than they themselves, already writing is looking for its back tracks. In more schools than one no instruction has been given since the teacher was dismissed, and in one school the books have been laid aside entirely.

We know our city has a good corps of teachers and that they do valiant service in the cause of education, but from the many specimens of their writing which we have seen, we would suggest that a class be formed for their instruction by Prof. Montgomery at the expense of the city. If rightly informed all the schools in the city proper have had satisfactory instruction, — or in which the system was required to be taught by the committee.

We are not in the service of the late teacher nor fishing for the position of the prospective school superintendency, but we feel that the cause of education will never thrive in our city, till the writing teacher and the present committee have been justly dealt with, by the education of teachers in the art of writing and the appointment of a School Superintendent. SPENCERIAN.

Mr. F. W. Stocker, who was severely injured in the back and limbs at the Revere disaster, has lately received $6300 from the Eastern Railroad corporation in satisfaction for his injuries.

Mr. Hatch, the new manager of the Eastern Railroad, accompanied by President Lothrop, Superintendent Prescott and several of the directors, visited Portland on the 9th on a tour of inspection. They travelled by special train.

The Boston Advertiser says that Messrs. John W. Odiorne of Chelsea and Luther E. Martin of Portsmouth have begun the erection of two handsome dwellings on Walnut and Veazie streets, Somerville. These gentlemen have just finished a handsome block of dwelling houses near the East Somerville station.

Some time ago a young gentleman and lady whose names we will call James and Kate, were married in this city and took up their residence in a neighboring State. The officiating clergymen, as is his usual custom when he ties the nuptial knot, presented the bride with a handsome bible, after the ceremony was concluded, and the gift was accepted and carefully treasured. Recently a friend from this city called upon the pair, and when about to leave was thus addressed by the husband: "I say, H—, when you think of it, I wish you'd ask Rev. Mr. —— for our marriage certificate. I don't care anything about it, myself—that one in the cradle there is satisfactorily convincing to me that I'm a married man—but Kate thinks she ought to have one, and I suppose it's customary." "Why," replied the friend; "didn't Mr. —— present your wife with a bible after marrying you?" "Yes? but what's that got to do with it?" responded James. "Let me see that bible, if you haven't lost it," continued the friend. The book was brought, and the visitor, rapidly turning over the leaves, soon disclosed a marriage certificate filled out in due form, it having remained in Kate's bible undiscovered from her wedding day until then. The obvious solution of this odd affair is that Mrs. Kate had always turned for consolation to the same book which Miss Kate was wont to study, and had kept the wedding gift carefully stowed away.

Schooner Othello, Capt. Young, before reported lost on the voyage from Cuba to Philadelphia, was laden with molasses, which was insured. The vessel was valued at about $16,000, divided into thirty-two shares, of which Hon. John R. Reding owned eleven, the Jenness estate eleven, Capt. Wm. Mathes two, Wm. Simes three and John E. Chase of New York one; the balance was owned by people on Cape Cod. Eight shares were insured for $4,000. Mr. Reding had no insurance on his shares. The crew were all safely landed in New York, having been taken off by the barque Yreka, of Newport, Wales.

S. J. COURT, Exeter.—In the case of Gordon vs. the Manchester & Lawrence Railroad Company, the jury returned for the plaintiff with damages in the sum of $182. Exceptions will be filed by the counsel for the defence, and the case carried before the full bench of the court, the next session of which is to be held at Concord, June 4.

The Grand Jury return the following indictments: Edward Manning, aggravated assault, plea not guilty, trial this afternoon; Joseph Young, breaking, entering and stealing; John Murphy, Willie Quinn and Patsey Corcoran, simple larceny. These boys are of about a dozen years of age; all plead nolo contendere. Charles O. Spinney and John Tighe, simple larceny.

PERSONAL.—Mr. James R. Kendrick, the new General Superintendent of the Old Colony & Newport Railroad, has been highly eulogized by the American, European and Canadian press. They speak of him as a young man possessed of the highest possible qualifications as a railroad man. The London Times and the Tribune give Mr. Kendrick the name of being a far-seeing, sagacious and companionable gentleman. A compliment so universally acknowledged by the press on both sides of the Atlantic must truly be envied. Mr. Kendrick's connection with the Concord Railway for many years and with one of the Southern railroads has placed him before the public in a very favorable position, whilst his urbanity and general deportment in the discharge of the duties of his office, has left a favorable impression on all whom he has come in contact with. His connection with the Old Colony & Newport Railroad no doubt will prove very advantageous to that company, as well as himself.

ANDY JOHNSON AGAIN. — The re-arrangement of the Congressional Districts of Tennessee, which was made by the last Legislature of that State, is likely to result in the election to Congress of ex-President Johnson, as the successor of Mr. Wisener, who now represents the First District. Mr. Wisener is a Republican, and was elected by 97 majority, but enough Democratic towns are now included in the District since the re-arrangement, to insure his probable defeat, and the election of a Democrat. Johnson's friends are making a strong effort to secure his nomination from that District, and if they do, the Republicans will have hard work to defeat him.

THE CALIFORNIA EARTHQUAKE.—The whole of Owens valley has been moved southward fourteen feet. Over 7000 shocks have occurred, and they still continue, but not with sufficient force to do damage. The earthquake of March 26th hurled immense rocks down the cliffs into the valley of the Yosemite, smashing great pine trees to splinters. An Indian runner from the mouth of the Colorado River says the earthquake caused immense waves to roll up the Gulf of California, doing considerable damage to shipping.

—The Louisville Courier-Journal shows its hope for the future by saying: "St. Louis is swept by tornadoes, Chicago is carried away by conflagrations, Cincinnatians perish by thousands from poisoned whiskey. Louisville is the future great city."

—A married lady complained that her husband ill-used her. Her father hearing it, boxed her ears. "Tell him," said the father, "that if he beats my daughter, I will beat his wife." Rather a pleasant prospect for the lady.

—A Connecticut paper says; "An unhappy and disgraceful family feud in Danbury was brought to a tragic end Saturday, by the head of one family presenting the son of the other with an accordeon."

DEATHS.

In this city, April 6, Mr. JOHN PERRY, aged 83 years, 2 mos., 7 days.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood: they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefit they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take, and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Morning Chronicle.

the tent, and, seeing Ned Strong on the broad grin, frowned severely. Strong instantly assumed an abstracted air and began humming softly.

"I wish I was in Dixie."

"The State of Maine," observed Blakely, with a certain defiance of manner not at all necessary in discussing a geographical question, "is a pleasant State."

"In summer," suggested the stranger.

"In summer, I mean," returned Blakely, with animation, thinking he had broken the ice. "Cold as blazes in the winter, though—ain't it?"

The new recruit merely nodded.

Blakely eyed the man homicidally for a moment, and then, smiling one of those smiles of simulated gayety which the novelists inform us are more tragic than tears, turned upon him with withering irony:

"Trust you left the old folks pretty comfortable?"

"Dead."

"The old folks dead!"

"Quite so."

Blakely made a sudden dive for his blanket, tucked it around him with a painful precision, and was heard no more.

Just then the bugle sounded "lights out"—bugle answering bugle in far-off camps. When our not elaborate nightt-oilets were complete, Strong threw somebody else's old boot at the candle with infallible aim, and darkness took possession of the tent. Ned, who lay on my left, presently reached over to me and whispered, "I say, our friend 'quite so' is a garrulous old boy! He'll talk himself to death some of these odd times if he isn't careful. How he did run on."

The next morning when I opened my eyes the new member of Mess 6 was sitting on his knapsack combing his blende beard with a horn comb. He nodded pleasantly to me, and to each of the boys as they woke up, one by one. Blakely did not appear disposed to renew the animated conversation of the previous night, but while he was gone to make a requisition for what the imagination of Shakespeare himself could not accept as coffee, Curtis ventured to ask the man his name.

"Bladburn, John," was the reply.

"That's rather a long name for every day use," put in Strong. "If it would n't hurt your feelings, I'd like to call you Quite So—for short. Don't say so if you don't like it. Is it agreeable?"

Bladburn gave a little laugh all to himself, seemingly, and was about to say "Quite so," when he caught at the words, blushed like a girl, and nodded a sunny assent to Strong. From that day until the end the sobriquet clung to him.

The disaster at Bull Run was followed, as the reader knows, by a long period of masterly inactivity, so far as the Army of the Potomac is concerned. McDowell, a good soldier, but unlucky, retired to Arlington Heights, and McClellan, who had distinguished himself in Western Virginia, took command of the forces in front of Washington, and bent his energies to reorganizing the demoralized troops. It was a dreary time to the people of the North, who looked fatuitously from week to week for "the fall of Richmond;" it was a sad, dreary time to the denizens of that vast city of tents and forts which stretched in a semicircle before the beleaguered Capital—so tedious and soul-wearing a time that the hardships of forced marches and the horrors of battle became desirable things to them.

Roll-call morning and evening, guard-duty, dress-parades, an occasional reconnoissance, dominos, wrestling-matches, and such rude games as could be carried on in camp, made up the sum of our lives. The arrival of the mail with letters and papers from home was the event of the day. We noticed that Bladburn neither wrote nor received any letters. When the rest of the boys were scribbling away for dear life, with drum-heads and knapsacks and cracker-boxes for writing-desks, he would sit serenely smoking his pipe, but looking out on us through rings of smoke with a face expressive of the toadiest interest.

"Look here, Quite So," Strong would say, "the mail-bag closes in half an hour. Ain't you going to write?"

"I believe not to-day," Bladburn would reply, as if he had written yesterday or would write to-morrow. But he never wrote.

He had become a great favorite with us, and with all the officers of the regiment. He talked less than any man I ever knew, but there was nothing gloomy or sullen in his reticence. It was sunshine—warmth and brightness, but no voice. Unassuming and modest to the verge of shyness, he impressed every one as a man of singular pluck and nerve.

"Do you know," said Curtis to me one day, "that that fellow Quite So is clear grit, and when we come to close quarters with our Palmetto brethren over yonder, he'll do something devilish?"

"What makes you think so?"

"Well, nothing quite explainable; his exasperating coolness as much as anything. This morning the boys were teasing Muffin Fan," (a small mulatto-girl who used to bring muffins into camp three times a week at the peril of her life) "and Jemmy Blunt of Company K—you know him—was rather rough on the girl, when Quite So, who had been reading under a tree, shut one finger in his book, walked over to where the boys were skylarking, and with the smile of a juvenile angel on his face lifted Jemmy out of that and set him down gently in front of his own tent. There Blunt sat speechless, staring at Quite So, who was back again under the tree, pegging away at his little Latin grammar."

That Latin grammar! He always had it about him, reading it or turning over its dog's-eared pages at intervals, in out-of-the-way places. Half a dozen times a day he would draw it out from the bosom of his blouse, which had taken the shape of the book just over the left breast, look at it as if to assure himself it was all right, and then put the thing back. At night the volume lay beneath his pillow. The first thing in the morning, before he was well awake, his hand would go groping instinctively under his knapsack in search of it.

A devouring curiosity seized upon us boys concerning that Latin grammar, for we had discovered the nature of the book. Strong wanted to steal it one night, but concluded not to. "In the first place," reflected Strong, "I haven't the heart to do it, and in the next place I haven't the moral courage. Quite So would plaidly break every bone in my body." And I believe Strong was not far out of the way.

Sometimes I was vexed with myself for allowing this tall, simple hearted country fellow to puzzle me so much. And yet, was he a simple-hearted country fellow? City bred he certainly was not; but his manner, in spite of his awkwardness had an indescribable air of refinement. Now and then, too, he dropped a word or a phrase that showed his familiarity with unexpected lines of reading. "The other day," said Curtis, with the slightest elevation of eyebrow, "he had the cheek to correct my Latin for me." In short Quite So was a daily problem to the members of Mess 6. Whenever he was absent, and Blakely and Curtis and Strong and I got together in the tent, we discussed him, evolving various theories to explain why he never wrote to anybody and why nobody ever wrote to him. Had the man committed some terrible crime, and fled to the army to hide his guilt? Blakely suggested that he must have murdered "the old folks." What did he mean by eternally conning that tattered Latin grammar? And was his name Bladburn, anyhow? Even his imperturbable amiability became suspicious. And then his frightful reticence! If he was the victim of any deep grief or crushing calamity why didn't he seem unhappy? What business had he to be cheerful?

"It's my opinion," said Strong, "that he's a rival Wandering Jew; the original Jacobs, you know, was a dark fellow."

Blakely inferred from something Bladburn had said, or something he hadn't said—which was more likely—that he had been a schoolmaster at some period of his life.

"Schoolmaster be hanged!" was Strong's comment; "can you fancy a schoolmaster going about conjugating baby verbs out of a dratted little spelling book? No, Quite So has evidently been a—a—. Blest if I can imagine what he's been."

Whatever John Bladburn had been, he was a lonely man. Whenever I want a type of perfect human isolation I shall think of him as he was in those days, moving remote, self-contained, and alone in the midst of two hundred thousand men.

Concluded to-morrow.

BARGAINS

IN CENTS' CALF BOOTS, pegged and sewed, by CHAS. E. SHEDD & CO.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE GREATEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - -	104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - -	151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - -	201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - -	$7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - -	14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - -	22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - -	$173.30!

Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - -	6-7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulin, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling, Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Chyrdine, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed Corns and Bunions, the most tender, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and all diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

QUITE SO.

II.

The Indian summer, with its infinite beauty and tenderness, came like a reproach that year to Virginia. The foliage, touched here and there with prismatic tints, drooped motionless in the golden haze. The delicate Virginia creeper was almost minded to put forth its scarlet buds again. No wonder the lovely phantom—this dusky Southern sister of the pale Northern June—lingered not long with us, but, filling the once peaceful glens and valleys with her pathos, stole away rebukefully before the savage engineery of man.

"We're going to Richmond, boys!" shouted Strong, thrusting his head in at the tent; and we all cheered and waved our caps like mad. You see Big Bethel and Bull Run and Ball's Bluff hadn't taught us any better sense.

Rising abruptly from the plateau to the left of our encampment, was a tall hill covered with a stunted growth of red-oak, persimmon, and chestnut. The night before we struck tents I climbed up to the crest to take a parting look at a spectacle which custom had not been able to rob of its enchantment. There, at my feet, and extending miles and miles away, lay the camps of the Grand Army, with its camp fires reflected luridly against the sky. Thousands of lights were twinkling in every direction, some nestling in the valley, some like fire-flies, beating their wings and palpitating among the trees, and others stretching in parallel lines and curves like street-lamps of a city. Somewhere, far off, a band was playing, at intervals, it seemed; and now and then, nearer to, a silvery strain from a bugle shot sharply up through the night, and seemed to lose itself like a rocket among the stars. Suddenly a hand was laid upon my arm.

"I'd like to say a word to you," said Bladburn.

With a little start of surprise, I made room for him on the fallen tree where I was seated. "I mayn't get another chance," he said. "You's the boys have been very kind to me, kinder than I deserve; but sometimes I've fancied that my not saying anything about myself had given you the idea that all was not right in my past. I want to say that I came down to Virginia with a clean record."

"We never doubted it in our hearts, Bladburn."

"If I didn't write home," he continued, "it was because I hadn't any home, neither kith nor kin. When I said the old folks were dead I said it. Am I boring you? If I thought I was—"

"No, Bladburn. I have often wanted you to talk to me about yourself, not from idle curiosity, I trust, but because I liked you that rainy night when you came to the camp, and have gone on liking you ever since. This isn't too much to say, when heaven only knows how soon I may be past saying it or you listening to it."

"That's it," said Bladburn, hurriedly, "that's why I want to talk with you. I've a fancy that I shan't come out of our first battle."

The words gave me a queer start, for I had been trying for several days to throw off a similar presentiment concerning him—a foolish presentiment that grew out of a dream.

"In case anything of that kind turns up," he continued, "I'd like you to have my Latin grammar—you've seen me reading it. You might stick it away in a bookcase, for the sake of old times. It goes against me to think of it falling into rough hands or being kicked about camp and trampled under foot."

He was drumming softly with his fingers on the volume in the bosom of his blouse.

"I didn't count to speak of this to a living soul,' he went on, motioning me not to answer him; "but something took hold of me to-night and made me follow you up here. Perhaps if I told you all you would be more willing to look after the little book in case it goes ill with me. When the war broke out I was teaching school down in Maine in the same village where my father was schoolmaster before me. The old man died, and he died left me quite alone. I lived pretty much by myself, having no interests outside the district school, which seemed in a manner my personal property. Eight years ago last spring a new pupil was brought to the school, a slight slip of a girl, with a sad kind of face and quiet ways. Perhaps it was because she wasn't very strong, and perhaps she wasn't used over well by those who had charge of her, or perhaps it was because my life was lonely, that my heart warmed to the child. It all seems like a dream now, since that April morning when little Mary stood in front of my desk with her pretty eyes looking down bashfully and her soft hair falling over her face. One day I look up, and six years have gone by—as they go by in dreams—and among the scholars is a tall girl of sixteen, with serious, womanly eyes which I cannot trust myself to look upon. The old life has come to an end. The child has become a woman and can teach the master now. So help me heaven, I didn't know that

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cause, and at very reasonable charges. sighs the weary and exhausted one, as the languor and lassitude of Spring comes upon him. Come and receive vigor and strength from the Wonderful South American TONIC

JURUBEBA,

Long and success fully used in its native country, as a Powerful Tonic, and Potent Purifier of the Blood, it is found even to exceed the anticipations founded on its great reputation. According to the Medical and Scientific periodicals of London and Paris, it possesses the MOST POWERFUL TONIC properties known to MATERIA MEDICA.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

is a perfect remedy for all diseases of the BLOOD, ORGANIC WEAKNESS, GLANDULOUS TUMORS, DROPSY, SCROFULA, INTERNAL ABSCESSES, and will restore all the functions of the LIVER, SPLEEN, INTESTINES, UTERINE and URINARY ORGANS.

It is strengthening and nourishing. Like nutritious food, taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation, giving vigor and health.

It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and by its powerful Tonic and restoring effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system.

The News.

O'Connor, who assaulted Queen Victoria, is sentenced to one year at hard labor and twenty lashes.

The Iowa assembly has passed a bill abolishing the penalty of death, 66 to 22.

War has been declared by Guatemala against Honduras and San Salvador.

The Florida Republican State Convention endorsed President Grant.

State News.

A hotel to accommodate 400 guests will be erected at Littleton this season.

Jaffrey has voted to exempt from taxation for five years all manufacturing property that may in the future be erected when the sum invested reaches $10,000.

Most of the persons under indictment by the court in Concord for liquor selling have disappeared. Not having been notified in any manner, they have taken this way to avoid imprisonment, to which they are liable, and hope that a compromise may be effected before their return.

Five inches of rain fell at Kelleyville, near Claremont, in two hours, on night of the 9th. Mr. H. V. Freeman, living near a brook, was awakened in the night by a noise which he found came from the rising waters. His wife and children dressed themselves standing in water ten inches deep, and were taken by Mr. Freeman to higher ground.

Mrs. Marilla M. Ricker of Dover thinks "that so long as women are hanged under the laws, they should have a voice in making them."

The official vote in the 11th Senatorial district re-elects Mr. Fling by 33 majority. Fling, Democrat, has 3754; Greenwood, Republican, 3717; Scattering 4.

On the 9th, in Mont Vernon, Mrs. Aaron Smith, a widow lady of eighty, was left alone sitting by an open fire. It would seem that she had an apoplectic attack, fell forward and was horribly burned all over the upper part of her body.

The town of Nottingham voted at the last annual March meeting to sell its town farm.

At the last annual meeting the town of Brentwood voted to raise no money to defray town expenses, the town being out of debt.

The railroad connection between Concord and Claremont will be completed by July 1.

The Connecticut River Valley fair will be held in Claremont on the 17th, 18th and 19th days of September.

The Exeter News-Letter mentions a notable case of fecundity in that town, five sheep belonging to Nathaniel Woodman giving birth to twelve lambs; three of them producing twins, and two of them triplets.

Nearly four thousand cords of wood are sawed in a year at the Railroad station in Raymond,—a portion of it being sent to some other stations on the road.

S. J. Court, Exeter.—On Wednesday, in the action—Bowley v. Rowell—to recover $20, alleged value of a harness purported to have been stolen, the plaintiff was non-suited for non-appearance.

The action Benton v. Blood, to recover amount of note, the signature to which deft. claimed was fraudulently procured,—plaintiff non-suited, having no case.

Indictments are returned by the grand jury, as follows:

Edward Manning, for aggravated assault with a stone on the person of Mrs. Mary Currier of Exeter. Plea, not guilty.

Joseph Young, for breaking, entering and stealing shoes in Newmarket. Plea, not guilty.

John Murphy, Wm. Quinn and P. Corcoran of Portsmouth, three small boys, for larceny. Sentenced two years in the State prison or five years in reform school, at Manchester. In the cases of Quinn and Corcoran execution was suspended conditionally on their future good behavior; Murphy goes to the reform school for five years.

Charles O. Spinney and George Tighe, simple larceny. Plea not guilty.

The trial of Edward Manning was commenced Thursday afternoon. Edmund Chase of Deerfield, foreman of jury. Verdict not guilty, by reason of insanity. Sentenced to Insane asylum, Concord.

Case Enoch C. Carter v. Boston & Maine Railroad, to recover $100 damages, caused by burning over a piece of woodland in Kingston, by sparks from a locomotive, was settled by payment of $75 and costs by the deft. corporation.

Terrible Steamboat Disaster.—At four o'clock Thursday morning steamer Oceanus, from Red River to St. Louis, when thirty miles above Cairo, exploded her boiler, blowing her upper works almost entirely away, immediately after which the wreck took fire and burned to the water's edge. Ten or twelve passengers clung to the wheel, but the wheel dropped and all but four were lost. A deck passenger, name unknown, was badly scalded, and died. The steamer Belle of St. Louis, bound up, took nearly all the survivors. Wiggins, the Red River pilot, was drowned. Harry Tupp, the pilot who was on the watch, and Captain Reader, were buried in the debris, and were heard calling desperately for help, but the fire gained such headway that they could not be reached, and were burned. The second engineer, Alexander Kennedy, was terribly scalded, so that he was helpless and blind. Fisher, the carpenter, put him on a stage plank with others, but the stage soon capsized and drowned several, including Kennedy. George Keithley, the first engineer, is supposed to be lost. Henry M. Worsham, the first clerk, has not been seen since the explosion. Charles Worsham, the second clerk, Jules Dempereoly, the steward, and Charles Murray, the cabin boy, were found dead, floating in the river, all with life-preservers on. There were five lady passengers, all of whom are supposed to be lost. The bodies of four ladies were seen floating past Watson's landing. Fisher thinks that Pilot Hawes and himself were the only employes of the boat saved, tho' the Belle of St. Louis may have picked up some. The officers of the Shreve state that there were about thirty cabin and thirty-five deck passengers, making with the crew nearly one hundred souls, about eighty of whom are supposed to have been lost.

Blown Up.—The tug Davenport, towing four coal barges near the Conard steamship dock, Jersey City, exploded her boiler on Thursday, and was shattered to pieces, sinking immediately with all on board—six persons. The nearest barge was shattered and sunk, and the second was also badly wrecked and a boy knocked overboard and drowned. Not a vestige of the tug remained above water. A dog fight was in progress on one of the barges, and the attention of all hands is supposed to have been absorbed.

Thistle Juice is unpurchasable over the bar in Portland, now that the new prohibitory law is being vigorously enforced. The Advertiser, among the "Rum Notes," publishes the following:

Three gentlemen went into an oyster saloon last night and called for three stews and three glasses of water. As soon as the water was brought they requested the waiter to furnish an empty glass, when one of the party produced a bottle of whiskey, and the three took their tods with much gusto—and that's the way "the old thing works."

Railroad Loan.—"Horatius" telegraphs us from Lewiston that Lewiston and Auburn have voted to loan their credit for the construction of the Lewiston and Auburn Railroad; this gives a competing line with the Maine Central, and a through route from there to Chicago.

Expressive.—The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says Congressman Henry L. Dawes is a cunning, experienced, singed-cat kind of a man.

—Theatre preaching would seem to have reached its climax in Salem. They baptized some young professors there on the stage of Mechanic Hall, the scenery being appropriately arranged to give force to the illusion. Is not this serving the Lord in the livery of the devil?

—"A free tirader" is what the Chicago Post calls Mr. Greeley.

DIALOGUE.

Stranger. Where is the best place in this city to buy Confectionery or Fruit?

Citizen. At GILBERT'S, 27 Daniel Street, corner Penhallow Street.

St. Does he keep a bar in back?

Ct. He sells neither rum, ale, cider, tobacco or cigars.

St. Does he buy old bankrupt stock of Confectionery and damaged fruit, and sell it 15 per cent. cheaper than the regular trade sell pure articles?

Ct. No sir. He makes his candies of pure refined sugar, and his purchases are made from the purest, freshest and best goods in the market, and he sells at a fair profit.

St. Will he sell at wholesale, or less than half a pound?

Ct. Any amount from one ounce to a ton. Call and see him. m13

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine, and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

Editorial Notices are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. Its popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the Vinegar Bitters, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

Castoria—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach aches, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills.

Holloway's Ointment — Sore Legs, Wounds, Ulcers, &c., can be cured. The rational treatment as indicated by nature, is to reduce the local inflammation, soothe the neighboring nerves, cool the heated blood, and render the watery ichorous discharge consistent and healthy. Happily, Holloway's Ointment accomplishes these ends with unfailing certainty. 25 cents per box or pot.

Corns.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

Piles.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using Briggs' Pile Remedies.

More than forty years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Price of Health,

Like that of liberty, is eternal vigilance. The vapor-laden air of spring exercises a depressing influence on the vital powers. The strongest feel this devitalizing effect; the weak are prostrated by it. Everybody is more or less debilitated at this season, and the feeble instinctively seek the help of medicine. Unfortunately, the "remedy" resorted to sometimes aggravates the mischief. Raw stimulants are eminently pernicious in such cases, and drastic cathartics about as bad. The vital principle needs succor and support, and a reinforcing preparation that will tone and rouse, while it regulates and purifies the system, is the medicine that nature demands. All the medicinal elements required for such emergencies are combined in HOSTETTERS' STOMACH BITTERS, the purest and most efficacious vegetable elixir that the world has ever known. It is a mild stimulant, a powerful tonic, an unequalled appetizer, an absolute specific for diseased digestion, a wonderful nervine, a mild laxative, cathartic, a remedy for liver complaints and periodic fevers, a cure for constipation, a specific for rheumatism, of essential use in all ailments to which the feeble sex are subject, and as a general household medicine unequalled and unapproached. These are the properties which have made Hostetter's Bitters famous everywhere. See to it, however, that you have the true article, for the land is infested with swarms of local bitters, made from condemned liquors and worthless dregs, which greedy wretches who speculate on human life recommend as panaceas for every ill that flesh is heir to. Beware of the charlatans and their poisons.

City Councils.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Thursday evening, April 11.—Petition of Martin Hoyt and others for regulations relative to closing of barbers' shops on Sunday, was received and referred to the City Marshal.

The subject of repairing the Spring Market was referred to Committee on City Lands and Buildings to report. John A. Peterson's request for leave to place a water tank under the Spring Market was referred to the same Committee.

The Committee on Streets were authorized to put the public pumps in order.

Voted, that the Mayor and Committee on Streets be authorized to pave Market Street from Market Square to J. Stokell & Co.'s store.

Voted, that the request of the master of the Haven School for two clocks, four mats, etc., be complied with and the articles procured by Committee on School Houses.

Leave was granted to Joseph R. Carter to erect awning posts in Washington Street, and to John Dixon to lay drain from store on Bow Street to the river beyond low water mark.

Resolved, that the Committee on Streets, with the Mayor, be requested to consider what measures can be taken to secure the laying of a sidewalk on Bridge Street, from Islington Street to the depot of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad.

The Mayor was appointed to receive the State Bonds or such portion as he shall think best.

John H. Locke's application for sidewalk on Langdon Street, was granted.

The request of the Assessors that the police be requested to ascertain the owners of horses, cows and dogs, was received and the order granted.

Voted, that the accounts of J. H. Kent, late City Marshal, be referred to Committee on Police to settle.

The Quarterly Report of the City Marshal was received: Total number of arrests, 149; lodgers 210; amount of fines and costs received, $173.10; amount disbursed $23 10; due the City $150.

Communication from the National Telegraph Memorial Association was left with the Mayor. [The communication contains some resolutions in regard to Prof. Morse's death, and we understand the Mayor will call a meeting of the City authorities on the 16th, to take such action as they see fit.]

The subject of openings of sewers was referred to the Committee on Streets, with power to carry out the vote heretofore passed.

The Committee on Accounts presented bills approved on the following accounts: Fire Department, $232.42; Streets, $120; Salaries, $735.73; Police, 168.50; Contingent, $107.71; Street Lights, $401.53; Watch, $831.08; School Houses, $545.49; Printing, $459 95.

Moved, that the report of the Committee with the bills lie on the table for examination by the minority. Lost—3 ayes, 5 nays.

Voted, that the report be accepted and the bills be paid.

Voted, that the bills approved by the Committee remain in the City Office Friday, for examination by any member of the Board.

Voted, that the Mayor be authorized to make the usual provision for obtaining a temporary loan.

COMMON COUNCIL.—The special Committee to whom was referred the resolution (passed by the Board of Aldermen and sent down for concurrence) authorizing the Mayor and Committee on City Buildings to receive proposals for altering and improving Jefferson Hall building, reported adversely, and concurrence was refused by unanimous vote of the Council.

A joint resolution authorizing the Mayor to lease the Spring Market to Randall & Caswell, was passed.

A joint resolution (from the Board of Aldermen) authorizing the construction of two reservoirs for the use of the Fire Department, was reported back from committee with a recommendation to amend by adding a proviso that each of said reservoirs shall contain 70,000 gallons,—which was done, and the resolution as amended was laid over for one week.

There was considerable discussion concerning the proposed reservoirs, one member of the Council, while expressing entire willingness to support the best measures for procuring a better water supply for the Fire Department, being much in doubt whether a pipe of sufficient size to supply the steamers could not be laid from a point below low-water mark in the North Millpond to the site of the proposed reservoir on Bridge Street, at a cost no greater in the end than a reservoir will require; and he thought the supply of water from such a pipe would be inexhaustible, while even a 70,000-gallon reservoir would not be, with the diminutive feed-pipe which may be expected to be put in from the Aqueduct Company's mains.

It was suggested by another member of the Council that arrangements might be made with the Aqueduct Co., before the reservoirs were commenced, for the insertion of pipes of sufficient size to supplement the large bodies of water always therein so as to render them available in case of a fire lasting many hours.

Another member questioned if the Aqueduct Co. would allow pipes of the size proposed to be used, and thought unavailing attempts had been made in the past to get larger pipes led into the present reservoirs, the Company declining to have anything larger than the present pipe-stem affairs laid down.

The practicability of using Marston's Pond as a head-reservoir, and laying a ten-inch or twelve-inch pipe for the engines to draw from, into the city, was discussed, and seemed to meet with some favor; the scheme for procuring an abundance of water from Raymond Pond, with sufficient head to render hydrants and hose available in case of fire, was also favorably mentioned, and it was suggested that the proposed reservoirs might be as much for "throwing cold water" on the Raymond Aqueduct as to furnish it for throwing on fires.

The chairman of the Committee on Fire Department pressed for immediate and favorable action on the question, but as previously stated the Council laid it over till the next meeting.

Senator Cragin's bill now before Congress, advancing Mate John Swanson to the rank of Master and placing him on the retired list, is an act of justice to a meritorious officer.

Schooner W. H. Y. Hackett, Capt. Moore, arrived at Messrs. Harding & Doane's wharf from a very successful winter fishing trip, April 11th, and looks as trim and new as ever.

C. N. Shaw & Co. announce their Spring Opening of Bonnets, Hats and Millinery Goods (selected in the New York markets by the firm, personally,) for Tuesday and Wednesday, April 16 and 17.

The French Transatlantic Telegraph Company have concluded a contract with the Telegraph Maintenance and Construction Company for laying a fourth telegraph cable between Europe and America. A prospectus of the American Atlantic Telegraph Company, proposing to lay a cable from Milford Haven to Rye Beach, New Hampshire, direct, will be issued in a few days.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening, the wind-bag from the third Ward indulged in his periodical attempt at bluster, but a few quiet remarks from Alderman Wilson had the usual soothing effect. Last year, this individual secured the passage of an ordinance referring all bills to an auditing committee, of which he was a member. This year, Mayor Walker deemed his services on that committee unnecessary. Hence the attempt to have all bills come before the full Board, which being unnecessary, failed.

The carpet-bag from St. John, N. B., to San Francisco and return, has been checked No. 105 and started on its journey. It passed through this city Friday morning. The several baggage agents on the several lines of railroad from the Atlantic to the Pacific, forming direct line of travel from the East to the West, have been requested to give the luggage free passage, and have persons in charge of baggage at points of transfer enter on the way-bill the date and hour of its arrival and departure, and give it speedy passage over their several lines, so that a journal of travel may be published on its return, showing the traveling public the shortest time from shore to shore. It is probable that the telegraph will advise the public from day to day of the wherebouts of the said bag. Said bag, also, may become famous after having accomplished the journey, and in that event will deserve a fitting place among the archives of the nation, if travelling bags are allowed any such place of quiet repose.

THE NEXT SENATOR.—Our genial cotemporary of the Boston Times gets in the following "note" on the coming struggle for U. S. Senator in the incoming legislature:

Mr. Patterson has many Republican friends in the Legislature, and these, counted with the Democrats, outnumber Rollins' voters. If this is so, Mr. Rollins had better begin now to purchase the Democratic legislators, as they claim he did the Democratic voters.

Executors' Sale
OF VALUABLE
Sea Shore Property
AT GLOUCESTER, MASS.,
Belonging to the Estate of Geo. H. Rogers, deceased.
240 ACRES OF LAND,
WITH DWELLING HOUSES, BARNS, GRAPERIES and GREEN HOUSE to be sold
IN ONE LOT.

A RARE CHANCE FOR SPECULATION.

BY virtue of a license from the Probate Court, in and for the County of Essex, will be sold at public Auction, on SATURDAY, the twentieth day of April, 1872, at one o'clock, P. M., on the premises A CERTAIN PARCEL OF LAND with all the BUILDINGS thereon, situated on the sea shore at East Gloucester, near Little Good Harbor Beach, and bounded as shown on a plan made under the direction of S. O. Ellis, O. E., in 1871, being all the land which now belongs to said estate lying Southerly and Easterly of Mount Pleasant Avenue and Southerly of the Town road leading to Little Good Harbor Beach.

Said parcel is well known as the

ROGERS FARM,

and consists of 240 acres of PASTURE and TILLAGE well stocked with young Fruit Trees, etc.

The buildings on the premises are

1. A DWELLING HOUSE with HOT and COLD GRATERIES attached—formerly occupied by Mr. Rogers.
2. A large HOUSE now leased to Mr. E. L. Whitney for a summer boarding house.
3. A GARDENER'S HOUSE with GREENHOUSE and PEACH-HOUSE attached.
4. A large BARN.
5. A large BARN.
6. A FARMER'S HOUSE.
7. A two story French roofed DWELLING HOUSE.
8. A two story French roofed DWELLING HOUSE.
9. A BILLIARD HOUSE.

The premises are delightfully located on the Eastern shore of Cape Ann and have a frontage of a mile on the sea. They command an unobstructed view of the ocean from all parts. Little Good Harbor Beach joins the property on the North, and affords unequalled advantages for ba hing and driving. Boating and fishing facilities are also convenient, and the station of the Eastern Railroad is within ten minutes drive. Good roads are completed on a part of the estate, and many lots are at once available for building.

This is the only large lot of Seashore property in the market on this shore, and a more attractive and desirable place for cannot be found on the coast.

Terms of Sale—$5000 to be paid down at time of sale; Balance in thirty days with interest at seven per cent. Deed to be delivered when the last payment is made.

ALSO,

Immediately after the sale of the above will be sold, on or near the premises, a lot of

Marsh and Upland,

containing about nine acres, situated on the Northerly side of the road leading to Little Good Harbor Beach, and bounded and described as in a deed from Isaac Patch to Geo. H. Rogers dated July 24, 1861, and recorded with Essex Deeds, Book 671, Leaf 95.

Plans of the above property can be seen, and further particulars will be furnished at the office of the Executors in Rogers' Stone Block, Gloucester, and at the office of the Auctioneers, No. 3 Merton Place, rear of 35 Milk St., Boston.

By order of
GEO. J. MARSH and ALFRED MANSFIELD, } Executors.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from first page.

I loved her until that day!

Long after the children had gone home I sat in the school room with my face resting on my hands. There was her desk, the afternoon shadows falling across it. It never looked so empty and cheerless before. I went and stood by the little chair as I had stood hundreds of times. On the desk was a pile of books ready to be taken away, and among the rest a small Latin grammar which we had studied together. What little despairs and triumphs and happy, happy hours were associated with it! I took it up curiously, as if it were some precious dead thing, and turned over the pages and could hardly see them. Turning the pages idly so, I came to a leaf on which something was written with ink in the familiar, girlish hand, "Dear John," through which she had drawn two hasty pencil lines—I wish she hadn't drawn those lines!" added Bladburn under his breath.

He was silent for a minute or two, looking off towards the camps, where the lights were fading out one by one.

"I had no right to go and love Mary. I was twice her age, an awkward, unsocial man, that would have blighted her youth. I was as wrong as wrong can be. But I never meant to tell her. I locked the grammar in my desk and the secret in my heart for a year. I couldn't bear to meet her in the village, and kept away from every place where she was likely to be. Then she came to me and sat down at my feet penitently, just as she used to do when she was a child, and asked me what she had done to anger me; and then, Heaven forgive me! I told her all, and asked her if she could say with her lips the words she had written, and she nestled in my arms all a trembling like a bird and said them over and over again.

When Mary's family heard of our engagement there was trouble. They looked higher for Mary than a mid-aged schoolmaster. No blame to them. They forbade me the house, her uncle's; but we met in the village and at the neighbors' houses, and I was happy, knowing she loved me. Matters were in this state when the war came on. I had a strong call to look after the old flag, and I hung my head that day when the company raised in our village marched by the school house to the railroad station to get I couldn't tear myself away. About this time the minister's son, who had been away to college, came to the village. He met Mary here and there, and they became great friends. He was a likely fellow, near her own age, and it was natural they should like one another. Sometimes I winced at seeing that he was made free of the home from which I was shut out; then I would open the grammar at the leaf where "Dear John" was written in the corner, and my trouble was gone. Mary was sorrowful and pale these days, and I think her people were worrying her.

It was one evening two or three days before we got the news of Bull Run. I had gone down to the cemetery to trim the spruce hedge set round the old man's lot, and was just stepping into the enclosure, when I heard voices from the opposite side. One was Mary's, and the other I knew to be young Marston's, the minister's son. I didn't mean to listen, but what Mary was saying struck me dumb. 'We must never meet again,' she was saying in a wild way. 'We must say good-bye here, forever—good-bye, good-bye'! And I could hear her sobbing. Then, presently, she said, hurriedly, 'No; my hand, not my lips!' Then it seemed he kissed her hands, and the two parted, one going towards the parsonage, and the other out by the gate near where I stood.

I don't know how long I stood there, but the night-dews had wet me to the skin when I stole out of the graveyard and across the road to the school-house. I unlocked the door, and took the Latin grammar from the desk and hid it in my bosom. There was not a sound nor a light anywhere as I walked out of the village. And now," said Bladburn, rising suddenly from the tree trunk, "if the little book ever falls in your way, won't you see that it comes to no harm, for my sake, and for the sake of the little woman who was true to me and didn't love me. Wherever she is to-night, God bless her!"

As we descended to camp with our arms resting on each other's shoulder, the watch-fires were burning low in the valleys and along the hillsides, and as far as the eye could reach, the silent tents lay bleaching in the moonlight.

III.

We imagined that the throwing forward of our brigade was the initial movement of a general advance of the army; but that, as the reader will remember, did not take place until the following March. The Confederates had fallen back to Centreville without firing a shot, and the National troops were in possession of Lewinsville, Vienna, and Fairfax Court-House. Our new position was nearly indentical with that which we had occupied on the night previous to the battle of Bull Run—on the old turnpike road to Manassas, where the enemy was supposed to be in great force. With a field-glass I could see the rebel pickets moving in a bit of woodland on our right, and morning and evening we heard the spiteful roll of their snare-drums.

Those pickets soon became a nuisance to us. Hardly a night passed but they fired upon our outposts, so far with no harmful result; but after a while it grew to be a serious matter. The rebels would crawl on all-fours from the wood into a field covered with underbrush and lie there in the dark for hours, waiting for a shot. Then our men took to the rifle-pits, ten or twelve feet long by four or five deep, with the loose earth banked up a few inches high on the exposed sides. All the pits bore names more or less felicitious, by which they were known to their tenants. One was called "The Pepper Box," another "Uncle Sam's Well," another "The Reb-trap," and another, I am constrained to say, was named after a not-to-be-mentioned tropical locality. Along this rude sort of nomenclature predominated, there was no lack of softer titles, such as "Fortress Matilda" and "Castle Mary," and one had, though unintentionally, a literary flavor to it, "Blair's Grave," which was not popularly considered as reflecting unpleasantly on Nat Blair, who had assisted in making the excavation.

Some of the regiment had discovered a field of late corn in the neighborhood, and used to boil a few ears every day while it lasted, for the boys detailed on the night-picket. The corn-cobs were always scrupulously preserved and mounted on the parapets of the pits. Whenever a rebel shot carried away one of these barbette guns, there was swearing in that particular trench. Strong, who was very sensitive to this kind of disaster, was complaining bitterly one morning, because he had lost three "pieces" the night before.

"There's Quite So, now," said Strong, "when a Minie-ball comes ping! and knocks one of his guns to flinders, he merely smiles, and doesn't at all see the degradation of the thing."

Poor Bladburn! As I watched him day by day going about his duties, in his shy, cheery way, with a smile for every one and not an extra word for any body, it was hard to believe he was the same man who, that night before we broke camp by the Potomac, had poured out to me the story of his love and sorrow in words that burned in my memory.

While Strong was speaking, Blakley lifted aside the flap of the tent and looked in on us.

"Boys, Quite So was hurt last night," he said with a white tremor to his lip.

"What!"

"Shot on picket."

"Why, he was in the pit next to mine," cried Strong.

"Badly hurt?"

"Badly hurt."

I knew he was; I need not have asked the question. He never meant to go back to New England!

Bladburn was lying on the stretcher in the hospital-tent. The surgeon had knelt down by him, and was carefully cutting away the bosom of his blouse. The little Latin grammar, stained and torn, slipped and fell to the floor. Bladburn gave me a quick furtive glance. I picked up the book, and as I placed it in his hand, the chilly fingers closed softly over mine. He was sinking fast. In a few minutes the surgeon finished his examination. When he rose to his feet there were tears on the weather-beaten cheeks. He was a rough outside, but a tender heart.

"My poor lad," he blurted out, "it's no use. If you've any thing to say, say it now, for you've nearly done with this world."

Then Bladburn lifted his eyes slowly to the surgeon, and the old smile flitted over his face as he murmured,

"Quite so."

BARGAINS

IN GENTS' CALF BOOTS, pegged and sewed, by CHAS. E. SHEDD & CO.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speed and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1st of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

☞ By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.

At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.

At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid-up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.

At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.

At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30

Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6-7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the relief of Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, bilious, malarious, scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, renders exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the most acute Blisters on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything else in use.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has failed. By ceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodist and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

GOOD ENOUGH.

The following campaign song to the familiar air of "Oh! hang Schanoker," is respectfully dedicated, with out permission, to the delegates to the Cincinnati Convention:—

Grant's a smoker, Grant's a smoker,
He hold muskets he will no blows.
Howl, howl, howl, dat is my Schurz, ah.

Grant's a smoker, Grant's a smoker,
Wouldn't turn out the civil service.
Growl, growl growl dat is my Trumbull;
Howl, howl howl, dat is my Schurz, ah;
With my growl, growl, growl, and my howl howl, howl, &c.

Grant's a smoker, Grant's a smoker,
And his wife has got relatives,
Bray, bray, bray, dat is my Tipton:
Growl, growl, growl, dat is my Trumbull;
Howl, howl, howl, dat is my Schurz, ah;
With my bray bray, bray, and my growl, growl growl, &c.

Grant's a smoker, Grant's a smoker,
Wouldn't turn out bad Tom Murphy.
Yelp, yelp, yelp dat is my Tipton;
Bray, bray, bray, dat is my Tipton;
Growl, growl, growl, dat is my Trumbull;
Howl, howl, howl, dat is my Schurz, ah;
With my yelp, yelp, yelp, and my bray, bray, bray, &c

Grant's a smoker, Grant's a smoker,
Don't believe the One Term humbug
Write, write, write, dat is my Greeley;
Yelp, yelp yelp, dat is my Fenton;
Bray, bray, bray, dat is my Tipton;
Growl, growl, growl, dat is my Trumbull;
Howl, howl, howl, dat is my Schurz, ah;
With my write, write, write, and my yelp yelp yelp, &c.

Grant's a smoker, Grant's a smoker,
Ignored me in San Domingo
Speech speech, speech dat is my Sumner;
Write, write, write, dat is my Greeley;
Yelp, yelp, yelp, dat is my Fenton;
Bray, bray, bray, dat is my Tipton;

—While the "Fat Contributor" was lecturing at Cairo recently the gas went out just as he got to the place where the second laugh comes in. The lecturer took in the situation at once, and continued his remarks without the least pause or hesitation, as though nothing unusual had happened. The audience were not long in seeing the point, notwithstanding the absence of light, and laughed until the tears ran down their cheeks. At the close of the lecture Gris held a consultation with the janitor before leaving the platform, and then stated to the audience, as though it was a matter of surprise to him, that he had been informed that there had been something wrong with the lights during the lecture, in consequence of a new metre being placed in the building. Whether it was long or short metre he could not say, but he was sure it did not metre expectations.

ASSASSINATION FORESHADOWED BY DREAMS.—An Associated Press telegram from Chicago, received on Thursday evening last, announced the murder near Vienna Illinois, on the 20th ult., of Mr. C. Clymore, of the firm of Johnson & Co. Strange to say, on the 1st inst. Hon. Hunlio King of Washington, who had corresponded with the deceased for several years received a letter from Clymore dated March 25, in which the writer says: "I feel distressed this morning by reason of something uncommon. I have dreamed four successive nights of being murdered. I have very little faith in dreams, though this is so singular." The dreams in question appear to have occurred on the nights of March 21, 22, 23, and 24; according to the dispatch referred to above the murder must have happened Friday evening, March 29.—Washington Star.

SECRETARY ROBESON AND THE SECOR CLAIMS.—The existence in the Navy department of an important document bearing on the last payment made by Secretary Robeson to the Secors has just been made public. It is a letter dated at New York, January 5th, 1871, addressed to Secretary Robeson and signed by twenty-eight of the leading bankers and business men of that city, asking him to settle as soon as possible the claim of the Secors, and urging it on the ground that it was by the extraordinary exertions of the Secors that some of the iron monitors were got ready for use in time for them to be of great service to the government, one of them having captured the rebel ram Atlanta. An examination of the record of the Senate at the time the law of 1868 was passed authorizing the payment to the Secors of $115,000, sustains the interpretation of the law given to it by the Secretary.

THE ALABAMA ARBITRATION. — All doubts concerning the presentation of the English "case" at Geneva on the 15th instant are removed by the statement of Mr. Gladstone in the House of Commons that it is prepared and on the way. With the case is transmitted a note reserving "the rights of the Queen," which action the Premier assured the Commons avoids any compromise of the position of the government relative to the consequential claims. Disraeli succeeded in extracting the interesting fact that the Lord Chief Justice will continue to act as a member of the board of arbitration, and that the work of arbitration will be begun without delay.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE HORSE AND HIS RIDER.—It was a happy day for the Horse and his rider when the MUSTANG LINIMENT was introduced as a cure for the external diseases and injuries of both. In the stable, the barn and the household his wonderful emollient is equally useful. If a horse is spavined or foundered, or harness galled, or afflicted with any other of the many superficial ills that equine flesh is heir to, the Liniment effects a speedy cure, and it is equally efficacious when applied to draught oxen or cows suffering from outward swellings, sprains, or hurts of any description. As an application for bruises, cuts, burns, rheumatism, stiff joints, spasms, sore aches, earache and toothache, it takes precedence of all other topical remedies, and is therefore an article of prime necessity in families.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, should deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to Dr. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its curative and sanative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poisons. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and nervous disorders of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, obtained from the wilds of California, are unknown to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is tremendous and continually increasing. s8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has prescribed fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its moral taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach aches, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not disturb or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist on your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT — Sore Legs Wounds, Ulcers, &c., can be cured. The natural treatment as indicated by nature, is to reduce the local inflammation, soothe the aggravating nerves, cool the heated blood, and render the weary sufferer comfortable and cheerful. Happily, Holloway's ointment accomplishes these ends with unfailing certainty. 25 cents per box or pot.

CORNS — Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Throat, Bitterest Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. s12

PILES. The unceasing torture from internal, bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure must be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Price of Health.

Like that of liberty, is eternal vigilance. The vapor-laden air of spring exercises a depressing influence on the vital powers. The strongest feel the exhausting effect; the weak are prostrated by it. Everybody is more or less debilitated at this season, and the feeble instinctively seek the help of medicine. Unfortunately, the "spring fever" resorted to sometimes aggravates the malady. Raw stimulants are eminently pernicious in such cases, and drastic cathartics do not avail. The vital principle needs nurse and support, and a reinforcing preparation that will tone and rouse, which regulates and purifies the system, is the medicine that nature demands. All the medicinal elements required for such emergencies are combined in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the purest and most efficacious vegetable elixir that the world has ever known. It is a mild stimulant, a powerful tonic, an unequalled specific for an absolutely torpid condition of digestion, a wonderful nervine, a moderate cathartic, a remedy for liver complaints and periodic fevers, a cure for constipation, a specific for rheumatism, of essential use in all ailments to which the feeble sex are subject, and as a general household medicine unequalled and unapproached. These are the properties which have made Hostetter's Bitters famous everywhere. See to it, however, that you have the true article, for the land is infested with swarms of local bitters, made from condemned liquors and worthless drugs, which greedy wretches who speculate on human life recommend as panaceas for every ill that flesh is heir to. Beware of the charlatans and their poisons.

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfect harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable smell. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 5 BOND STREET, N.Y.

THE MAINE LUMBER INTEREST.—The loggers are all out of the woods. The operations of the past winter were more extensive than ever before known. The total product of the State, as near as can be estimated, of the cut of logs, is rising seven hundred millions of feet. Of this amount, the Kennebec lumbermen have cut 110,000,000 feet, the largest ever cut. The Penobscot lumbermen have at least 225,000,000 feet. Most of timber product is spruce. An intelligent lumberman says that within five years the supply of pine will be exhausted. In the operations of the past winter at the head waters of the Kennebec, there were cut some twenty million feet of pine, while the Penobscot lumbermen cut some thirty or forty millions of feet.

OF VALUABLE

Sea Shore Property

AT GLOUCESTER, MASS.,

Belonging to the Estate of Geo. H. Rogers, deceased.

240 ACRES OF LAND,

WITH DWELLING HOUSES, BARNS, GRAPERIES and GREEN HOUSE to be sold

IN ONE LOT.

A RARE CHANCE FOR SPECULATION.

BY virtue of a license from the Probate Court, in and for the County of Essex, will be sold at public Auction, on SATURDAY, the twenty-third day of April 1872, at one o'clock P. M., on the premises, A CERTAIN PARCEL OF LAND with all the BUILDINGS thereon, situated on the rock shore at East Gloucester, near Little Harbor Beach, and bounded as shown on a plan thereof under the direction of S. O. Ellis, C. E., in 1871, being all the land which now belongs to said estate lying Southerly and Easterly of Mount Pleasant Avenue and Seaglen; of the Town road leading to Little Good Harbor Beach and parcel is well known as the an Estate of 240 acres of PASTURE and TILLAGE and enjoyed a fine view of Ipswich Bay, Plum Island, Salisbury Beach and the Neck.

The buildings on the premises are

1. A DWELLING HOUSE with HOT and COLD WATER PIPES attached — entirely modernized by Mr Rogers.
2. A large HOUSE now leased to Mr. E. L. Whittier as summer boarding house.
3. A GARDENER'S HOUSE with GREENHOUSE and PEACH HOUSE attached.
4. A large BARN.
5. A large BARN.
6. A FARMER'S HOUSE.
7. A two story French roofed DWELLING HOUSE.
8. A two story French roofed DWELLING HOUSE.
9. A BILLIARD HOUSE.

The premises are thoughtfully located on the Eastern shore of Cape Ann and have a frontage of a mile on the sea. To a command an unobstructed view of the outer harbor of Gloucester, Little Good Harbor Beach and Plum Island, the property is the most desirable and affords unequaled advantages for boating and driving. Bathing and fishing facilities are also convenient, and the station of the Essex Railroad is within ten minutes drive. Wood roads are completed on a part of the estate, and many lots are at once available for building. This is the only large tract of Sea-shore property in the market on this shore and a more desirable place for cannot be found on the coast.

Terms of Sale—$500 to be paid down at time of sale; Balance in thirty days with interest at seven per cent. Deed to be delivered when the last payment is made.

ALSO,

Immediately after the sale of the above will be sold, on or near the premises, a lot of

Marsh and Upland,

containing about nine acres, situated on the Northerly side of the road leading to Little Good Harbor Beach, bounded and described as in a deed from Joseph Dolliver to O. H. Rogers, dated July 21, 1864, and recorded with Essex Deeds, Book 671 Leaf 92.

Plans of the above property can be seen, and further particulars will be furnished at the office of the executors in Rogers' Stone Block, Gloucester, and at the office of the Auctioneers, No. 3 Merrimack Place, near the Old Museum, Boston.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed in reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claim of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. Real Estate Changes.

Hon. Frank Jones has purchased the Sheafe property on Market, Deer and High Streets, covering about two acres of ground. The purchase includes the block now occupied by Mr. Jones and others and the buildings lower down the street from No. 82 to No. 89, inclusive, with the stores of Messrs. Albert A Payne and Henry L. Garrett. Across the street the purchase includes the old Cushing House, the residence of A. A. Payne and the Sheafe mansion on the corner of Deer Street; the vacant lot running back to High Street and several dwellings on Deer Street are part of the property.

M. P. Beton & Co. sold the Shaw house on Dover Street by auction, Saturday, to Mr. Edmund Whalley for $2,112.50.

J. E. Rider purchased Leach's Island by auction, Saturday, for $925. It was the property of the late Sampson L. Russell.

Thomas H. Odion has purchased a lot near the Kearsarge Mills and Concord Railroad for $175.

We hear that the Ladd estate on High Street, near Congress, has been purchased by three gentlemen, who propose altering the large mansion into a public hall. We do not vouch for the truth of the report.

That "Outrage."

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen held Thursday evening, April 11, every member was present. The Committee on Accounts (two aldermen and one councilman) reported that they had examined the bills against the city presented during the month of March, and handed to the Mayor a descriptive list, with each bill mentioned under its proper head, viz., Salaries, Fire Department, Police, School Houses, Streets, etc., together with the bills properly filed and endorsed by competent authorities, and recommended their payment. The list was carefully read aloud by the Mayor; the file of bills was presented for examination by any member of the Board, no one objecting to any of the claims, a large proportion being the quarterly payments due the various officers of the city, including the Clerk's and Police Justice's salaries. It was voted to pay the bills, in spite of the nonsensical though loud objections of Alderman Hatch, whose motion to lay them all on the table for a week was promptly voted down. The Committee on Accounts offered to stay as long as he wished, and meet again Friday evening if necessary; to go through with the accounts, item by item, and give all the information possible to be desired in regard to the whole, or any one of the bills; they told him also that the bills would be on file in care of the City Clerk, who would furnish him with copies of them to survey at his leisure. But he was determined to be miserable, if he could not keep the Police and Firemen out of their pay another week.

There is an ordinance making the second Saturday of each month pay day; every bill in the file was payable on that day; and as they were in the hands of the Board for action, and as the especial business of the meeting was the examination and allowance of such quarterly and monthly claims as became due the following pay-day, the long, nonsensical speeches which the unhappy man attempted to inflict upon them were somewhat rudely broken in upon by Aldermen who were a little more sarcastic than polite. If he had talked less and ciphered more, he could have duplicate bills for present scrutiny or future reference. The members of the Board, including the Mayor, endure occasional avalanches of drivel with remarkable nonchalance, and smile to see how high some cats can get their backs.

So much for the ridiculous side of the matter—which assumes an approach to seriousness when a man holding an honorable position in the City Councils sanctions the publication of such malicious lies as are contained in an article headed "An outrage upon tax-payers," one of the declarations of which are as true as the rest; we will quote it: "Bill's against the City, when once in the hands of the Committee on Accounts, are not allowed to pass under the eye of any other member of the Board until after they are ordered to be paid." If the author of that sentence is not a fool he is a first-premium liar. The patrons of the paper which published that and other similar statements must be of a very low order of intellect, if they can be made to believe that the Board of Mayor and Aldermen will vote to pay bills against the city which are not allowed to pass under the eye of any (excepting two) members of the Board until after they are ordered to be paid. If the aspiring Alderman whose inspirations give to the world the sensational reports of our municipal affairs wants cheap notoriety, he is destined to be happy yet. OAKS.

Writing in Schools.

Messrs Editors:—Though interested in the schools and the teachers of this city, the writer would prefer to keep clear of the controversy in regard to the employment of a special teacher of penmanship, feeling that this matter belongs exclusively to the school committee to regulate as they in their wisdom may deem best; but "Spencerian's" blunders and mis-statements demand reply.

We fully agree with "Spencerian" that the construction of his head must be "peculiar," for in no other way can his statements and insinuations be accounted for.

In his first communication he is astonished that a course of study so beneficial has been thus summarily dealt with by the committee; in this respect, every one at all conversant with the matter, knows that "Spencerian" errs; the course of study has not been discontinued—on the contrary, as far as we know or can learn from inquiry, teachers are instructed to continue the course of study, explaining principles and using charts, in every respect as under the special teacher.

"Spencerian" gives us one sugar coated dose in speaking of a "good corps of teachers," "valiant work," etc.; but he spoils the whole by intimating that Portsmouth teachers know little of their work and care less than they know.

How can a "good corps of teachers" do valiant service in the cause of education," if they are so careless of the interests of their pupils as to "know comparatively nothing of the system" of penmanship which they have heard and seen Mr. Montgomery teach for two and a quarter years? If "Spencerian" is acquainted with schools, and he claims to be, he knows that a "good teacher" could not by any possibility be associated with a good teacher like Mr. Montgomery and be thus ignorant of subjects taught. "Spencerian" should already know that in teaching a system of penmanship a thorough knowledge of principles is more important than the ability to give perfect illustrations.

Were "Spencerian" to consult Mr. M. himself he would find that the teacher do know something of the system and have even been of some service in teaching it during his term of service.

While point "Spencerian's" interest in our schools will be maintained and that he will occasionally give teachers and committee the light and instruction which they so much need, having in his statements, however, a due regard for fact. Q.

The Concert.

Miss Vinnie H. Maynard's concert at the Temple, to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, will be one of the best vocal entertainments ever given in this city. Miss Maynard will be assisted by Mrs. S Grace Holt, one of Boston's favorite contraltos, Mr. A. D. Maynard, pianist, the famous Temple (or Masonic) Quartette of Boston, including Mr. W. H Fessenden, the celebrated tenor, and Miss Mary E. B. Millard of this city, as accompanist. Miss Maynard is known here, as a lady and a pleasing singer, and Miss Miller is a native of this city and needs no introduction to our music lovers; and Mr. Maynard's reputation as a pianist is high.

Mr. Fessenden, the tenor of the Masonic Quartette, has a voice of very unusual richness and power, naturally, and highly cultivated—like the other members of the Quartette, he is a thoroughly trained singer. The encomiums of the musical critics of Boston, and of the press in other places where they have given or assisted at concerts, to one who has never listened to they music seem to border very closely on the extravagant; but to one who has heard them sing the unqualified praise bestowed is recognized as but their just due.

The Quartette took part in a concert at Dover recently, and a local paper says: "seldom have we had so much talent combined in one concert, and those who stayed away missed a great musical treat;" adding that "the Temple Quartette sang all their pieces in unsurpassed style," and that "the song, 'Norah,' by Mr. Fessenden, was beautifully rendered." The notice of the concert closes by saying that "the quartette, 'He that Shall p.' by Mrs. Fox and the Temple Quartette, which closed the highly appreciated banquet of beautiful harmony, was sung with striking effectiveness and power. In fact, the whole concert was so excellent as to give entire satisfaction, and even the most captious critics could take no exceptions." Mr. Fessenden's "Norah" and the quintette which so aroused the enthusiasm of our Dover cotemporary, will be included in the programme for to-morrow evening.

Tickets are for sale at Preston's and Joy's stores. See advertisement.

Portsmouth As It Is.

The Boston Globe publishes an interesting letter from its Portsmouth correspondent, from which we make the following extracts:—

In business, especially manufacturing, Portsmouth has improved not a little, of late years. The railroads killed our commerce and import business, as they did small towns generally along the coast; and we are one just beginning to recover from the effect in the change in the mode of travel and transport. The hosiery weaving business, which was so early and successfully taken up here, has undergone many changes, and is still presented to a considerable amount. Barry Brothers, of Boston, are now proprietors of the largest hosiery establishment, formerly owned and and conducted by Jarvis Pepper, who came here from England many years ago. Mr. Daniel Pepper, recently deceased here, (father of Mr. John Pepper, a native of this city, and now of the firm and Lake Village hosiery mills, and well known as an inventor of hosiery looms), was also one of the number of early English emigrants to this town, who have become substantial and esteemed citizens. T. Wardwell & Sons, Messrs. Cartledge, and others, are also engaged in the business; and a large quantity of stockings and other goods of T. Brugger of Manchester, and other makers, are sent here to be sewed, which furnishes good employment for numerous women and children skilled in the work

The Kearsarge steam mill our only cotton factory, although a noble edifice, and well appointed, has had a hard run of luck; but is now doing well, and turning out a large quantity of sheeting and shirting. W. H. Thompson, Esq., of Boston, the treasurer, is popularly credited with much of this improvement in things. The carriage business established here by Crane Brothers, three years ago, has already grown to a high responsibility, both in quantity and quality of their work.

Shoe manufacturing has attained considerable importance here of late years. We have one of the oldest boot and shoe establishments to be found anywhere, and it is worthy of mention in The Globe, for its numerous customers are found in about half the States in this Union. It is a quiet and substantial store on Market street; and the eminently worthy proprietors, Messrs. Hill & Carter, the oldest business firm by far of any sort in the city, have tried to protect men's soles, and women's too, for about thirty-odd years, with good success. The senior of the firm, Aaron H. Hill, Esq., has also within a few years organized a new savings bank, the Rockingham Ten Cents, which has been a great benefit to this business community. "There is nothing like leather,"—except money.

Then we have the wholesale establishment of Thomas S. Nowell, Esq., who from hammering the lapstone himself personally a few years ago, has come to employ about two hundred hands, for whose best convenience he has erected a substantial five-story brick manufactory on State street, and is turning out an immense quantity of men's, women's and misses' goods yearly, the superior quality of which secures them ready sales. Mr. Nowell is one of our livest and most important and valued men, and is extensively and favorably known among all generally by means of his large store on Milk and Pearl streets in Boston, and his branch house in Buffalo; and his orders extend to California. He has this season begun to manufacture men's legged boots of fine qualities. The Rockingham Co-operative Boot and Shoe Company, manufacturers of fine machine-sewed work, was organized about a year ago, as a stock company; and their business has been so well managed by Col. J. Albert Sanborn, the president, that their excellent goods find quick market, and they have recently removed into larger quarters. They employ thirty hands. The supper manufactory of A. F. & C. Davis has also built up a good business, and has recently put in a steam engine and other machinery to increase their capacity for manufacture. They are now doing some work in common grades of serge boots, also, and employ forty or fifty hands. The superior facilities offered for manufacturers in this city enable them to put their goods on the market at a price below many other places.

OUR CLIMATE.—A medical correspondent of the Massachusetts Board of Health, of Rockport, Cape Ann, furnishes the Board with a sketch of the climatic peculiarities of Cape Ann and the diseases of that section of the State, derived from observation extending through thirty-three years' practice, which is more or less applicable to every part of New England and which should be generally known. He says:

"The climate of Cape Ann may be said to be a little exaggeration of the climate of the New England coast generally. The Cape itself, being an island rather than a cape, is exposed to the full influence of the sea breezes in all directions. The mildness of the sea that has been thought to be especially prevalent here is exhumption, and it has been the fashion to attribute it to the prevalence of east winds.

An important fact bearing on the question of the influence of the East or sea-winds, and which seems to me decisive, is that they are made the scapegoat for violations of hygienic and social laws. I find while our best lands lie on the most Easterly and exposed parts of the Cape and our farms are as good in all weathers, not an instance has occurred of a farmer dying of consumption during my residence here, while repeated instances have occurred where the sons of farmers have left their fathers' employment and, becoming students, or entering into mercantile pursuits, have fallen in the prime of life victims to this disease. Nor is this exemption confined to the period of one generation. Our oldest citizens inform me that they have no recollection of a farmer dying of consumption."

AN ELECTRICAL JOKE WITH A SEQUEL.—An amusing innovation agitates certain Sacramento loungers, and as operation is now connected by the Bee of that city: "The authorities at the telegraph office in the passenger depot have uncovered and untwisted a very happy idea of affording a cheap and rational amusement to lounge rs therabout. A box running the full length of the front of the office, on the outside, has heretofore furnished a temptingrest for the habitues. This has been covered with zinc, which has been connected with the batteries that were contained in the box. A person sitting upon the box without touching his hands thereto will not feel the electricity, but if the hands drop on the box, or he puts them thereon to assist him to rising, he receives such a sudden and astonishing shock as sends him an unbelievable number of feet toward the lofty roof and the adjacent river. Any good day a person may see some of these unfortunates unexpectedly stuck with this demonstrated lightning, describing a fine fast parabola in the air. Inside of the office an almost imperceptible wire conducts the electricity into the iron handles of a specious armchair. A large gentleman sat down therein the other day, and leaning luxuriously back, he laid his hands upon the arms, and in that very instant he was astounded at finding himself trying to butt a hole through the ceiling. The sequel to this joke is not quite as amusing as the story, for the Assistant Superintendent happened to take a seat in one of the chairs, and on his return to the floor from his aerial flight he dismissed some of the practical jokers."

MR. DUNHAM, of the Boston Times, has lost his temper, vide the following extract:

We wish the editor who cut up that edition of Darwin into newspaper paragraphs could be compelled to read the volume over and over again for the next six years. A few days since it was the desire of one of the Times editors to add something interesting to the paper, and, of course he had recourse to the scissors. The first paragraph he "struck" in the first exchange opened was that famous quotation from Darwin, "There can be no doubt that dogs feel shame as distinct from fear, and something very like modesty when begging too often for food. A great dog shows the snarling of a little dog." etc. We had printed that six months ago, and therefore he proceeded to open another paper, and discovered on the miscellaneous page that "Dogs feel shame," etc., according to Darwin Another was opened, and in a conspicuous place Darwin observed that "Dogs feel shame," under the circumstances before mentioned; still another with the same result. The scissorer began to get disgusted, and remarked that he wished Darwin's dogs were all dam—aged beyond recovery. Then shifting to the Western exchanges we found that dogs felt shame in the principal cities all the way from Buffalo to Salt Lake. He then took a clean jump to San Francisco, and with a smile of triumph and relief shoved his scissors into the favorite department of a favorite newspaper. He dislodged a paragraph, and looked to see what he had secured. It was an item by Darwin, stating that "Dogs feel shame;" but we will not weary the reader by further recital. With a bowl of despair he rushed into the street, and the last seen of him he was making for City Hall, to urge the passage of an ordinance to protect editors against Darwin's dogs.

—A man made a disturbance in the gallery of a theatre and loud cries arose of "Throw him over! Throw him over!" Just at the moment they were about to put this proposition into effect, a dear creature in the parquette looked smilingly up and with a sweet voice cried, "Don't throw him over — please don't. Kill him where he is."

—A late flood in Oregon drowned one thousand coons.

400 OF THE SINGERS

Falling to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some one leading strength or feature of finish, some advantage in running or noiseless of wear or price; and many illustrations we have said to be good points, all the agents will give them use in preference, in order only the world-the purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case, but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is really Self-Acting, and has NO BETTER SHOW EVER INVENTED. It is lighter running and requires but little power to do work equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

By a NEW METHOD OF LIFE ASSURANCE, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PRACTICAL RESULTS in a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 21 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 627.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. Documents, giving full particulars of the rules of the Company with regard to the issue of the above Savings Fund policy, extended tables of rates, and other interesting matter, may be obtained by application to the

It will cure tetter all pimples, humbly pimples, cure scaly eruptions, Herpes, Humors, &c., it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Hesitation, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleghanian absolutely possesses more curative power on than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy and $1000 will be paid if found different from its representations.

COUGHS, Much has been said of Briggs' Throat Medicine, and many times has have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, but nothing has been so eminently successful or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain of Corns, caused by pressure of Boots, the unessing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from lingering Nails cannot be described. Thousands suffer not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are to acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual and just for all the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Corn Plaster is a healing ointment; immediately relieved by the application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest, the largest and severest Blisters, the most exquisite Chilblains on the soles or backs of the feet, are qualified in the cure of Chilblains or Frozen Feet. The Alleanaiter for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and many every attempts to cure them have been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolute cure for internal, bleeding, external, and blind piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

WELCOME, LITTLE STRANGER.

BY A DISPLACED THREE-YEAR OLD.

Mamma bought a baby,
Little bitsy thing;
Sink I mos could pat him
From my rocker I sing.
Ain't he awful ugly?
Ain't he awful pink?
"Just come down from heaven,"
Tat's a fib, I think.

Doctor told an-zer
Great big swimmer die;
Nessan't out of joint zen,
Tat ain't why I cry.
Mamma's a up bedroom—
Guess he makes her sick;
Frow him in ze gutter,
If I can, right quick.

Cuddle him and love him!
Call him "Blessed imp!"
Don't care if my kite ain't
Got a bit of string!
Send me off my dolly
Every single day,
"Be a good boy, Charlie; Run away and pay."

"Sink I ought to love him!"
No, I won't; to zore!
Nasty crying baby,
Not got any hair,
Got all my nice kisses,
Got my place in bed;
Mean to take my drum-stick
And crack him on ze head.

A LESSON FROM A SICK MONKEY.—Young ladies who insist on going to evening parties when they are afflicted with colds, notwithstanding the insufficiency of their clothing and the inclemency of the weather, should read "a case in comparative pathology" given by a correspondent of the Lancet, from which they will see that a chimpanzee in the Zoological Gardens, by carefully following the directions of his medical advisers, and exhibiting an amount of common sense—too often, alas! not to be witnessed in human species—succeeded in warding off the consequences of an illness which, if neglected, would no doubt have been attended with fatal results.

It appears that this animal, who, although barely two years old, is endowed with the intelligence of a monkey of riper years, caught a violent cold and cough during a frosty night in January, attended with loss of appetite, a high pulse, and other feverish symptoms. At first the monkey wisely restricted its diet, taking only grapes, orange juice, and a little milk. As, however, the urgent symptoms increased, it was persuaded to take small doses of liquor of acetate of ammonia, with ipecacuanha wine and aromatic spirit of ammonia, every four hours, and also to wear a "linseed-meal jacket poultice" round its chest for an hour or two at a time. Once or four times a day, at other times wearing a flannel band and a cloth jacket.

Although it derived some relief from this treatment, yet in a day or two it became worse, and was at least reduced to such a state of weakness that it could only lie on its back or one side with its paws open, as if too exausted to make any effort at all. Disliking its cough mixture, it was given ipecacuanha wine in its milk, but, the exhaustion increasing, a teaspoonful of brandy was substituted for the ipecacuanna wine, and added to its milk each time it took it. For some days it remained in a listless state, merely presenting one of its feet to any acquaintance who visited it, but evidently liking to be attended to and nursed.

It is most gratifying to learn that a steady adherence to this treatment of poultices and brandy and milk resulted at the end of a few days in a change for the better; and although for some little time it would take no solid food, except from the keeper's mouth, yet its appetite gradually improved, and in about three weeks, though much thinner and weaker than before its illness, it was in excellent spirits, and is now not only able to climb its ladder, but is "as lively as ever." If this young monkey had insisted on going out in the evening in a low dress instead of remaining quietly at home in a "linseed meal jacket poultice," the Zoological Society would probably have had to deplore its loss.

—A little story comes from Detroit which has a severe moral for those parents who are wont to disregard the fears of their children. A father and mother went away in the evening and left their little four-year old boy alone, although he begged piteously to be taken because he was afraid of wolves and bears. They came back and found the child had become insane from fright, and is likely to be a moping idiot for the rest of his days.

— The Norwich Advertiser has booked itself up in the genealogy of spring, whom it thus addresses: "Welcome always, gracious and beautiful spring, mother of flowers, sister of stars and daughter of Heaven!" Comes of a good family, rather.

— In Chicago the bill-stickers are so energetic that they go into the barbers' shops and paste handbills on the soles of the boots of those customers who are under the hands of the man of the razor.

—If thine enemy wrong thee, buy each of his children a drum.

TUESDAY, APRIL 16, 1872.

The News.

It is reported as probable that the Haytien government will declare war against Baez, who is charged with attempting to overthrow President Saget

The Union Pacific Railroad is clear and the trains on time.

The Atalanta boat club of New York sailed for London on Saturday.

Coal has been discovered in Cedar county, Nebraska, half a mile from the Missouri River.

A large portion of the business part of Main Street, Picton, Ont., was burned on Saturday. Loss $50 000.

A diamond of considerable value was found in the gravel of a gold mine in Eldorado County, Cal., and occasioned much excitement.

The small-pox returns last week in Philadelphia show a decrease of 50. There were seventy-one deaths, three less than the week previous.

A mass meeting was held in Omaha on Friday evening to adopt measures for constructing ninety miles of railroad, necessary on the west side of the Missouri River, in order to make a continuous line of road from Omaha to St. Louis. A commission was appointed to visit St. Louis in its interest.

John Reed, a Frenchman, had his neck broken at Lewiston, Me., on Saturday, by being thrown against the canal bridge when he was attempting to get upon the train. He lived in Farmington.

Woman's rights are respected in Aroostook county, Me. At the recent session of the supreme judicial court at Houlton, Judge Dickerson naturalized a woman from the province of New Brunswick, who desired to become a citizen of the United States.

New potatoes are $1.50 per peck, in Boston.

The Carlist insurrection in Spain is represented as gaining in power. A plot to destroy Barcelona has been discovered.

New Jersey has a railroad war, the parties to which are Tom Scott of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, and the Perth Amboy and Elizabeth Railroad.

A Russian printer has invented a type setting machine which, the St. Petersburg papers assert, far surpasses all similar machines that have hitherto been produced. It sets in an hour thirty thousand letters; it costs five thousand rubles, and one thousand letters set thereby cost only five cents.

Mrs. Laura Fair, who was condemned to be hung in San Francisco, and the day for the swinging off fixed in January last, not only got a reprieve but an order for a new trial, which last is fixed for the 24th of June.

Political.

In the national colored convention at New Orleans, on Saturday, Frederick Douglass took his seat as chairman. He made a speech concerning the rights of the colored people, and in eulogy of General Grant and Charles Sumner.

DISASTROUS FIRE.—The entire business part of the thriving village of Ayer (Mass.) was destroyed by fire on Saturday evening. More than forty individuals or firms were burned out, besides the loss of several halls, schoolhouses, the Unitarian church, etc. Not a grocery or a dry goods store remains. Loss estimated at from $160,000 to $200,000. The property is insured in the Fitchburg Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Fitchburg, $24,630; Central Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Worcester, $5150; F. C. Couriers' agency, Fitchburg, $9000; L. C. Park's agency, Worcester, $3750. Lowell and Fitchburg were sent to for help, and a steamer and hose carriages from both places arrived. The cause of the fire is unknown. The village had grown very rapidly in recent years, and in spite of this severe blow will, undoubtedly, recover itself and become a large manufacturing community.

FIRE AT EXETER.—On Sunday morning, about 5 o'clock, fire was discovered in the post-office building in Exeter, which was burned down, together with an outbuilding in its rear; a house of Mr. Geo. S. Shute, on one side, and that of the Misses Boardman on the other, were damaged. Loss about $13,000; insured about $8,500.

THE TARIFF BILL, as completed by the House committee on ways and means, makes a reduction of about $21,000,000 in duties and of $8,000 000 in internal taxes. Of the former amount $5,700,000 is taken from wool and woolens, and of the latter $6,000 000 from tobacco, $2,000,000 from gas, and only $100,000 from stamps.

JUDGE BARNARD.—The Committee of the New York Bar Association claim that they have proved by their testimony produced at the investigation the following points: That in the spring of 1868, Judge Barnard, in what is known as the first Erie litigation, made a noted series of injunction and receivership orders which bore very heavily upon James Fisk, jr., Jay Gould and Frederick A. Lane, in consequence of which they fled to Jersey City, out of reach of the process of the supreme court, and David Dudley Field, their counsel, prepared a memorial to the legislature central to charges of malconduct in office against Barnard; that Fisk, Gould and Lane coming back from Jersey City in peace and quiet, the memorial was not further prosecuted before the legislature, and from that began a close intimacy between Fisk and Barnard, and Fisk, Gould and Lane appeared thereafter as the successful applicants in receivership and injunction suits for the most remarkable series of orders and proceedings ever known in the jurisprudence of any civilized nation, so called.

These orders, suspending presidents and directors and appointing receivers of large railroad corporations, seizing large amounts of stock from the hands of its lawful owners, enjoining elections, imprisoning members of the bar without bail, in case of any kind existing against them having in every single instance been granted without hearing the party whose liberty or property was violently taken from them, under color of process of the supreme court, and for but one suitor, James Fisk, jr.

This one suitor had been since the preparation of the memorial before mentioned the boon companion of Judge Barnard. Judge Barnard was constantly seen at his office, in his box at the opera-house, and visited his mistress; and this suitor (at the cost, however, of the railway) supplied gorgeous furniture for Judge Barnard's dining-room after the general style of the furniture of the Erie Railway, except the monogram—"G. G. B" instead of "E. R. R"—and made one of his children a present of $1000.

To appoint this one suitor receiver of a large railroad, Judge Barnard left his mother's deathbed in Poughkeepsie and came to New York in obedience to a dispatch dated at the house of Fisk, and sent his answer there. Fisk followed Judge Barnard on the very day of his mother's funeral to the house where she lay dead, and there got from Judge Barnard orders and writs unheard of in law. This one judge could be found by this one suitor for proceedings of all kinds at all times and places, at feast or funeral. Not one of these orders or proceedings of Judge Barnard for this one suitor can be for an instant upheld.

Millions of dollars damage has been by these orders and proceedings of Judge Barnard caused to innocent parties. Corporations have been compelled to leave this State, capital has been driven from the city, and they have caused general terror and distrust of the courts in this city, both at home and abroad. The committee show that thro' Barnard's malpractice the Union Pacific Railroad suffered a direct loss of $5,000,000, and was driven to Boston for a safe office; that the Milwaukie & St. Paul Railroad suffered a direct loss of $2,000,000; that the Michigan Southern & Lake Shore Railroad fixed its offices away from this city, in actual fear of this judge; that Mr. Von Hoffman, from whose possession Judge Barnard took sixty thousand shares of Erie stock, sent other large amounts of the stock immediately out of the country for fear of other similar proceedings; and that the other general sense of insecurity arising from the actions of other New York courts caused a loss on American railway securities, on the average of five per cent. in foreign markets, and that the amount of these securities so affected was enormous.

ALMOST A HORROR.—The engine of the second passenger train from Bridgeport, Conn., on the Housatonic Railroad Friday, burst a flue a mile below Merwinsville, the accident stopping the train. President Barnum and Conductor Fowler, who were aboard, started on foot to warn the down train, which was about due. Reaching it just as it was leaving Merwinsville they told the engineer that their train was broken down near the crossing below. The engineer understood them on the crossing, and ran into the stationary train at the rate of thirty miles an hour. Very fortunately, no one was dangerously hurt, though several were slightly. Expressman J. C. Aldrich jumped from the train and was badly hurt in the legs. The engineer and fireman also jumped, but were not hurt. Both engines were completely wrecked.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE HORSE AND HIS RIDER.—It was a happy day for the Horse and his rider when MUSTANG LINIMENT was introduced as a cure for the external diseases and injuries of both. In the stable, the barn and the house, this wonderful emollient is equally useful. If a horse is sprained or foundered, or harness-galled, or afflicted with any other of the many superficial ills that equine flesh is heir to, the Liniment effects a speedy cure, and it is equally efficacious when applied to draught oxen or cows suffering from outward swellings, strains, or hurts of any description. As an application for bruises, cuts, burns, rheumatism, stiff joints, sprains, neuralgia, earache and toothache, it takes precedence from all other topical remedies, and is therefore an article of prime necessity in families.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of the tonic and alterative properties, which it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorating, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, obtained from the wilds of California, are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach aches, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. Its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co, 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit lunacy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are a sure remedy for all sexual complaints and may be taken by females of all ages, who are suffering from a disorganized system, or those distressing diseases in particular which frequently occur (from inattention) at the turn of life. They are so mild that the most delicate female may take them with perfect safety. 25 cents per box or pot.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headache and terrible mental disturbances are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly an alterative and invigorant; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength it may chance to have left it. Salivants have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antibilious aperients and blood-purifying components. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contain every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which it involves. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it seems almost idle to repeat the statement.

The great tonic rallies exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently recruits the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

BOTTLES FULL OF BEAUTY.—Ladies, if you would have beauty by the bottle-full, all you have to do is to purchase HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM. That peerless beautifier of the complexion not only heightens natural charms, but renders even the plainest countenance exceeding attractive. It recalls to the pallid cheek the rosy tinge of health, removes pimples, blotches, roughness, sallowness and other blemishes, and imparts to the skin a most delicate fairness and softness. It smooths the furrows caused by time or care, and gives face, neck and arms the plump and engaging appearance of you full beauty. All this is accomplished by the most natural means, viz: it gently and naturally stimulates the circulation in the capillary blood vessels. Besides being the most effectual aid to beauty known to modern science.

PIMPLES on the Face, Eruptions, Blotches, Scrofulous diseases, and all sores arising from impure blood, are cured by Dr. Pitcher's Golden Medical Discovery. 585.

VEGETINE.—By its use you will prevent many of the diseases prevailing in the Spring and Summer season. d

MYSTERY SOLVED.—The great secret of the wonderful success of VEGETINE. It strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood, restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous system. d

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Zinc Poisoning.

The sickness of Mr. John W. Moses and family, and the cause, have excited considerable interest in this community. The water used in Mr. Moses' family ran through galvanized iron pipe, or iron pipe washed with zinc; and a quantity of water drawn through this pipe at his house has been analyzed by Dr. Chas. T. Jackson of Boston and found to contain four grains of oxyde of zinc in a wine gallon of water, which is about an average amount of zinc found in water drawn through such pipe, and was considered by him an unwholesome amount to use, for a long time at least.

Two distinguished chemists in Boston say they think that if salt food is cooked in this zinc water, chloride of zinc (a caustic) will be produced. If so, then we take a sharp caustic into the stomach and from thence into the blood vessels, and it is circulated through them from the top of the head to the ends of the toes, producing disease in the whole system. This zinc lining is oxydized and washed away, it is said, in two or three years, and in some instances sooner, leaving little but common iron gas-pipe. If this caustic zinc is formed, by cooking salt food in this zinc water, galvanized iron pipe is much more dangerous than lead pipe, because, being instructed that it is a perfectly safe pipe, we take no precautions to prevent poisoning, as we do with lead pipe. As soon as the zinc coating has worn thro' in spots, then, if not before, a galvanic battery commences between the zinc and iron pipe, causing the zinc to oxydize very rapidly.

It may be asked why all who use water drawn through galvanized iron pipe are not poisoned by it, if one; is—the same question might be asked in relation to lead poisoning; and it is acknowledged by all that some are poisoned by lead and some are not, under the same exposure. When six grains of oxyde of zinc are found in a gallon of water, the water is often turbid, or slightly buff in color.

Poisoning from lead is one of the causes of deafness and amaurotic blindness; and possibly poisoning from zinc may act in a similar manner. F.L.N.

Public Meeting.

A communication from the chairman of the committee of arrangements of the National Telegraph Memorial Monument Association having been referred by the Board of Aldermen to Mayor Walker to take such action as he should deem best, we are requested by him to announce that a meeting of all citizens who desire to pay respect to the memory of the late Professor Morse will be held in the Common Council Room this (Tuesday) evening at 8 o'clock, simultaneously with a great National Memorial Meeting to be held in the hall of the House of Representatives at the National capitol. The telegraph wires will be free for the interchange of sentiments between the meetings throughout the country. Prof. Morse was once a resident of this city, and we are informed that his wife was a native of Newington. Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, we believe, has consented to prepare a resolution to be submitted to the meeting.

Sails vs. Steam.

The river is now free from ice, and navigation open between this city and Dover. With characteristic energy, Captain George Dunn, of the packet "Factory Girl," took advantage of the first opportunity offered and on Monday made the first trip of the season over the route he has followed for years. Though more than a month later than last year he is in hopes that there will be business enough to make up for the time lost. This packet, it must be remembered, at present supplies the place of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad; and though we entertain only good will towards the energetic and obliging packet skipper, we hope to live long enough to see his craft superceded by freight and passenger trains—in which happy event Capt. Dunn will make a capital conductor or freight-master if he can induce himself to be untrue to the "Factory Girl."

Laconics.

The selectmen of Gosport have been indicted by the grand jury, for preventing an election by absenting themselves on town-meeting day.

Mr. Henry A. Yeaton has been chosen Superintendent of the Sabbath School of the Middle Street Church, in place of Mr. Lewis E. Smith, resigned.

The Dover Gazette says dog oil is worth $5 per gallon. There is a heap of it running around the streets of Portsmouth, affording a fine chance for speculation.

George Howe, the weak-minded man who was charged with setting fire to the premises of E. P. Roach on Gosling Road, was not indicted by the grand jury.

We would call the attention of our lady readers to the advertisement of the Novelty Wringer in another column. It has the great improvement cog wheels on both ends of the rolls. Every housewife should have a wringer of some kind, and the "Novelty" is highly recommended.

A rich musical treat is offered this evening by Miss Vinnie H. Maynard, Mr. Fessenden and the famous Temple (Masonic) Quartet. The programme is a choice one. Miss Maynard has been at a great expense in procuring such a corps of assistants and we hope her endeavors to please the public will be seconded by an audience limited only by the capacity of the Temple.

Some months ago, in reporting the burning of the buildings of Mr. Edmund P. Roach, we said "the fire proved to be in Newington on the Gosling Road," — which our copperhead neighbor copied, using italics for "Newington," and adding: "We shall not copy that. A map of Portsmouth is evidently needed in the CHRONICLE office." In the issue of the local Democratic sheet for Monday we read that "the grand jury did not find a bill against the simple fellow George Howe who was arrested on suspicion of setting fire to the barn of E. P. Roach of Newington." We shall not copy that. A map of Portsmouth is evidently needed in the office of our copperhead neighbor—and a little longer memory, as well.

A WONDERFUL TELEGRAPH IMPROVEMENT. Considerable interest is now being excited in the scientific world by the recent remarkable invention of Mr. Joseph B. Stearns, of this city, son-in-law of our efficient Deputy Collector J. M. Edmonds, Esq., for instruments by which telegraphic messages are transmitted in opposite directions, by the use of a single wire, the patent for which bears date of 1868. Referring to this remarkable improvement, the Scientific American says it is one of the most important that has been made in connection with telegraphy since the introduction of Henry's inventions by Professor Morse.

This authority in all matters pertaining to science states that while it is not to be supposed that the chimera of "sending two currents in opposite directions on the same wire" has been realized in this invention, its practical equivalent is realized, as follows:

"Two messages are transmitted simultaneously in opposite directions by means of one wire, while the electrical current is always moving in one circuit, in the usual manner. By ingenious arrangement of instruments at the two ends of a line, say between New York and Boston, the operator at New York is enabled to transmit a message to Boston while the operator in Boston is at the same instant transmitting a message to New York, one set of signals being transmitted by that portion of the current which passes over the wire, the other set of signals being transmitted by that portion of the current which returns through the earth."

Equally applicable is this marvel of telegraphy to the Atlantic Cable,—and who can tell but this invention which practically doubles the transmitting capacity of every telegraph wire will save the immense expense and difficulties of laying another to connect the Old World with the New, as is now so often urged?

The Western Union Telegraph Company have secured the exclusive ownership of the patent, and are applying it to their lines as fast as the instruments can be manufactured.

The actual money value, of this remarkable invention, to this Company is estimated to-day at a quarter of a million of dollars; and each year, as business increases, its value must augment.

Further particulars in reference to this improvement will be looked for with interest.

We understand that Mr. Stearns has, beside, several other models, now about completed of another invention, designed as a Time and Station Indicator, to be applied to railroad trains whereby station distances and their names are instantly shown by means of a simple contrivance placed at one end of the car, thus saving a vast amount of inquiry.

As an inventor Mr. Stearns is one of the best of living electricians, and his discoveries are the simple result of profound and exact study of the laws of electricity. As a man of genius, who has conferred lasting benefits upon his fellow men, Mr. Stearns is entitled to the highest respect.

So says the Scientific American.

A Dover editor, formerly of this city, in a late issue of his paper, thus frankly confesses the possession of unbounded courage: "We are aware of no such thing as respectability amongst rowdies, and as for cowardice in exposing them, or in anything else, we know nothing about that. The word isn't in our dictionary." What charming candor! We have met several brave men in the course of our wanderings, and they were all willing to let their bravery remain a secret until others found it out; but how much more admirable this open confession of reckless fearlessness on the part of our Dover cotemporary, seeing that all men may now know what to expect if they offend him, and can so govern themselves as to steer clear of danger! Great is modest heroism, and Joshua is his best representative in this brazen world.

Our Pure White Lead, both dry and ground in oil, we warrant to be strictly pure, being manufactured that for fineness, body and durability, it is not surpassed by any Lead in the market, either foreign or American.

☞ In order to protect ourselves, we have adopted as our trade-mark an eight pointed red star, with our corporate seal in the centre. This is on every package of our Pure Lead. None genuine without it. Tu Th & Sat 16 3m

BARGAINS

IN GENTS' CALF BOOTS, pegged and sewed, by CHAS. E. SHEDD & CO.

Morning Chronicle.

THE LATENESS OF THE SEASON.—It is now the tenth day of April on which we are writing, and not a furrow has been turned nor scarce a step taken in what may be called the farmer's spring work. The season is three or four weeks later than it was last year. This, taken in connection with the fact that hay is very scarce and high and the additional fact that labor on the farm is not readily obtained, will prove an embarrassment to the tiller of the soil, and, unless he is very discreet, will cause unfavorable results. Let us consider the matter for a minute, and decide wisely what we will do. * * *

Don't undertake to plow before the frost is out of the ground, nor turn a furrow on wet land. It will not advance your work nor give you the promise of a better harvest. Wait until the soil will crumble as your mould board turns it up to the sunlight. Plowing thoroughly and when the ground is in proper condition is an essential preliminary to a bountiful harvest.

Forcing will be necessary to gain the two or three weeks lost by the "clinging of winter in the lap of spring," and here comes the necessity of some stimulant, some special fertilizer, and with it that important and difficult question, what shall we use? This we will not undertake to answer. Your own judgment must perform the work of deciding. But that you must have something is a settled fact. You may be aided much in advancing the growth of vegetation by applying a compost of hen manure, unless you have been so foolish as to allow your fowls to occupy the branches of trees for perches, instead of a close, warm hen-house.

You may find a load or more of rich fertilizing material in your vault, unless you neglect to protect it from the weather, as too many farmers do; or may be so situated as to gather night-soil from the town or village near by. Many of the farmers about Manchester draw night manure from three to six or eight miles, and believe it pays.

Guano is an excellent stimulant, as well as a constant producer of plant growth, but look out and not get cheated in making the purchase.

Then we have the whole catalogue of phosphates to select from,—some good, excellent, and in a season of moderate amount of rain, enough to solve the phosphatic matter in them, indispensible in forcing all kinds of crops. Here, too, there is danger of being sold. Buy those which are recommended by honest men who know by experiment what they recommend, and unless you are imposed upon, you will see money in it.

Then there is bone manure in which we have great confidence, as a permanent supplement to the soil as we find it. It is not so quick as guano or superphosphates of lime, but is just the thing to apply with the expectation of a good result in filling the grain or maturing the crop, and as a permanent element.

There are scores of other articles advertised to which we need not now refer. What the farmer wants and must have this spring is a stimulant to force forward his vegetation, that it may be matured so as to command a price in the market, or so as to give him a paying return in harvest time.

Let each man decide for himself what he will get, but he cannot afford, unless he has well-composted manure, to put his seed into the earth this year without applying carefully and liberally some special stimulant.—Mirror & Farmer.

AN EMBARRASSING SITUATION.—An exchange informs us that the old philopena trick has been revived again in Alabama, where the young lady takes a double almond in her teeth, and the young man bites it off. That sort of thing used to be popular in Doylestown, Pennsylvania, but it is hardly ever tried any more since the painful accident which occurred at a philopena party last winter. The lady who held the almond between her teeth was somewhat advanced in years and not a little dilapidated. The almond was uncommonly tough, and the man who nibbled at it closed his teeth on it and pulled. It would not give. He pulled harder, but made no impression. He clinched his jaws upon it and gave a desperate wrench. It is unpleasant to relate what followed; but as truth crushed to earth will certainly rise again anyhow, whether we try to keep her down or not, we may be pardoned for saying that as a consequence of the violent effort of the young man he found himself standing up in that room holding in his mouth a nut in which were imbedded a double set of porcelain teeth belonging to the aforesaid maiden. It was embarrassing in a certain sense for all parties, and the young man thought it would be soothing to the feelings of the company if he went home. Other and less perilous games are in vogue at Doylestown this year.—Max Adeler.

—An Indianapolis critic informs his readers that Anna Dickinson is rapidly developing masculine ways. He says: "The very lines of her face were inflexible and cold. One could not recognize in the hard jaw, reeling eye and pallid face the attractive little girl that took the world by storm a few short years ago. She spoke of men growing old at fifty, yet under thirty years of age she looks forty-five, and is as settled in her form, manners and opinions as if she were as old as Sarah, the wife of Abraham."

—The Paris Total Abstinence Society hung pictures of the human stomach, as burned by absinthe, near the wine shops, but the shopkeepers retaliated by hanging up pictures of total abstinent stomachs which were decidely more repulsive, artistically.

—Charles XV, King of Sweden and Norway, is seriously ill, and it is feared cannot recover.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new improvement or feature or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are so have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert custom, the result be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model, does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and greatest advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BESTTENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS in a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.

At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.

At the end of 24 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.

At the end of 15 years, - - - - 14,000.

At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent Annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income, - - - - - - $173.30

Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6-7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Opodeldoc, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequaled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, nearly raises the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS, Much has been said and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds—but are trieless, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and all diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodial and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

New Publications.

Hearth and Home for April 20, has besides several fine engravings and the usual good assortment of excellent reading for all departments of the household, a Supplement giving an account of a four years' Libel Suit brought against the Publishers for exposing Humbugs, in which the important rulings of Judge Brady of the N. Y. Supreme Court and the testimony of leading physicians, take advanced ground in regard to the responsibility of manufacturers and dealers in patent medicines. A prominent feature of this number of Hearth and Home is the New Story by Dr. Eggleston, author of the "Hoosier Schoolmaster," entitled "The End of the World," illustrating life and scenes in the West thirty years ago. It is confidently believed that his will be one of the most attractive and useful American Stories yet brought out. This is very valuable number of one of the best family papers in the world.

The April number of The Transatlantic, a mag zine made up of selections from the lighter and more popular foreign periodicals, has been received.

The Tilden Enterprise, published triannually at the Hilden Ladies' Seminary in West Lebanon and edited by the senior class, closed its second volume with the April number. From it we learn that the graduating class numbers sixteen, and that thirteen States are represented by pupils, viz.: New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Michigan, California, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia, Minnesota, Missouri and Iowa. The young lady editors evidently take pride in their profession, as every good editor must do, and their articles are well-written and include the highest morality; but we have in vain endeavored to find out "of course" what their political faith is, though we guess they are prepared to vote against woman's right to vote if she wants to. But whether they oppose us in politics or not, we wish our fair contemporaries honor and success, whether as editors, preachers, stump speakers or wives and mothers; we have no fear that they will ever follow the Woodhull.

BASE BALL.—The Bostons played a fine game at Boston with the Harvards on Saturday on the Union grounds, beating them 12 to 2. The Beacon club went to Winchester and "got away" with the Mystics, 38 to 3. The second game between the Red Stockings and Harvards will probably be played next Saturday. The Boston nine have altered their previous arrangements and will depart on their opening trip, April 29.

FODDER CORN.—From the condition in which our grass-roots were left in the fall, we cannot expect a large hay-crop the coming season, and while much may be done to aid the supply of food for our animals by the use of roots, I think there is no way, where land is plenty, that we can get so much nourishment from so little labor as from fodder corn; and it is good food for stock of all kinds. I noticed in Virginia and North Carolina that the universal feed for hauling horses on the road was corn-stalks, with a few ears of horse-tooth corn.

The past season I have raised some with the intention of feeding it to my horses. But I think it does better for neat cattle and sheep; they do not get tired of it, and sheep prefer it to hay. It is generally thought that the ground should be very rich; true it will grow larger, but it is also more tough. Land but moderately rich will produce food I think equal to three or four tons to the acre. Having had three-fourths of an acre the past year, I estimated the product equal to three tons of hay. One objection to it is, its being so hard to cure. This may be obviated in part by cutting it earlier in the season, while we have some warm weather, by shocking it up all over the vacant places of the barn, or on the hay. My method is to sow in drills lightly manured and cultivate and hoe it. Our deep snow drifts, now almost in the middle of the spring, admonish us to provide largely for our long winters. Therefore let every farmer of much stock have his acre of fodder corn.—Cor. Me. Farmer.

—Indiana papers tell of a broken hearted widower, who has erected a pine-slab over the new-made grave of his wife, and has presented a costly piano to a young lady who "has been very kind to him in his great affliction."

—Philadelphia wants the channel between that city and Cape May lighted so that steamers can come up in the night. The days are not long enough for the commerce of that port.

—The inhabitants of Newtown and Gosport, Va., are preparing to surround their houses with sunflowers as a prophylactic of intermittent fevers from which they suffered last year.

—A fool of a dog in Indiana chases his tail until he drops down with exhaustion. This is one of the cases where the tail wags the dog.

The Daily Chronicle,

PORTLAND, E. M.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1872.

The News.

The town of West Point, Miss., was nearly destroyed by fire on Sunday.

The grand jury in Philadelphia has found a true bill against Charles A. Dana for libel on William H. Kemble, Ex-State Treasurer, in an article published in the N. Y. Sun, relative to the Evans fraud.

Considerations of pure friendship for the United States on the part of Spain have impelled the latter power to offer to release Dr. Howard, although it does not admit that the prisoner has been wronged at all.

State News.

The Rochester Selectmen have told the dealers in soothing beverages that hence forth their customers must go dry.

Frank Rankin, who was kicked by a horse at Farmington about a week ago, died from the injuries he received.

The house and barn of Andrew P. Gilman, of Alton Bay, were burned Sunday afternoon. Loss $3000; insurance $1200.

The police at Great Falls have found almost all the property which was stolen from Jonathan Bickford's shop last Thursday, hidden under an old barn not far from the shop.

NEWSPAPORIAL. — Biddeford's new paper, the Daily Evening Times, was issued for the first time on Saturday, the 13th inst. It makes a creditable appearance and pays especial attention to local affairs; and judging from the liberal advertising patronage it has started with—having been compelled to enlarge before the first number was issued—the business men of Biddeford are satisfied that a daily paper is one of the necessities of a business community. The Times commences well in every respect, and we wish the enterprising publishers all the success they deserve.

ORGANIZATION OF LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS.—It may not be generally known that there is a flourishing organization with the above title, having a Grand Division, with subordinate divisions in every State in the Union, and in the Dominion of Canada. The organization is composed of locomotive engineers, who are banded together for mutual aid and improvement. It is, to a certain extent, a benevolent organization, and the annual disbursements to widows and disabled members amount yearly to a considerable sum. The monthly journal published by the Society says:

"Considering the perilous nature of their calling, they have established a widows', orphans' and disabled members' fund, which amounted at the last annual report to about $15,000, and a total amount of cash on hand of $25,000. To further secure to their families a home in case of death, they have a benefit society, which guarantees to the wife, children or heirs, on the death of a member, the sum of $3,000. This amount is collected by assessments, prorata, on each member. Under this head the order has disbursed $200,000. The order is publishing a monthly journal, the profits of which last year amounted to over $4,000. This is also disbursed in charities to the disabled, and the needy widows and orphans of deceased brothers."

The following from the same journal will define the position of the society on the subject of temperance:

"There is no middle ground on this question. No engineer can maintain a respectable standing, and be guilty of the excessive use of liquor, and no division of our Brotherhood can exert much influence with their Railroad officials if they sustain or countenance any member that is intemperate. We profess to be temperate men and we must live up to our profession, or else our labors and expenditures, as an organization, will all go for naught, and instead of being of any benefit to the temperate and reliable engineer to be a member of our Brotherhood, it will be a disgrace. I hope that every division will realize the full responsibility and disgrace they incur, by sustaining any member that is addicted to the accursed habit of intemperance."

—John Stuart Mill and Sismondi both insist upon the necessity that every married pair should bring two children into the world, and no more, to make good their places therein. This is well enough in theory, but as the second child may turn out to be twins, or even triplets, the thing is practically a fraud.

MILK FEVER IN COWS.—Seeing an article from the Dover Observer, in relation to a disease among cattle in that vicinity, supposed to be fever and the loss of some valuable cows, has induced me to write this article. The article referred to does not describe the disease or say it is confined to cows. Therefore we cannot well judge what it may be. But presuming it is milk fever I will proceed, as, if it does not correspond with the cases above referred to, it will be of value to those unfortunate enough to have cows attacked with this fever. Having, last spring, lost two valuable cows with milk fever, I was induced to inform myself in relation to the disease, and am satisfied in this case that an ounce of preventive is worth a pound of cure. I will state preventives, symptoms, and treatment. So fatal is this disease that I don't consider a cow has an even one in twenty to recover. It will usually show itself to a person watching for the symptoms within twenty-four hours after the calf is dropped.

Preventives.—A small allowance of hay and no concentrated feed for two or three weeks before calving. Occasional bran mashes to keep the bowels open. Also, a large milker, which are the ones usually attacked, don't fail to milk her a week previous to her calving. Also feed light and give no cold drink for a week after. Be sure and have a vial of aconite, and an hour or two after the calf is dropped give a dose, also two or three more in the course of twenty-four hours. The disease is almost sure to prove fatal unless taken in its first stages, hence the necessity of looking after the preventives. Cows liable to it are usually large milkers or those in high condition.

Symptoms.—Watch your cow carefully and if you see any of these signs you may know she has milk fever: all of these you will not be likely to see in one cow, but more or less of them—a dry muzzle, hot horns, glassy eyes, switching of the tail, a protruding of the tongue, dryness of the excrements, with no disposition to chew the cud. The cow becomes restless, lies down very often, becomes weak in her hind legs, and in a few hours she is unable to rise. Bloating commences, and if nothing is given to relieve her she will be in great distress, and most likely in twenty-four hours she will be dead.

Treatment.—Take a small vial, put in half a teaspoonful of water, add five or six drops of aconite, and shake it, then let some one open the mouth of the cow while the other pours it on her tongue. Should this be done twenty, two or three times the first twenty-four hours, and continue a few days, all will be well with her. When it is known she has a slight fever give a dose once in twenty or thirty minutes. This will sweat her, and care should be taken that she don't take cold. If she cannot rise there is but little hope of her recovery, so rapid is the progress of this fever. If she has a wild, staring look, dashes her head furiously, it indicates congestion of the brain, in which case give five or six drops of belladonna in fifteen or twenty minutes the same of aconite, and continue each alternately, always on the tongue.—Maine Farmer.

THE LOCK COAL FIELDS OF INDIANA. As has been intimated by a correspondent, the black coal of Western Indiana is coming rapidly into notice, and the thorough tests applied to it prove it to be a most valuable fuel in the manufacture of iron and of steel. It has even excelled Pittsburg and English iron in quality. It is said that under their direction, already cut full seven feet of the coal have been made, and that the results are in a high degree satisfactory. Already capitalists, East and West, are moving in the matter of erecting works on the ground with this fuel. Several railways are converging on these rich coal fields—one to them, to give access to market. But the Terre Haute roads cross them, and other roads are being built to reach them. Within a few months the Louisville, Crawfordville, and Southwestern Railroad, has reached the block coal. Indeed, it comes close to the hills in which is found a very superior bituminous coal, which is likely to be valuable for the manufacture of gas, as also for fuel; and twenty-five feet below this is the famous block coal stratum. The road which reaches these rich deposits has easy connections West, North-west, North and East, and is already carrying the coal to market in considerable quantities. These coal mines and the southern quarries must prove the source of a large income to the road named.

The papers of Indiana state that recently a company of scientific gentlemen, including the State Geologist, Prof. Cox, Prof. Foster of Chicago, Pr f. Hovey, and Col. Carrington of Wabash College, and others, visited these coal fields and sandstone quarries in Parke County, which are reached by the Logansport, Crawfordville and Southwestern Railroad, and that they make a very favorable report as to the extent and the quality of both the coal and building stone.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE HORSE AND HIS RIDER.—It was a happy day for the Horse and his rider when the MUSTANG LINIMENT was introduced as a cure for the external diseases and injuries of both. In the stable, the barn and the household this wonderful compound is equally useful. If a horse is spavined, or foundered, or harness-galled, or afflicted with any other of the many superficial ills that equine flesh is heir to, the Liniment effects a speedy cure, and it is equally efficacious when applied to draught oxen or cows suffering from outward swellings, strains, or hurts of any description. As an application for bruises, cuts, burns, rheumatism, stiff joints, sp ins, neuralgia, earache and toothache, it takes precedence from all other topical remedies, and is therefore an article of prime necessity in families.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to Dr. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach aches, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doc r's bills. J. B. Rose & Co, 53 Barclay, N. Y. ap3 4w

CORNS.—Since pinks and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit leaving instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Instepes, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are a sure remedy for all sexual complaints and may be taken by females of all ages, who are suffering from a disorganized system, or those distressing diseases in particular which frequently occur (from inattention) at the turn of life. They are so mild that the most delicate female may take them with perfect safety. 25 cents per box or pot.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headaches and terrible mental disturbances are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly a restorative and invigorant; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength it possesses but it. Salvants have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antibilious aperients and blood-purifying compounds. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contain every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which it involves. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it seems almost idle to repeat the statement.

The great tonic rallies exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently restores the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Our Respects.

The animus of the Lyre and its snaky representative, a fit one, is shown by the publication of a statement that one of the present proprietors of the CHRONICLE pleaded nolo contendere to a charge of publishing a libel (an advertisement) on Albert R. Hatch in 1870. The twin copperheads know that we pleaded as we did because we would not appear to condemn in the least the action of our associate even though we were over-ruled and did not uphold it at the time. But as these fellows cannot appreciate such an honorable action they characteristically show their meanest of mean traits by the publication of the statement alluded to. None but cowards, physical and moral, would stoop to such base assaults. But it is not necessary to descend to their level to make things even, and we have the satisfaction of knowing that one who acted unjustly ascertained long ago that he made a mistake which will cling to his skirts as long as he lives—and it was not either of the defendants in the suit. Notwithstanding our partial ownership of the CHRONICLE in 1870 caused us to appear as defendant in a libel suit, we have no recollection of ever being presented with a bill from an attorney-at-law for the funeral expenses of a dead relative, nor are we aware that our photograph was ever sent from one city to a law officer in another to identify us as a runaway debtor. Come again, sneaks!

Fish.

The success of those engaged in the fishing business in this city during the last season has induced greater enterprise. Several vessels are to be fitted out for mackereling this spring and a larger number than usual will be employed in cod and haddock fishing. It is predicted that a large fleet will be employed here next winter. That it is profitable to the retail dealers is shown in the fact that fish costing five cents have been sold for twenty-five. Ten cents per pound was the highest price paid by wholesale dealers.

In past years lobsters were caught in the docks around our wharves, but lately their scarcity has sent our fishermen to seek them along the coast and even there the catch has been light in numbers and small in size. This is caused, so an intelligent fisherman informs us, by the abundance of food for them in the deep waters off shore, the lobsters not being obliged to migrate for food. There are some fifty thousand hooks set by the trollers, mostly in the vicinity of the Shoals, and many large fish get away and die from injuries; besides, there are caught innumerable flounders, or "dabs" as the fishermen call them, which are knocked on the head and thrown back into the water. These furnish an ample supply of sustenance to the lobsters, which being well provided for remain in their deep-sea haunts, leaving them only long enough to deposit their eggs in the sand, once a year. Amateurs of the piscine science who have been in the habit of making occasional raids along the shores of the harbor will please take notice.

Barnabee.

The Boston Globe's Portsmouth correspondent makes the following amusing remarks upon Mr. Barnabee: "Barnabee is a Portsmouth boy, that is he was, but let me explain. Somebody says that a man who is born in Boston does not need to be born again; and a prominent but rather illiterate politician at Portsmouth is reported to have stated in his maiden speech at the hustings that 'he was born in Portsmouth; he was always born there!' Of course, you have heard of the bad boy, who, when told by the revival preacher that he must be born again, replied that he was afraid he might be a girl next time! Well, as I was saying, Barnabee was born the first time in good old Portsmouth, and first came out there in concert. One night last week he comes down and appears in an entirely new impersonation, this time a woman sure enough; and as he appears to equal advantage in both male and female characters, I feel a little uncertain as to which he will adopt in future. Mr. Howard Paul might well be excused for claiming this 'unprotected female' for his wife. Barnabee's towns-people are proud to call him 'one of 'em,' and always give him full houses when he comes. They appreciated the compliment of his maiden appearance here, and rewarded him with a 'rousing house,' showing once more that New Hampshire is not only a good State to come from, but a good State to visit as well, and that the honored are not without profit even in their own country. His opening address to his old townsfolk for auld lang syne, and home, sweet home, was very pleasant all round, like the globe. But vive le Barnabee, be he man, or woman, or both."

Laconics.

Lovely Spring is here at last and the air is vocal with sweet sounds—a hand-organ man melodied in front of our office on Tuesday.

A horse driven by Mrs. John Locke and Mrs. John V. White of Newcastle, became frightened from the falling of a limb from a tree on Pleasant Street, Monday, and ran throwing both ladies out and severely bruising them.

M. T. Betton & Co. will sell at auction this day, Wednesday, the farm of Mr. Edmund P. Roach, situated on Gosling Road, near the Gravelly Ridge school house, and about fifty acres of land. See advertisement.

Not being willing to dismiss the delightful concert given at the Temple on Tuesday evening in a paragraph, we defer the making wretched of those who did not attend until our next issue.

Parties in want of a farm or a site for a summer hotel will find the Sagamore farm at Frosts' Point worthy their consideration, that property being now offered for sale.

The clerk of the weather, who in years past was a great power in his line, attempted to show off on Tuesday by getting up a snow-storm; but having neglected to take counsel of Old Probabilities, who has succeeded him in the business of regulating sunshine and storm, his attempt resulted in a most humiliating failure.

Mr. Samuel Lamprey's Spring and Summer term of dancing school commences at Congress Hall this afternoon.

The citizens of Newcastle propose to offer the land and water privileges of that town free for the use of the Concord Railroad on condition that the track be extended to that town. The water privilege is unlimited.

Schooner Union Flag of St. George, Me., has been purchased by parties in this city and Kittery and will be commanded by Capt. Frisbee, late of schooner M. Seavall.

Messrs. Harding & Doane of this city have leased the Caswell estate on Star Island, Gosport, and propose to carry on an extensive business in connection with their fishing business here.

Mr. Ambrose Card, from the ill-fated schooner Otseido, arrived at Newcastle, Monday evening. In attempting to dismount from the upper seat of an express wagon, he caught his foot and fell with great force, striking his head, and was rendered insensible for five hours. He will recover.

The City Marshal gives notice that the Sunday Ordinance, which provides "That no person shall keep open any shop, warehouse, cellar, restaurant, billiard room, bowling alley or workshop, for the reception of company, or, in such shop, warehouse, cellar, billiard room, bowling alley or workshop, or in any street or other public place, sell, expose for sale, or give away, any spirituous or intoxicating liquor, fruit, nuts, cigars, oysters, confectionery, books, pamphlets, newspapers, or other merchandise, on first the day of the week, commonly called the Lord's day," will be strictly enforced.

William F. Ferrald, Esq., of this city, has contracted with Capt. E. H. Atwood of Boston to build a schooner of 600 tons, to be launched early in the Fall. The vessel is intended for the general freighting business.

S. J. Court, Exeter.—The Grand Jury have indicted the Democratic selectmen of Northwood for wrongfully inserting names on the check list. John A. Batchelder for illegally voting at the Portsmouth municipal election, and Carrie A. Swain for keeping a noisy and disorderly house in Portsmouth.

The Eastern Railroad accommodates us with four freight trains a day to and from Boston. Amesbury has an independent freight train each way daily, averaging twenty cars. Every Monday night they have a carriage train employing some thirty cars. Rockport and Lawrence also have special trains. The freight as well as the passenger travel is constantly increasing upon this road, and the double track from Portsmouth to Ipswich is being prosecuted with vigor, to enable them to keep up with the demands that are continually pressing upon them. On the completion of this portion, it will be continued to Portland. There is no road in New England where trade is increasing so fast as along the line of the Eastern Railroad. This is seen in their great increase in five years of 80 per cent. freight and 100 per cent. in travel. Following as it does the seaboard, through the cities and large towns, which are continually increasing in population and wealth, we see no reason why in the next five years their business should not be quadrupled.—Newburyport Herald.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cures of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the virulent humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal outlet, of organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When the are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as General one of the Liver St omach Kidneys, Lungs, Dropsies, Gout, Dyspepsia Diseases of the skin St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gravel, Dropsy, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Fevers, Fever and Ague, Liver Complaint, Debility. With their departure health returns.

Nast vs. Schurz.

R. J. Hinton, the Washington correspondent of the Boston Globe, writes as follows:—Senator Schurz is unfortunate or otherwise, in having such marked physiognomical characteristics. If it is easy to slay a man, hypothetically I mean, with an epigram—or as I once heard said, with the jaw bone of an ass—how much easier it is to make him uncomfortably ridiculous by means of the pencil. Every Englishman or person acquainted with current events in England, will remember in this connection the manner in which the caricaturists have play'd and still play upon the marked features of certain public men. Resemblances in the "Iron Duke," familiarly termed "Old Conkey" and "Nose," could always be traced by the exaggerations of his more than Roman nose. So with Brougham's peculiar proboscis. Earl Russell's diminutiveness is always made more of by Punch—paradoxically—while Disraeli's peculiarly leathery face, Hebrew profile and curl locks give ample room and verge enough for daring pencils. They are constantly verging on the ridiculous. The French satirists make great use of this weapon, but I fancy that in time we shall beat them all. The rival caricaturists, Nast and Morgan, keep up a continual roar of laughter, while the occasional good hits of the minor comic pictorial sheets make world merry. Mr. Schurz is in danger of being laughed out of influence. There is something so very funny in those long legs of his, the high shoulders and impulsive, satirical and cynical face, with the eye-brows, that seem, like the shoulders, to be in a perpetual shrug, that the rather malicious genius of "Tom" Nast finds amplest opportunity for the rarest play of his genius. Nast strikes at the centre, and nearly always sends his dart quivering deep into the mark. In seeing upon the nose of Andrew Johnson, Nast gave one of the most striking evidences of his powers. It was utterly impossible for any one with a sense of humor to see his "Accidental Excellency," after seeing one of Nast's inimitable cartoons, especially the interesting on the profile, so that he invariably nose should appear in all its curious prominence, without having the desire to roar with laughter. A people man who can stand being laughed at must be either talented or solid.

In caricaturing Senator Schurz, Nast shows the same and by exaggerating a trifling was the physical peculiarities which in the drawing are likely to arouse the public sense of fun. The Senator is sensitive and feels the ridicule. He shows it in his manner and appearance, nor is it to be wondered at. Few men live who can stand such telling satires—addressed to the eye and mirth provoking to the last degree. Even the rival caricaturist, the English artist Matt Morgan, cannot refrain from giving the expressive face of the German-American a little touch of some one of the comic "make-ups," which Morgan from his experience at Drury Lane as a scene painter must have aided in devising for Christmas pantomimes.

When Nast was here some three or four weeks ago, it is reported that the Senator and artist met and that some sharp words were exchanged. Two men more unlike physically can hardly be conceived. Nast is a Bavarian by birth, though he has lived in the United States since a babe. I believe he is not yet thirty-five years of age. He is a man of moderate height and full figure, with a round, pleasant, shrewd face, rather dark, no beard, and a pair of keen, quick, humorous-looking eyes, which you see at once, after their owner is known to you, are the cameras through which are caught the thousand impressions that he reproduces so vigorously and quickly. The Senator is a Saxon by birth, ten or fifteen years the senior of the artist, tall and slender, blonde to a degree, and having the characteristics which Nast has already made so familiar. Intense Protestants both, these men are not only dissimilar by temperament but the more by the fact that the one believes and the other contrains. If every race and people embody in literature their salient traits, by means of some character molten into undying mould from the consciousness of the representative intellects of poet or novelist, romancer or historian, then it is certain that the German Satan was incarnated in a seer and named Mephistopheles by the poet Goethe. The character is thoroughly German, and Carl Schurz could represent it very well in a masque without much trouble in dressing or other "make-up."

But to return to the quarrel, Nast did not give any particulars then, but just before leaving, he certainly said that there had been some harsh words exchanged between himself and Gen. Schurz. Other parties have stated that the Senator threatened the artist, first that his employers, referring to the Harpers, would refuse to publish his cartoons, and when this was pleasantly laughed at, growing severer and rather angrily suggesting that the artist himself would "step." On being asked why, the reply was, "because he would be chastised." If this be true, it shows how mistaken the Senator was in his estimate of character. No man who knows Nast can doubt either the conscience he puts into his work, or the serene courage with which he would sustain his conviction. Nast is a fearless man, as was shown by his taking his place in the ranks of the New York Seventh on the day of the Orange riot.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Falling to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or bobbins or feed or price—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case, but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has the REVERSING MOTION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speed so requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

☞ By a New Method of Life Assurance, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.

THE NEW

Tontine Saving Fund Policy

is based on the above conditions, and presents the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - 104 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years, - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income of - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6,7.40.

These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY

SHEPPARD HOMANS,

Consulting Actuary.

☞ Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. $1000 REWARD.

BRIGGS' ALLEVIANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulin, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol; this compound is unequaled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Neuralgia, Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will connract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the appetite, the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitating and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator is utterly powerless more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, clergymen, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy and $1000 will be paid to found different from representation.

COUGHS, and Much has been said and may truthfully be written in effort for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or poisonous compounds but are healing, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have achieved from an appreciative public. The Corn Plaster is a healing, immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Corns and Bunions, Chilblains, the worst irritations, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, the equalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unrivalled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

THE OPERATION of the Maine liquor law is thus described in a Portland letter to the Boston Advertiser:—

The sheriff and his deputies have been making sad havoc among the liquor sellers. Some half dozen seizures were made last week, but as yet not a single case has been tried, the victims having generally put themselves under the mercy of the court, which they have promptly received in the sum of $50 and costs each. This shutting up of bars has made business profitable for the manufacturers of cider, who have an enviable privilege under the law.

Like all laws, the present one is neither perfect nor uniform. For instance, he who manufactures cider may sell it by the glass, gallon or barrel, though it be as hard as hard cider can be, while the honest farmer who has innocently picked a few elderberries or currents, and has spared time from his labors in the field to prepare a few gallons of wine is forbidden to sell the same upon any pretext whatever under the penalty of the law. One man near this city has now in his cellar some 10,000 gallons of native wines which he has manufactured at great expense and yet dares not sell a bottle in this State, through fear that he might thereby render himself liable to the search and seizure process, which, if sustained by the court, would result in the confiscation and destruction of his whole stock.

It is said, however, in behalf of the farmers of the law, that the non-exemption of native wines was an oversight, inasmuch as they should have been put upon the same footing as cider. Again, why it is that hard cider should be entitled to more privileges than lager beer seems to puzzle many. The only solution seems to be the fact that cider is supposed to be good for biliousness, and our legislators wish to get in a healthy state before hot weather sets in, so that we may the better enjoy a cold water dilution through the summer months.

One result, and not a very lamentable one, has already been observed. Several of our most prominent rumsellers have packed up their goods and are bidding farewell to Maine, to seek a home where they can get an "honest living," as they call it, without being molested by the officers of the law. Quite a stir has been made in regard to the sales of liquor at the city agency, and the mayor has finally placed certain restrictions upon that now popular resort.

MRS. PARTINGTON SPEAKS AGAIN.—Mrs. Partington entered the office of the Probate Judge, (called "Civilian,") and inquired in her blandest tone: "Are you the civil villain?" "Do you wish to insult me, madam?" said the Judge. "Yes," replied the amiable old lady; "my brother died detested, and left three infidel children, and I'm to be their executioner; so I want to insult the civil villain about it."

—Alexis' only sister is not yet eighteen. She has a lovely figure and face, a well cultivated mind, $30,000 a year, golden hair falling far below her waist, and exquisite diamonds.

PILLS AND OINTMENT.
Every Man His Own Physician.
CAUTION.
THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.
In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

Our Normal School

Has proved a success. The last term of the first whole year will close on the 8th of May, when a second class will graduate. During the opening short term of eight weeks, in the spring of 1871, more than 80 Normal pupils were present. The Fall session numbered 136 Normal pupils, six of whom graduated. During the winter, 70 of these were employed in teaching, mostly in the schools in New Hampshire, and 60 returned to the Normal School. The Spring session numbers 132 Normal pupils, and has been a very successful term. Two model schools, the Primary and Intermediate are connected, for the benefit of the Normal Department. This school already ranks among the best of its kind, and is accomplishing a noble work in the interest of popular education in this State. It has gained the confidence of the people; has elevated the standard of the Teacher's qualifications, and awakened a new interest among all classes in the prosperity and elevation of our public schools. The first session of the next year will open on the second Wednesday in August.

The News.

McKean Buchanan, the actor, died on the 16th, in Denver, Col., of apoplexy.

The new tariff bill reported by a majority of the House committee reduces the revenue as follows:—Tea, $2,348,-639; coffee, $2,949,309; coal, $322,881; salt, $615,522; leather, $529,258; iron and manufactures, $2,135,223; steel and manufactures, $745,539; wool, $559,823; woolen manufactures, $4,759,-680; woolen carpets, $197,772; cotton manufactures, $788,724; copper and manufactures, $39,611; chemicals, drugs, etc., $584,862; cork manufactures, $20,915; lumber, $761,801; all other articles, $212; free list, $1,584,-667; total, $18,952,438. Internal revenue—Tobacco, $7,720,000; gas, $2,573,-123; bank checks, $1,250,000; matches, $2,250,000; agreement stamps, (estimated,) $100,000; total, $12,893,623. Grand total, $31,845,561.

The New York Assembly has passed a bill giving a majority of electors power to decide whether intoxicating liquors shall be sold in any city or town in the State, by a vote of 67 to 41. Every Democrat and seventeen Republicans voted against the bill.

The Saco river is free from ice.

State News.

George H. Dunbar of Hopkinton, the young man who was charged before United States Commissioner Farley with taking from the post office at Contoocook and opening a letter addressed to Mrs. Madison M. Howe of Henniker, has been examined in respect to the matter and found to be innocent, and has been discharged accordingly.

A baggage-master on the Concord Railroad was rewarded with a five-dollar bill for finding and returning to the owner a wallet containing $7000.

The official vote of Merrimac county elects Democratic county officers by 67, 77 and 104 plurality each.

A room is being fitted in the end of the Swampscot House for the Exeter Post Office, which since the fire is to be found on Water Street temporarily.

THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.—Manilla advices give an account of an extensive conspiracy to overthrow the Spanish rule. About three hundred insurgents at Cavite attacked the ememy and carried the citadel of the place, killing in all sixty persons, including six Spanish officers and two ladies. A force of 2000 men was then sent against the insurgents, the citadel was retaken and the insurgent literally annihilated, the Spaniards showing them no mercy. Five hundred natives then attempted the recapture of the citadel, but were repulsed, and the insurrection ended, the Spaniards losing in all 440 killed and wounded.

THE NAUTICAL GAZETTE says the steamer Dacian, Capt. Laird, lost on Flint Rocks, 45 miles from Halifax, recently, while on a passage from London to Halifax with a cargo valued at over a half million dollars, is the forty-third ocean steamer engaged in the Atlantic trade lost since the year 1841. The Nautical Gazette is published in New York, and is full of interest for ship builders and owners, seamen, merchants and all others who are in any way connected with navigation and commercial pursuits.

—Bonner, being importuned to "write an article" favoring larger pay for ministers, said he would write a very short one. He did, and handed it to Dr. McCosh. It was a check for five thousand dollars.

New Publications.

Wood's Household Magazine, under the editorial management of Gail Hamilton, has more than doubled its subscription list, during the past four months. The May number contains: "Migration, Colonization, Homes," by Horace Greeley; "Miss Hannah Adams," by James Parton; "Household Discoveries," by Gail Hamilton; "Brother Anderson," by Thomas K. Beecher; "Longevity," by Dr. Dio Lewis; "Reminiscences of Rev. Dr. Bethune," by A. A. Willits, D. D., etc. The Household is published at $1 a year, by S. S. Wood & Co., Newburgh, N. Y.

S. J. COURT, EXETER.—In case State vs. Selectmen of Gosport, the respondents appeared and the case was continued, it being stated that a demurrer to the indictment would be filed. Frink, Solicitor for State; Small and Howard for Caswell and others.

Case State vs. Manchester & Lawrence R. R., tried in Portsmouth last fall, is being again tried. Mr. Eastman of Concord opened the case for the defendants on Wednesday morning and the defence was put in, commencing with the testimony of the engineer. The corporation are charged with killing Benjamin Woodbury in Salem by the careless running of their train over a road crossing.

The suit of Dr. Otis vs. Dr. Wentworth of Kittery for services as a health officer, tried last year, was again entered on a review. It was finally decided against Dr. Wentworth.

Dr. Kittredge of Newmarket has brought a suit against the Boston & Maine R. R. for services, etc.

—The local editor of the Jacksonville Journal wrote one day recently an item to the effect that "Winter was lingering in the lap of spring," but the managing editor "cut it out." He said the idea was good enough, and original, and all that sort of thing, but it would not do to publish, because the high moral tone of the paper had to be maintained in a town full of seminary girls.

—A preacher on the stage of the Pittsburgh Theatre, Sunday evening, denounced those "games practiced in what is called good society, which necessitate osculatory exercise." By that stilted phrase the good pastor meant kissing plays.

—A Western base ball reporter speaks of a club whose hopes are "mountain high." Can they not be classed among the 'Appy-nines?

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE HORSE AND HIS RIDER.—It was a happy day for the Horse and his rider when the MUSTANG LINIMENT was introduced as a cure for the external diseases and injuries of both. In the stable, the barn and the household this wonderful emollient is equally useful. If a horse is injured or foundered, or harness-galled, or afflicted with any other of the many superficial ills that equine flesh is heir to, the Liniment effects a speedy cure, and it is equally efficacious when applied to draught oxen or cows suffering from outward swellings, strains, or hurts of any description. As an application for bruises, cuts, burns, rheumatism, stiff joints, sprains, neuralgia, earache and toothache, it takes precedence from all other topical remedies, and is therefore an article of prime necessity in families.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of this tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorating, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach sche, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Test that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. ROSE & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are a sure remedy for all sexual complaints and may be taken by females of all ages, who are suffering from a disorganized system, or those distressing diseases in particular which frequently occur (from inattention) at the turn of life. They are so mild that the most delicate female may take them with perfect safety. 25 cents per box or pot.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing out the thousands of persons who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headache and terrible mental disturbances are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly an alterative and invigorant; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength disease has left it. Salivants have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antibilious aperients and blood-purifying components. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contain every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which it involves. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it seems almost idle to repeat the statement.

The great tonic rallies exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently recruits the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

BOTTLES FULL OF BEAUTY.—Ladies, if you would have beauty by the bottle-full, all you have to do is to purchase HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM. That peerless beautifier of the complexion not only heightens natural charms, but renders even the plainest countenance exceeding attractive. It recalls to the pallid cheek the rosy tinge of health, removes pimples, blotches, roughness, sallowness and other blemishes, and imparts to the skin a most delicate fairness and softness. It smooths the furrows caused by time or care, and gives face, neck and arms the plump and engaging appearance of youthful beauty. All this is accomplished by the most natural means, viz.: by gently and naturally stimulating the circulation in the capillary blood vessels. Besides being the most effectual aid to beauty known to modern science.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Respect to Prof. Morse.

At the memorial meeting held on Tuesday evening, April 16, in honor of Prof. Morse, Mayor Walker presided and A. F. Howard, Esq., acted as Secretary. The meeting was addressed by the Mayor, Wm. H. Y. Hackett, E. M. Brown and T. E. O. Marvin; and Mr. Hackett offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that the citizens of Portsmouth have received with deep regret the intelligence of the death of Samuel F. B. Morse—a benefactor of his race and age, whose genius and perseverance have brought the world into instantaneous intercourse and sympathy, extended the borders of civilization, and provided a medium and influence for making a brotherhood of the whole family of man.

Resolved, as a token of our respect for the memory of such a public benefactor, and of our appreciation of the blessing he has conferred upon the world, that the Mayor be requested to cause the National Flag to be displayed as a flag of mourning over the City Hall for one week.

Miss Maynard's Concert.

The concert at the Temple on the evening of the 16th, by Miss Vinnie H. Maynard, Mrs. S. Grace Holt and the Masonic Quartette of Boston, was the richest feast of vocal melody enjoyed by a Portsmouth audience since the visit here of the Russian Troupe some two years ago. Others may have a different opinion, but that is ours; and we do not think it invidious, for the splendid concert by Harlow's Band and the perfect entertainment offered by the Barnabee, were of a very different character.

Mrs. S. Grace Holt, who was previously unknown here, has a contralto voice of good power and much more than average fullness, sweetness and flexibility; and in two solos and a duet with Miss Maynard, she exhibited a high degree of musical culture and the possession of much taste, and gave a great deal of pleasure to at least one of her hearers—"that's me;" and be it known we are by no means enthusiastic on the subject of solo singing.

Mr. Fessenden's song, "Norah," was beautifully rendered; and a musical friend, after the concert was over, expressed the opinion that his tenor is equal to Brignoli's—we think it superior, but acknowledge that we have a prejudice against Brignoli's music as we don't like his looks. We certainly prefer Mr. Fessenden to sing for our pleasure.

Miss Maynard's singing was a pleasing surprise to us; we knew previously that she was a fine singer, but had no idea she was so good as she proved herself to be at this concert. The brilliant and difficult cavatina from Lucia di Lammermoor, "Regnava nel silenzio," was given faultlessly, as were also several songs.

The first piece of the evening, the quintette "Hie thee, shallop," by the Temple Quartette and Miss Maynard (soprano obligato) was "worth the price of admission," putting it very mildly indeed; the "Waltz song" and a humorous part song by the Quartette were given in perfection, as were the several encores,—one of their pieces, which ended with "Love is all a hum," being enthusiastically applauded by about all the married people in the audience; two chants, "Our days on earth" and "Remember now thy Creator," exhibited the perfection of harmony, time, and light and shade,—as indeed did all their singing; and the prison scene from Il Trovatore, by Miss Maynard, Mr. Fessenden and the Temple Quartette, was a fitting close to an entertainment such as is rarely offered to our citizens. We have already mentioned the Russian Troupe whose glorious music made a deep mark in our memory; we consider the music of the Masonic Quartette equal to the Russians'—higher praise we cannot conceive—and we even prefer the Templars for one reason, understanding the English language moderately well while our knowledge of the Russian tongue is very limited.

The piano, (one of Hallet and Davis' grands,) on which Mr. A. T. Maynard performed a fantasie and Miss Miller played the accompaniments when there were any to play, was the best we ever heard in the Temple, and one of the best we ever heard anywhere; we don't know whose it is, but it is an excellent instrument, and its owner will not be likely to gain by exchanging it for another.

The audience was not large — not nearly so large as it should have been at such a concert; but all present appreciated the entertainment offered, if the absolute silence maintained during the performance of each piece, and the liberal applause bestowed, may be taken as indications. We were much pleased to notice that the selfish disregard of others so often manifested by some individuals by starting from their seats before an entertainment is over, to the great annoyance of those who desire to enjoy the finish, was not exhibited on this occasion, all the audience remaining seated until the close. Miss Maynard has the satisfaction of knowing that her concert was a rich treat to those who were present, but we fear it was not a pecuniary success. We'll give two dollars at any time, to hear that quintette, the "Miserere" or those chants, once more. Who's next?

A Friendly Hint.

Our copperhead cotemporary, Willie of the local Democratic organ, gets up a small insurrection occasionally against the Scribes and Pharisees who oppose—or whom he assumes to oppose—the ideas he may hold on any subject. Willie sets up a man of straw and labels him "Evangelist," and then addresses him thusly: "Yes, I'm a recklessly wicked fellow in your eyes, I know; but I don't care a snap for you—there!" In his last heroic defiance of people who probably never heard of him, he refers to the "straight-laced, long-visaged pharisees who have held up their hands with pretentiously pious air when they read in these columns commendatory notices of social dances in Congress Hall, and have launched anathemas at us when we have advised parents and guardians to send their little ones to dancing schools." We wonder if Willie ever read the story of the fly on the ox's horn? If he did, he has evidently profited but little by the lesson it conveys; if not, we advise him to read it at once, by all means—it may help him to a juster appreciation of his own importance.

The Reason.

Some individual utters a piteous wail in the local Democratic paper over the sad irreverence of the CHRONICLE in not duly bowing the knee before the exalted perfection of Alderman Hatch, and says that certain "petty schemers" "have inaugurated a system by which bills can be smuggled through the Board of Aldermen,"—which is false, as the writer, whoever he is, must have known when he was writing it. The grand trouble is that this Hatch is not taken at his own valuation, in the Board of Aldermen; the "system by which bills can be smuggled through the Board of Aldermen" was all right so long as he was on the Committee on Accounts; he saw nothing objectionable in all bills against the city being carefully scrutinized by a committee instead of being loosely glanced at by anybody or nobody, until he was removed from that committee, when he suddenly discovered that everything was wrong and the "system" corrupt to the last degree. The talk about "smuggling" bills through the Board is the merest drivel, as the man who talks it is well aware, and the "system" is as it was when Alderman Hatch assisted in carrying it on, though another member of the Board has now taken his place on the committee.

The copperhead sheet informs the world that "Alderman Hatch is universally acknowledged to be one of the ablest lawyers in the State and is recognized here as holding high rank in social, business and political circles. He is a fine scholar, forcible and polished public speaker, well versed in parliamentary usages, and besides being a heavy tax-payer, is as well informed in regard to city affairs as any member of the Board." Yea, verily; but even were all that true, what of it in this connection? He may not be properly appreciated on the Board; but we fail to see how that can make a system wrong, when conducted by another, which was right when conducted by him. Aldermen Hatch is not on the Committee on Accounts—and that is just where the shoe pinches.

Alderman Hatch has been disappointed in his aldermanic career, feels sore thereat and endeavors to punish his opposers by inflicting upon them long-winded harangues. In this he but follows the lead of Sumner, Schurz, Trumbull & Co.; and we can see no reason, if really great men take such method to be avenged of their adversaries, why a would-be great man may not do so likewise. When he was made an Alderman by the copperheads, his constituents imagined he was going to run the municipal machine pretty much as he liked; and from the way he commenced operations we fancy he was of the same opinion,—and we remember that our good-natured, decorous neighbor, the Journal, suggested that the title of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen should be changed to the "Board of Mayor and Alderman Hatch!" But he has not been able to "ring" the Mayor and Board of Alderman so as to lead them by the nose, nor to effectually hide his bitter copperhead partizanship under his profuse professions of anxiety for the city's good only. On the day in which the City Government of 1871 was organized, a Democratic friend exultingly remarked to us, "Your side won't have everything their own way this year; lawyer Hatch will look out for things in the Aldermen now, and your fellows will get tripped pretty often if they are not careful." The Alderman has found it impossible to meet the expectations of the men who elected him, though he has struggled hard to do so; and his tirades to the Aldermen, and the strong "butter" of his editorial ally, are no doubt soothing to his wounded feelings—for it must be cutting to a man who has considered himself "some pumpkins" to find that others consider him "small potatoes" — though we doubt if the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, or the public, can be convinced that what is right when done by Alderman Hatch is wrong when done by Alderman Somebody-else.

It may interest some sneak thief to give warning that Mr. E. A. Joy is well prepared to protect his clothes line from the depredations of those who help themselves to other people's property. One scamp escaped punishment Tuesday evening by fleeing, but will stand a fair chance of being peppered and salted to a high degree when next he raids on Brewster Street.

A friend tells the following, which happened in this city some years ago, but loses nothing by age. A ball-witted individual, whose wife died after a long and severe sickness, was accosted the day of her burial by a friend who had not learned the circumstance and enquired for the health of the "better half;" the reply was "better,—she rode out yesterday."

One of the last words introduced prominently to the public is "adumbrating." It is defined to mean the "individualism of preliminary and precipitous prognostications as eliminated in the irretragability of never-flinching and never-to-yield-an-inch discomboberation of spontaneous combustion, whether or not, and evincing antediluvian indivisilities, consanguinity when sycoelephantical and scientillating approximately to scientific elaboration." Ten to one that's the person who stole our dictionary.

Morning Chronicle.

A PRETTY KETTLE OF FISH.

In the Golden Age of March 23, we published the following paragraph as a proper rebuke to the mean behavior of a clerical bigot:

"Rev. Lyman Whiting, a floating Congregational minister, who is now here and now there, and who never stays long in one parish, has just been adding an extra drop to the tincture of his bigotry, by refusing to permit the burial service to be performed in his church over one of his church members because the deceased was a free-mason. This disgraceful scene occurred at Janesville, Wis., the place in which this dwarfed Yankee now misrepresents the Christian religion. A Christian minister, to be worthy of his profession, ought to have a human heart in his breast. An indignant world justly rebuked a snobbish clergyman in New York for declining funeral rites to the veteran and honored actor, George Holland, and as bravely applauded the manlier conduct of 'the little church around the corner.' But Rev. Lyman Whiting out-bigots even the New York bigot, for in the Janesville case the man was not a stranger to the clergyman, nor was he associated with any profession distasteful to religious people, but was a member in good standing of the very church within whose edifice his dead body was not allowed to be, because (forsooth!) the minister was opposed to free-masonry! The question naturally arises, 'If a free-mason is good enough while alive to be a member of a church, is he not good enough when dead to be buried from it?' Contempt is a faint word to express the estimate which Rev. Lyman Whiting's associates in the Congregational ministry should apply to his despicable conduct. Such a minister should be swept from such a pulpit as with a broom. Out with him!"

The above paragraph was written by the editor-in-chief of The Golden Age while tarrying in Janesville, and was based on statements made to him in person, on the spot, and at the time, by some of the chief citizens of that town. Moreover, he was himself, then and there, an accidental witness to the indignation which Rev. Mr. Whiting's conduct occasioned among the better class of the inhabitants on the day of the funeral. The Golden Age thought that such a piece of white-cloth snobbery ought to be rebuked, and accordingly expressed a righteous opinion concerning this disgraceful proceeding and its sanctimonious perpetrator. Judge, therefore, of our surprise at receiving the following communications, which, until they were followed by still another, perplexed us not a little:

"What the Trustees Say:—We, the trustees of the First Congregational church and society of Janesville, of which Rev. Lyman Whiting, D. D., is pastor, do hereby certify and declare that the statements in The Golden Age of March 23, concerning the burial and the refusal of the church (edifice) for a burial service are wholly without foundation. The trustees, and not the pastor, have control of the church edifice. But neither to him, nor to the trustees, nor to any one of them was any request made for the use of it. The funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased, in conformity with the expressed preference of the widow that it should be so. We demand the publication of this statement, and also the statement of the widow, in The Golden Age, and request a copy of the number containing the same.

ALEX GRAHAM, W. G. WHEELOCK,
A. A. JACKSON, WM. H. TALLMAN,
JAS. SUTHERLAND, F. S. ELDRED, JANESVILLE, March 30. Trustees."

"The Widow's Testimony.—The statement published in The Golden Age of March 23, to the effect that Rev. Dr. L. Whiting refused to permit the burial service of my deceased husband to be performed in his church, is untrue in every respect. The services were performed at my residence at my request. The statement is without any foundation in fact. SOPHIA HOLMES.
JANESVILLE, March 29."

"Editors who have copied the article in The Golden Age above mentioned, will please copy the above."

After carefully perusing the above batch of communications, we were completely bewildered by the conflict of evidence—the point of difficulty being to reconcile what we heard on the spot from some well-known citizens and what we afterward obtained from the trustees and the widow. To add to this confusion of mind, we received a very confidential communication from the same unhappy quarter of the world, in which the writer, under date of April 4th, says: "Your statement is not considered any too strong." Immediately after this a copy of the Janesville Gazette (Gen. Bintliff's paper) came to us containing the following letter from the widow, showing that her previously published letter was a forgery, and that The Golden Age was right after all:

THE WIDOW REBUKES THE MINISTER. To the Editors of the Janesville Gazette: My attention has been called to an article whice appeared in last evening's Gazette, purporting to have been written by myself, to the effect that the statement which appeared in The Golden Age of March 23d (concerning the burial service of my deceased husband) was untrue.

The article in question was not written by myself, neither did I authorize the publication of such a communication. The facts of the case are as follows: I was waited upon by a trustee of the Congregational church (of which my husband was a member) and requested to sign a paper he had prepared denying in toto the statement that Rev. Dr. L. Whiting had objected to permit the burial service to be held in the church; also, that the services were performed at my house at my request. I told him most emphatically that I could not sign such a paper, for the reason that Mr. Whiting had objected to having the funeral in the church, as Mr. Holmes was a Mason, and he (Dr. Whiting) was opposed to Masonic funerals being held in his church. I told the gentleman if he would publish the conversation that ensued between Mr. Whiting and myself (of which the above is the substance) that I would sign a paper to the effect that the funeral services were held at my house at my request.

It is not my desire to bring the matter before the public, but justice to myself demands a plain statement of the facts. This I have given.

SOPHIA HOLMES.

The above correspondence ought to be preserved as a chapter in the Curiosities of Literature. Here is a minister—of whom certain New England cities in which he formerly resided still have unfavorous memories—who settles awhile in a western town, preaches to a church among whose members is a free mason, refuses when this church-member dies to permit the Free Masons to take part in a public funeral in the church, compels the obsequies to be celebrated in a private house, attempts to make his own trustees and the dead man's wife his scapegoats for this mean-spirited act, and finally overleaps himself by publishing as genuine a letter from the bereaved lady which she is sadly compelled to contradict by another giving the lie in his teeth! Mr. Whiting's attempt to vindicate himself thus leaves him in a ten-fold worse plight than before; for under the indictment which we brought against him he was nothing but a narrow bigot; but under the more grievous condemnation with which the widow of the deceased smites his tingling cheeks, he is now published to the world as a pious fraud Golden Age.

—Lydia Thompson's admirers at Savannah gave her a bale of cotton. She denies that she is in need of it, and takes it everywhere with her for show.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER

By a New Method of Life Assurance, which applies the Tontine principle to the distribution of dividends, and which, by allowing the assured to sell his policy to the Company only after stated periods, results more favorable than any hitherto experienced, may be enjoyed by persons possessed of constitutional longevity, who keep their policies in force until the middle or latter part of their lives.
THE NEW
Tontine Saving Fund Policy
is based on the following distinguishing features, which are illustrated by a CALCULATION OF PROBABLE RESULTS on a policy of Ten Thousand Dollars, at ORDINARY LIFE RATES, Age 37, annual premium, - - - - - - - $281.70.

First—Sale of Policy to the Company.

At the end of 10 years - - - 101 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 15 years - - - 151 per cent. of premiums returned.
At the end of 20 years - - - 201 per cent. of premiums returned.

Second—Paid up Policy.

At the end of 10 years, - - - - - $7,000.
At the end of 15 years, - - - - - 14,000.
At the end of 20 years? - - - - - 22,000.

Third—An Annuity.

At the end of 14 years the profits will EXTINGUISH THE ANNUAL PREMIUM, and, with the subsequent annual Dividends, will purchase yearly income, - - - - - - $173.30
Or, at the end of 20 years, of - - - 6,740.
These estimates are derived from a careful digest of Past Experience, AND ARE ENDORSED BY
SHEPPARD HOMANS,
Consulting Actuary.
Persons intending to assure their lives will find it to their advantage to examine this new plan with care. $1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulin, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUCHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or poison compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleviator for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sures.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.
CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Tumors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 705 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

VERY MUCH PLAZED WITH IT.—Judge S., a good judge and a very conscientious, was holding court in one of the prairie counties of Ohio, just before the October election.

There was a great rush of doubtful claimants to citizenship, and the judge decided to check it.

From this decision Barney Mulligan, a swift witness for these embyro voters, dissented, "for a rayson" he had.

Judge (to Barney): Do you know, of your own knowledge, that this applicant, Brian O'Foole, is attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States?

Barney (very decidedly): Yis, yer honor, he is.

Judge: Has he ever read the Constitution?

Barney (a little downcast): Can't say, sir.

Judge: Can he read at all?

Barney (brightening up): Can't read at all, at all, your honor, and in course he'll always vote right, sir.

Judge: I think it will do Brian no baran to wait until the next term; Sheriff, adjourn the court till 2 o'clock.

Barney was not to be beat in that way. He planted Brian in a fence-corner, stuck a rail in front of him for a table, and laid on it a borrowed lawbook, from which he read in a rich brogue "the Constitution," from beginning to end, and then waited for two o'clock.

So soon as the crier had proclaimed "O-yez? o-yez!" etc., Barney rushed to the bar with his client.

"Judge, yer honor! I've read the Constitution to Brian out an' out, and he's very much plazed with it.

HOW TO CONSTRUCT A FASHIONABLE LADY.—The Richmond Enquirer publishes the following recipe to make a woman of the period:

Take ninety pounds of flesh and bones—but chiefly bones—wash clean, bore holes in the ears and cut off the small toes; bend the back to conform to the Grecian bend, the Boston dip, the kangaroo droop, the Saratoga slope or the bull-frog break, as the taste inclines; then add three yards of linen, one hundred yards of ruffles, and seventy-five yards of edging, eighteen yards of dimity, one pair silk or cotton hose with patent hip attachments, one pair of fal-se calves, six yards flannel embroidered, one pair balmoral boots with heels three inches high, four pounds whalebone in strips, seventeen hundred and sixty yards of steel wire, three-quarters of a mile of tape, ten pounds of raw cotton or two wire hemispheres, one wire basket to hold a bushel, four copies of a New York paper (triple sheet), one hundred and sixty yards of silk or other dress goods, five hundred yards of point lace, fourteen hundred yards of fringe and other trimmings, twelve gross of buttons, one box pearl powder, one saucer of carmine, an old hare's foot, one bushel of false hair frizzled and fretted a la maniaque, one bundle Japanese switches, with rats, mice and other varmints; one peck of hairpins, one lace handkerchief, nine inches square, with patent holder. Perfume with attar of roses or sprinkle with nine drops of the "Blessed Baby" or the "West End." Stuff the head with fashionable novels, ball tickets, play bills, and wedding cards, some scandal, a great deal of lost time and a very little sage; add a half grain of common sense, three scruples of religion, and a modicum of modesty. Season with vanity and affectation and folly. Garnish with earrings, finger rings, breast pins, chains, bracelets, feathers and flowers, to suit the taste. Pearls and diamonds may be thrown in if you have them; if not, paste and pinchbeck from the dollar store will do.

Whirl all around in a fashionable circle, and stew by gaslight for six hours. Great care should be taken that the thing is not overdone.

If it does not rise sufficiently, add more copies of a New York paper.

This dish is highly ornamental, and will do to put at the head of your table on grand occasions but is not suitable for every day use at home, being very expensive and indigestible. It sometimes gives men the heartburn, and causes them to break, and is certain death to children.

If you have not the ingredients at hand, you can buy the article ready-made in any of our large cities—if you have money enough.

—In the course of a recent trial in San Francisco, growing out of a gambling transaction, the judge asked "if there was any one in the room who could show how a 'cold deck' was wrung in, in a game of poker." Extraordinary to relate, two-thirds of the spectators rushed for the witness stand; but at this moment an officer of the court informed the judge "that he had a cold deck in his pocket." Such a cloud of witnesses was embarrassing, and the court concluded not to take testimony upon the points.

—"Mack," of the St. Louis Democrats, asserts that great enthusiasm for the Smith ticket prevails among Mr. Ellon G. Smith.

FRIDAY, APRIL 19, 1872.

State News.

One of the items in a claim recently presented to referees in a New Hampshire lawsuit was "for time spent at Wilton in coaxing Mr. Smith when drunk. $5."

The Catholic orphans' fair at Manchester closed on the 15th of April. The profits amounted to more than $4000, which is to be used in the erection of a hospital building in that city.

The Republican State Convention for electing delegates to the Philadelphia National Convention will meet in Concord at 11 A. M., May 8.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM was manifested at the two meetings held in New York by the Grant Republicans, on the night of the 17th. One was held in Cooper Institute, and the hall being too small to hold the crowd, a monster gathering was organized outside. Hon. M. E. Dodge, President of the chamber of commerce, presided, with Peter Cooper, Edward Pierrepont, Henry Clews, James Gordon Bennett, George Jones, H. B. Claflin, Thurlow Weed, Cambridge Livingston, Stewart L. Woodford, S. B. Chittenden, Noah Davis, Henry Ward Beecher, Franz Sigel, William E. Dodge, E. D. Morgan, George Opdyke, Paran Stevens, Henry C. Brown and hundreds of others as vice presidents. Speeches were made by Hon. E. Delafield Smith, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, Senator Wilson, Hon. Oliver P. Morton of Indiana, Mr. James W. Beekman, a prominent merchant, Gen. Joseph C. Jackson, and Col. A. W. Tenney. Letters were read from Hon. Roscoe Conkling, Gen. William Curtis, U. S. Senator Edmunds, Vice President Colfax, Gen. Hawley, and others. Despatches endorsing President Grant were read from the Republican delegationsin Congress from Pennsylvania, New York, Vermont, Tennessee, Georgia, Illinois, Wisconsin, Kansas, Indiana, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina, Missouri, and Ohio.

CONGRESSMAN CONGER of Michigan, a famous story teller, had a tilt one day in the House with S. S. Cox, and illustrated his speech with the following story: — "A Virginian came up to Washington the other day who had not been here for fifteen years, and naming from the other side of the Blue Ridge, was in ignorance of the social and political changes that had transpired at the Capitol. Visiting the House and the Senate, he observed the changed aspect of affairs, and, full of grief and shame, he went into the rotunda, and seating himself before the picture of Washington surrendering his sword, he thus apostrophized the Father of his country: 'George, my father was your friend, and we belonged to the first families of Virginia. Your father and mine did, George. But it is no use our staying in Washington any longer. Another race has come; respectable people are driven out; the first families are gone, George. There are niggers in the street cars, niggers in the Senate, niggers in the House, niggers in the galleries, darkness everywhere, George. This is no place for respectable people. Go, up, George, go up and take your place between the Saviour and Mary McDaniel.'"

SENATOR PATTERSON is thus pictured by a New York World correspondent:—"He has a high-bred, kindly face, blue eyes, heads of whiskers in front of each ear, hair thin over the brain, and a pleasant, flexible voice. I never heard him speak in the Senate, but as a parlor talker he is most captivating. He is rich in imagery, fluent in expression, and in description invests even worn-out topics with a grace and beauty and color most charming."

CONNECTICUT,—The board of canvassers give the official vote for Governor as follows:—Marshal Jewell 46,563; Richard D. Hubbard, 44,562; Francis Gillette (Temperance), 1549; A. B. Harrison (Labor Reform), 399; total vote, 93,098. Jewell over Hubbard, 2001; Jewell over all, 28. All others over Hubbard, 3974.

S. J. COURT, EXETER.—In action of Joseph Dodge versus Boston & Maine Railroad, a suit to recover damages for being ejected from the cars, an adjustment has been effected, the corporation paying $200 and costs.

SENATORIAL.—Gen. Gilman Marston of Exeter has entered the contest as a candidate for U. S. Senator.

—Between two and three millions of dollars will be invested in buildings in Indianapolis this year. No other city in the west is growing more rapidly.

—The St. Louis Democrat proposes the following tableaux for the Cincinnati Convention: Enter Anna Dickinson, supported on the right by Andy Johnson, and on the left by Horace Greeley, with Joe in front, and Bill in the rear; while Horace lines out the hymn:

"This is the way I long have sought,
And mourned because I found it not."

THE JUBILEE SINGERS AND PARSON BROWNLOW. — Among the incidents connected with the visit of the "Jubilee Singers" to Washington, perhaps the most so was their call upon Senator Brownlow. With singular appropriateness, they had sung in the "White House,"

"When Israel was in Egypt-land—
Let my people go—
Oppress'd so hard, they could not stand,
Let my people go—
Go down, Moses, way down in Egypt-land,
Tell old Pharaoh—let my people go."

And the Moses that went down there, the short, thick, silent, true man, that had given force to Lincoln's Proclamation, listened with a smile, and possibly, thought of the Ku-Klux. But when these ten sable singers of Tennessee stood in the presence of their thin, palsied, shattered Senator, who was unable to receive them, except in his sick chamber; the man, who had stood up so bravely for them, and was so maligned by their persecutors; a very wreck in body, but with a soul of fire gleaming from his deep eye-sockets, waging an inch-by-inch warfare with disease, with the same touching fitness, they selected,

"Keep me from sinking down!"

It melted the old veteran to tears. He wept as he wrongs heaped upon his head, or their heads, had ever made him weep; for his will is an iron one. It was their deliverance, their standing before him as his comforters, as it transfigured into angel visitors, it was their sweet harmony, it was the gospel in their sweet song, that converted the old man into a child, and made tears of trust trickle down his cheeks, wrinkled and wan with woes more than with years.—Rev. Dr. Rankin in Congregationalist.

WHICH THE HUMAN AND WHICH THE BRUTE?—The Dubuque (Iowa) Telegraph vouches for the following singular horse story:—

On Monday evening last a man whose name we could not learn, was seen wending his way up Julien avenue, leading a mare by the bridle. He was badly intoxicated, so much so that he staggered, and it was sometimes more than he could do to maintain his equilibrium. The mare kept a close watch on his movements, and whenever he came near falling the mare would grab his coat collar between her teeth and hold him up. She did so no less than a dozen times in the presence of several interested spectators. The drunken man fell down in the street once, but no sooner had he done so, than the animal grabbed the back of his coat and set him on his feet again. When a little beyond McNulty's house, the owner of the mare met an acquaintance of his who was also drunk. They engaged in conversation, and, while taking, bumped against each other, and the man first alluded to fell. He was immediately picked up by the mare, and, just as soon as she had finished her job, she turned around and let her heels fly, in a savage manner, at the man who knocked her master down. Fortunately her heels missed the mark.

—A San Francisco pair who attempted to be married on a tug-boat in the bay were so seasick that they were forced to go through the ceremony on their knees.

—A Springfield man who refused to pay his rent, now fences out the cold with quilts, carpets and blankets, his landlord having removed the doors and windows of the house.

—The Baltimore American has it on good authority that "no man can serve God and mammon, but Daniel Drew comes nearer to accomplishing it than any one else in the world."

—The Woodhull-Cladlin section of the Internationals have been suspended by the central power at London. "Vicy" wanted to be the pivotal section in this country and her pretentions were rebuked.

—The Richmond Enquirer wants for a presidential candidate "some true representative of the virtue and intelligence of our age and nation on the broad platform of the ten commandments."

—A choral association forming in Danbury wants somebody to lead them. The News says: The people who live next door to where they rehearse are equally anxious for somebody to lead them; and the further he leads them, the better will these outraged people feel.

—A Sunday School superintendent out in Alaska treated his entire charge to a sleigh-ride. There were just forty-one of the cherubs and a six-horse sleigh. On their way home they were beset by a pack of ferocious wolves. Cool and collected in that hour of fearful trial, the heroic superintendent saw at a glance that he must soon be overtaken. In an instant his quick mind grasped the only chance of escape. Seizing the child that always sung "I Want to be an Angel" two notes too high, he flung it to the rapacious horde. It stayed their onward rush for a moment. Next came the urchin who never brought any pennies to the heathen. And so on swept the pursued and the pursuers until the last infant was exhausted. But the brave fellow had economized his material nobly. And besides, a whole Sunday School slows off wolves perceptibly. We have always noticed this. In another moment the sleigh dashed into the village, and the noble, grand, true-hearted man knew he was saved.—Don Piatt.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

BOTTLES FULL OF BEAUTY.—Ladies, if you would have beauty by the bottle-full, all you have to do is to purchase HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM. That peerless beautifier of the complexion not only heightens natural charms; but renders even the plainest countenance exceeding attractive. It recalls to the pallid cheek the rosy tinge of health, removes pimples, blotches, roughness, sallowness and other blemishes, and imparts to the skin a most delicate fairness and softness. It smooths the furrows caused by time or care, and gives face, neck and arms the plump and engaging appearance of youthful beauty. All this is accomplished by the most natural means, viz.: by gently and naturally stimulating the circulation in the capillary blood vessels. Besides being the most effectual aid to beauty known to modern science.

EDITORIAL NOTICES are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article without being suspected of interested motives. This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal. It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown. If popularity in any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the VINEGAR BITTERS, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. a8 4w

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a vegetable preparation containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It is pleasant to take, does not nauseate, and operates when other remedies have failed. Dr. Pitcher has experimented fifteen years in producing a preparation more efficient than Castor Oil, without its horrid taste. The Castoria regulates the system; cures constipation, stomach aches, croup and flatulency, and kills worms. It does not distress or gripe. By its quieting, soothing effect it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying and teething children.

We desire Physicians to test this article, and will forward three bottles GRATIS to the address of any one so authenticated. Insist that your druggist order it for you. It costs but 50 cents, and one bottle will save many doctor's bills. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, N. Y. ap3 4w

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of manikins and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are a sure remedy for all sexual complaints and may be taken by females of all ages, who are suffering from a disorganized system, or those distressing diseases in particular which frequently occur (from inattention) at the turn of life. They are so mild that the most delicate female may take them with perfect safety. 25 cents per box or pot.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Diseased Digestion.

If chronic indigestion affected the stomach only it might be more easily borne; but it gives rise, inevitably, to many other diseases affecting the liver, the nerves, the bowels and the brain. Biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, headache and terrible mental disturbance are among its usual accompaniments. In fact, every organ, every fibre of the frame, sympathizes with the debilitated and diseased stomach. What is needed in such a case? Clearly an alterative and invigorant; and among medicines of that class HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is, beyond all comparison or estimate, the best. Mere purgatives only deprive the system of the little strength disease has left it. Salivants have the same effect. The whole internal organism has gone wrong, and can only be put right and kept right by a medicine in which the tonic and stimulating elements predominate, but are qualified and modified by antibilious aperients and blood-purifying components. Now, the truth is (and the medical faculty as well as the public know the fact) that Hostetter's Bitters contain every ingredient requisite for the cure of dyspepsia and all of the ailments of body and mind which it involves. This has been proved in so many thousands of instances that it seems almost idle to repeat the statement.

The great tonic rallies exhausted nature, from whatever cause enfeebled, and permanently recruits the vigor of the nerves, the muscles and the brain. Its effect upon the brain is to give strength to the will and precision to the judgment, and to banish despondency and that infirmity of purpose which generally accompanies bodily weakness.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Lungs, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Writing in Schools.

Messrs. Editors: —I may not be quite as much interested in the teachers of this city as "Q." is, but truly I do not believe the teachers or committee feel very highly complimented by such a blundering defender as his recent article in your paper proves him to be. Think "Q." would do well to call on Foster for a pair of eye-glasses to aid him in his short-sightedness and I know by experience he will be well *Shore(s)*d if he does.

Have read all the articles in your paper and the Journal on this subject and from them and what I learn from teachers and scholars, I think "Spencerian" about right when he said it was an "unfortunate act" to dismiss from the schools the special teacher. I wonder if the dose from the pen of "Q." acted as a quietus on "Spencerian," or if he thought "Q." not worthy of his metal. "Spencerian" did not state that the study had been discontinued by the Committee as "Q." would intimate, but that it had been laid aside in one school (a fact) the teacher of which, being a new appointment, was unqualified to teach this branch. But what if "teachers are instructed to continue the course of study, explaining principles and using charts in every respect as under the special teacher," does it follow that they are able to do as ordered? In this case is proved the old saying, "'Tis one thing to command, another to obey." Had "Q." examined the city reports as minutely as "E. Pluribus Unum" tried to, he would have discovered that all the schools have not had the same teacher all the time of the labors of the special teacher, but that in all the wards changes have taken place, extending even to the second new one. I am also informed that some of the teachers did not leave their desks during the writing exercise, being engaged in other school duties, and that sometimes, some took that time to visit other schools, &c. This is to be accounted for by the fact that they did not expect to be called on to teach from knowledge obtained in this way, and to prove this idea, it is known that one teacher took private lessons in order to fit herself to teach if need be. These may be some of the reasons why teachers are not posted in the principles of the system.

"Q." has stated an axiom which agrees with "Spencerian's" arguments exactly, that a "knowledge of the principles" is "more important than the ability to give illustrations."

"E. Pluribus Unum" thinks that a good hand is the one thing needful in a teacher and that many teachers have "one as good as Mr. M.," while "Spencerian" joins the chorus with the statement that some of the teachers have neither a knowledge of the system or a systematic style of writing.

It has been suggested, and with no disrespect to teachers, that if our teachers were to be examined upon their knowledge of writing as a system, that there would be a new supply of teachers from the town of Barrington.

It has been preverbial that those who are good scholars in other branches are poor penmen, which is to be accounted for by the little attention which has been and is given in many places to this system. Hoping that the action of the school committee may (?) be for the advancement of knowledge,

I am yours truly, H.

Laconics.

Hon. James Shaw, editor of the Mobile Republican, and formerly of this city, is mentioned as the probable Republican candidate for Secretary of State in Alabama.

Steamer Enterprise will be put on the route between Saco, Biddeford, Portsmouth and Boston on the first of May.

We trust that under the new management of the Eastern Railroad, an afternoon train from Portsmouth to Boston will be run, as our citizens desire the accommodation. No train leaves this city for Boston between 11:30 A. M. and 5:30 P. M., and connection can be made with the afternoon train leaving Newburyport for Boston, that will give us ample accommodation.

An adjourned meeting of the Mercantile Library Association will be held at No. 38 Market St., this (Friday) evening, at quarter to 8 o'clock.

The students of Brackett Academy in Greenland have in preparation an exhibition,—to consist of songs, recitations, dialogues, dramas and tableaux,—for Friday evening, May 3.

A combination of the Eastern railroad with the Narragansett Steamboat Company has been formed, which will make a short continuous route from New York to Concord, Manchester, Nashua, Portsmouth and other places in New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

The Franklin (Me.) Land, Mill and Water Power Company held their annual meeting at Kittery Point a day or two since, for choice of officers, etc. Directors, E. T. Farrington, A. S Tozier and E. D. Hall of Boston, Ichabod Goodwin and Wm. L. Dwight of Portsmouth; Agent and Clerk, Robert F. Gerrish of Kittery. This company is located in Franklin and Hancock counties; they own about ten thousand acres of timber land, spruce, pine, hemlock, cedar and hard woods; their saw-mills are situated in Franklin, and townships "Nos. Nine and Ten." The water power there, wholly within the limits of said lands and consequently entirely under the company's control, is among the best in the State, and all are near the navigable waters of Frenchman's Bay.

Many of our music loving citizens are earnestly desirous of securing a repetition of the splendid concert which was given by Miss Maynard and the Temple Quartette on Tuesday evening, that those who heard may have the pleasure once more, and those who were so unfortunate as not to hear may have opportunity. As it would be most unreasonable to ask the promoters of the former concert to again run a risk of pecuniary loss, it is proposed to secure subscriptions enough to insure them before inviting a repetition. Those desiring to enjoy another musical feast are requested to call at Dr. Preston's store in Congress Block and leave their names.

The base ball match, Thursday, between the Kearsarge nine of this city and a picked nine from Kittery, was won by the latter, 22 to 18.

We regret to learn that Dr. A. Perry and Mr. Thomas Clapham are lying seriously ill at their residences in this city.

A branch railroad is talked of leaving the Eastern at Hampton, touching Great Boars Head, Little Boars Head, thence to the watering-places at Rye Beach, Sagamore and Portsmouth.

—A statistician figures out a yearly generation of twenty-one million dogs in this country. Of this number he estimates that about one hundred thousand go mad annually and bite ten thousand people. From reading the western papers recently we should judge that about that number were bitten every week. The above computation suggests an interesting problem in canine arithmetic: If one hundred thousand dogs bite ten thousand people in one year, how many dogs will it take to bite forty millions of people in the same time, and give us all the hydrophobia? And how many bites shall we have apiece?

—At a social party, where humorous definitions was one of the games of the evening, the question was put: "What is religion?" Morning Chronicle.

A JUBILEE REHEARSAL.—"Tuba Mirabilis" writes to the New York Evening Post of his experience at a Jubilee chorus rehearsal in the Boston Music Hall. He says:—

On the edge of the platform stood one of Boston's "institutions," Carl Zerrahn. Next to Mr. Gilmore the success of the jubilee rests more on his shoulders than on that of any other man. He seems equal to the occasion. Tall, finely formed, with great arms that seem able to swing a baton to conduct a nation with an intense enthusiasm and energy, it is no wonder that choirs under him sing in spite of themselves. If there is anything in a timid little alto to be brought out it will come at his bidding. No matter how insignificant the singer, nor how far removed, each seems to think that the gesture of command is meant for her in particular, and when it comes sing she must.

There was a general buzz of talk and a murmur of confusion in the great company as we came in. A gentle rap on the music stand and an expectant hush filled the hall. With a pleasing German accent, in a voice that could be heard to the farthest reach of the place, the conductor announced the page, and said in his usual quaint fashion: "Tenors begin. Look at me, gentlemen; watch my sign."

We examined the book and found it was a chorus from Mendelssohn's "St. Paul," beautiful, but exceedingly difficult. With an absorbed attention almost amusing, the four thousand pair of eyes were fixed on the conductor—one bar from the piano, and in a sort of subdued musical roar, from a thousand tongues came the opening theme:—

"See what love hath the Father."

The baton waved over the altos, and, like one voice, they began:—

"See what love hath the Father."

A wide sweep of the baton round the hall, and the other parts came in softly in a sort of suppressed thunder:—

"See what love hath the Father bestowed on us in his goodness."

We could feel the carved case of the organ tremble, but could not hear it. Now each part alone, now in duett and trio rising, falling, swelling out abruptly, and sinking into a powerful "piano," if you can imagine such a thing, smoothly and correctly they sang it through to the end. Of course, in such a place the musical effect was not good. There was not space for the sound to develop. Where the whole hall is filled by the performers there is no room for true musical effect. At present this is of little consequence. This is only a rehearsal.
